STATEMENT BY MR. SPROUL

Mr. SPROUL asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, before assembling in Special Session on May 5, 1936, telegrams were sent to the members of the Assembly by the Governor asking them whether they would vote for an appropriation to de-water coal mines affected by the flood in March of that year. The vote is a matter of record and on June 16, 1936, an Act No. 6 was approved by the Governor appropriating $700,000 for the pumping of water from coal mines and slate quarries, to include also the purchase and installation of pumps and other equipment and the purchase of electric power.

While I voted in favor of the bill on account of the emergency, such an expenditure of money on private property is a bad precedent to establish. Feeling that the people of this Commonwealth were entitled to know the details of this large expenditure, I introduced Resolution No. 16, Serial No. 20 in this House during the Special Session of 1936, asking for certain information. While the Democratic Floor Leader, Mr. Cohen was unwilling to pass the Resolution, he did give me the information I requested and it was published in the Journal of that Session.

To further advise the people of this Commonwealth of the details concerning this $700,000 fund, I have asked for and received certain information which I again make public. This is no small sum for which we voted to put to work a number of miners thrown out of employment by an act of God and the details are given below:

"The financial records of the Health Department show that there has been expended $2,235 for personal compensation (Resident Engineer of the Health Department in the Field). No State funds were expended for installation because it was required that the coal operators pay for that part of the work themselves.

"There has been spent from the $700,000 appropriated by the cited Act, $376,827.76 for the purpose of equipment and payment of electric power bills.

"The Sandy Run Mine of the Sandy Run Producers, Inc., located at Sandy Run, Luzerne County. $3,569.81 expended. State participation in removing flood waters completed. 300 mine workers now employed because the mine was de-watered.

"Mine of the Cranberry Coal Company at Cranberry, Hazle Township, Luzerne County $12,646.78 expended. State participation in removing flood waters completed. 796 mine workers now employed because the mine was de-watered.

"Mine of the Claene Coal Company at Whiteside, Clearfield County. $454.86 expended. State participation in removing flood waters completed. 30 mine workers now employed because the mine was de-watered.

"Mines in the Pittston-Duryea area, Luzerne County, operated by the Kechoe-Berge Coal Company, the Pittston-Duryea Coal Company and the Sullivan Trail Coal Company. These mines were more or less inter-connected. The flood waters in these mines adversely affected some continguous mines. $351,614.28 expended. Removal of flood waters well underway in the mine of the Kehoe-Berge and Pittston Company, and practically completed in the Sullivan Trail mine. 4154 mine workers now employed because of removal of flood waters so far accomplished. More mine workers will be employed when the removal of flood waters is completed.

"The Peck Shaft of the Conaboy Coal Company at Jessup, Lackawanna County. $8,537.53 expended for equipment. The work of pumping expected to begin very soon.

A group of inter-connected coal mines in the upper Connellsville coal basin near Uniontown, Fayette County, including the Lemont No. 1 and No. 2, the Continental No. 1, mines of the Lemont Coal and Coke Company, the Oliver No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 mines of the Commodore Coal and Coke Company, and the Leith and South Union Mines of the South Union Coal Company, $4,500 expended. Requisition for equipment issued and orders for equipment are being issued. Work not yet begun."

It is noted that up to the date of this report, April 29, 1937, there was expended under authority of the Act, $376,827.76 for the purchase of equipment of electric power. From information I gathered just recently another company took advantage of the terms of the Act to which they were entitled. In fact until the money is exhausted, I interpret that up to that time any qualified company who had suffered could come in and ask the State to de-water their mines or quarries. It is my belief the Act was too broad in this respect and further expenditure should be cut off as soon as possible. The emergency in my opinion has passed. Unless contract for performance and completion to exhaustion of funds was entered into by the State, I call upon the Department of Health to conserve whatever balance of this fund they properly can.

STATEMENT BY MR. JOHN A. SMITH

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there seems to have been some little trouble in the County of Delaware relative to a constituent there who is constantly writing letters to the House of Representatives. I happen to have a constituent over across the river, and it seems that he wants to enter into the practice of letter writing at this late stage, and I am going to ask your indulgence to listen to this letter from the constituent, which I shall read to you.

Dear Oswald:—

I notice by the papers you have a lot of trouble about the Democratic Party down in your neck of the woods and I can't blame you for that after what happened last Fall. This fellow Heyburn has been a sausage maker for a long time and I can see how you Delaware Republicans can get het up about his making sausage out of the McClure organization and sending it to Harrisburg for Elwood Turner to feed to the Democrats for breakfast.

Of course you Republicans ain't having all the trouble by any means. You know us Democrats ain't so many and last Fall when we throwed every thing together and gathered up every body who did not like the Republican party we got together some mess and somehow we ain't got used to each other yet. All us farmers got mad about the milk situation and jumped on the Democratic Band Wagon so our cows wouldn't get milked over in Wall Street.

Then Jack Kelly and his Philadelphia Horse Racers got mixed up with us and thought we were a bunch of gamblers when all we pretended to be was a bunch of suckers. Now we are having our trouble with Jack and the book makers because our cows ain't adapted for runnin. Doc Mundy is havin a lot of trouble with his tax collectors and school teachers and would like to move the Court House of Luzerne County down to Harrisburg so the Republicans can't steal it and we don't want it down here because we don't know what to do with the one we have here because the Republicans have that one now.

Dave Lawrence and Elmer Holland wants the utilities to pay the freight and John Yourishin wants the utilities to use enough anthracite coal to put all the bootleg miners to work in the regular mines. Charlie Margiotti wants to step on the District Attorneys and the State Cops and us farmers want to skin the milk trust alive and nail the hide to the barn door, so puttin all together we get up against the proposition that no one else in the Tower of Babel understands our language.

Yes, Oswald, Saint George is having a heck of a lot of trouble with this dragon he was goin to kill because there is so many heads and tails that every time he cuts off one of them another one comes lashin around to get cut off. I sometimes wonder if he is goin to get them all cut off before he gets tired or elected President or something.

If you Republicans think you have trouble you don't know nothin. If I know anything you had a heck of a lot of fun for the last forty years makin us all this trouble.

I can't say that I like your wise cracking down there in Delaware County after all you have done to us. I know that you are just in fun but when I think of the dirty digs you have give us in the past, it ain't so funny. In the first place just think of all the shakin up you give us in them Model T's you used to send up from Chester. It is going to take a lot of Chiropractin to get our backbones straightened out and that brings up another trouble for us Democrats.

You Republicans get Doc Palmer to stir up the voters in Beaver County and then when we try to get Chiropractor licenses to cure our Model T backaches we get a family scrap stirred up among the Democrats so that Doc Shea and Doc Sarraf and Doc Mundy and Doc Hindman chew the ear off Doc Reese and say he ain't a Doctor at all and the whole trouble started down there at Chester and it wasn't the CIO that started it either.

Another thing I don't like about your wise cracking is that you ain't Democratic. When it got too hot or too common or too crowded in Philadelphia for the most of you, you moved out and made them aristocratic suburbs and drove us farmers back into the woods. You aristocrats went out along the main line or down along the Chester or Norristown Pike and hid your houses behind the pine trees and then started to make fun of us farmers. Some of you got some cows from the Guernsey and Jersey Islands and started to show us farmers how to produce milk at a loss. Then you get Doc Grimm to come out on the farms to show us how to lose money. When you ristocrats got to producin milk at a dollar a quart you wanted us to do it the same way for a dime. So you got a swarm of inspectors to tell us that you could not drink our milk unless we did all the fool things we coudn't afford.

This guy, Chic Sale, wrote a good book one time about Specialist. The poor fellow died too soon because I could tell him how to write another chapter for his book. He didn't have no experience with milk inspectors and the way they fuss about such things.

One of our farmers got some money from the Government to get a bathroom and done away with his outdoor utility. He had a septic tank and tile field. Just like you ristocrats have down there in Delaware County and what do you suppose that fool inspector done. He made that farmer build one anyhow and the cows don't go near the dern thing much less use it.

Of course them springs the inspectors make you put on the doors are good things. There ain't nothin so disconcertin as to have the door blow open when you are sittin there thinking, readin or figgerin with the catalog spread out on your knees. It kind of disturbs you if you have to stick one foot to keep the door shut.

I don't like them self closing lids on the seats; they're too troublesome. It don't make no difference what type you use they are dangerous and you can't make no time. The scissors type ain't safe. Suppose you have your mind on something else and accidently get your hand on the button before you are ready and the scissors close? Well, you can see very well that this ain't safe. Then the spring type ain't reliable. Anybody who ever tried to put a clock together knows that springs is the ornriest, unhandiest things there is. I say if you have to put self closing lids on the seats the type you should use it the counterbalanced type: They are simple to operate and if they are well taken care of they will last a lifetime. Yes sir, the counterbalanced type is the kind for me but none of them is any good for a farmer

I wish you Republican ristocrats and Doc Grimm would just think for a minute how you would like to be a farmer on a zero morning getting himself adjusted to a self closing seat with a sheep line coat; two pairs of overalls, a pair of heavy corduroys and the winter-flannels to contend with. You just have no consideration for us farmers at all when you send milk inspectors out into the country to get into our private affairs. It is our business how we run these institutions and if you would stay down there and look after your sausages and turn your inspectors loose on them we would not be always in hot water keepin ourselves up to date.

Now Oswald, I have lots of more trouble. Some of it can be blamed on the Republicans and some of it can be blamed on the fellows you got rid of. Some of these fellows are making good Democrats and we would like to keep them and some of them—oh well, you know what they are like—if we had enough Democrats we would just as soon you would take them back. Well, anyway you take it, I wish you could all become specialists and get the low down on this milk and Chic Sale situation.

Just now we don't know whether to kill our cows because of the surplus of milk or whether to put them on pasture because it is scarce. Hansell French and Jack Snyder ain't agreed, and since both of them live down your way, maybe you can tell us.

Hopelessly yours,

HIRAM.

STATEMENT BY MR. NAGEL

Mr. NAGEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want at this time to supplement in a brief manner the remarks made by my colleague from Fayette County a few days ago. I want to express the feeling of myself and the members of the Committee on Agriculture to the members of this House,—our feeling of gratitude for the cooperation that those who are not interested in agriculture have given to the rural members at this session. I am glad to call to your attention a fact that I have noticed, that in the past few years the recognition of agriculture in our Legislature in Pennsylvania has been stepping up.

This has been noticeable not only in this session and in the 1935 session, but also in previous sessions. The people from the rural districts are not asking much; they are willing to go along. When the labor bill came up, the forty-four hour bill, we were pleased to have that exemption for agricultural work and for domestic help. However, we voted for this bill and have stood by labor. I want to call your attention also to the fact that this bill is still working a hardship on agriculture, but we are willing to bear with you. This shortening of hours and other labor legislation that sets minimum wages makes it more difficult for the farmer to hire help.

I also want to call your attention to the fact that our agricultural problem is a serious one and should be given much attention by the General Assembly. Some have predicted that in one hundred years our State of Pennsylvania, and not only our State but every state in the Union, will cease to produce sufficient material to feed our population. Our State and our Federal government have enacted laws for erosion and soil conservation. We hope that this will be helpful to the farmers and we feel that in this session, as an Agricultural Committee, we have been able to accomplish much with the cooperation and support of other members of the House. However, there is a matter that the committee feels should be examined into, and in examining into this matter it will of necessity bring into consideration the chairman of a certain committee.

Mr. Speaker, I request that you command the Sergeant-at-Arms to convey the body of one Dennis L. Westrick before Mr. Turner's microphone.

The SPEAKER. Will the Sergeant-at-Arms convey the body of one Dennis L. Westrick before Mr. Turner's microphone, dead or alive?

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Westrick, you are the Chairman of the Agricultural Committee. It is my pleasant duty in behalf of and in the name of the Agricultural Committee to prefer certain charges against you. The charges are as follows:

That on January 5, 1937 and at various dates thereafter you did wilfully and intentionally display poor ability as a politician and strong ability as a statesman. Furthermore, that on these occasions, and dates aforesaid, you displayed honesty, courage, sincerity and great ability in conducting the affairs of this committee.

It is the request of this committee that these charges be prosecuted until they are proven true and your trial and your hearing here today are going to be unique, in that you are going to be deprived of your constitutional right of making a plea or of being represented by counsel.

All of these acts that you have committed are contrary to and in violation of the laws, regulations, aims, and purposes of the law enacted by the General Assembly of Spain for the protection of corrup politicians.

The members of this House are constituted as a jury to hear the testimony in this case that is now before us, and it shall be their duty to render a verdict in accordance with the evidence produced.

In order to further prosecute this case, the Honorable Mr. Stewart from Indiana county will produce further evidence.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker and members of the House and our Honorable Chairman of the Agriculture Committee, a friend is one who will always remember the good and who will brush away the evil by the breadth of his love. It has been our privilege to sit under the care of a man whom we have learned to love, a man who lives in an adjoining town to mine, and one whom we have known about for many years.

He held a position that was not easy to hold. His duties were strenuous and we had some things happen in that committee that made it very difficult for him to hold the reins. I was glad to hear John Smith make that fine address, and what a good humor he was in, and what a good humor he kept you people in while he was speaking. I remember very well the trouble Mr. Westrick had in keeping down that committee when we had that milk act up. Also when Jake Schrock and Frank Snyder were trying to tell us what is meant by Bang's disease.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, here is one thing about Mr. Westrick; when he brought up bills before us he didn't tell us first what he thought of the bills, but he had us tell him what we thought of the bills. And I am telling you when the Dutch and the Scotch Irish in that committee got going, it was a difficult thing for anybody to hold them down. But Mr. Westrick was able to do that, and we honor him because he never favored any political party. We didn't know politics in that committee, and I am saying to you that we had a committee that discussed things, and every person had an opportunity when Mr. Westrick was in the chair.

Mr. Westrick, we are certainly glad to be able to present to you a token of our esteem for you in this commmittee. We understand that you recently purchased a new secretary desk, and we had in mind when we purchased this that it would be something that would be helpful to you upon that desk, and when you are at home sitting in your chair, you will be thinking of the members of that committee, as we can assure you that you have our best wishes, and I am glad that I have the privilege of presenting this to you.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, members of the House and visitors, to me this is a surprise. I knew nothing of it until about ten minutes ago, when my good friend Nagel came to me and asked "Are you going to be in the House this afternoon? I said, "I don't know whether I can be or not; there are so many things to look after." He said "I want you to be here." Now I know why he was so much concerned about it.

I want to express to the members of the House my sincere appreciation for the cooperation that was given me during this session of the Legislature in putting through the different proposals that were offered in the Committee on Agriculture.

In checking up the other day I find that we had forty different proposals that our committee has acted upon. It has always been my course in acting before this committee, to let the committee discuss the things that they wanted to offer to this House.

I want to say a word of appreciation to every member of this House for supporting us on everything we offered. There was not a single proposition that came from us to the floor of the House that was not approved. To us as a committee that is an excellent compliment. We hope that we have merited that compliment. As for myself, I have done nothing more nor less than give the best I had to give. I tried to be honest and sincere and I have no apologies to make for anything that we did in that committee.

I hope that as time goes on we will remember the friendships that were established in that committee, because to me they were nothing more nor less than a family reunion, once or twice a week. During the session of twenty-two weeks our committee has met twenty-five times, with another meeting to be called today. We do want you to know that this is one committee that has responded, that they did their duty and did it well. There have been no quarrels that you would call quarrels. The differences that we had were friendly differences, and when those differences were decided, all of the members of that committee were big enough to go out on the floor of the House and act as men and forget that differences ever existed. That was shown by their vote and and their support on the floor of the House.

To the member of that committee I want to say, I express my sincere and deep appreciation for their kindly remembrance of me as their leader. I want to say this, that it was not necessary for them to present any token to me as a remembrance. I shall be able to remember for all time the names and faces of the people who worked with me, because we had real, sincere, friendy, honest cooperation.

Mr. Speaker, I thank you for these few minutes. I know we have plenty to do today, and I do not want to take any more of the time of this House. I thank you all.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I call upon the foreman of the jury, the Honorable Reuben Cohen, to render the verdict.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it is the verdict of the jury of this House that we find the Honorable Mr. Westrick, Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, guilty of all the fine charges presented against him, and we render the verdict that he is a swell legislator and a grand guy.

THANKS EXTENDED BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time wishes to thank the gentleman from York, Mr. Flinchbaugh, for the beautiful vase of flowers that he has placed on the Speaker's desk. The Chair has been informed that these flowers were raised by Mr. Flinchbaugh in his own garden, and that during the time between sessions of the Legislature he spends all of his time raising beautiful flowers.

The Chair also wishes to thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea, for the beautiful picture of our great President which he placed on the desk a few days ago.

STATEMENT BY MR. TURNER

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, last evening I presented to this House a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the allegations in reference to the purchase of gravel and other articles by State departments. Because of the lateness of the hour I did not at that time make any move to ask for immediate consideration. I merely filed the resolution and presume that it was referred by the Speaker, as has been the custom, to the Rules Committee.

In that resolution I asked that an appropriation of five thousand dollars be inserted in the general appropriation bill for the use and to pay the expenses of this committee. The general appropriation bill is here and will be, I think shortly, in the Conference Committee between the House and the Senate, as is the usual custom in order to make the last minute provisions in that bill. Therefore, if there is to be any action, this item must be inserted in the general appropriation bill while it is under consideration there.

I do not want to enter into a prolonged and protracted parliamentary effort to either secure immediate adoption or consideration of this resolution, or to offer the necessary amendments. I realize that any motions that I make, because of the overwhelming vote on the other side of the House, would be a futile gesture.

I want to call attention of my colleagues in this House to the fact that in 1933 and 1935 we had a great many investigating committees that were authorized by the House, for which there was not nearly the foundation for the allegations that were made in reference to those specific problems as appear in this. I also want to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that in 1933 a Republican House voted for an investigation of the Highway Department, a Republican Highway Department, where the allegations were not as serious as they are in this instance.

I hesitated to introduce this resolution for fear of the charge of partianship. I had hoped that the current statements in the newspapers that the Governor was making a thorough investigation, that he proposed to prosecute that to the end, that a report would be made by Major Adams which would be presented here before the conclusion of this session, and therefore, I waited until the closing hours of the session to introduce this resolution, because there has been no report made, and this House has no assurance at this time as to what will be done. I think we ought to commend the Governor for the statement that he has made, that he will certainly prosecute any one who is found guilty, but if there are practices that are creeping up in the operation of our departments, I think it is properly a legislative function, as it has been in the past, and I call to the attention of my Democratic colleagues that a great number of resolutions for investigations were introduced by them, and some of them adopted, that the time is here when we ought to act and appoint this committee. I sincerely hope that the allegations will be found groundless. I have the greatest respect for the heads of some of these departments that are apparently, at least alleged to be involved, but, I do believe in fairness to all concerned and in the operation of the proper functions of this legislative body, that we ough to pass this resolution, that such a committee should be appointed, and that the very modest sum that I have suggested should be inserted in the bill.

I cannot move to discharge the committee, because it has not had the resolution long enough. The resolution cannot be considered at the present time because I presume it is in committee, and therefore, I can but stand here and plead with the committee which has the resolution,—which I presume is the Rules Committee,—I can but stand here and plead with them that they report this resolution immediately to the floor of the House in order that we may act upon it, and in order that the proper appropriation may be inserted in the appropriation bill if the resolution is passed.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDMENTS INSISTED UPON BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1640, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing a system and schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as amended and re-enacted providing for the inclusion of occupational diseases within the scope thereof and providing definitions provisions and procedure related to such diseases and making an appropriation

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE HOUSE BILL No. 1640

Mr. SCHOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insists upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1640, Messrs. Caputo, Schor and Wall.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Section 102 The provisions of this act so far as they are the same as those of existing laws shall be construed as a continuation of such laws and not as new enactments The repeal by this act of any provision of law shall not revive any law heretofore repealed or superseded nor shall such repeal affect any act done liability incurred or any right accrued or vested or affect abate or prevent any suit or prosecution pending or to be instituted to enforce any right or penalty or punish any offense under the authority of such repealed laws

Section 103 The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of its provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect the validity of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted by the General Assembly had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 104 This act shall apply to every anthracite coal mine or colliery in the Commonwealth where five or more persons are employed or engaged in work Provided however That any mine inspector shall nevertheless have the right to enter and inspect all mines where from two to five persons are employed or engaged in work for the purpose of determining the conditions of safety in any such mine In case a mine inspector shall find any such mine to be unsafe or to be operated in any unsafe manner he shall order such unsafe conditions to be forthwith corrected and in default of the owner or operator doing so shall order such mine closed until the unsafe conditions are corrected

ARTICLE II

Inspection Districts

Section 201 The Counties of Luzerne Lackawanna Sullivan Susquehanna Wayne Carbon Schuylkill Northumberland Columbia and Dauphin shall be divided into eight inspection districts as follows

First District—County of Luzerne
Second District—County of Lackawanna
Third District—County of Carbon
Fourth District—County of Schuylkill
Fifth District—County of Northumberland
Sixth District—County of Columbia
Seventh District—County of Dauphin
Eighth District—Counties of Susquehanna Wayne and Sullivan

Section 202 The Governor shall appoint the following number of qualified persons to act as mine inspectors of this Commonwealth namely

First Inspection District—Nine Inspectors
Second Inspection District—Six Inspectors
Third Inspection District—One Inspector
Fourth Inspection District—Four Inspectors
Fifth Inspection District—Two Inspectors
Sixth Inspection District—One Inspector
Seventh Inspection District—One Inspector
Eighth Inspection District—One Inspector

Said inspectors shall be under the direction of the Secretary of Mines who shall assign districts to the several inspectors but where an inspector has not enough work or duty to perform in his own inspection district then it shall be the right of the Secretary of Mines to assign said inspector to work or duty in another adjoining district or territory wherein the services of said inspector are necessary

Section 203 It shall be the duty of the Secretary of Mines to direct one or more of the inspectors who shall be appointed under this act and it shall be the duty of said inspectors to obey said orders of the said Secretary of Mines to inspect such collieries as come under this act in counties not mentioned in the act in such manner and at such times as is required by law and the inspectors inspecting said collieries shall make and include in their return a due report of said inspection

ARTICLE III

Examination and Appointment of Mine Inspectors

Section 608 If any person or persons shall forge or counterfeit a certificate or knowingly make or cause to be made any false statement in any certificate under this act or in any official copy of the same or shall urge others to do so or shall alter or use any such forged or false certificate or unofficial copy thereof or shall make give alter produce or make use of any false declaration representation or statement in any such certificate or copy thereof or any document containing the same he or they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined two hundred dollars ($200.00) or imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year or both at the discretion of the court trying the case.

Section 609 No mine shall be operated for a longer period than thirty (30) days without the supervision of a mine foreman In case any mine is worked a longer period than thirty (30) days without a mine foreman the owner operator or superintendent shall upon conviction thereof be subject to a penalty of twenty dollars ($20.00) per day for each day over the said thirty (30) days during which the said mine is operated

ARTICLE VII

Duties of Mine Foremen and Assistant Mine Foremen

Section 701 It shall be the duty of every mine foreman on arrival at his office every morning without delay to make inquiry from his assistants as to the condition of the mine or part thereof under their charge and if any dangerous thing is reported to him by any assistant that may affect the safety of the workmen he shall have the same remedied without delay. If any dangerous condition is discovered by any assistant, he shall take immediate steps to correct the same and report the same to the Mine Foreman without delay.

Section 702 He shall examine every day all reports made of mine inspections and mine equipment If he finds anything reported as unsafe or dangerous he shall have such unsafe or dangerous thing remedied without delay and no person shall be allowed to work at or near an unsafe or dangerous thing except for the purpose of making it safe He shall sign all said reports after reading them as evidence of having done so

Section 703 Whenever a mine foreman cannot personally carry out the provisions of this act so far as they pertain to him the owner operator or superintendent shall authorize him to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall be subject to his orders

Section 704 The mine foreman shall have charge of all matters pertaining to ventilation and the speed of the ventilators shall be particularly under his charge and direction and any superintendent who shall cause the mine foreman to disregard the provisions of this act shall be amenable in the same manner as themine foreman The mine foreman shall designate some competent person whose duty it shall be to start and stop all auxiliary and booster fans

Section 705 All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his assistants at least once a week and all danger found existing therein shall be immediately removed. A report of said examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the same

Section 706 In all mines the mine foreman or his assistant shall make a careful examination every morning of all working places and traveling roads and all other places which might endanger the safety of the workmen before the workmen shall enter the mine and such examination shall be made with a safety lamp within three (3) hours at most before time for commencing work and a workman shall not enter the mine or his working place until the said mine or part thereof and working place are reported to be safe Every report shall be recorded without delay in a book which shall be kept at the colliery for the purpose and shall be signed by the person making the examination Provided That in cases of emergency as from sickness or other causes the mine foreman may designate a competent person to make such examinations

Section 707 The person who makes said examination shall establish proof of the same by marking plainly the date thereof at the face of each working place and all other places examined

Section 709 If at any time it is found by the person for the time being in charge of the mine or any part thereof that by reason of noxious gases prevailing in such mine or any part thereof or of any cause whatever the mine or the said part is dangerous every precaution shall be used to ensure the safety of the workmen and every workman except such persons as may be required to remove the danger shall be withdrawn from the mine or such part thereof as is so found dangerous until the said mine or said part thereof is examined by a competent person and reported by him to be safe

Section 710 The Mine Foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day and if safe and practicable this visit and examination shall be made while the men of such place are or should be at work and shall direct that each and every working place is properly secured by props or timber and that safety in all respects is assured by directing that all loose coal or rock shall be pulled down or secured and that no person shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure. Provided however that if the mine is idle (forty-eight (48) hours or more) the mine foreman or his assistant shall examine every working place the day before operations are resumed

Section 711 The mine foreman or some other competent person or persons to be designated by him shall examine at least once every day all slopes shafts main roads traveling ways signal apparatus pulleys and timbering to see that they are in safe and efficient working condition

Section 712 In every shaft or slope in which provision is made in this act for lowering and hoisting persons a headman and footman shall be designated by the superintendent or foreman to be at their proper places at all times while men are underground Such headman and footman shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to lowering and hoisting persons in shafts and slopes shall be complied with

Section 713 Whenever loss of life to a miner or other employe occurs in or about a colliery notice thereof shall be given promptly to the inspector of mines for the district in which the accident occurred by the mine foreman or outside foreman or other person having immediate charge of the work at the time of the accident and when death results from personal injury such notice shall be given promptly after the knowledge of the death comes to the said foreman or person in charge

Section 714 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistants in case of injury to any employe by explosion of gas or powder or by any cause while said miners are at work in said mines to at once visit the scene of accident see that the injured is carefully wrapped in woolen blankets and removed to the "medical room" and so treated with oils or other remedies as will add to the comfort and care of the patient After being treated with all the skill known to the foreman or his assistants the injured person shall be carefully wrapped up and sent to the surface to be taken in an ambulance or to the mining hospital as may be desired without expense to the injured person

Section 715 Where an accident to any employe involves injury to limbs or causes loss of blood the foreman or his assistants shall see that the bandages splints and linen shall be applied where necessary to prevent loss of blood and relieve pain The foreman shall in all cases see that the injured person is sent to the surface without delay He shall also keep a record showing the name of the person injured the nature of the injury the treatment and by whom treated at the time of the accident

Section 716 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistant to test by means of a flame safety lamp or with some other approved device the condition of the atmosphere in each section of his mine each day while the men are at work A report of such examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose The test shall show the extent to which gas was detected whether cap or an explosive mixture

ARTICLE VIII

Examination and Qualification of Miners

Section 801 Hereafter no person whatsoever shall be employed or engaged in the anthracite coal regions of this Commonwealth as a miner in any anthracite coal mine without having obtained a certificate of competency and qualification so to do from the Miners' Examining Board of the proper district and having been duly registered as provided by existing law

ARTICLE IX

Duties of Miners and Other Workmen

Section 901 Before commencing work and also after the firing of every blast the miner working a breast or any other place in a mine shall enter such breast or place to examine and ascertain its condition and his laborer or assistant must not go to the face of such breast or place until the miner has examined the same and found it to be safe

Section 902 A miner or other person who is about to explode a blast by the use of patent or other squibs or matches shall not shorten the match nor saturate it with mineral oil nor turn it down when placed in the hole nor ignite it except at its extreme end nor do anything to shorten the time the match will burn

If a miner or other person uses a fuse to explode a blast such fuse shall be of sufficient length to protrude at least six (6) inches from the mouth of the hole and in no case shall the total length of the fuse be less than eighteen (18) inches

A place shall be stopped for at least thirty (30) minutes after a squib misses fire Where fuses (straight and time fuses) are used and a missed shot occurs the working place shall be stopped for at least twelve (12) hours If a misfire occurs where electric blasting caps are used an interval of at least thirty (30) minutes must elapse before workmen shall return to such working face

Section 903 A miner or other workman shall not withdraw a charge of powder or other explosive in coal slate or rock which has missed fire nor shall the hole be reopened

Section 904 When a miner or other workman is about to fire a blast he shall be careful to notify all persons who may be in danger therefrom and shall give sufficient alarm before firing any blast by any means whatsoever so that any person or persons who may be approaching shall be warned of the danger

Section 905 Any miner or other person having charge of a working place in any mine shall keep the roof and sides thereof properly secured by timber or otherwise so as to prevent such roof and sides from falling and he shall not do any work or permit any work to be done under loose or dangerous material except for the purpose of securing the same

Section 906 Any miner or other workman who shall discover anything wrong with the ventilating current or with the condition of the roof side timber or roadway or with any other part of the mine in general such as would lead him to suspect danger to himself or his fellow workmen or to the property of his employer shall immediately report the same to the mine foreman or other person for the time being in charge of that portion of the mine

Section 907 Any miner or other workman shall not be allowed to store gunpowder or any other explosive in a mine He shall not have at any one time in any one place more than one keg or box containing twenty-five (25) pounds unless more is necessary for a person to accomplish one day's work

Section 908 Any miner or other workman who has gunpowder or other explosive in a mine shall keep it in a wooden box securely locked and such box shall be kept at least ten (10) feet from the tracks in all cases

Section 909 Whenever a miner or other workman shall open a box containing explosives or while in any manner handling the same he shall first place his open lamp not less than five (5) feet from such explosives and in such position that the air current cannot convey sparks to it and a workman shall not approach nearer than five (5) feet to an open box containing powder with a lamp lighted pipe or anything containing fire

Section 910 In charging holes for blasting in coal slate or rock no miner or other workman in any mine shall use an iron or steel pointed needle The end of any metal tamping bar must be tipped with at least six (6) inches of copper or other soft metal The hole must be large enough to admit freely the cartridge containing the explosive and in no case shall a tight cartridge be rammed into a hole

Section 911 When gas is ignited by blast or otherwise the miner or other person igniting the same shall immediately extinguish it if possible and notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact and workmen must see that no gas blowers are left burning upon leaving their working places

Section 912 Not more than five blasts shall be fired at the working face of a low coal seam within a period of one hour except by permission from the mine foreman or his assistant and each hole when charged and fired shall constitute a blast This section shall not pertain to cracked gangways

Section 913 No miner or laborer shall run cars out of any breast or chamber or on any gravity road unless he is a suitable person designated by the mine foreman for that particular work and no person under the age of eighteen (18) years shall be designated by any mine foreman to perform such work

Section 914 No workman or other person shall ride upon or against any loaded car cage or gun-boat in any shaft slope or plane in or about a mine or colliery

Section 915 When any person is about to descend or ascend a shaft or slope the headman or footman as the sase may be shall inform the engineer by signal or otherwise of the fact and the engineer shall return a signal before moving or starting the engine In the absence of a headman or footman the person about to descend or ascend shall give and receive signals in the same manner

Section 916 No person shall couple or uncouple loaded or empty cars while the same are in motion Provided however That this shall not apply to the top or bottom men of slopes planes or shafts

Section 917 No person except the man giving the signal shall jump on a car cage or gun-boat after the signal has been given and if any person shall enter a car cage or gun-boat in excess of the lawful number the headman or footman shall notify him of the fact and request him to get off which request must be immediately complied with Any violation of this rule must be promptly reported to the mine foreman

Section 918 No workman shall pass a fenced off place a fenced off traveling way or a designated danger station unless accompanied by a colliery official or unless he has been directed by a colliery official to pass such place fenced off traveling way or such designated danger station, for the purpose of making such place or places safe.

ARTICLE X

Maps and Plans

Section 1001 The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of the working or excavations of such coal mine or colliery on a scale of one hundred feet to the inch which map or plan shall exhibit the working or excavations in each and every seam of coal and the tunnels and passages connected with such workings or excavations It shall state in degrees the general inclination of the strata with any material deflection therein in said workings or excavations and shall also state the tidal elevations of the bottom of each and every shaft slope tunnel and gangway and any other point in the mine or on the surface where such elevation shall be deemed necessary by the inspector

The map or plan shall show the number of the last survey station and date of each survey on the gangways or the most advanced workings

It shall also accurately show the boundary lines of the lands of the said coal mine or colliery and the proximity of the workings thereto and in case any mine contains any water damned up in any part thereof it shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent to cause the true location of the said dam to be accurately marked on said map or plan together with the tidal elevation inclination of strata and area of said workings containing water and whenever any workings or excavations are approaching the workings where such dam or water is contained or situated the owner operator or superintendent shall notify the inspector of the same without delay

Whenever a mine fire is sealed an outline of the sealed area must be plainly shown on the mine map together with such data as the mine inspector may request pertaining to the same

Upon request of the mine inspector the location of all bore holes must be placed on the mine inspector's map and the operator or superintendent of the mine shall furnish the inspector with any additional information regarding bore holes upon his request

The said owner operator or superintendent shall deposit a true copy of such map or plan with the inspector of mines for the district in which the said coal mine or colliery is situated showing the workings of each seam if so desired by the inspector on a separate sheet of tracing muslin One copy of said map or plan shall be kept at the colliery

Section 1002 The said owner operator or superintendent shall as often as once in every six months place or cause to be placed on the said inspector's map or plan of said coal mine or colliery the plan of the extensions made in such coal mine or colliery during the preceding six months The said extensions shall be placed on the inspector's map and the map returned to the inspector within two months from the date of the last survey

Section 1003 When any coal mine or colliery is worked out preparatory to being abandoned or when any lift thereof is about to be abandoned the owner operator or superintendent of such coal mine or colliery shall have the maps or plans thereof extended to include all excavations as far as practicable and such portions thereof as have been worked to the boundary lines of adjoining properties Any part or parts of the workings which are intended to be allowed to fill with water must be surveyed in duplicate and such surveys must practically agree They shall be certified to by the owner operator or superintendent and shall be filed with the inspector of the district in which the mines are situated

Section 1004 Whenever the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery shall neglect or refuse or from any cause not satisfactory to the inspector shall fail for a period of three months to furnish to the inspector the map or plan of said colliery or of the extensions thereto as provided for in this Article the inspector is hereby authorized to cause an accurate map or plan of such coal mine or colliery to be made at the expense of the owner thereof which cost shall be recoverable from said owner as other debts are by law recoverable

Section 1005 If the inspector finds or has reason to believe that any map or plan of any coal mine or colliery furnished under the provisions of this article is materially inaccurate it shall be his duty to make application to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which such colliery is situated for an order to have an accuratet map or plan of said colliery prepared and if such survey shall prove that the map furnished was materially inaccurate or imperfect such owner operator or superintendent shall be liable for the expense incurred in making the same

plan furnished by the owner operator or superintendent was not materially inaccurate or imperfect the Commonwealth shall be held liable for the expense incurred in making said test survey

Section 1007 If it shall be shown that the said owner operator or superintendent has knowingly or designedly caused or allowed such map or plan when finished to be incorrect or false such owner operator or superintendent thus offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment not exceeding three (3) months at the discretion of the court

Section 1008 The maps or plans of the several coal mines or collieries in each district and which are placed in the custody of the inspector shall be the property of the Commonwealth and shall remain in the care of inspector of the district in which the said collieries are situated to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall a copy of the same be made without the consent of the owner operator or superintendent

Section 1009 The inspector's map or plan of any particular colliery shall be open for inspection in the presence of the inspector to any miner or miners of that colliery whenever said miner or miners shall have cause to fear that his or their working place or places are becoming dangerous by reason of their proximity to other workings which may be supposed to contain water or dangerous gases Said map shall also be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen interested during business hours

Section 1010 It shall be obligatory on the owners of adjoining coal properties to leave or cause to be left a pillar of coal in each seam or vein of coal worked by them along the line of adjoining property of such width that taken in connection with the pillar to be left by the adjoining property owner will be a sufficient barrier for the safety of the employes of either mine in case the other should be abandoned and allowed to fill with water such width of pillar to be determined by the engineers of the adjoining property owners together with the inspector of the district in which the mine is situated Such width of pillar as shall have been agreed upon by the adjoining property owners and the mine inspector of the district shall be placed on the inspector's map without delay

The surveys of the face of the workings along such pillar shall be made in duplicate and must practically agree A copy of such duplicate surveys certified to must be filed with the owners of the adjoining properties and with the inspector of the district in which the mine or property is situated

Section 1011 At the request of the mine inspector the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine shall furnish him with a geological cross section of such coal seams in such mine as he may require

ARTICLE XI

Shafts Slopes Openings and Outlets

Section 1101 It shall not be lawful for the owner operator or superintendent of any mine to employ any person or persons in such mine or permit any person or persons to be in such mine for the purpose of working therein unless there are in connection with every seam of coal and from every lift thereof worked in such mine not less than two openings or outlets separated by a stratum of not less than sixty (60) feet in breadth underground and one hundred and fifty (150) feet in breadth at the surface at which openings or outlets safe and distinct means of ingress or egress are at all times available for the person or persons employed in said mine This section shall not apply to opening of a new mine or to opening any new lift of a mine while being worked for the purpose of making a connection between said two outlets so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed at one time in such mine or new lift of a mine At least half of this number must be employed at making the second outlet Neither shall this section apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed therein at any one time The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed where there is no second outlet.

Section 1102 The owner operator or superintendent of any mine to which there is only one shaft slope or outlet may petition the Court of Common Pleas in and for the county in which said mine is situated which said court is hereby empowered to act in the premises settting forth that in consequence of intervening lands between the working of his mine and the only practicable point at which to make or bring to the surface from the working of his mine he is unable to make an additional shaft slope or outlet in accordance with the requirements of this act whereupon the court may make an order of reference and appoint three disinterested persons residents of a county viewers one or more of whom shall be a pracitcal mining engineer all of whom after being sworn to a faithful discharge of their duties shall view and examine the premises and determine as to whether the owner should have the provilege of making an additional outlet through or upon any intervening lands as the case may require and report in writing to the court which report shall be entered and filed of record.

Section 1103 If the finding of the viewers or any two of them is in favor of the owner of such coal mine or colliery he may make an additional shaft slope or outlet under through or upon intervening lands as may be determined upon and provided for by the award If the finding of the viewers is against the owner or if no award be made by reason of any default or neglect on the part of the owner he shall be bound to comply with the provisions of this act in the same manner as if this section had not been enacted In case the said owner operator or superintendent desires to and claims that he ought to make an additional opening under through or upon any adjoining or intervening lands to meet the requirements of this act for the ingress and egress of the men employed in his or their mine he or they shall make a statement of the facts in the petition with a survey setting forth the point of commencement and the point of termination of the proposed outlet which he or they their engineers agents or employes may enter upon said intervening lands and survey and mark as he or they shall find it proper to adopt for such additional outlet doing as little damage as possible to the property explored and the viewers shall state in their report what damage will be sustained by the owner or owners of the intervening lands by the opening construction and use of the outlet and if the report is not appealed from it shall be confirmed or rejected by said court as to right and justice shall appertain and any further and all proceedings in relation thereto shall be in conformity with like proceedings as in the case of a lateral railroad across or under intervening lands under the act in relation to lateral railroads approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto so far as the provisions of the same are applicable hereto and the notices to the owner of intervening lands of the intention to apply for the privilege of making an outlet and meeting of the viewers shall be given and the costs of the case shall be paid as provided in the said act of May fifth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto.

Section 1104 The main escapement shafts or slopes shall be fitted with safe and available appliances by which persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs deranging the hoisting machinery at the main outlets.

Section 1105 In all slopes where the angle of inclination is fifteen (15) degrees or less there must be provided a separate traveling way which shall be maintained in a safe condition for travel and kept free from steam and dangerous gases.

Section 1106 The top of each slope if dangerous or any intermediate lift thereof shall be securely fenced off by railing or by verticle or flat gates.

Section 1107 Every abandoned slope shaft airhole and drift shall be properly fenced around or across its entrance.

Section 1108 All underground entrances to any places not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrances so as to prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same.

Section 1109 The owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery which is worked by shaft or slope shall provide and maintain a telephone or suitable appliance by or through which conversation can be held by and between persons at the bottom and at the top of the shaft or slope and also an efficient means of signaling from the bottom of such shaft or slope to the engineer in charge of the hoisting engines The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall provide and maintain a telephone by or through which conversations can be had between persons on the outside of the mines and the principal centers of operations in the mines.

Section 1110 The owner operator or superintendent of all mines shall see that the surface landing and all other landings of shafts are provided with gates so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically It shall be unlawful for any man employed as a footman at a shaft in which coal or other material is hoisted to work at this occupation unless he has provided himself with a safety headgear or helmet of a design approved by the Department of Mines which headgear or helmet must be worn by him at all times while on duty.

Section 1111 Every cage or gun-boat used for lowering or hoisting persons in any shaft or slope shall be provided with handrails safety catches and a proper protector so constructed that persons while on such cage or gun-boat shall not be struck by anything which may fall or roll down said shaft or slope

Section 1112 Over all shafts which are being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure shall be erected to sustain the sheaves or pulleys at a height of not less than twenty (20) feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft shall be arranged in such manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied

Section 1113 The said structure shall be erected as soon as a substantial foundation is obtained and in no case shall a shaft be sunk to a depth of more than fifty (50) feet without such structure

Section 1114 If provision is made to land the bucket upon a truck the said truck shall be constructed in such manner that the material cannot fall into the shaft All rock and coal from shafts as they are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and such bucket or cage must be connected to the rope or chain by a safety hook or clevis or other safe attachment

Section 1115 Such shafts shall be provided with such guides and guide attachments applied in such manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while descending or ascending therein and such guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five (75) feet from the bottom of such shaft until its sinking shall have been completed but this section shall not apply to shafts one hundred (100) feet or less in depth.

Section 1116. Where the strata are not safe every shaft shall be securely cased lined or otherwise made secure

Section 1117 The following rules shall be observed as far as practicable in every shaft to which this act applies

First After each and every blast the chargeman must see that all loose material is swept down from the timbers before the workmen descend to their work.

Second After a suspension of work and also after firing a blast in a shaft where explosive gases are evolved the person in charge must have the said shaft examined and tested with a safety lamp before the workmen are allowed to descend.

Third Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in any shaft on a bucket at the same time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

Fourth Whenever persons are employed on platforms in shafts the person in charge must see that the said platforms are properly and safely constructed.

Fifth While shafts are being sunk all blasts therein must be exploded by an electric battery.

Ventilation

Section 1201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine shall provide and maintain a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the same as hereinafter provided.

Section 1202 It shall not be lawful to use a furnace for the purpose of ventilating any mine wherein explosive gases are generated.

Section 1203 The quantities of air in circulation shall be ascertained with an anemometer or other efficient instrument Such measurements shall be made by the inside foreman or his assistant once every week at the inlet and outlet airways also at or near the face of each gangway and at the nearest cross-heading to the face of the inside and outside chamber or breast where men are employed Such air measurements shall be entered in the colliery report book Cross-headings between chambers or breasts shall not be driven more than sixty (60) feet from the face of each chamber or breast A report of these air measurements shall be sent to the inspector befor the twelfth day of each month for the preceding month together with a statement of the number of persons employed in each district.

Section 1204 The minimum quantity of air produced shall not be less than two hundred (200) cubic feet per minute for each and every person employed in any mine and as much more as the circumstances may require.

Section 1205 The ventilating currents shall be conducted and circulated to and along the face of each and every working place throughout the entire mine in sufficient quantities to dilute render harmless and sweep away smoke and noxious or dangerous gases to such an extent that all working places and traveling roads shall be in a safe and fit state to work and travel therein.

Section 1206 All worked-out or abandoned parts of a mine in operation so far as practicable shall be kept free of dangerous bodies of gases or water and if found impracticable to keep the entire mine free from an accumulation of gases or water the mine imspector must be immediately notified.

All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his assistants at least once a week and any dangerous condition found existing therein shall be immediately removed A report of said examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the same

Section 1207 Every mine employing more than seventy-five (75) persons must be divided into two or more districts Each district shall be provided with a separate split of pure air and the ventilation shall be so arranged that not more than seventy-five (75) persons shall be employed at the same time in any one current or split of air

The inlet and return air passages for any particular district must be separated by a pillar of coal or stone if the thickness and dip of the vein will permit except where it is necessary to cut through said dividing pillar for the purpose of ventilation traffic or drainage.

Section 1208 All air passages shall be of sufficient area to allow the free passage of not less than two hundred (200) cubic feet of air per minute for every person working the rein and in no case in mines generating explosive gases shall the velocity exceed four hundred and fifty (450) lineal feet per minute in any opening through which the air currents pass if gauze safety lamps are used except in the main inlet or outlet airways.

Section 1209 All cross-cuts connecting the main inlet and outlet air passages of every district when it becomes necessary to close them permanently shall be substantially closed with brick or other suitable building material laid in mortar or cement whenever practicable

Section 1210 All doors used in assisting or in any way affecting the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically

Section 1211 All main doors shall have an attendant whose constant duty it shall be to open them for transportation and travel and prevent them from standing open longer than is necessary for persons or cars to pass through unless a self-acting door is used which is approved by the inspector of the district.

Section 1212 All main doors shall be so placed that when one door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be and remain closed and thus prevent any temporary stoppage of the air current

Section 1213 An extra main door shall be so placed and kept standing open as to be out of reach of accident and so fixed that is can be at once closed in the event of an accident to the doors in use.

Section 1214 The frame work of such main doors shall be substantially secured in stone or brick laid in mortar or cement unless otherwise permitted in writing by the inspector.

Section 1215 All permanent air bridges shall be substantially built of fireproof material and of such strength as the circumstances may require Temporary air bridges or overcasts may be built of other suitable material upon permission from the mine inspector.

Section 1216 All ventilators used at mines shall be provided with recording instruments by which the speed of the ventilators or the ventilating pressure shall be registered for each hour and such data shall be preserved at the colliery for future references for a period of three months.

Section 1217 An accumulation of gas in mines shall not be removed by brushing When such accumulations occur they must be removed by sufficient air currents only

Section 1218 No auxiliary or booster fan shall be allowed in any mine unless a request in writing be made by the superintendent of such mine to the mine inspector of the district and permission granted by him to install such fan

Section 1219 Auxiliary fans driven by electric power shall not be used in gaseous mines unless the motors of such fans are enclosed in explosion proof casing approved by the United States Bureau of Mines All such fans must be located so that there shall be maintained at all times a positive separation of inlet and outlet air currents

Section 1220 All main fans used to ventilate gaseous mines shall be operated continuously when necessary for the safety of the men employed therein and when the Mine Inspector so orders During any period in which repairs are being made to any such fan or fans or for any reason any such fans are stopped no person or persons shal be allowed in any gaseous part of said mine except for the purpose of making examinations and observations of gaseous conditions All such examinations shall be made with an approved safety lamp

Section 1221 Whenever a mine suspends operations temporarily and is being maintained in readiness for operation the mine shall be examined at least once a week in the same manner as if in operation and a report of such examination shall be made in the colliery report book and signed by the person making the examination.

Section 1222 When non-gaseous (Class A) mines in which mining has been suspended and fans stopped during such idle periods before such mine or mines resume mining, all such fans shall be put in operation at least twelve (12) hours before work is resumed. An examination of all working places haulage roads traveling roads etc shall be made before the men are allowed to enter the mine.

Section 1223 When any main ventilating fans have been stopped they shall prior to the resumption of work in the mine be operated a sufficient length of time to provide a supply of air adequate enough to dilute render harmless and sweep away all smoke and noxious gases and an examination shall be made of all haulage roads traveling roads working places and other places in which accumulations of gas or smoke might endanger the safety of the workmen before the men are allowed to enter the mine.

Section 1224 All inlet and outlet airways shall be kept free from all obstructions and in fit state to be traveled and inspected at all times.

Section 1225 Any person or persons who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or who shall make any false report in regard to air measurements shall be guilty of an offense against this act.

ARTICLE XIII

Underground Buildings

Section 1301 All buildings inside of any anthracite coal mine in Pennsylvania including engine-houses pump-houses stables et cetera shall be constructed of incombustible material and no temporary buildings of any character in any mine shall be constructed unless they are constructed of incombustible material.

Section 1302 Any owner operator or superintendent of a coal mine failing to comply with this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars ($100.-00) or undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court.

ARTICLE XIV

Classification of Mines or Sections Thereof With Reference to Combustible Gas

Section 1401 All anthracite mines or sections thereof shall be classed as A B or C as hereinafter provided.

Section 1402 A Class A mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent of combustible gas or less is found Such mine or section thereof shall be considered non-gaseous.

Section 1403 A Class B mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent and less than five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent of combustible gas is found.

Section 1404 A Class C mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent or more of combustible gas is found.

Section 1405 Examinations to determine the classification of mines or sections thereof shall be made by the operator or his representative every six months at the faces of the first and last working place on a split and the average of the tests shall be the determining factor Tests shal be made by use of a methane detector approved by the United States Bureau of Mines or by chemical analyses.

Section 1406 The ventilation must have been stopped or short-circuited for at least fifteen minutes when the aforesaid examinations are made and the results recorded and a copy of the same shall be sent to the inspector of the district within ten days after such examination.

Section 1407 The classification of a section of a mine as "A" "B" or "C" does not of necessity place the whole mine in that class

Section 1408 If one-fourth (1/4) of an inch gas cap can be seen on the flame of an approved safety lamp it shall be assumed that the air contains at least one and one-half (1 1/2) per cent of combustible gas.

Section 1409 No mine or section thereof shall be considered as belonging to a less hazardous class than the one to which it formerly belonged without permission from the inspector of the district.

ARTICLE XV

Use of Electricity

Section 1501 All electrical apparatus and conductors shall be so installed and protected as to reduce danger from shock or fire to a minimum.

Section 1502 No higher voltage than medium (650) shall be taken underground except for transmission or for application to transformers or other apparatus in which the whole of the high voltage circuit is stationery.

Section 1503 When high voltage cables are taken into the mine through bore holes shafts slopes and other traveling ways to an underground station from which point low or medium voltage may be conveyed said cables shall be so constructed as to reduce the hazards of accidental shock to a minimum.

Section 1504 In gaseous mines (C class) high voltage transmission cables shall be installed in the intake airways or in bore holes provided such bore holes are in or connected to intake airways unless specific permission to install high voltage cables has been given by the inspector in writing and in response to a specific written request

High voltage motors and transformers if used in a mine shall be installed only in underground stations ventilated by intake air which has not passed through a gaseous district.

Section 1505 Gloves and mats of rubber or other suitable insulating material shall be provided and used by persons when making repairs to live parts of any electrical apparatus or when live parts of electrical apparatus have to be handled for the purpose of adjustment Provided That this section shall not apply to electric signal circuits.

Section 1506 Instructions shall be posted in every generating transforming and motor room containing directions as to the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock

Section 1507 In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front of the switchboard not less than three (3) feet in the clear. The rear of said switchboard must be fenced off so that there is no passageway in the rear or if this be impracticable any such passageway must be three (3) feet in the clear.

When medium voltage is used insulating floors or mats shall be provided where live metal work is on the front of the board. When high voltage is used. unless installed in a locked room to which only authorized persons are admitted all live metal parts on the front of the main switchboard within seven (7) feet of the floor or platform shall be guarded so as to prevent persons from coming in contact with such live parts. The floor back of the board shall be made of incombustible material. Provided however that this section does not apply to switchboards now in service or extensions thereof.

Section 1508 Fire buckets filled with clear dry sand or other standard extinguishers for electrical fires shall be kept in underground stations ready for immediate use in extinguishing fires.

Section 1509 Medium or low pressure conductors may be bare except in gaseous portions (C class) of the mines This rule is not to include trolley wire except where hereinafter provided.

Section 1510 At all landings and partings where men are required to work regularly or pass under trolley or other bare power wires which are placed less than six and one-half (6½) feet above the top of the rail a suitable protection shall be provided This protection may be afforded by channeling the roof placing boards along the wires which shall extend below them or the use of other approved devices that afford protection.

Section 1511 All underground power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position On main haulage roads all cables and other wires except trolley wires and D C feeder wires when mounted on the same supports shall be kept at least twelve (12) inches away from any part of the mine car or locomotive.

Section 1512 Trailing cables in use shall be examined daily by the machine operator for abrasions and other defects and he shall report any defect to the mine foreman or his assistant and it shall be immediately remedied or the cable put out of service.

Section 1513 All points at which a circuit other than a signal circuit has to be made or broken shall be provided with proper switches The use of hooks or other makeshifts are prohibited except that connection for gathering locomotives or locomotives and machines used in driving headings or chambers may be made to the trolley wire by means of suitable hooks.

Section 1514 In any gaseous portion of a mine (B and C class) a coal-cutting machine shall not be brought beyond the last cross-cut next the working face until the machine man shall have made an inspection for gas or until such examination shall have been made by some other competent person If any explosive gas is found in the place the machine shall not be taken in.

Section 1515 No coal-cutting machine shall be continued in operation in a gaseous portion of a mine (C class) for a longer period than half an hour without an examination being made for gas and if gas is found the current shall at once be switched off and the machine and the trailing cable shall forthwith be disconnected from the power supply.

Section 1516 The person in charge of a coal-cutting machine loading machine or drilling machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall before leaving the working place see that the current is cut off from the trailing cables In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) if an electric spark or arc be produced by the cable or rails the defect shall be immediately reported to the mine foreman or his assistant and the condition remedied without delay.

Section 1517 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) any gangway airway or other working which is served by cars being pushed to the face of it must not have any trolley wire therein closer than one hundred and fifty (150) feet from its face No modification of this rule shall be allowed unless the mine inspector of the district be first consulted and his permission obtained to make such modification A trailing cable is permitted in all such cases.

No electric haulage motor shall be taken to the face of any working place in any gaseous portion of a mine (B or C class) in the absence of the men working in such place until it is first examined by a competent person and found to be safe.

Section 1518 In no case shall the potential used in the trolley system be higher than low voltage Provided That this section shall not apply to trolley systems now in service or extensions thereof.

Section 1519 No electrical equipment shall be operated in that part of any mine in which more than one and one-half (1½) per cent of combustible gas can be detected and all work must be stopped except such as may be necessary to reduce the percentage content to one and one-half or less

Section 1520 In gaseous mines (B class) open lights and electric lamps are permissible provided a flame safety lamp approved by the Department of Mines is used for testing purposes Such safety lamps shall be as far as practicable kept near the roof of the working face

It shal not be assumed that a mine or portion thereof is gaseous because of the partial or exclusive use of electric cap lamps

Section 1521 In each part of all gaseous mines (C class) no light other than a locked safety lamp or a locked safety lamp and electric cap lamp both of a type which shall be first approved by the Departmnet of Mines shall be allowed or used in such part Whenever safety lamps or electric cap lamps are required in any mine or part thereof they shall be the property of the owner of said mine and a competent person who shall be appointed for the purpose shall examine every safety lamp and electric cap lamp before it is taken into the workings for use and he shall ascertain that all safety lamps are clean safe and securely locked and safety lamps and electric cap lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and in the case of safety lamps clean and securely locked

Section 1522 No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any gaseous mine where locked safety lamps or electric cap lamps are used It shall be unlawful for any person or persons working in gaseous mines (C class) or portion of a gaseous mine (C class) which is worked by locked safety lamps or locked safety lamps and electric cap lamps to carry into the mine matches smokers' articles or any other material or articles which may cause fire To prevent such articles being carried into a dangerous mine or section thereof the mine foreman when he see fit shall cause a search of the men for such articles

Section 1523 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) except such parts as are ventilated by pure intake air incandescent lamps shall be protected by gas tight fittings of strong glass

Section 1524 All shot firing in gaseous mines or sections of mines (C class) shall be done by the use of an electric battery approved by the Bureau of Mines and furnished free of charge by the owner or operator of such mine No black powders shall be used in such mines

Section 1525 No shot firing unit shall be connected to the shot firing leads until all other connections preparatory to the firing of shots have been completed and all persons have moved to a place of safety

Section 1526 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) the potential used for signaling purposes shall not exceed twenty-four (24) volts and bare wires shall not be used for signal circuits except in intake air currents

Section 1527: Where electric transformers are located on the outside and mounted on steel structures there shall be provided proper walkways or platforms so that examinations or inspections of the same can be made. All transformers within eight (8) feet of the ground shall be protected by fencing, such fencing to be of a height that will prevent persons from inadvertently coming in contact with the same.

Section 1528 At all surface plants of collieries and in all mines where electric power is used adequate switches shal be provided at the points where it may be necessary to turn power on or off Such switches except high voltage air break and disconnecting switches and those on D C feeder or on trolley circuits shall be so arranged that they can be operated only from and without the box when the latter is completely closed

Section 1529 Any person or persons failing to comply with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of an offense against this act and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or undergo imprisonment for thirty (30) days in the county jail or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XVI

Inquests

Section 1601 If whenever death occurs from an accident in or about an anthracite coal mine of this Commonwealth and after an examination of such accident the mine inspector finds an inquest should be held he shall notify the coroner to hold such inquest without delay and if no inquest be held by the coroner within forty-eight (48) hours after such notice the inspector shall institute a further and fuller examination of such accident and for this purpose he shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses at such examination and to administer oaths and affirmations to persons testifying thereat The inspector shall make a record of all such investigations and accidents which record shall be preserved in his office The cost of such investigations shall be paid by the Department of Mines in like manner as other costs are now paid

Section 1602 An inquest held by the coroner upon the body of a person killed by explosion or other accident shall be adjourned by the coroner if the inspector of mines be not present to watch the proceedings and the coroner in such case shall notify the inspector in writing of such adjournment inquest and the time and place of holding the same at least three (3) days previous thereto

Section 1603 Due notice of an intended inquest to be held by the coroner shall be given by the coroner to the inspector and at any such inquest the mine inspector and any representative of a party in interest shall have the right to examine witnesses and read the law governing the case to the coroner's jury

Section 1604 If at any inquest over the body or bodies of persons whose death was caused by an accident in or about a mine or colliery the inspector cannot be present to watch the proceedings the coroner may proceed with such inquest and if it is shown by the evidence given at the inquest that the accident was caused by neglect or by any defect in or about the mine or colliery which in the judgment of the jury requires a remedy the coroner shall send notice in writing to said inspector of such neglect or default

Section 1605 No person who is interested personally nor a person employed in the mine or at a colliery in or at which loss of life has occurred by accident shall be qualified to serve on a jury empaneled on the inquest and a constable or other officer shall not summon such a person so disqualified as a juror but the coroner shall empanel a majority of the jury from miners who are qualified to judge the nature of the accident

ARTICLE XVII

Medical Rooms and First Aid Treatment

Section 1701 It shall be unlawful to operate any anthracite mine in the State of Pennsylvania employing more than five persons unless said mine is provided with a sufficient quantity of medical supplies bandages linens splints woolen and water-proof blankets The mine foreman or his assistant shall keep a record showing the required articles on hand Said articles shall be stored in rooms erected at a convenient place in the mine and on the surface which rooms shall not be less than eight by twelve feet and sufficiently furnished lighted clean and ventilated so that therein medical treatment may be given injured employes in case of emergency The furnishings shall be sufficient to accommodate two or more persons in reclining and sitting posture. In the mines where five (5) men or less are employed there shall be kept at such mines first aid kits so that first aid to the injured may be rendered in case of necessity

Section 1702 The neglect or refusal to perform the duties required to be performed by this article or the violation of any of the requirements hereof shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county wherein the misdemeanor was committed be punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six (6) months or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XVIII

Regulating Weights of Explosives

Section 1801 On and after the passage of this act each and every keg or box of explosives used manufactured or sold in or around the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth shall have clearly stamped upon it the name of the person firm or corporation manufacturing said explosives the percentage strength of such explosives and also the number of pounds of explosives contained in said keg or box

Section 1802 Any manufacturer or dealer in said explosives making or selling or causing to be made or sold any keg or box of said explosives containing less weight than shall be shown as stamped upon the keg or box shall be subject to a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for each and every keg or box of said explosives manufactured or sold which does not contain the respective weights as set forth in the foregoing section

Section 1803 It shall not be lawful for any other person firm or corporation except the person firm or corporation whose name shall be stamped on said keg or box to use any such stamped keg or box for the purpose of containing explosives

Section 1804 Any person firm or corporation violating the provisions of section one thousand eight hundred three of this article shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00)

Recovery of Bodies of Entombed Workmen

Section 1901 Whenever any workman or workmen shall heretofore have been or shall hereafter be enclosed entombed or buried in any anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the court sitting in equity in the county wherein such workman or workmen are enclosed entombed or buried upon the petition of any of the relatives of those enclosed entombed or buried to make an order of court for the petitioner to take testimony in order that the court may ascertain whether such workman or workmen or the body or bodies of such workman or workmen can be recovered or taken out of said mine

Section 1902 If after full hearing it shall appear to the court that such undertaking is feasible or practicable said court may forthwith issue a peremptory mandamus to the owner or owners lessee or lessees operator or operators of such coal company to forthwith proceed to work for and recover and take out the body or bodies of such workman or workmen and said court shall have full authority to enforce such peremptory mandamus in the manner already provided for the enforcement of such process

ARTICLE XX

Records of Coal Loaded by Miners

Section 2001 At every anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car a record of all cars of coal mined shall be kept at the miners' chutes or at the most convenient and practical of said chutes where said coal is loaded in cars which record shall be the final basis of computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or other refuse that may be loaded on said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining and loading coal and which record shall be open at all times for the inspection of all miners

Section 2002 Any individual firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of section two thousand one shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall for each offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) Provided That nothing contained in this article shall affect any existing contract

Section 2003 Any person who wilfully shall from any loaded coal car in or about any mine breaker or yard in this Commonwealth take remove sever carry away obliterate or destroy any ticket card tin-slip or other device or sign used to indicate or identify the person or persons to whom credit or pay is or shall be due for the mining of the coal in said car or for the loading of said car for the purpose of depriving such person or persons from getting credit or pay for said car or for the purpose of defrauding such person in any manner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year either or both at the discretion of the court and the jury trying the case may infer such intent from the fact of taking removing carrying away severing obliterating or destroying in any manner of such tickets card tin-slip or other device or sign as aforesaid

ARTICLE XXI

Wash Houses

Section 2101 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery at the request in writing of twenty (20) or more men employed in any of the mines to provide a suitable building not an engine or boiler house which shall be convenient to the principal entrance of such mine for the use of the persons employed therein for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order be properly lighted and heated and supplied with pure cold and warm water and shall be provided with facilities for persons to wash It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery to maintain proper attendants continuously at each and every wash house in order to maintain the wash house in a clean and sanitary condition at all times If any person or persons shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used for suplying light heat and water therein or any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof he or they shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE XXII

Ambulances and Stretchers

Section 2201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery except as hereinafter provided shall provide and keep at such mine or colliery a motor ambulance and also at least two (2) stretchers for the purpose of conveying to their places of abode any person or persons who may be injured while in the discharge of his or their work at such mine or colliery

Section 2202 The said motor ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial and easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two (2) injured persons with two (2) attendants at one time and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall also be provided with seats for the attendants The stretchers shall be constructed in such manner as to afford the greatest case and comfort in the carriage of injured persons The motor ambulance shall at all times be properly heated

Section 2203 Whenever any person or persons employed in or about a mine or colliery shall receive such injury by accident or otherwise while so employed as would render him or them unable to walk to his or their place of abode the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery shall immediately cause such person or persons to be removed in said motor ambulance to his or their place of abode or to a hospital as the case may require Provided however That where two or more mines or collieries are located within four miles of each other or a motor ambulance is located within four miles of each colliery but one motor ambulance as aforesaid shall be required if said mines or collieries have ready and quick means of communication one with the other by telegraph or telephone

Section 2204 A motor ambulance as aforesaid shall not be required at any mine or colliery at which less than twenty (20) persons are employed

Section 2205 In case the distance from any mine or colliery to the place of abode of the person injured is such as to permit his conveyance to his home or to a hospital more quickly and conveniently by railway such mode of conveyance shall be permitted but in such case the conveyance must be under cover and the comfort of the injured person must be provided for

Section 2206 There shall be furnished free of charge by the State Highway Department a registration certificate and two number tags for every such motor ambulance

ARTICLE XXIII

Employment of Boys and Females

Section 2301 No woman or girl of any age shall be employed or permitted to be in any mine for the purpose of employment therein nor shall a woman or girl of any age be employed or permitted to be in or about the outside structures or workings of a mine or colliery for the purpose of employment Provided however That this prohibition shall not affect the employment of a female of not less than sixteen (16) years of age in an office or in the performance of clerical work at a colliery

Section 2302 No minor under sixteen (16) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in about or in connection with any breaker or any outside part of any mine or colliery No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed to be permitted to work inside any coal mine No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work about or in connection with the outside part of any mine or colliery in the operation of hoisting machines at oiling or cleaning machinery in motion at switch-tending and gate-tending at track repairing or in any other dangerous occupation

Section 2303 Before any person under twenty-one (21) years of age shall be permitted to work in or about any mine or colliery he shall first file with the employer a statement properly sworn to before a magistrate or other proper officer setting forth the date and place of birth and post office address Such statements shall be filed in the colliery office and they shall be available at all times for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or other authorized inspectors or officers charged with the enforcement of this act

Section 2304 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200.00) or to undergo an imprisonment of not more than ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XXIV

Soliciting Money or Other Valuables From Employes

Section 2401 On and after the passage of this act and mine superintendent mine foreman or assistant foreman or any other person or persons who shall receive or solicit any sum of money or other valuable consideration from any of his or their employes for the purpose of continuing in his or their employ or for the purpose of procuring employment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) or undergo an imprisonment of not less than six (6) months or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XXV

Duties of Outside Foremen

Section 2501 The owner operator or superintendent of a colliery shall place a competent person to be called an "outside foreman" in charge of the breaker and outside work of such colliery who shall direct and see that the provisions of this act are complied with in respect to the breaker outside machinery ropes cages and all other things pertaining to the outside work unless otherwise provided for in this act

Section 2502 Whenever an outside foreman cannot personally carry out the provisions of this act so far as they pertain to him the owner operator or superintendent shall authorize him to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall be subject to his orders

Section 2503 In all coal breakers where the coal dust is so dense as to be injurious to the health of persons employed therein the owner operator or superintendent of said breaker shall upon the request of the inspector immediately adopt measures for the removal of the dust

Section 2504 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman of a colliery or his assistant to inspect and examine personally all machinery in breakers and in all other places where machinery is used for the preparation or storage of coal He shall see that all dangerous machinery rolls pulleys screens belts walks etc are properly protected by coverings railings or fencing so as to prevent persons from inadvertently walking against or falling upon the same

Section 2505 All hoisting ropes safety catches main links and chains shall be carefully examined each day they are used by a competent person delegated by the outside foreman to make such examination A record of any defects found therein by which life or limb may be endangered shall be made in a bobk and signed by the person making it and said book shall be kept in the colliery office where it shall be available for inspection by the inspector of the district

Section 2506 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all iron hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are used to lower men into and hoist them from the mines annealed at least once every four (4) months and as much oftener as may be found necessary A record of such annealment shall be kept in a book and signed by the person in charge of the work Provided That this shall not apply to hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are made of modern heat treated steel

Section 2507 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have the motor ambulance kept in good working condition and to this end he shall have it inspected by a competent mechanic once every month and any defects found shall be immediately remedied A record of such motor ambulance inspection together with its condition shall be made in a book and signed by the person making the inspection

Section 2508 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to keep in the colliery office all employment certificates of minors at which place they shall be open for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or by any other person authorized by law to inspect such certificates

Section 2509 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all cages by which persons are hoisted or lowered in shafts tested for safety as often as once every three (3) months Whenever such test shows that a cage drops nine (9) inches or more or that other dangerous defects exist such cage shall not be further used until all defects therein found have been remedied

Section 2510 If at any time it is found by an employe that any part of the machinery in any breaker or about any colliery has become dangerous he shall immediately notify the foreman whose duty it shall be to have such defect or dangerous condition remedied without delay

Section 2511 The outside foreman shall see that a suitable safety device is installed on the railroad tracks that lead to the breaker and maintained in good working order to protect the loaders who may be loading railroad cars from the coal pockets All railroad car runners shall be provided with safety belts to prevent their falling off such cars

Section 2512 The outside foreman shall before the tenth day of each month send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month a report of the condition of all hoisting cages safety catches ropes main links chains breaker machinery motor ambulances or other machinery designating the condition of each by using the words "good" "fair" or "bad" as the case may be This report shall be signed by the outside foreman Such reports shall be made on forms furnished by the Department of Mines

ARTICLE XXVI

Breakers and Machinery

Section 2601 No inflammable structure shall be located over the entrance of any mine opening connecting the surface with the underground workings and no breaker or other inflammable structure for the preparation or storage of coal shall be located nearer than two hundred (200) feet to any mine opening provided that this section shall not apply to breakers and other structures that are now erected

Section 2602 The sides of stairs trestles and dangerous plank walls in and around the collieries shall be provided with hand and guard railings to prevent persons from falling over their sides This section shall not forbid the temporary removal of a fence guard rail or covering for the purpose of repairs or other operations if proper precautions are used and the fence guard rail or covering is replaced immediately thereafter

Section 2603 All persons employed to operate machinery in and about the breaker other than that used to lower and hoist persons into and out of the mines shall be sober and competent persons not less than eighteen (18) years of age

Section 2604 A signal apparatus shall be established at important points in every breaker so that in case of an accident the engineer can be promptly notified to stop the machinery

Section 2605 No person under eighteen (18) years of age shall be appointed to oil the machinery and no person shall oil dangerous parts of such machinery while it is in motion

Section 2606 No person shall play with loiter around or interfere with any machinery in or about any mine or colliery

Section 2607 The main link of the chain connecting the rope to the cage gun-boat or car in any shaft or slope shall be made of the best quality of iron or of heat treated steel Bridle chains made of the same quality of iron or heat treated steel shall be attached to the main link rope or rope socket from the cross head of the cage gun-boat or car when persons are being lowered or hoisted thereon

Section 2608 An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum that is used for lowering or hoisting persons or material in any mine

Section 2609 Flanges or horns of sufficient dimensions to prevent the rope from slipping off the said drums shall be provided and properly attached to the drum and all machines used for lowering or hoisting persons in mines shall be provided with an indicator to show the position of the cage car or gun-boat in the shaft or slope

Section 2610 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of any or all coal breakers to have them properly heated and lighted in order to prevent injury to the health of persons employed therein

Section 2611 Failure to comply with any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed an offense against this act

ARTICLE XXVII

Hoisting Engineers

Section 2701 No person engaged as hoisting engineer at or about the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth part of whose duties it is to lower men and boys into and hoist them and coal from the said mines shall be engaged for a longer period than eight (8) hours out of each day of twenty-four (24) hours

Section 2702 An engineer placed in charge of an engine whereby persons are hoisted or lowered in any mine shall be a sober and competent person of not less than twenty-one (21) years of age

Section 2703 Every engineer shall work his engine slowly and with great care when any person is being lowered or hoisted in a shaft or slope and no one shall interfere with him while in the performance of this duty

Section 2704 An engineer who has charge of the hoisting machinery by which persons are lowered or hoisted in a mine shall be in constant attendance for that purpose during the whole time any person or persons are below ground

Section 2705 Any person persons firm partnership corporation or their agents managers or superintendents violating any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00)

ARTICLE XXVIII

Boilers and Connections

Section 2801 All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines and collieries shall be kept in good order and the owner operator or superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a qualified inspector properly certified by the Commonwealth as often as once in six months and oftener if necessary The result of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector for the district within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 2802 It shall not be lawful to place any boiler or boilers for the purpose of generating steam under or nearer than one hundred (100) feet to any coal breaker or other structure in which persons are employed in the preparation of coal Provided That this section shall not apply to boilers or breakers already erected or to boilers used for heating purposes only

Section 2803 Each nest of boilers shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and with weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 2804 Every boiler house shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected with the boilers to indicate the steam pressure and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house and they shall be placed in such position that the engineer or fireman can readily examine them and see what pressure is carried Such steam gauges shall be kept in good order tested and adjusted as often as once in every six (6) months and their condition reported to the inspector in the same manner as the report of boiler inspection

Section 2805 Every fireman in charge of a boiler or boilers for the generation of steam shall keep constant watch over the same He shall see that the steam pressure does not at any time exceed the limit allowed by the outside foreman or superintendent He shall frequently try the safety valve and shall not increase the weight on the same He shall maintain a proper depth of water in each boiler and if anything should happen to prevent this he shall report the same without delay to the foreman for the time being in charge and take such other action as may under the particular circumstances be necessary for the protection of life and preservation of property

ARTICLE XXIX

Props and Timbers

Section 2901 It shall be the duty of the owner operator superintendent or mine foreman of any mine to furnish to miners all props cap pieces ties rails timbers and other materials necessary for the safe mining of coal suitably prepared and delivered to the workmen as near to their working places as they can be conveyed in ordinary mine cars free of charge and where the mine car cannot reach the foot of a working place such material shall be conveyed there by other means

Section 2902 Every workman in want of props ties rails or timbers shall notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact at least one day in advance giving the length of the props or timber required and in case of danger from loose roof or sides he shall not continue to cut or load coal until the said props and timber have been properly furnished and the place made secure

Section 2903 No person or persons working in any coal mine or colliery shall cut any props or timbers while the same are in position to support the roof or sides When it becomes necessary to remove any of the said props or timbers for any purpose it may be done by using prop or post pullers or by blasting

ARTICLE XXX

Returns and Notices

Section 3001 Notices of death or serious injuries resulting from accidents in or about mines or collieries shall be made to the inspector of mines in writing and shall specify the name age occupation of the person killed or injured and also the nature and character of the accident and of the injury caused thereby

Section 3002 The owner operator or superintendent of a mine or colliery shall without delay give notice in writing to the inspector of the district in which said mine or colliery is situated in any or all of the following cases

First Where any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new slope or mine to which this act applies

Second Where any mine is abandoned or the workings thereof discontinued

Third Where the working of any mine is recommenced after any abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding two (2) months

Fourth Before any new coal breaker is completed and work commenced therein for the purpose of preparing coal for market

Fifth Where the pillars of a mine are to be removed or robbed

Sixth Where a squeeze or crush or any other cause or change may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in any mine or where fire occurs or a dangerous body of gas is found in any mine

Section 3003 On or before the second day of each month the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month an estimate of the number of days worked tons produced and the number of men employed

Section 3004 On or before the first day of February in each year the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the inspector of the district a correct report specifying with respect to the year ending December thirty-first previously the name of the operator and officials of the mine with their postoffice addresses the quantity of coal mined the amount of powder or other explosives consumed and the number of persons employed above and below ground in or about such colliery classifying the persons so employed The report shall be in such form as may be from time to time prescribed by the Secretary of Mines Blank forms for such reports shall be furnished by the Commonwealth

ARTICLE XXXI

General Rules

Section 3101 The owner operator and superintendent of a mine or colliery shall use every precaution to insure the safety of the workmen in all cases whether provided for in this act or not and shall have supervision direction and control of the mine foreman and all other mine employes

Section 3102 Whenever a place is likely to contain a dangerous accumulation of water the working approaching such place shall not exceed twelve (12) feet in width and there shall be constantly kept at a distance of not less than twenty (20) feet in advance at least one (1) bore hole near the center of the working and sufficient flank bore holes on each side

Section 3103 Not more than ten (10) persons shall be hoisted or lowered at any one time in any shaft or slope and whenever five (5) persons shall arrive at the bottom of any shaft or slope in which persons are regularly hoisted or lowered they shall be furnished with an empty car or cage and be hoisted except however in mines where there is provided a traveling way having an average pitch of fifteen (15) degrees or less and not more than one thousand (1000) feet in length This however shall not prohibit the hoisting or lowering of twenty (20) persons at one time on slopes where two (2) or more loaded cars are regularly hoisted Provided That not less than thirty (30) workmen working therein make such a request in writing to the inspector of the district and if in his judgment the hoisting appliances in every respect are of sufficient strength he may comply with the request of the workmen And provided further That in any coal mine or colliery where the hoisting appliances are not of sufficient strength to hoist or lower the number of persons named he shall have the power to reduce the number of persons to be hoisted or lowered

Section 3104 When high explosives other than gunpowder are used in any mine the manner of storing keeping moving charging and firing or in any manner using such explosives shall be in accordance with special rules as furnished by the manufacturers of the same The said rules shall be endorsed with his or their official signatures and shall be approved by the owner operator or superintendent of the mine in which such explosives are used

Section 3105 Every passageway used by persons in any mine and also used for transportation of coal or other material shall be made of sufficient width to permit persons to pass moving cars with safety but if found impracticable to make any passageway of sufficient width then holes of ample dimensions and not more than one hundred and fifty (150) feet apart shall be made on one side of said passageway The said passageway and safety holes shall be kept free from obstructions and shall be well drained the roof and sides of the same shall be made secure

Section 3106 When locomotives are used in haulage ways in any mine their speed shall not exceed six (6) miles per hour and a red light shall be provided and attached to the front end of every train of cars pushed by the locomotive in any such haulage ways No locomotive shall be permitted to be used in any mine or colliery unless it is manned by two or more men There shall also be provided a red light to be attached to the rear of every train of cars that is pulled by a locomotive in the main haulage ways of any mine

Section 3107 Any person or persons who shall knowingly or willfully damage or without proper authority remove or render useless any fencing means of signaling apparatus instrument or machine or shall throw open or obstruct any airway or open a ventilating door and not have the same closed or enter a place in or about a mine against caution or handle without proper authority or disturb any machinery or cars or do any other act or thing whereby the lives or health of persons or the security of the property in or about a mine or colliery is endangered shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3108 When cars are run on gravity roads by brakes or sprags the runner shall ride only on the rear end of the last car and when said cars are run by sprags a space of not less than two (2) feet from the body of the car shall be made on one or both sides of the track wherever it may be necessary for the runner to pass along the side of the moving car or cars and said space or passageway shall always be kept free from obstructions

Section 3109 Safety holes shall be made at the bottom of all slopes and planes and be kept free from obstruction to enable the footman to escape readily in case of danger Such safety holes shall be properly heated in cold weather

Section 3110 Safety blocks or some other device for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into a shaft or running away on a slope plane or all other inclined tracks on which it may be necessary to block cars shall be placed at or near the head of every shaft slope plane or inclined track and said safety blocks or other device must be maintained in good working order

Section 3111 No person shall travel on any gravity plane while cars are being hoisted or lowered thereon Whenever ten (10) persons arrive at the bottom or top of any plane on which it is necessary for men to travel traffic thereon shall be suspended for a period of time long enough to permit them to reach the top or bottom of said plane

Section 3112 No mine cars shall be used in any mine unless the bumpers are of sufficient length and width to keep the bodies of said cars separated by not less than twelve (12) inches when the cars stand on a straight level road and the bumpers touch each other

Section 3113 For the purpose of making known the rules and the provisions of this act to all persons employed in or about such mine or colliery to which this act applies an abstract of the act and rules shall be posted up in legible characters in some conspicuous place or places at or near the mine or colliery where they may be conveniently read by the persons employed and so often as the same become obliterated or destroyed the owner operator or superintendent shall cause them to be renewed with all reasonable dispatch Any person who pulls down injures or defaces such abstract of the act or rules when posted up in pursuance of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3114 Holes drilled for blasting purposes shall be stemmed to the mouth of the hole and in case of a misfire no stemming or charge shall be removed from such hole but another hole shall be drilled at least eighteen (18) inches from and parallel to the original hole Provided however That where an efficient sealing device is used stemming to the mouth of the hole shall not be necessary and in case of misfire in such sealed holes a second charge may be inserted to explode or destroy the original charge

Section 3115 A gangway or other working place from which chambers are driven or long wall mining is done in a low coal seam shall have a traveling way on one side of same at least three (3) feet wide and five (5) feet high Chambers or other places driven from such gangways shall not be more than three hundred (300) feet long unless provided with a traveling way at least three (3) feet wide and three and one-half (3½) feet high

Section 3116 It shall not be lawful for any mine foreman or superintendent of any mine or colliery to employ any person who is not competent to understand the regulations of any mine evolving combustible gas Provided That this rule shall not apply to a section of a mine free from combustible gas

Section 3117 Any superintendent or mine foreman who prevents the footman from giving an empty car or cage to the number of men designated in section three thousand one hundred three shall be guilty of an offense against the provisions of this article and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each offense An empty trip shall be hoisted in any shaft or slope where the engine has been standing idle for one hour or more before men are hoisted or lowered in said shafts or slopes and no person or persons shall ascend any shaft or slope when working on the night turn until one trip shall first be hoisted therein

Section 3118 When compressed air lines are located in close proximity to electric currents there shall be placed in such air lines at suitable places a safety section of rubber hose of not less than twelve (12) inches in length and of sufficient strength to withstand the air pressure contained in the pipe line Such safety device must be approved by the inspector of the district

Section 3119 In all stripping work which may be in connection with other sections of a mine and in which large charges of high explosives are being used sufficient warning must be given to the mine officials so that all men in the mine may be removed from the danger zone before such blasts are fired in any such strippings

ARTICLE XXXII

Definition of Terms

Section 3201 In this act unless the context otherwise requires the term "anthracite coal mine or colliery" includes every operation and work both under ground and above ground used or to be used for the purpose of mining and preparing coal and not included in the bituminous boundaries

Section 3202 The term "workings" includes all the excavated parts of a mine those abandoned as well as the places actually at work

Section 3203 The term "mine" includes all underground workings and excavations and shafts tunnels and other ways and openings also all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in course of being sunk or driven together with all roads appliances machinery and material connected with the same below the surface

Section 3204 The term "shaft" means a vertical opening through the strata and which is or may be used for the purpose of ventilation or drainage or for hoisting men or material in connection with the mining of coal

Section 3205 The term "slope" means any inclined way or opening used for the same purpose as a shaft

Section 3206 The term "breaker" means the structure containing the machinery used for the preparation of coal

Section 3207 The term "coal stripping" means an open type of mine from which the soil and all other material overlying the coal seam has been removed Any seam of coal whose thickness is less than three and one-half (3½) feet shall be considered a low coal seam

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 1351, Senate Bill No. 308, Printer's No. 857 was passed over at the request of Mr. TURNER.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2491, (Senate Bill No. 1266), as follows:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same that

Section 1 Definition of Terms "Principal" as used in this act means any realty or personalty which has been so set aside or limited by the owner thereof or a person thereto legally empowered that it and any substitutions for it are eventually to be conveyed delivered or paid to a person while the return therefrom or use thereof or any part of such return or use is inthe meantime to be taken or received by or held for accumulation for the same or another person

"Income" as used in this act means the return derived from principal

"Tenant" as used in this act means the person to whom income is presently or currently payable or for whom it is accumulated or who is entitled to the beneficial use of the principal presently and for a time prior to its distribution

"Remainderman", as used in this act means the person ultimately entitled to the principal whether named or designated by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established or determined by operation of law

"Trustee" as used in this act includes the original trustee of any trust to which the principal may be subject and also any succeeding or added trustee

Section 2 Application of the Act Powers of Settler This act shall govern the ascertainment of income and principal and the apportionment of receipts and expenses between tenants and remaindermen in all cases where a principal has been established with or unless otherwise stated hereinafter without the interposition of a trust except that in the establishment of the principal provision may be made touching all matters covered by this act and the person establishing the principal may himself direct the manner of ascertainment of income and principal and the apportionment of receipts and expenses or grant discretion to the trustee or other person to do so and such provision and direction where not otherwise contrary to law shall control notwithstanding this act

Section 3 Income and Principal Disposition

(1) All receipts of money or other property paid or delivered as rent or realty or hire of personalty or dividends on corporate shares payable other than in shares of the corporation itself or interest on money loaned or interest on or the rental or use value of property wrongfully withheld or tortiously damaged or otherwise in return for the use of principal shall be deemed income unless otherwise expressly provided in this act

(2) All receipts of money or other property paid or delivered as the consideration for the sale or other transfer not a leasing or letting of property forming a part of the principal or as a repayment of loans or in liquidation of the assets of a corporation or as the proceeds of property taken on eminent domain proceedings where separate awards to tenant and remainderman are not made or as proceeds of insurance upon property forming a part of the principal except where such insurance has been issued for the benefit of either tenant or remainderman alone or otherwise as a refund or replacement or change in form of principal shall be deemed principal unless otherwise expressly provided in this act Any profit or loss resulting upon any change in form of principal shall enure to or fall upon principal

(3) All income after payment of expenses properly chargeable to it shall be paid and delivered to the tenant or retained by him if already in his possession or held for accumulation where legally so directed by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established while the principal shall be held for ultimate distribution as determined by the terms of the transaction by which it was established or by law

Section 4 Apportionment of Income Whenever a tenant shall have the right to income from periodic payments which shall include rent interest on loans and annuities but shall not include dividends on corporate shares and such right shall cease and determine by death or in any other manner at a time other than the date when such periodic payments should be paid he or his personal representative shall be entitled to that portion of any such income next payable which amounts to the same percentage thereof as the time elapsed from the last due date of such periodic payments to and including the day of the determination of his right is of the total period during which such income would normally accrue The remaining income shall be paid to the person next entitled to income by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established But no action shall be brought by the trustee or tenant to recover such apportioned income or any portion thereof until after the day on which it would have become due to the tenant but for the determination of the right of the tenant entitled thereto The provisions of this section shall apply whether an ultimate remainderman is specifically named or not Likewise when the right of the first tenant accrues at a time other than the payment dates of such periodic payments he shall only receive that portion of such income which amounts to the same percentage thereof as the time during which he has been so entitled is of the total period during which such income would normally accrue the balance shall be a part of the principal

Section 5 Corporate Dividends and Share Rights

(1) All dividends on shares of a corporation forming a part of the principal which are payable in the shares of the corporation shall be deemed principal Subject to the provisions of this section all dividends payable otherwise than in the shares of the corporation itself including ordinary and extraordinary dividends and dividends payable in shares or other securities or obligations of corporations other than the declaring corporation shall be deemed income Where the trustee shall have the option of receiving a dividend either in cash or in the shares of the declaring corporation it shall be considered as a cash dividend and deemed income irrespective of the choice made by the trustee

(2) All rights to subscribe to the shares or other securities or obligations of a corporation accruing on account of the ownership of shares or other securities in such corporation and the proceeds of any sale of such rights shall be deemed principal All rights to subscribe to the shares or other securities or obligations of a corporation accruing on account of the ownership of shares or other securities in another corporation and the proceeds of any sale of such rights shall be deemed income

(3) Where the assets of corporation are liquidated amounts paid upon corporate shares as cash dividends declared before such liquidation occurred or as arrears of preferred or guaranteed dividends shall be deemed income all other amounts paid upon corporate shares on disbursement of the corporate assets to the stockholders shall be deemed principal All disbursements of corporate assets to the stockholders whenever made which are designated by the corporation as a return of capital or division of corporate property shall be deemed principal

(4) Where a corporation succeeds another by merger consolidation or reorganization or otherwise acquires its assets and the corporate shares of the succeeding corporation are issued to the shareholders of the original corporation in like proportion to or in substitution for their shares of the original corporation the two corporations shall be considered a single corporation in applying the provisions of this section But two corporations shall not be considered a single corporation under this section merely because one owns corporate shares of or otherwise controls or directs the other

(5) In applying this section the date when a dividend accrues to the person who is entitled to it shall be held to be the date specified by the corporation as the one on which the stockholders entitled thereto are determined or in default thereof the date of declaration of the dividend

Section 6 Premium and Discount Bonds Where any part of the principal consists of bonds or other obligations for the payment of money they shall be deemed principal at their inventory value or in default thereof at their market value at the time the principal was established or at their cost where purchased later regardless of their par or maturity value and upon their respective maturities or upon their sale any loss or gain realized thereon shall fall upon or enure to the principal

Section 7 Principal Used in Business

(1) Whenever a trustee or a tenant is authorized by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established or by law to use any part of the principal in the continuance of a business which the original owner of the property comprising the principal had been carrying on the net profits of such business attributable to such principal shall be deemed income

(2) Where such business consists of buying and selling property the net profits for any period shall be ascertained by deducting from the gross returns during and the inventory value of the property at the end of such period the expenses during and the inventory value of the property at the beginning of such period

(3) Where such business does not consist of buying and selling property the net income shall be computed in accordance with the customary practice of such business but not in such way as to decrease the principal

(4) Any increase in the value of the principal used in such business shall be deemed principal and all losses in any one calendar year after the income from such business for that year has been exhausted shall fall upon principal

Section 8 Principal Comprising Animals Where any part of the principal consists of animals employed in business the provisions of section seven shall apply and in other cases where the animals are held as a part of the principal partly or wholly because of the offspring or increase which they are expected to produce all offspring or increase shall be deemed principal to the extent necessary to maintain the original number of such animals and the remainder shall be deemed income and in all other cases such offspring or increase shall be deemed income

Section 9 Disposition of Natural Resources Where any part of the principal consists of property in lands from which may be taken timber minerals oils gas or other natural resources and the trustee or tenant is authorized by law or by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established to sell lease or otherwise develop such natural resources and no provision is made for the disposition of the net proceeds thereof after the payment of expenses and carrying charges on such property such proceeds if received as rent on a lease shall be deemed income but if received as consideration whether as royalties or otherwise for the permanent severance of such natural resources from the lands shall be deemed principal to be invested to produce income Nothing in this section shall be construed to abrogate or extend any right which may otherwise have accrued by law to a tenant to develop or work such natural resources for his own benefit

Section 10 Principal Subject to Depletion Where any part of the principal consists of property subject to depletion such as leaseholds patents copyrights and royalty rights and the trustee or tenant in possession is not under a duty to change the form of the investment of the principal the full amount of rents royalties or return from the property shall be income to the tenant but where the trustee or tenant is under a duty arising either by law or by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established to change the form of the investment either at once or as soon as it may be done without loss then the return from such property not in excess of five per centum of its fair inventory value or in default thereof its market value at the time the principal was established or at its cost where purchased later shall be deemed income and the remainder principal

Section 11 Unproductive Estate

(1) Where any part of a principal in the possession of a trustee consist of realty or personalty which for more than a year and until disposed of as hereinafter stated has not produced an average net income of at least one per centum per annum of its fair inventory value or in default thereof its market value at the time the principal was established or of its cost where purchased later and the trustee is under a duty to change the form of the investment as soon as it may be done without sacrifice of value and such change is delayed but is made before the principal is finally distributed ther the tenant or in case of his death his personal representative shall be entitled to share in the net proceeds received from the property as delayed income to the extent hereinafter stated

(2) Such income shall be the difference between the net proceeds received from the property and the amount which had it been placed at simple interest at the rate of five per centum per annum for the period during which the change was delayed would have produced the net proceeds at the time of change but in no event shall such income be more than the amount by which the net proceeds exceed the fair inventory value of the property or in default thereof its market value at the time the principal was established or its cost where purchased later The net proceeds shall consist of the gross proceeds received from the property less any expenses incurred in disposing of it and less all carrying charges which have been paid out of principal during the period while it has been unproductive

(3) The change shall be taken to have been delayed from the time when the duty to make it first arose which shall be presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary to be one year after the trustee first received the property if then unproductive otherwise one year after it became unproductive

(4) If the tenant has received any income from the property or has had any beneficial use thereof during the period while the change has been delayed his share of the delayed income shall be reduced by the amount of such income received or the value of the use had

(5) In the case of successive tenants the delayed income shall be divided among them or their representatives according to the length of the period for which each was entitled to income

Section 12 Expenses Trusts Estates

(1) All ordinary expenses incurred in connection with the trust estate or with its administration and management including regularly recurring taxes assessed against any portion of the principal water rates premiums or insurance taken upon the estates of both tenant and remainderman interest on mortgages on the principal ordinary repairs trustees' compensation except commissions computed on principal compensation of assistants and court costs and attorney's and other fees on regular accountings shall be paid out of income But such expenses where incurred in disposing of or as carrying charges on unproductive estate as defined . section eleven shall be paid out of principal subject to the provisions of subsection two of section eleven

(2) All other expenses including trustee's commissions computed upon principal cost of investing or re-investing principal attorneys' fees and other costs incurred in maintaining or defendng any action to protect the trust or the property or assure the title thereof unless due to the fault or cause of the tenant and costs of or assessments for improvements to property forming part of the principal shall be paid out of principal Any tax levied by any authority federal State or foreign upon profit or gain defined as principal under the terms of subsection two of section three shall be paid out of principal notwithstanding said tax may be denominated a tax upon income by the taxing authority.

(3) Expenses paid out of income according to subsection one which represent regularly recurring charges shall be considered to have accrued from day to day and shall be apportioned on that basis whenever the right of the tenant begins or ends at some date other than the payment date of the expenses Where the expenses to be paid out of income are of unusual amount the trustee may distribute them throughout an entire year or part thereof or throughout a series of years After such distribution where the right of the tenant ends during the period the expenses shall be apportioned between tenant and remainderman on the basis of such distribution.

(4) Where the costs of or special taxes or assesments for an improvement representing an addition of value to property held by the trustee as part of principal are paid out of principal as provided in subsection two the trustee shall reserve out of income and add to the principal each year a sum equal to the cost of the improvement divided by the number of years of the reasonably expected duration of the improvement.

Section 13 Expenses Non-Trust Estates

(1) The provisions of section twelve so far as applicable and excepting those dealing with costs of or special taxes or assessments for improvements to property shall govern the apportionment of expenses between tenants and remaindermen where no trust has been created subject however to any legal agreement of the parties or any specific direction of the taxing or other statutes but where either tenant or remainderman has incurred an expense for the benefit of his own estate and without the consent or agreement of the other he shall pay such expense in full

(2) Subject to the exceptions stated in sub-section one the cost of or special taxes or assessments for an improvement representing an addition of value to property forming part of the principal shall be paid by the tenant where such improvement cannot reasonably be expected to outlast the estate of the tenant In all other cases a portion thereof only shall be paid by the tenant while the remainder shall be paid by the remainderman Such portion shall be ascertained by taking that percentage of the capital which is found by dividing the present value of the tenant's estate by the present value of an estate of the same form as that of the tenant except that it is limited for a period corresponding to the reasonably expected duration of the improvement The computation of present values of the estates shall be made on the expectancy basis set forth in the American Experience Tables of Mortality and no other evidence of duration or expectancy shall be considered

Section 14 Uniformity of Interpretation This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it

Section 15 Short Title This act may be cited as the Uniform Principal and Income Act

Section 16 Repeal All acts or parts of acts which are inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 17 Time of Taking Effect This act shall take effect on October first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and shall apply to all estates of tenants or remaindermen which become legally effective after the date of final enactment of this act

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2501, (Senate Bill No. 856), as follows:

An Act providing that all appointments made by the county commissioners in counties of the first class shall be equally divided between the majority and minority commissioners

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all appointments made by the county commissioners in counties of the first class

shall be equally divided between the majority commissioners and the minority commissioner so that the majority commissioners shall name one-half of all the appointees and the minority commissioner shall name one-half of all the appointees The term of employment of each person now employed under the county commissioners' office and having been originally appointed by the county commissioners shall cease as of the effective date of this act

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OMINSKY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, advise the House just what this bill does?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House this act provides that the appointments made by the County Commissioners in cities of the first class shall be equally divided between the majority and the minority County Commissioners.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill, and I do not think it is proper to talk in the Hall of the House on a question of patronage, especially when the gentleman from Philadelphia said on the floor of the House that there was not time to consider a bill to make the utilities pay the proper taxes.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the merits of the bill before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the bill before the House.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I plead here that I am telling exactly why I oppose the bill, because the time of this Legislature would be taken up to clean house in some county, when the gentleman from that county says we do not have time to take up the same matter for the rest of the State. I oppose the bill.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the last days of the session, after we have stood by and seen one Philadelphia ripper bill after another come up, I thought possibly when this bill came along we would simply vote and let it go at that, but it so happens that some question has come up as to what the bill does, and I am going to put it up to you. If you want to go home and rest easy, feel satisfied with yourselves and feel that you have done a good job, I do not know how you can vote for this bill at this time.

As you all know, we have county commissioners in every county in the State, and under the law there are two majority commissioners and a minority commissioner. In 1935 we had an election, and the Republicans carried every office up for election, including the two majority county commissioners. These commissioners have continued to perform their duties as well as possible, and possibly the Democratic Commissioner has not been given as many jobs as he might, but I venture to say that in your county they are not given any patronage whatsoever. This bill would provide that that Democratic minority commissioner in Philadelphia, who is a minority commissioner because the Republicans carried the city, the people have decided that the city shall be Republican, shall have fifty per cent of the jobs. I want to say to you that it is not fair, it is not decent, it is not the right kind of politics to play.

I think it is significant that this bill has laid around until the last days of this session. If there is any fairness at all, it should apply to every county in the State. If there is any decency in this kind of bill it ought to apply to every job and every office in every county, and I am going to ask you to cast your vote, not as a matter of political faith but to prevent the passage of acts of this type.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am wondering whether there are any members of this House who are patronage-minded. Senate Bill No. 856 is not a ripper bill. It merely endeavors to rectify an inequality which is existing today in the City of Philadelphia. We have in the City of Philadelphia three County Commissioners, and under the act regulating County Commissioners it is the intention and always has been the intention to have the County Commissioners bipartisan, because through the County Commissioners' offices are cleared election matters and various other things pertaining to parties of every type. Until the year 1935, when the Democratic party became a major party, in the City of Philadelphia the minority County Commissioners was always able to obtain appointments from the majority County Commissioners, because the Democratic party then was the tail-end of the kite of the Republican party in Philadelphia.

However, when the County Commissioners were elected in 1935, the Democratic party was able to put in office a real Democrat and when to took office, the arrogance of the majority County Commissioners in Philadelphia County was such that he was not even able to secure his own secretary, but the secretary to the minority County Commissioner was designated by the majority County Commissioners.

I might state at this time that those who were in the 1935 session will recall the minority floor leader, and the stubbornness of the minority floor leader of 1935, and you will realize that now as President of the County Commissioners of the City of Philadelphia, the 330,000 voters who voted the minority County Commissioner into office are disfranchised because the minority County Commissioner today is not even able to receive or obtain secretaries to do the work which he should do by virtue of his office. Therefore, this bill is not merely a patronage grabbing bill, but is a bill that will rectify inequalities in the City of Philadelphia. In the final analysis it is not a fifty-fifty proposition as far as patronage is concerned, because there are various appointments under the County Commissioners which will not be included in this bill. Therefore I ask the members to vote "aye" on Senate Bill No. 856.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, not to carry this debate to any great length, I believe, that the remarks of my friend from Philadelphia have amply demonstrated the truthfulness and the fairness of the statements that I have made. I can look around and see members from Allegheny County. You have a minority Republican Commissioner there, and the same thing applies to many other counties. How many jobs does that minority Commissioner have, if we are talking about jobs? It is absolutely childish to talk to men who know something about these matters and say that Philadelphia is now different from any other county. The question of representation I do not believe was ever meant to be a matter of jobs. There is a provision for bi-partisan representation in politics, but not in jobs. We are not suposed to be up here making laws so that one party or the other party shall have their share of patronage. That is something that naturally follows the result of the election. The Republicans won that election, the Republican ticket was elected, and the Democrats got the minority Commissioner. The same thing is true, or vice versa, in every county in this State. I don't see how any man in this House can vote for this bill, unless he is willing to have it apply to every county in the State, and to every political office in Harrisburg and in the State of Pennsylvania. I do not see how you can do anything but vote down this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(During the verification of the roll)

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is a member entitled to vote who is not in the Hall of the House during the calling of the roll, but comes in during the verification of the roll?

The SPEAKER. A member is not entitled to vote under the rules, unless he is present in the House during the calling of the roll, and not only during the verification.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I again ask you to define what is the House?

The SPEAKER. Within the four walls of this room.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harmuth, whether he was within the Hall of the House during the calling of the roll. I saw the gentleman coming down the aisle during the verification of the roll.

Mr. HARMUTH. Mr. Speaker, while the roll was called I was in my seat. I went back to the rear of the House before the verification of the roll, and came back when it was being verified.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, a few moments ago, on page 3, Senate Bill No. 856 was passed by this House, Printer's No. 839, and the title to the act as given on page 3 of the calendar is not the title of the act as it appears on the bill. The act as it originally was sent from the Senate was an act to amend the voting machine act by a division of the employes. The title was amended in the House, providing that all appointments made by the County Commissioners in counties of the first class shall be equally divided between the majority and the minority Commissioners, therefore the entire purpose of the act was changed from an act that amended the voting machine act, and providing for a division of the appointments between the majority and the minority Commissioners, to an act that provides that all appointments by the County Commissioners shall be divided between the majority and the minority. Therefore the calendar as it stood at the time of the passage of the bill did not give the title of the bill as the title is in the act now, in the first place. In the second place, of course the bill is clearly unconstitutional on the ground that the bill was changed during its course of passage through the House.

The SPEAKER. In reply to the parliamentary inquiry of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, the Chair advises the gentleman that a point of order raised at this time will have to be ruled out as too late. The bill having already passed the House. The only recourse the gentleman would have would be a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed finally.

In reply to the inquiry relative to a defective title as it appears upon the calendar, the calendar does not govern. It is the bill that is placed on the members' desks that governs. The calendar is only for the convenience of the members; it has no bearing whatever on the bill. Members vote on the bills which are on file on their desks, and not on the titles as they appear on the calendar.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2326, (Senate Bill No. 1156), entitled:

An Act authorizing and regulating the issuing by cities of the second class of non-debt revenue bonds for the construction or acquisition of water-works and for extensions and improvements to waterworks; providing for the redemption of such bonds and the payment of interest thereon from rentals and charges imposed upon consumers; and establishing the rights of bondholders.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows,viz:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BOIES filed the following reason for his vote:

I desire to vote "aye" on Senate Bill No. 1072, House Bill No. 2457, Printer's No. 837.

Although I doubt the constitutionality of this act and although I feel it is an unjust re-apportionment of the 45th District in that it "checker-boards" the 11th Legislative District into the 45th District and the newly formed district, and although the Representatives of the 11th Legislative District were not consulted in this re-apportionment, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" because I am in agreement with the Democratic Party's pledge to re-apportion the State.

Mr. HARKINS filed the following reason for his vote:

I desire to vote "aye" on Senate Bill No. 1072, House Bill No. 2457, Printer's No. 837.

Although I feel that this bill is unconstitutional and that no re-apportionment would be constitutional until the session of 1941, that is the session immediately following the next decennial census, and although I also consider that this bill inflicts an unwarranted hardship upon the boroughs, townships and cities of the eleventh legislative district of Allegheny County in that some of them are indiscriminately thrown into one Senatorial district and others thrown into another Senatorial district, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" because of the promises I made in my campaign, that I would favor legislative re-apportionment.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1978

Mrs. HORTING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1978, Printer's No. 1922.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Reprsntatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 1978 entitled: "A Supplement to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for certain additions to minimum annual salaries for members of the teaching staffs of schools in fourth class school districts and authorizing the suspension of this supplement in certain cases" respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

FRANK W. RUTH,
C. HALE SIPE,
GEORGE A. DIETRICK,
Committee on the part of the Senate.
RUTH GRIGG HORTING.
D. RAYMOND SOLLENBERGER,
HARRY J. BROWNFIELD,
Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

A Supplement to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for certain additions to minimum annual salaries for members of the teaching staffs of schools in fourth class school districts and authorizing the suspension of this supplement in certain cases

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in addition to the amount now required to be paid under the provisions of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended there shall be added to the minimum annual salaries of all members of the teaching staffs of elementary schools in fourth class school districts an amount which together with the said amount required by law to be paid will equal one thousand dollars ($1,000) and the minimum annual increment for such teachers shall be fifty dollars ($50) and the minimum number of increments shall be four (4) and the minimum annual salary of members of the teaching staffs of high schools in fourth class school districts shall be one thousand one hundred seventy dollars ($1,170) and the minimum annual increment for such teachers shall be one hundred dollars ($100) and the minimum number of increments shall be four (4) Provided That none of the said increments for the members of the teaching staffs of elementary or high schools in such districts shall be required before the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight.

Section 2 Of the difference between the minimum salary required by this supplement to be paid to each member of the teaching staff of the schools of districts of the fourth class and the minimum salary now required by law the amount paid by the Commonwealth to a school district of the fourth class which has a true valuation per teacher of assessable property of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or less shall be seventy-five per centum (75%) the amount paid to each school district of the fourth class which has a true valuation per teacher of assessable property of more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) and not more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) shall be sixty per centum (60%) and the amount paid to each school district of fourth class which has a true valuation per teacher of assessable property of more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) shall be fifty per centum (50%).

Section 3 If the act entitled "An act imposing an annual license tax for the privilege of operating maintaining or controlling within this Commonwealth a store or stores theatre or theatres as herein defined prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax and its disposition including an appropriation for the purpose of administering this act and providing penalties" enacted at this session of the General Assembly be declared invalid void or unconstitutional by final decision in any court of competent jurisdiction then and in that event the Governor by proclamation shall under authority hereby conferred upon him suspend this act.

Section 4 This act shall become effective the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference

RESOLUTION No. 72

Mr. HOLLAND obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order Resolution No. 72, Printer's No. 1216,

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 27, 1937.

Whereas, The Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are strongly in favor of the removal of abnormal profits during time of war; and

Whereas, It is their belief that war should be prosecuted with special privilege to none and on the basis of equal service for all; and

Whereas, There is now pending in the Federal Congress a bill which would not only accomplish these desirable results, but by its enactment into law would do much towards the preservation and promotion of peace; and therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to pass the Sheppard House Bill (Senate No. 25, House No. 1954) at the earliest possible moment; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to each of the members elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the House of Representatives and to the Senate of the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2446, (Senate Bill No. 1311), as follows:

An Act providing for the erection construction and equipment of buildings for a new State sanatorium or new buildings at existing sanatoria designating the manner of acquiring or setting aside of land for the erection and construction of such buildings by The General State Authority authorizing the Commonwealth to lease such new sanatorium or building or buildings and the grounds connected therewith from The General State Authority upon their completion and the Department of Health to manage and operate the same and conferring powers and imposing duties upon certain State departments.

Whereas It is the desire of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that The General State Authority construct a new sanatorium or erect additional buildings to existing sanatoria and lease the same to the Commonwealth therefore.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Department of Health with the approval of the Governor may select for acquisition either by the Department of Property and Supplies in the name of the Commonwealth or by The General State Authority with funds of the authority a tract of land well supplied or capable of being supplied with water and capable of being sewered and drained for the erection and construction thereon by The General State Authority of an additional sanatorium for the treatment of persons afflicted with tuberculosis The title to the lands so acquired shall be approved by the Attorney General If it shall be found that the Commonwealth owns State forest lands or other lands suitable in whole or in part for such use such lands may be designated by the Department of Health with the approval of the Governor and the department board or commission of the Commonwealth having possession and control of the same and any additional lands necessary may be selected and acquired as aforesaid

Section 2 The Department of Property and Supplies shall have authority to convey any land so acquired or selected or any lands now owned in connection with any State sanatorium to The General State Authority for the purpose of having such authority erect and construct thereon and equip buildings for a new sanatorium or a new building or buildings to any existing sanatorium The plans and specifications of any such sanatorium building or buildings whether erected on land acquired directly by The General State Authority or by conveyance to it from the Commonwealth shall be subject to the approval of the Department of Health and shall provide for suitable buildings and an adequate water supply system sewage treatment works heat and electric power plant or plants service lines and other necessary equipment structures and improvements The buildings shall be of modern design plain and substantial and capable of extension as the needs of the sanatorium may require

Section 3 The Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor is hereby authorized on behalf of the Commonwealth to enter into a lease for a term of not more than thirty (30) years with The General State Authority to acquire the use of the new sanatorium building or buildings so erected constructed and equipped and any lands or farms connected therewith for the purpose of operation and management In such case the management and operation of the sanatorium building or buildings and the care treatment and maintenance of patients therein shall be the function of the Department of Health Subject to and in the manner provided in the Administrative Code of 1929 and its amendments the Department of Health shall have power to employ and fix the compensation of a director physicians mechanics nurses clerks stenographers and other employes as may be deemed necessary for the proper maintenance and management of the sanatorium and patients therein and the land connected therewith The compensation of all persons so appointed and all other expenses in connection with such care and maintenance of patients therein shall be paid from the appropriation made to the Department of Health for such purposes

Section 4 In the management and operation of the new sanatorium building or buildings the Department of Health shall have all the powers conferred and perform all the duties imposed by the laws of this Commonwealth on it in respect to the existing sanatoria for tubercular patients

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1177

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, nonconcurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1177 entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven

And has appointed Messrs. SONES, FREY and OWLETT, a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (already appointed) on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

RESOLUTION

JOINT COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE WAGES OF INDUSTRIES

Mr. LEWIS offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration and for the filing of a statement therewith to be printed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the immediate consideration of the resolution and the filing of the statement? Are there objections.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the filing of the statement, but I do object to the immediate consideration of the resolution.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that Rule of the House, No. 84 be suspended for the specific purpose of considering this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware if he objects to having the resolution read for the information of the House.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I dislike to take these proceedings, but we have all been subject to the same rule here, that resolutions that have been presented must be filed and referred to committee. We still have another legislative day. I think we have adhered throughout the session to this rule, and I do not think the gentleman from Philadelphia ought to place us in the uncomfortable position of having to object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair still hears objection.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, while the rest of the House is not familiar with this resolution, the gentleman from Delaware is, and I ask if it would be in order at this time that my motion to suspend the Rule be renewed.

The SPEAKER. A motion to suspend the rules is always in order.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that the gentleman asks that the rule be suspended requiring resolutions to lie over for printing.

The SPEAKER. Rule No. 84 is the rule requiring that all resolutions shall be printed. The gentleman moves to suspend that rule.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, by agreement with the gentleman from Delaware, who has withdrawn his objection to having the resolution read, I will withdraw my motion for the suspension of the rule requiring printing.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware withdraws his objection to having the resolution read.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 3, 1937.

Whereas, It has been reported that a number of industries in Pennsylvania are paying some of their full time employes wages that are so low it is impossible for such employes to maintain a safe standard of living; and

Whereas, It has become necessary, as a result of these full time low wage scales, for the Emergency Relief Board to furnish additional funds for the relief of these employes; and

Whereas, It is reported that the Emergency Relief Board expenditures for supplemental relief approximate a sum of $2,000,000 annually; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a commission is hereby created which shall be composed of five members; one of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; one by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and three by the Governor of this Commonwealth; whose duty it shall be to make a careful, thorough and impartial investigation of the reasons why certain industries and certain employers are paying their employes or certain of their employes, a wage which is insufficient to maintain a safe standard of living; and be it further

Resolved, That the said commission shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of the chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the commission, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said commission shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said commission or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That said commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the Governor as early as possible.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

STATEMENT PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. LEWIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following statement printed in the Legislative Journal:

I rise at this time to speak on a subject that is of the utmost importance to every member of this General Assembly because as this session draws to its close we are passing appropriation measures to continue much needed emergency relief.

The question of relief has met with cross currents of complaint and criticism from time to time. But I have never heard groups which object to relief for one cause or another comment upon the particular phase of the relief question upon which I now speak.

Private industry has been opposing at every turn various progressive measures before this House. Yet not one of these great industrial groups has at any time raised a finger to help correct an intolerable condition that exists in its relation to the relief question.

An analysis of this picture is not one to be proud of. It is no great source of pride that despite enormous appropriations for emergency relief in Pennsylvania there continue to exist third class standards of living in industrial centers, among relief recipients.

Nor is it a source of pride that medical relief allowances have been abolished. And neither can we point with pride to the fact that while it is our duty to afford "adequate protection for the unemployed whether employable or unemployable" it is still necessary to carry on great campaigns through private charity in order to supplement the efforts of the Assembly to care for those who need it and deserve it.

Ladies and Gentlemen of this House, figures demonstrate beyond question that the very elements, which so often stand in our way in efforts to meet properly the great problem of relief, themselves contribute in a great measure to the appalling conditions we seek to eliminate.

Mr. Speaker, I am talking of the continuance, on a large scale, of supplementary relief in Pennsylvania—a disgrace to our Commonwealth. To me it is astonishing that those who have complained violently against what they sneeringly call the "dole" have deliberately used public relief in order to chisel on the wages of their employes.

Let us look at the figures. They prove what I say. Those figures show that in the City of Philadelphia alone, twenty-five per cent of those receiving emergency relief are in what is known as the supplementary relief class.

Each one of these cases is an instance where individuals are receiving that which is designed to supplement what they receive from industry to a level that is sufficient to support their families, though at best, it is inadequate.

However, the worst side of this problem is indicated by the fact that four per cent of the total relief load in Philadelphia comprises persons who have full time jobs—full time jobs in private industry, mind you—these persons are receiving such low wages that relief allowances must be added. And let it be remembered that this additional amount, provided out of public funds, is designed to bring the individual concerned to a point where he can live according to the very modest standards set up by the relief administrators. In many cases that falls below what most of us would regard as a proper minimum subsistence level.

This condition of which I speak is not new. More or less it has existed from the beginning of relief. And I say that private industry has never attempted to raise these inadequate full time wages. Analyze this picture for yourselves and I think most of you will agree that private industry, is shirking its own obligations and forcing the State to pay the difference between inadequate wages and a living wage.

This practice is chiseling, pure and simple. It exacts a subsidy for some industries from the State, at the expense of the general public.

Note this: In Philadelphia, $30,000 is expended each month for this type of relief alone, $1,000 per day.

Philadelphia has approximately one-fifth of the total population of this State. We must assume, therefore, that this type of subsidy relief, for that is what it really is,—this burden on the Commonwealth and its taxpayers, must cost the State close to $2,000,000 a year.

We find heads of families in Philadelphia with six to clothe and house—and only $10 a week from industry to pay the bill.

While this condition exists I say, that industry cannot claim that it is doing its share of meeting our common problems.

In the long run the chief fault lies with these chiseling private employers. They get theirs, and other industrial leaders must answer if they do not put forth an effort to end it. If they continue along these lines their epitaph will be, "We believed in fair play—so long as it was fair to employers only. We believed in equality so long as the wage earner was not considered equal. We gave until it hurt, so long as it didn't hurt us."

I believe that this body should take some action on these questions. I recommend that we act to force industry to assume its own obligations and to recognize the fact that any able bodied worker employed on full time must be paid properly for his labor—not just what he may in desperation be willing to take but what is sufficient to meet human needs.

Every laborer is worthy of his hire. Those who have control of the resources of this earth are bound to exercise it in such a way that the man who works will at least earn a decent livelihood.

Therefore, if this General Assembly is forced to do so it should declare that where a man is employed in private industry at a full time position, private industry must pay a decent and living wage.

We must make known that it is our intention that the taxpayers of Pennsylvania shall not continue to be burdened with part of the payrolls of chiseling employers. Supplementary relief for the full time employe in private industry should never be necessary—is not necessary.

This is a subject of great importance. It requires thorough investigation and remedial action at the earliest possible moment.

I do not believe, however, that this question should be left to chance. I do not believe that it should be ignored. It is our bounden duty to see that this situation does not continue a moment longer than is absolutely necessary.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend page 87, by striking out all of lines one and two, inclusive.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. LEWIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 2472, Senate Bill No. 1217, Printer's No. 678, on page 28 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, which had been passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2472, (Senate Bill No. 1217), entitled:

An Act to enable the Courts of Quarter Sessions to restore to the possession and ownership of former owners thereof certain intoxicating liquors seized for violation of law notwithstanding the conviction of the owner of said liquor of an offense in respect thereof.

And said bill having been real at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeable to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:53 a. m.) the House adjourned until Friday, June 4, 1937, at 12:00 o'clock noon.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Vol. 21. HARRISBURG, PA., FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1937. No. 71.

SENATE

The Senate met at 1 o'clock P. M., E. S. T.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Our Father, Thou art holy and Thou art ever true; Yea, Thou art rich in mercy, whatever we may do. We praise Thee.

For light along the journey, for truth that makes us free; for fellowship in service, for the better day to be we thank Thee.

We wander from our pathway of duty, truth and right; we choose the ways of pleasure, we turn from faith to sight. Forgive us.

Unequal to the burden of tasks that spur and goad, we yield to fev'rish outcry—we sink beneath the load. God help us.

The tempter's voice beguiles us—the tempter's voice within—we make the choice least worthy, the universal sin. God save us. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. KAHLE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

Mr. PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, this session of the Legislature is coming to a long-deferred and unlamented end. It would have been better for the people of this Commonwealth if it never had begun.

It would be a Godsend if the partisan and unsound enactments of this Session, which in a major way constitute its record, could be wiped from the statute books. But that cannot be done—at least not at this time—and they stand, therefore, as the record of a Democratic Legislature which has been driven under the whip—lash of a Democratic Administration.

It is my firm and unreserved opinion, stated unqualifiedly here as a conclusion justified by practically every move that has been made throughout this Session, that the major legislation which has been enacted here has been prompted, almost without exception, by one or more of three motives.

What were those motives? And how were they carried out?

First, the punitive powers of the Democratic majorities in both branches of this Legislature, and of the Democratic Administration, have been joined to effectuate some of the most vicious and unjustified legislation ever enacted in this or any other Commonwealth, in order to put upon certain enterprises in this State additional burdens amounting to millions of dollars a year in taxes and increased operating costs, for no better real reason than that these victims of Democratic vengeance committed the heretofore unlisted crime of failing to contribute to the Democratic campaign chest.

Second, under the overwhelming Democratic majorities prevailing in both branches of this Assembly, the legislative power has been degraded and debased, to enact unsound, unhealthy and unwarranted class legislation, in a bold bid to buy the political support of those who may think that they are going to be the beneficiaries of such enactments, but who, in the long run, are far more likely to be harmed than helped by them.

Third, the Democratic majorities in both branches of this Assembly, supervised from the side-lines and acting under the compulsion of a ruthless Democratic Administration, has sought to use the mask of departmental consolidations and reorganizations, in the name of greater economy and efficiency, when the actual and obvious triple purposes has been to cover up and hide the Governor's budget hypocrisies, to create more Democratic jobs and at the safe time make the long honored and highly effective State Police system of Pennsylvania impotent as a law-enforcing agency and potent only as a vote-getting adjunct of the Earle-Guffey-Lawrence Democratic machine.

The ripper legislation of this Session, unparalleled in the history of this Commonwealth, has been decked out in the cloak of selfrighteousness, but the masquerade has fooled nobody. Its sole purpose has been to re-make the City of Philadelphia to the wishes of two contractors—Jack Kelly and Matt McCloskey; and the only objective has been to create more Democratic jobs for more Democratic drones, at the expense of the viciously and almost criminally overloaded taxpayers of this State.

That legislation, together with commission investigations upon which upward of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been spent for no useful result, while only a few dollars could be had for constructive inquiries out of which inestimable benefits might have been had, is further confirmation of the motives I have ascribed for the indefensible legislation which constitutes the Democratic record of this Session.

Loudly touted efficiency and fervently pledged economy have been kicked out the window. A plunder system for political aggrandizement has been substituted in their stead. And hypocrisy—blatant, calculated and unashamed—has been the Democratic watchword throughout this Session.

This Democratic Administration, and its Democratic majorities in both branches of the Assembly, have missed no opportunity publicly to proclaim their deep sympathy and concern for the poor and the moderately—circumstanced people of this State. It may come as something of a shock to those same people to learn that while this Administration and its Democratic majorities in both branches of the Legislature have been concocting a tax measure designed to put an additional burden of $2,300,000 upon food consumption, this same political party, in the Executive Office and the Legislature, has shown nothing short of coddling consideration for the whiskey interests.

Witness the last minute repeal of one-half (1/2) the distillers' capital stock tax which they have paid for upwards of forty (40) years, while on the same day the Governor signs a Bill to assess every small gas pump operator One ($1.00) Dollar per pump per year.

I am wondering if this repeal was to recoup the distillers for tribute exacted from them by this machine ,or is it merely evidence of an unholy alliance.

Mr. President, I want to make it emphatically clearer, here and now, that I do not believe that any industry or enterprise, whether it be a distillery, a railroad, a meat packer or a public utility, should be subjected to unfair taxation merely because it is what it is. But when the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania elects to hurl at the poor and moderately circumstanced people of this State an additional tax of more than two and a quarter million dollars upon the food they have to buy, while relieving the distillers of a part of the taxes they have borne, I say, Mr. President, it is time the affected families knew those facts, in order that they may determine for themselves the depth of this concern, and the sincerity of this affection, which the Democratic party in Pennsylvania is so constantly claiming to have for them.

It is quite true that the Democratic Party has sought to make political capital out of its purposes in this legislation by providing that the money realized from this tax should be used to increase the pay of fourth class school teachers. I believe these fourth class school teachers deserve more pay than they receive, and I am in favor of them getting it—but increased pay in reality, and not in the form of a political sop.

What are the real facts that from the very beginning were behind this food tax? There never was the slightest doubt about the burden it would place upon the poor and moderately—circumstanced people of the State of Pennsylvania. That phase of the situation always was certain enough.

But when it came to the fourth class school teachers who were to have been the beneficiaries, all certainly immediately became cloud and doubt. For, not only is the constitutionality of such a tax a grave question, but the revenue to be derived from it was made doubtful and uncertain by the very nature of the legislation. The poor were to be soaked; the school teachers were to be sold down th river.

And while we are upon the subject of teachers, it may be just as well to recall another legislative situation in which the Democratic Legislature, acting directly under the orders of the Democratic Governor, gave convincing demonstration of the lengths to which the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania is willing to go, in its efforts to gain a few more votes. When the Teachers' Tenure Bill was before the House, an amendment was offered which would have penalized seditious teaching. That amendment would have been discouraging and hateful to seditionists in our public schools, so the Democratic majority in the House voted it down, just as they voted down another proposed amendment which have excluded alien teachers from the benefits of the bill.

Patriotic Americans who wonder where we are headed—and why—would do well to take note.

I have made the charge that hypocrisy—blatant, calculated and unashamed—has been the Democratic watchword throughout this session of the Legislature. Let me support that accusation with just a few examples.

While scheming to put higher taxes upon the food of the poor, the Democratic majorities in both houses of this Assembly put through a measure to increase salaries for a legislative session by 20%, and raised the remuneration for a special session to an all-time high.

Professing economy, the Democratic Party in control of both branches of this Legislature has put through a record spendthrift appropriation measure, hitched to the highest budget and expenditure of State funds in the history of the Commonwealth.

Hark back to the Governor's budget message and you will find the budget ostensibly $1,500,000 to the good through no item being charged to the General Fund for maintenance of the State Police. And what was the answer to that?

The answer came in the Bill to merge the State Police with the Highway Patrol, the entire maintenance was to have been put upon the motor fund—that is, the motorists of the State, and all at the expense of maintenance and improvement of our rural highways.

Against the opposition of a majority of railroad workers in this State, and for no other real reason than to make a political play to a single railroad union, the Democratic Party in control of this Legislature, upon orders of the Democratic Governor and under the watchful eye of Democratic State Chairman Dave Lawrence setting on the rostrum of this Senate while the vote was taken passed a Full Crew Bill which will add $10,000,000 a year to the cost of operating the railroads in this State—and while adding this wholly unnecessary burden to railroad operation, they have hypocritically shouted for reduced freight rates on coal and other necessary commodities.

The Democratic Party in control of both branches of this Legislature has talked great talk about social security—and has deliberately continued all the obnoxious features of the Personal Property Tax, under which the mortgages and other securities in small estates left to widows and orphans, and the savings of the aged and others who have put their accumulated earnings into such investments, are taxed whether such securities are income—producing or not.

It has made great protestations of maintaining and defending home rule—and persistently has sought to stab home rule in the back.

It has protested its allegiance to Civil Service—and deliberately has removed Civil Service from the Liquor Control Board, in order to make every employee a political minion of the Governor.

The Democratic Party in Pennsylvania, through its highest officer, the Governor, and through its majorities in this Legislature, has protested loudly and hypocritically against lobbyists, when those so-called lobbyists were the officers or other representatives of legitimate business in Pennsylvania, endeavoring to defend itself against unwise, unfair and destructive legislation. But in behalf of that same legislation, Dave Lawrence the Democratic State Chairman, and bureau and department heads, openly have lobbied, bullyragged and ordered their followers, along the rails of both chambers of this Legislature.

And now a word about these commissions, to some of which this Democratic Legislature has been extremely liberal, and to others niggardly penurious.

To the Commission to Investigate the Anthracite Industry, $50,000 was appropriated, and $1,000 a month was paid to each of five members, two of whom were Pennsylvanians, the other three being from outside this State. It cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania $50,000 to learn from that Commission that the bootleg theft of other people's coal is unlawful, and that the anthracite industry is ailing, but that the Commission couldn't agree as to what should be done in respect of either of those two new and startling findings.

Another $50,000 of the taxpayers' money was appropriated to the Ruth Committee, which was to give us a revelation through an investigation of our courts. Up to date the sum total of report by that Committee has been that it paid Mr. Chet Keyes, of Kansas City, $12,500 for two months services ending June 1st, and it doesn't know how much, if any, of the remaining $37,500 will be left when it has paid Mr. Keyes for whatever subsequent services he may render.

Without an audible murmur from a Democratic source an appropriation of $5,000 that had been made to a Committee to investigate Oil, was raised to ten times that figure.

But, Mr. President, when through some oversight of Democratic management, a joint Resolution by Senator Dent passed this chamber and was concurred in by the House, to investigate and report upon the causes which were driving the industries of Pennsylvania into other States, the Democratic leadership speedily came to the conclusion that the purposes of that Committee weren't the kind it wanted to aid or encourage, even though the Committee consisted of four Democrats and only two members of the minority Party. So, Mr. President, that Committee was persistently denied a single dollar with which to pursue the highly useful purpose for which it had been created, until Public opinion compelled a reluctant and restricted appropriation. But even so something happened. What happened left the Administration flabbergasted and in consternation. The happening was in the form of a voluminous report by the Dent Committee, the same night that the Governor delivered his prepared harangue against all but Administration lobbyists to a joint session of the Legislature, and incidently, for political purposes to the people of Pennsylvania by radio.

But the shocking part of it all was that the Dent Committee's report pushed into the background and completely took the edge off of the Governor's harangue.

Now there are certain facts connected with that situation with which I happen to be familiar, and I see no reason why they should not be recorded here—especially so since Senator Dent subsequently permitted himself to be prevailed upon to deliver a speech in this chamber, designed to put a cloud upon that report and stultify his own Committee.

I think there will be pretty general agreement that the facts I am about to set forth dispel that cloud and wholly clear the Committee of the imputation of misrepresentation or uncandid statement, which Senator Dent's subsequent speech implied; and that at the same time they clearly reveal the panic of the Administration and Democratic leaders, and their determination to keep from the public a realization of the disastrous results that are flowing from the unwise legislation enacted by the Earle Administration.

It will be recalled that the Dent Committee report to which I am referring, was read simultaneously in this chamber by Senator Dent, and in the House by Representative Trout, vice chairman of the Committee on Monday evening, May 24th. It also may be recalled that the speech by Senator Dent the following night set forth that some twenty-four textile concerns listed in the report as having left this State, had not done so because of State taxes—the implication being that the report to that extent, was misleading.

Here, Mr. President, are the important and revealing facts; and I invite the chairman or any other member of that Committee to correct me at the conclusion of these remarks, if I do not state them with complete accuracy.

That report was prepared by Representative Trout. It was a slightly revised version of the report which Mr. Trout had laid before his Committee a week earlier, which the full Committee had read and discussed and then unqualifiedly approved—subject to this revision.

The original draft of the Trout report, in dealing with factors other than taxation which were driving industries out of this State, had some vigorous paragraphs dealing with labor strife, wages, and State legislation, which the Committee agreed constituted such an important factor in the situation as to be worthy of a separate and more detailed discussion.

The Committee fully agreed that under the terms of the resolution which created it, all factors which were driving industries from Pennsylvania came within its province and should be reported upon fully. The Committee therefore asked Mr. Trout to remove and preserve the paragraphs referred to, so that they might be the basis of more extensive treatment, and then rewrite the report to include two new cases which he had developed meanwhile.

This was done, and prior to its introduction on Monday evening, May 24th, the entire Committee went over and approved the rewritten draft. And the character of this approval may be judged from the fact that while Representative Trout prepared this particular report, and as vice chairman of the Committee was to have introduced it in the House, Senator Dent was so impressed with its importance that he voluntarily decided to sponsor it simultaneously in the Senate.

In the light of these facts, it must have been a bitter dose when such Administration pressure was put upon Senator Dent as to impel him to stultify himself and the unanimously understood and approved report of his Committee.

Mr. President, I can understand the position in which Senator Dent was put against his own will, and I can sympathize with him in it. But I have nothing but contempt for this "holier than thou" Administration which will go to such lengths to deceive the people of this Commonwealth, in an effort to prevent them from knowing the truth about the consequences of the policies of the Democratic Party in this State.

That single incident, attended by all its frantic efforts at covering up, is ample evidence that this Administration, and the Democratic majorities in both chambers of this Assembly, are fully aware that their policies are destroying jobs and drying up payrolls in this State.

From an authority whom I have every reason to believe I have learned that within the last two years New Jersey has acquired 1,200 industries of various sizes which removed there from this State. As a result of its attitude toward industry, that State has practically no unemployment problem at this time.

Mr. President, labor in this State may be fooled for a while; but when jobs are gone, that labor is going to know that it was double-crossed when it was handed legislative gold-bricks.

And the crop produced under the Democratic control of this Legislature is without parallel in the long history of this State. Only a Huey Long could compete.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, and Members of the Senate, the interesting discourse just given us by the Senator from Tioga County, represents the attitude taken by a great many of the Republican controlled papers in Pennsylvania that accuse me of standing on the floor of this Senate, the day following the Commissions report, because of the fact that the Commission had been endeavoring to make reports regarding its findings on a non-political basis, but the Republican controlled press in Pennsylvania deliberately took that report, and snatched certain parts of the report without adding the other findings of the Commission in the so-called newspapers editorials that went out over the State, and deliberately made a political finding out of a report of a non-political commission. If we are permitted to continue here and I hope we are, we will bring into the picture every activity that has to do with the department in industry that I am convinced that is leaving Pennsylvania, and I am not prepared to state right here right now that industry is leaving only because of taxation. I know that in the South they offer to industries, textile industries that want cheap labor, and I know that they have offered to take them free of taxes into New Jersey. I know that we are now in the United States market competing state against state with that kind of industry. Each State has its problem of unemployment and they try to get industries to leave another State and come to their State, and make them offers and promises that they will not have labor troubles, that they will give them free taxes for ten to fifteen years, and when I made my second report I did say we should try to clear up what I thought was an unfair advantage taken by certain newspapers in Pennsylvania, who were not interested whether industry was leaving the State, but were only interested in getting some kind of a whip over the Democratic Party. Any man who is interested knows full well that migrations of the textile industry started prior to the Earle Administration entrance into Harrisburg. The migration started from the New England States, and up to the time Pinchot started his campaign against the sweat shops, they had come into Pennsylvania in small groups and settled here. Some of the larger industries when they found that the cheap chiseling employers had gone farther south, they had to go down South in order to stay in business. However, I did say that taxes have very much affected the industry, and this is what I want to find out, and I as, one member of the Commission am not interested in the political findings of that commission. I do not care where the chips fall, and I think the rest of the Commission agrees with me, that I do not want one party or the other to take the findings of that commission and try to make a political factor out of it to put before the people of Pennsylvania. I am not interested in political factors, and, althought I am a Democrat. I think our Democratic record is sufficient that the good honest people of Pennsylvania will continue us in power, and if it does not carry on for the benefit of all the people it deserves to be defeated. Government can only be a good government as long as it serves the wishes of all the people, and if we are not a good government then let the people of Pennsylvania say that we are not. Anything that I voted for at this session of the legislature, although I agree that on the major things that I voted for I was not so particularly sure that I was right; however, those leaders have not failed me yet, and I took their word on some certain questions and I offer no apologies to anyone for any vote that I have passed on in any of the work that I have done, and I want to say here again that if we do allow the commission to continue, and if we go on and do our work in the same manner as we have been doing the people of Pennsylvania will be well served.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL NO. 673

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That House Bill No. 673, (Printer's No. 319), entitled:

An Act regulating and prescribing the computation and running of sentences for criminal offenses.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am one of the members of this committee known as Junketing Committee, gathering all the information necessary for compiling the report. I deem it my duty to say that any member of this committee, if it is not prevented from pursuing our efforts along the same lines, we are sure that in the near future we will get the necessary data to prepare a proper report. I think it is not fair that Senator Owlett today should make such a deliberate statement simply to suit the purposes of the Republican Party. Now, I want to state another thing: Senator Owlett is one of the illustrious members of the Pennsylvania Bar; and he is probably acquainted with the famous axiom that "he who seeks equity shall come with clean hands into Court."

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I cannot help to have a very much mingled feeling of amusement as I listened to the remarks of the Senator from Tioga. I remember there was one old gentleman at the Bar, when I was admitted who gave me this advice in the practice of law. He said, "when you have a good case on the law; he said, "work on the law"; when you have a good case on the facts; work on the facts; when you do not have a good case on either the fact or the law; give the other side hell". I think that sums up the remarks of the Senator from Tioga and discloses, that he has neither a good case on the facts or the law, and he has simply boiled his remarks down to giving the other side hell. If his remarks were true, I think one of the greatest regenerations that has come over the State of Pennsylvania in the past three or four years is the conversion of the people who now profess to be pleading for the poor and needy of this State. Those now pleading for the poor and needy are the same gentlemen who sat here not so many years ago and defeated the "old age pension' amendment, they are the same gentlemen who turned down the child labor' amendment; and who either emasculated or destroyed pretty nearly every piece of progressive legislation that appeared on the floor of this Senate for many years; they are the same people who this time last year we saw pleading in this Hall, but litigating elsewhere in a vain attempt to put 300,000 people in the State of Pennsylvania out of work. It is hard for me to conceive that all the hypocrisy is on this side of the House in the light of those facts. It is hard for me to conceive that all of us in the Democratic Party are villains and all of the Republicans have resolved themselves into a group of archangels.

Mr. President, as the Senator from Philadelphia has said, those who come into equity must come with clean hands, and this same group are those who not so many years ago, this group who now protest against appropriating $50,000 for an investigation; are the same group who not so many years ago appropriated $5,000,000 of the State's money to improve Bill Vare's swamps in South Philadelphia. The State of Pennsylvania paid for that when the benefit that was conferred went 90% to a small group of political leaders whom the people of Pennsylvania had rejected at the polls.

This group speaks about the taxation that is unfair to industry, and yet they are the same people who for fifty years fought to give unfair advantages from the standpoint of taxation to certain industrial groups; they are the same people who protected from taxation certain industrial enterprises in proportion to the amount of contribution that those same industries made to the campaign fund of the Republican party. It amuses me to hear the Senator from Tioga speak about the presence of the Secretary of the Commonwealth in this Chamber, when for two and a half years, or for two years, we have not seen it this year, but for two years we saw Harvey Taylor and Frank Baldwin hanging over the rail of this Senate almost continuously while the Senate was in Session, and when they were not here in the Senate we all know that Harvey Taylor had a private telephone line right into the Hall of this Senate, which he kept busy. I noticed the Senator from Tioga said that he could understand the pressure. Well, if anybody ever exerted pressure and I am satisfied that he knows what he is talking about, it was the pressure that our Republican colleagues have been continually put under by this group which some of them represent.

The tax record of this administration can stand on its own feet, it speaks for itself, and stands on its record. We all know without being reminded, that the budget for this biennium will levy some thirty million dollars worth, of taxes less than the last biennium. We all know that we have reduced taxes by thirty million dollars, and we know that we are giving the people with this reduced budget more for the welfare of the rank and file of the people in this state than they ever had before in the history of this State, and when did any of the administrations favored by the Senator from Tioga, ever give the people of this State a budget for public education such as they will get in the next biennium? I challenge the Senator from Tioga to show in the history of this Commonwealth where the people of this State have got as much from the funds of the State Treasury for public education in all respects as they will get in the next few years. When at any time in preceding administration has the administration started out with a building program of the magnitude that this administration is now embarking on?

Mr. President, I say to you that calling the other side names will never get the Republican party back into power, for many years they have abused the confidence that the people of this Commonwealth had placed in them. They will not get back into power by simply calling us names or by terming us a hypocrites. The Republican party will somehow have to show a record of performance which they did not show at the time they had the mechanics of this state government entrusted to them, and I say, Mr. President, as long as the Democratic party in this state continue to fulfill its pledges to the people of the State of Pennsylvania in the same manner that it has done in the past two and a half years, the Democratic party will continue to dominate the political favor of the people of this State.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this being one of the last legislative days—

The PRESIDENT. For what purpose does the Senator rise?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am rising for the purpose of special privilege, because it is one of the last legislative days. Again in this session I must say we are all just waiting for the printers to print some of the bills, and some of us are waiting for conference reports, some of us however, are willing to allow the Senator from Tioga, who has had the advantage of much time on his hands, and has nothing to do but to watch the cars roll by in this session of the legislature, to prepare his tirades against the Democratic party for the purpose of future reference and distribution. I think it would be well for some of us to make a motion before we adjourn that the Senator's speech should be printed and distributed for the benefit of the Democratic party. I am constrained to reply, because in discussing the committee appointed to rip out the city of Philadelphia the gentleman has brought me into the picture. I cannot, however, refrain from saying that I am never worried about Dave Lawrence sitting on the rafters or sitting in the seat so that you could see him, nor am I worried about Harvey Taylor doing the same thing. I am worried, however, about what they are doing when I do not see them, and how they can manage to do what I do not see them do when they come into the legislative hall. I cannot remember all the things that the gentlemen has spoken of, but I can recollect my experience in this chamber, and I can from that experience draw a few pictures which may give the Senator from Tioga something to think about, as to whether or not his speech would be as effective in regaining public confidence of the voters, as he hopes to do. I have no doubt that eight per-cent of the newspapers will copy verbatim and distribute all around this Commonwealth what the Senator from Tioga said, and I have no doubt that anything that the Senators on the other side say will find no place in those newspapers, and I am quite sure that the Senator with his eighty per-cent distribution and newspaper advertising will meet the same result and the same fate so long as they continue to criticize those who are trying to do something. The time has passed when speeches mean anything when printed in newspapers. The stomach of the individual has promoted more thinking then the nerves leading from the brain. The hungry in Pennsylvania revolted against the things without thinking and have had an opportunity to recover their balance, they voted according to what they thought was right, to place in power people who will do something. There is not any doubt about it that we probably have gone too far in some respects, but we have not gone too far in those respects in protecting special or particular interests. We may have made mistakes and gone overboard in our field to protect our people in Pennsylvania, we may have done that in one or two instances and I am sure that I did not agree with the majority of this Senate on some of the things that I even voted for. I have no hesitancy in saying that, because there is justification for it; but one thing we have done, we have erred, if we have erred. In the interests of all the people, we have not erred deliberately for the benefit of a few people. It is true that in Philadelphia we ripped out, and it is true that the Senate has been busily engaged in ripping out, but suppose you think back for a while and realize that for forty years there has been allowed to accumulate in the city of Philadelphia expenditures for political purposes by political leaders, who had nothing in mind but the desire to to protect themselves, and did not have the ability to forsee that the manner in which they attempted to perpetuate themselves would lead to their political destruction sooner or later. For forty years in piling up a political machine or attempting to do it, they have piled on the city of Philadelphia a deficit of thirty million dollars and accumulated a bonded indebtedness of $575,-000,000.00. In the budget of seventy-six million dollars in the city of Philadelphia, thirty-one million dollars must be set aside for the purpose of paying interest and sinking fund on a bonded indebtedness, and some of these gentlemen on the other side, including the Senator from Tioga, if they would take the budget the bonded indebtedness of the city of Philadelphia, and digest it and analyze it, they would find a picture which multiplies itself all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because when we are speaking of Philadelphia in that respect, the matter of handling this situation was not new, it was the old way and it certainly is duplicated all over the state. Five hundred and seventy-five million dollars—for what? For the betterment of the people of Philadelphia? Oh no! If somebody has a lot of land along a certain particular street, it was advertised by the Republican organization that we would make the city beautiful in order that somebody would be able to sell some property, we had to take miles of property along a highway of the city of Philadelphia and accumulated a bonded indebtedness of over one hundred million dollars, and how did we take it? We took it by setting up a Board of Viewers and a board of the Revision of Taxes. The Board of Revision of Taxes assessed the property at ten thousand dollars and the Board of Viewers buy it from the persons who were engaged in the betterment of the city offering a million dollars for it and I am not exaggerating the figures. This Senate heard, of an instance as an illustration, where a property was assessed at six thousand dollars for taxation purposes and was purchased by the city of Philadelphia for one hundred and fifteeen thousand dollars; where a property assessed for taxation purposes at eighty thousand dollars was purchased by the city of Philadelphia for eight hundred and eighty thousand dollars.

If we are talking about the kind of legislation that we have with the Democratic, let us look at some of the legislation we had here from the Republicans and then let the people judge. You could not buy this particular piece of property for certain purposes, because the Act of Assembly said that you could only acquire property of adjacent counties for the purpose of parkways and since the property was not so near a parkway, but was near a playground, then the so-called gentlemen, who call themselves leaders, amended the Act in this Senate. This Senate was busily engaged in 1927, in amending the Act, so that it would include a playground, and therefore the City could acquire, for a parkway, a piece of ground assessed at 86,000, for 990,000. Those things were all done, planned and considered and worked out for the benefit, not of the people, but for the benefit of three or four people who were in control of this Senate. When these bills were passed, they were not hanging over the rail, I was not afraid of them while they were here, but the people began to be afraid of them when they are not here, when they planned and carried out schemes of that kind. That one million dollars formed a part of the five hundred and seventy-five million dollars indebtedness of the city of Philadelphia today. Only a part of the grounds had to be opened on the parkway. When the ground was assessed for taxation purposes for one hundred thousand dollars, the City paid to acquire it, by purchase, five hundred and forty thousand dollars, and that is a part of the five hundred and seventy-five million dollar obligation. Every Act in the City of Philadelphia which was planned for the interest of the citizens, was first and foremost planned from the point of view of what it meant personally to the leaders of a political party in Philadelphia.

I could go on and on and give you the details and show you, but it can be seen, you do not have to take my word for it. A report has been prepared, at the request of the committee appointed to investigate the City of Philadelphia, of the total bonded indebtedness and if you analyzed by adding it up you will find over half of it has been spent in the acquisition of property for public purposes which was unnecessary, and if necessary it could have been bought for ten per-cent of the two hundred and some odd million dollars which was spent for it.

That regime in Philadelphia is a replica of the regime all over the State. Those people who sat in Philadelphia running the affairs of the City sent their representatives here to help carry out their plans in the City and in the State, and woe be it to the Republican here in the Hall who undertook to express his opinion in contradiction of those traditions and orders that they got from the leaders. Woe be it to the man who did not vote right. The Senator from Tioga knows that, he could see the faces disappear from the Halls of the legislature, and if he did not see them he could look up the roster and see the record of the men who voted in accordance with what they thought was right and voted for what they felt was the best interests of Philadelphia, or for the district he represented, and he will find that they were among the missing in the next session of the Legislature.

To make speeches and criticise the acts of the party whose every act is intended for the benefit of all the people, even though they err, in the face of that kind of a record I think is its own answer. You would think that they have learned from the message that they got from the people, that the people will not tolerate that kind of conduct, but no, they will tell you in the City of Philadelphia that offices were ripped out for the purpose of placing more jobs for Democratic workers, but they will not admit that the records show that when there was attempted to be ripped out a department of 367 employees that spent seven hundred and some odd thousand dollars every year for the purpose, not of collecting taxes, but merely for receiving taxes. they will not tell you that when, that was attempted, they immediately rushed to the Courts to prevent the 367 political workers from being thrown out of their jobs. That, of course, does not appear in the picture of the Senator from Tioga, and that will not appear in the newspapers, but you cannot blot it out from the minds of the citizens, you will not be able to prevent these citizens, the people of today who are paying taxes and trying to find a way. They could raise taxes to meet this thirty million dollar deficit, although if they have been politically minded, they would have allowed the Republican organization now in control of it to struggle with the thirty millions. I have prepared legislation to give them an opportunity to pay for it over a period of five years; that has been done, and if we are politically minded we would not have done that.

They talk about Mr. Jack Kelly, the leader of Philadelphia, and call him a contractor, well, I have sat in the caucuses of the Democratic party and the Republican party, and I invite the Senator from Tioga to come into the next one, if there will be one, if there are any more, to show how a real Party is conducted in Pennsylvania. I invite them to sit with thirty-four legislators with a calendar before them, young men who are taking an active part in the interests of their State, who know and read every bill that comes before the legislature and that will come before the Legislature, and they will see something that was never done by the Republican party where ninety per-cent of them never read a bill. These young men read those bills and this so-called contractor sits and listens and makes his suggestions as to how he thinks they should vote, and these men take a vote among themselves and oftentimes disagree with the suggestion of the leader, but you will find them voting in accordance with the majority, that is, for the best interests of the State. I have sat with Republican caucuses too, when I have been told how to vote, on Monday nights, and I too have been amongst a few others who expressed their opinion of how we should vote, and as a result of that, I find myself with the Democratic party on the other side of the Senate chamber. I have been through those things, I have had experience in those things, and the statements of the Senator from Tioga just leave me cold, they leave nothing to me except this, that this session, which is attempted to be turned into a swan song, a song of confession for the Republicans who have left the fold, and of the dire consequences that will come to you if you perpeturate this so-called terrible Democratic party, the cries of what will happen to industry if you continue to allow these people to be taxed, but, as I have said once before on the floor of this Senate, and figures do not lie, and I say that with no disrepect to the Senator from Tioga, who always will figure, and if the Senator from Tioga will take the trouble to look at figures in the Revenue Department, he will find that in spite of taxes that we have imposed on industry in Pennsylvania, the Revenue Department has collected a sizable fund on the general corporative income tax from the corporation in Pennsylvania. The ten per-cent income tax, which is now reduced to six per-cent, will show proportionately that the money to be realized next year, in spite of the taxation in the tax directly on the profits, will indicate whether or not, as a result of the taxes we are imposing, industry has been hurt. That is the way to find out the facts and that is the way to know whether the business has been hurt by taxation. Certainly I did not agree with the Full Crew Bill, I did not agree with the chain store tax, but I disagreed with the statements that the chain store tax will cost the individual person one cent if the tax is placed where it belongs, on the profits. If those people will reduce their profits to a lesser amount, then it will not fall on the producer, but of course, if they attempt by closing down stores now, which they would have closed down anyhow, to make a political issue out of that, then we would simply have to get the facts and figures to let them know. I saw in the paper that they made an announcement that they were closing stores and advertising in one section the opening of one large store. Where they want to close stores, some have not paid for years because of the competition known as the Giant Market. I voted for the tax because it was a promise made to the people of Pennsylvania, and I like to keep my promises. I made the statement that if the people want the tax, let them have it. If later they do not want the tax we can repeal it. The same is true of the Full Crew Bill. I think the Full Crew Bill could have been handled by the Public Service Commission, but that question can be so handled that no great harm will come to those people who may have to pay a certain portion of their profits in additional expenses, but great harm can come, and great harm has come, to the people of Pennsylvania by the chicanery of the Republican party in allowing people to suffer because they had special interests to be served. We sat here in 1935 and we spent six months wrangling over whether or not we could give sixty million or one hundred and twenty million dollars to relief, and we compromised with the Republican party because we could not get anywhere, and they did not confess that they were responsible for the extra session and all the cost that ran with it, in order to raise the extra sixty million dollars; but they will point to the fact that by decreasing their salaries five hundred dollars, they would say "what a great boy am I" and they at the same time fought to keep the five-mill tax off the municipality, and the gentleman who was responsible for the delay in passing that Act did not hand over the roll. He did not have to, he had plenty of representatives and telephones in order to deliver the message, and I know how that fight went on. We point with pride, say the Republican party, to the fact that New Jersey has no unemployment problem. There again, the gentleman does not deal with facts. I suggested to him that he go down to see how much the Federal Government is still contributing to the State of New Jersey by way of unemployment relief through Welfare and WPA organizations. I suggest also that he read the newspapers and he will see that the Governor of New Jersey was one of the many Governors who telephoned and telegraphed to Washington that they should not cut down this appropriation to a billion five hundred million. That does not seem as if they had no trouble There. We found that in New Jersey the children were dying of starvation.

The worst enemies of the Republican Party were the leaders themselves. They forgot that times changed, they forgot that people do a little thinking when they are hungry. Generally speaking, when something happens to a man he tries to help himself and when things happen to people, when they are hungry, when people came to my door as they did to somebody else's door, for something to eat, when these people were left stranded, they turned from the people who should have taken care of them and, hoped that by going to the other side they would be taken care of, and if they will not be taken care of, we will deserve the same fate, the only difference being that our fate will come sooner because the people will not tolerate the conditions so long.

The Republican Party has to be recognized for what it has been. It was a Grand Old Party, it was a real party, and I, for one, resent that the Party of which I was a member for 24 years, should have been so mishandled and so dealt with and which should have dealt with the rights and privileges of the people in such a mean contemptible way, that that organization, which I helped in my own humble way to build up in my neighborhood and throughout the State, should be held in such disgrace and contempt, not because of the people who built it, but because the leadership that wanted to control not only the party, but the State, for a half a dozen people. I say now, to labor, as I have said before, we have carried out our promises to you, we have passed laws and we are continuing, even to this day, to pass laws which will give you the right to maintain and obtain those things to which you are entitled, laws that will support all of the people, laws that will make them recognize, if they could not see it with their own eyes, that you must have support, and I maintain, because you are their producer, and now I will say to you, remember that the laws are to be respected by you as well as the manufacturer, and by all industry. As I said before, and repeat now, do not let industry worry about what we have done to them, we have not done anything to them, we have done something for them. We have done something new for them, we have shown them that the way to have a big market and the way to increase production, is to give the man who is the producer, for whom you are producing, the opportunity to buy their products, to give them a living wage, an opportunity in this land, an opportunity to lift his head up and enjoy the clear air and the sun. We have done these things, forced men to realize that, and let me say to my colleagues here in the Senate, that there is no one who could realize this picture and appreciate it as well as those of us who come here, we know what our country has done, and appreciate the privileges of this country. We fight for those things because we realize that this is the only country in the world where you can hope for something for the children that you leave behind, and it is because of that I am fighting and making the sacrifice, if it be a sacrifice, and for the country that has given me the opportunity to leave behind me a heritage for my children so that they can live, and all this talk about Republican Party and Democratic Party means nothing. We are all brothers in the end, and you cannot have a family fight with one side of that family honest and the other side of the family dishonest.

We want the laws respected and we want people to know they are not for their advantage to the disadvantage of others, and if the people do not understand that they must be made to understand.

I say to the gentleman, from Tioga, do not worry so much about the Democratic Party, the people will pay them their dues and will furnish them their punishment. Worry about the Republican Party and get them to see the light of day, let them join in a real picture, the effort to build up a land not for the benefit of a few, but for the benefit of all. The minority party must recognize at all times that the majority is for the benefit of all. To stand up here and say that Dave Lawrence walked through the Senate Chamber, and saw that Legislation passed—yes, I was present when the Governor has said that this legislation must be passed, and I have also been there when Republicans have said to "Republicans" this legislation must be passed," but the reason that the Governor said that "it must be passed" is because we promised the people that we would give them this legislation, and the reason that Mr. Grundy and Republicans in the Republican Party, and the other leaders said "it must be passed" is because they gave the Party a contribution, and if we do not give them the laws they want, they will no longer contribute. In those two statements you have the difference between the Republican and the Democratic Party, and in those two statements you have the proof of what counts for success and what counts for failure, and in those two discriptions and those two parties, you have what counts for the future.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President I want to state that in the Commission that is investigating the trend of industry in and out of Pennsylvania, although they have just started, and not gotten very far, and do not contend that they have come to any real conclusion, that the Secretary of the Commonwealth's Office shows that twice as many corporations came into Pennsylvania in the last two years as went out, and that in Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, one concern is today enlarging its mills to the extent of $60,000,000, and other mills are enlarging their mills to the extent of over $40,000,000, so that in the County of Allegheny, when we hear so much about the industry leaving Pennsylvania because of taxation, the giant Steel Corporations in the City of Pittsburgh, and of Allegheny County, are building plants enlarging plants to the tune of $100,000,000. So I am not worrying when we have such a healthy town as that. I am not worrying about industry leaving Pennsylvania. I want to say this, that whatever we have done here in this Administration, we have done because we have promised it in our platform, and if we were wrong, we were wrong in our platform. I was a member two years ago when the Governor came over to this Chamber and took the Republican platform and read it to the Republican side and also quoted from the Democratic platform. He said "now you are right here, and here on your platform this is what you promised the people before the election, now you are elected and sitting right here and here is your platform.

Now that is all we have done. There are times our Governor and our State chairman seem to be persistent. I can go back a few years and recall that no Governor or no President of the United States ever got anywhere with his Party or with Legislation unless he took hold of it. Woodrow Wilson did it, Franklin D. Roosevelt is doing it and George Earle is doing the same thing in this State and if these men seem at times persistent or busy, they at least could say, "here is what you promised the people of Pennsylvania before the election, when they had a chance to vote for you and when they had their chance in Government. They only had one day to work and that was on election day, to tell you what they want. You are here and we insist that you keep your party platform, and I say to you that every piece of labelled legislation that has gone through these Houses has been a pledge to the people back home before election, and if we have erred, we have erred because the people have told us to do something that could not be done and I do not think the people will complain if we make mistakes here and there, because we can at least go back and say that is what you sent us down there to do, and I am glad to state that I can go back to my people and tell them that I voted down here exactly as I promised them at election.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I want to say for the Ruth Commission that the Commission is not in a position to speak at this time, but I will promise to this Senate that when the Ruth Commission speaks, it will speak in a language and with a voice that the people of Pennsylvania will hear and understand. I am quite certain that the objection about the salary that Chet Keyes is receiving is not so much urged because of the amount of his salary that is proposed, that is just a small part of what other lawyers have received to represent their interests, the utility interests in Pennsylvania, but I think perhaps the urge above that is the fear that Chet Keyes will duplicate his work of a few years ago in Pennsylvania, when he turned the light on the McClure ring in Delaware County, and from the facts that I know, I think that work will not only be duplicated but triplicated.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his question of personal provilege.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I cannot let go unchallenged certain things that my colleague and friend, Senator Shapiro has said. I noticed his statement that he was formerly a member of the Republican Party—I do not propose, Mr. President, at this time to argue or discuss this statement of one of his colleagues, that the Republican Party did not lose much when they lost Senator Shapiro. Mr. President, I do, however, get a great deal of amusement from Senator Shapiro's tirades about the terrible Philadelphia machine, when I realize that for so long a time he was an important part in that machine. He likewise rants about the happenings in Philadelphia in the past, when he was in personal control, with his other colleagues as a Republican, and as he was making his address on the floor this afternoon, in loud and vigorous terms, I was reminded of a story I heard when I was at college. It was told that the pastor who spoke there one Sunday mislaid his speech, and one of the boys found the manuscript of the speech and he went to him and said, "pretty hot here, yell like hell." I thought of that when he made his speech.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, in line with the statements that the Democratic Party has redeemed its party pledges, I should like to read a pertinent statement, an inquiry of a Democratic newspaper of this State. It reads: "The Democrats have now been in power during two sessions of the legislature, members of the Party have been waiting patiently for some evidence of a willingness to redeem party pledges that the costs of the State Government would be cut. So far there has been a lamentable lack of absence Is it possible we were mistaken when we said that Pinchot had so many people on the payroll that in some Departments, the hired hands actually falling over each other, or is it a case of using platform pledges as a menas of getting in and boosting the payroll as a means of staying in?

Mr. President, my observation of the laws which we have passed at this session of the Legislature is that enough jobs have been created to put over half the people of this State on the public payroll, and the only thing that will limit the number of jobs which are actually passed out is the fact that not enough money cannot be taken from the taxpayers to pay for them.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I do not want to get into this controversy, nor do I want to cross swords with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro. He made a long statement here concerning Philadelphia that cannot be substantiated by a single, truthful presentation of facts that will prove what he has said, but I am not getting on the floor for that purpose at this time. I learned in my youth that when a man dies the good is often interred with his bones, and the evil lives after him. I believe those are the words. I am getting on the floor now to resent the untruthful statement made by the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, who in his zeal at times to make a speech and looking for a foundation on which to talk, at times is a little careless. I do not want to say that he is wilfully untruthful, but he made a statement here that the State of Pennsylvania subsided $5.000.000 to beautify the farm of the late Senator Vare. Senator Vare is dead, and gone to the great beyond and common decency of one man to another fellow-man is to let the dead rest wherever they may be, and further, decency demands that at least before you make a statement against that man's character and reputation, that you be careful that you are telling the truth. Senator William S. Vare never owned a farm in South Philadelphia, nor did any brother of Senator William S. Vare ever own a farm in Philadelphia, nor was there never drawn from the treasury of Philadelphia a single dollar that ever went into the pockets of the Vares for a piece of land condemnation.

Those are the facts, and those facts are known by every resident of Philadelphia. It was unfair, unjust, and unkind to make a statement that a man who was so respected in the neighborhood he lived had looted the treasury of Pennsylvania or Philadelphia for the sum of $5,000,000 or any other sum. No dollar that ever went into the Vare pockets ever came from a land deal of any kind in Philadelphia. They never owned land, nor did they purchase any land. All they owned in South Philadelphia were the homes in which they lived, and I hope that maybe the Senator from Philadelphia will take an opportunity before this session closes to look up and see if these facts are not true, and if he finds they are true then the only thing that a decent man could do is to apologize to the memory of the man against whom he made the untrue statements.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette Mr. Cavalcante will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, Under this order of the day, which I say,—under this special privilege, I felt I did not care to enter this 'dog fight,' and especially when amusing statements are made and I too feel like the majority of this Senate, that when we fold up and adjourn Sine die, we will go home with some very vivid impressions that have happened during this session. Among these are some impressions of amusing statements made by members of the Senate. I was somewhat impressed to hear the statement made by my learned colleague the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that figures do not lie. I do not know what terms he bases that promise on, but I would ask him to study the statistics of the masters of accountancy, Dr. de Schweintz, the Goodrich Committee and other pink tea debutantes, the social workers, then after he has investigated them to take a stock account of his statement as to whether 'figures do not lie.' But it does seem to me, here in this little affray that we are having, that we ought not to lose sight of the fact that we may be each set like a thief who, being apprehended by his victim in hot pursuit, appeals to the onlooker and crys "thief, robber, help!"

I am also amused by the statement that on the floor of this Senate, or in the House of Representatives, speeches mean nothing. How true that is, sadly true in some cases, that speeches have meant nothing, even though they have been pregnant with honesty and esteem. When the coercive influence of the patronage dispensing departments of the state has found its way and in true highway fashion bludgeoned the members of this assembly into yielding their votes, even to the point of stultification. It is true that it has been many, many decades when an assembly in this Commonwealth has granted so much to labor and has been so conscious of the social welfare of the people of our Commonwealth, it is true that we have forced the employer to understand that labor should be a partner in industry and should receive that fair treatment which decency and honesty requires of the American citizen, and we have done many good deeds; but it is also apparent, as we are about to wind up this Session under the complete control and domination of the Democratic Party, that there are classes of people in this Commonwealth who are in dire need of assistance and whom we have absolutely neglected and forgotten in all of the legislation that we have passed, and those people are the people who have for centuries in this Commonwealth borne the burden of Government, the burden of taxation in the local communities, the man who owns real estate, who owns a little home, or who owns farm lands.

I call upon the members of this Senate to look back over what we have already done in this Senate and have done with some degree of honesty, that has brought more relief to the hundreds of fathers and mothers throughout the Commonwealth who have been saddled with the most inequities for years and years, but this is what I have heard in the closed walls of the Committee rooms; "We will admit that the real estate owner has been made to suffer in this burden of taxation, and we must help him slightly, a little at a time, we can not go too fast. We admit that an injustice has been done to the fathers and mothers who have been living in their own homes, we admit that the tax has been dishonest and inevitable." but yet we have done nothing to render them any assistance. I frankly state that in all the things that we have done in this assembly, there are few that can stand up as the glaring sun at noonday, and when all of these things are said, we have been just a little too gullible in centralizing power in the departments under the executive branch of our Government, and I say that we shall live the day when that conduct on our part, when the centralizing of these departments in the executive branch will haunt us just as the iniquities of the Republican party haunted them for many years.

In our mad scramble to please everybody, we have passed legislation that has completely destroyed the backbone of home rule in the county and the local communities of this Commonwealth, and under the coercive powers of these departments under the Executive Branch of our Government we have also destroyed the ancient cherished and accepted right of control by jury, by a jury of the vicinage in which the crime has been committed, and I tell you colleagues of the Senate, that in years to come, will haunt the Democratic Party as the inequities of the Republican Party haunted them for many years and made it possible for us to get into power in this Commonwealth. Under the same coercive power the constitutional office of District Attorney in this Commonwealth has been abrogated to the extent that it now exists only under the whim and caprice of the Department of Justice, and I tell you colleagues, that also in years to come haunt us as the inequities of the Republican Party have haunted them.

Now it is all right, it is well to have enthusiasm to show a spirit of loyalty, to party but, gentlemen, regardless of the fact that it has been stated here today that calling names will not get the Republican Party back in power, I say to you that it was by calling the Republicans by their true names in these last past few sessions that the Democratic Party laid its foundations for its triumph at the ballot box. We called them by their true names, we exposed them to the public in their true light, and the people of this Commonwealth took us in all our sincerity and put us into power. There is no use of us being hypocritical in any way, or in any manner. If we are honest to ourselves and sincere, is there one of us here who hesitates or is reluctant to admit that in all of the sessions that we have attended, there has been no session where the coercive powers of the Executive Branch have borne so heavily upon the members of this Assembly, and I say these words in all sincerity, because there is still fresh in my mind that able and capable discourse rendered here on the floor of this Senate by our distinguished Senator from Washington County, who sought in his appeal here to point out the dangers that must inevitably follow a Democratic Government whenever one branch of that government becomes so powerful and so coercive that the parliamentary branch becomes submissive and loses its initiative and integrity. I leave at the close of this session fearing more as an adherent to the Democratic Party our capitulation to coercion of the executive Branch than any other act that I might have committed here on the floor of this Senate. No vote for or against a bill causes me more concern than that coercive power and when you consult your own consciences, when you stand upon your own honor and your own dignity, gentlemen, can you deny that that pressure, that influence, at times has been very heavy. Now, like the Senator from Washington, I make these statements because truly and deeply at heart I believe in democratic government, I believe in the policies of the democratic party, but truly I am not ready to subscribe to that same course or policy that brought about those lamentable conditions that faced our people under the Republican rule. How many of us went to the people in our election and asked them to put us in office and oust these rubber stamps that we have now at Harrisburg, who listen only to the hue and cry of Grundy, Mellon and the rest of them, and, gentlemen, if we too make rubber stamps of ourselves we surely will not have improved anything for the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, and I say like the gentlemen from Washington said, that we must preserve the initiative that this parlimentary body, we must be men of courage sufficient to resist influences that do not make for the expression of that kind of honesty and decency that we within our own consciences feel that we ought to show here on the floor of the Senate. I am pleading in these departing hours that we may amend our administration, may amend its way, and if all of us are fortunate enough to come back to this body at the next general session, that we will be permitted more freedom of action, that this coercive power that has borne so heavily upon us will be lifted and permit us to exercise our judgment as the people who sent us here expect us to exercise.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I call for the regular order of the day and I think the Calendar should be taken up.

NAYS—3

DiSilvestro,	Heyburn,	Shapiro,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, when this bill came over from the House it was intended to correct an evil that prevailed in this Commonwealth during labor disturbances, and that evil was the soliciting and recruiting of strike-breakers from outside of this Commonwealth and also within this Commonwealth, to take the place of employees that were on strike. When the bill came up in this Senate it was defeated, then on a vote to reconsider, the bill was again placed on the calendar, with some amendments, and the amendments placed to it are indeed ridiculous, to say the least. May I explain just why they are ridiculous by reading the bill itself, for it is very short? When the bill came to the Senate it read that "it shall be unlawful for any person, himself, or any corporation to recruit any person or persons for employment etc., when the purpose of such recruiting, securing or offering to secure employment is to have such persons take the place of employees in the industry where an industrial dispute is then 'pending.'

Now, the evil, as I have said, that this bill was intended to correct was the evil of the employer who was confronted with an industrial strike going and recruiting strike-breakers from outside of the State, or far away from the place of disturbance, and bringing them to take the place of those who were on a strike. Now the amendment put to this bill makes the bill read in this manner: "It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation not directly involved in the labor strike or walk-out, to recruit etc." Whom then does this bill fool, whom then does this bill cover, now, after you have put in an amendment that the bill says that the bill shall not cover these employers who are directly affected by a strike or walk-out? Why, the amendment is absolutely ridiculous. I have heard where on this floor an amendment has emasculated a bill; not only does this amendment emasculate the bill, but it has decapitated it. It is nothing, it is merely an empty show, it means nothing, it prohibits nothing. It prohibits a person, firm, or a corporation that is not directly involved from doing these acts. Well, if any employer, a firm or a corporation is not directly involved in the strike, they are not interested in employing strike-breakers. I was amazed when I found the bill on my desk, to be considered in this form. I was not here, when the vote to reconsider was taken, and I do not know who offered these amendments. It would be indeed enlighting if the gentleman who offered these amnedments could tell us to whom the bill applies. Now, if it does not apply to those persons, firms and corporations directly involved in the labor strike, to whom does it apply?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think I can answer the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I object to putting the amendments in.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there will be a lot of time when I am through. When these amendments were inserted the other night, I asked the question on the floor and I said, "will this bill prohibit an employer who is directly connected with the strike from going out employing someone to break this strike, whether that somebody is a member of an agency existing at that time or not, and I was told in their interpretation of the amendments that this would prohibit that. However, I agree with the Senator from Fayette to the extent that "if a person is not directly connected with the strike, firm or corporation" However, as the bill now stands, I personally feel that the employer is directly connected.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I also agree with the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent that is my knowledge, and anybody who knows a little bit of law, knows that what person, firm or corporation can do itself can also be done through an agency. If this bill is intended to do away with strike-breaking, it does not do it at all, because a person, firm or corporation directly involved in an industrial dispute may employ a strike-breaker's agency.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to say to the Senator from Fayette, that I prepared the amendments, in consultation with some of the representatives of labor, who are very much interested in this bill. I voted against the bill in the first instance because, it would prevent the employer from going out and employing and hiring. I think the employer should have the right and the legislature should not curtail that right to prevent the unlawful taking of his property, and it would not stand the test of constitutionality. This is trying to stop them from engaging professional strike-breaking organizations, to furnish strike-breakers. In other words, labor does not want the employer to go out and hire a corporation whose business is to furnish strike-breakers during labor troubles, to furnish those people and bring them in here from all over the country or state; so we fixed the bill so that the employer himself may go out and recruit as many people as he wants to take the place of strikers, but cannot go out and have another corporation which is not involved in the strike, and engage them for the purpose of bringing in help for the purpose of strike-breaking. Now these amendments were drawn after the consultation with the representative of labor, with a group who are interested in this matter, and they are thoroughly satisfied with the bill in its present form.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, as a matter of law, will the Senator from Philadelphia not agree that what a certain firm or corporation directly involved in a labor strike can do, he can also do through an agent.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, no, he cannot do it through an agent. If an agent is a certain firm or individual, not directly involved in the strike, it cannot under this action, engage in procuring employees for them.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, let us assume that the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, near Pittsburgh, would have a strike, is there anything in this bill that would prevent Jones and Laughlin Company from going to New York and employing an agency to furnish them with 400 strike-breakers?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, what is in there, to show how this Act applies to a man in New York?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it makes it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to recruit any person, or persons, or employment to secure any persns etc.; in other words, the strike-breaking organization would be the organization who procures them and therefore, they would come under the provisions of this Act.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, but this bill does not cover the Jones and Laughlin Corporation, because they are directly involved in the strikers' dispute, and how are you going to get more protection in New York City under an Act that was passed in Pennsylvania, if it does not come within our jurisdiction?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if the Senator from Fayette, reads the bill, it provides, "it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation not directly involved in a labor dispute or a lock-out to recruit any person or persons for employment, or to secure or offer to secure any persons or firm, when the purpose of such recruiting, or offering to secure is to have such persons take the place;" and so on. This makes it unlawful for anybody, but, I say, the direct employer of the corporation involved to recruit labor.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, a careful study of this bill shows that the striking out of one word with three letters will make this bill a sensible bill and put some potency in the bill. I, therefore, move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered, for the purpose of striking out the word "not" on page 1, line 5, before the word "directly".

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is this motion debatable?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that the motion is debatable in a limited degree.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I do not like to be taking the opposite viewpoint in this debate, but I must do so because we should vote on this bill. I think that if the Senator from Fayette will continue to read the bill to the end of it and find the thorough qualifications that must be observed by the persons who employ help, he will find that a legitimate employer he may, through circumstances, find himself without the employees who originally went on strike, and may, after six or eight months, resume operations and be unable to find his men because they have gone to some other industry. When I ask you to withdraw your motion, you will be serving the best interests of labor and industry both in Pennsylvania, because in doing it, it is keeping out illegal strike-breakers, and allow the employer to employ individuals on a strike who do not want to come back. Some will want to come back, and I am going to ask the Senator from Fayette to withdraw his motion. If the motion is not withdrawn, I will have to oppose it.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the Senator from Westmoreland may oppose the motion, but I will not withdraw my motion because I sincerely believe that I am helping the cause of labor, and am striking out the evil that the bill was originally intended to eliminate, and as the bill now stands, it does not strike out that evil, but propagates it, and permits it.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for, 11 Senators voted in the affirmative; and 32 in the negative. Whereupon the question was decided in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1127, (House Bill No. 1246), as follows:

An Act to prohibit any person firm or corporation not directly involved in a labor strike or lockout recruiting or securing or offering to secure employment for persons to take the places of employes where a labor strike or a lockout exists and providing for legally established employment service

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful for any person firm or corporation not directly involved in a labor strike or lockout to recruit any person or persons for employment or to secure or offer to secure for any person or persons any employment when the purpose of such recruiting securing or offering to secure employment is to have such persons take the place in employment of employes in an industry where a labor strike or a lockout exists provided that this Act shall not apply to any employment agent licensed as such under the Department of Labor and Industry or to the Pennsylvania or the United State Employment Service

Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) or to suffer imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or both at the discretion of the court

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

An Act to amend section eight hundred and five of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred three) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by making townships liable for payment of compensation to persons injured while employed under a contract executed in violation of provisions of this act.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I suggest that somebody that really understands this bill explain it to the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that it is to prevent employees of townships, and one thing or another from being deprived of compensation, that is all I know about it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as I understand this bill, and my reason for voting "no", is that it creates a liability upon the township for the performance of a public function which does not exist in any city or any township at the present time. The Supreme Court has decided that any township or city in the performance of a public function is not liable for injuries. Niw, why it should be liable for workmen's compensation is more than I can understand.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I vote "aye" on this bill, because under the law a township when it enters into a contract, will stipulate in that contract that the contractor is taking out workmen's compensation insurance. This bill provides that if the municipality fails to do that, or the contractor fails to do that, then the township shall be liable for compensation, and I think it should be properly liable for that compensation if it neglects to make the proper kind of a contract.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to dispute that. When the township gives out a contract, the contractor is liable to the injured person; if the township solicitor does neglect to take care of the interests of the city and make those provisions in the contract for such a contingency then the cause is the neglect of the township's solicitor, the township knows nothing about it, the township would then be penalized to an unlimited extent. It seems to me that the way to handle this is to make the city solicitor liable.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I might add to what the gentleman from Philadelphia has said, the fact that the situation is very much complicated by a bill to be passed at this session bringing the roads, partly at least, under the authority of the Commonwealth, and it will be pretty hard for supervisors to know just what their duties are and what their responsibilities are.

RECESS

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 10:00 p. m.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Erie, Mr. Gilson, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I have been in the Senate of Pennsylvania for only six months. I believe that my colleagues and myself will bear witness to the fact that I have refrained from expressing an opinion very consistently during that period. It has been very interesting to me to have sat in this Senate and observe the psychology of the members of this Senate, which has expressed an evolution of philosophy in the movement of time. I was committed in my campaign as a Senator of Pennsylvania to the theory of Party government. I have believed in it since the days of my undergraduate study at Princeton, where I absorbed the theories of Party government under the tutelage of Woodrow Wilson. I believe that any Democracy must move forward under a system of Party government, or move backward under a system of anarchy, and as I have watched the events of the last few years I begin to be convinced that Pennsylvania had produced one who has justified all that I had come to believe as to the soundness of Party government. I believed then, and I believe now, that Governor Earle, the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, is typical of the best that there is in the principle of Party government, and I have been willing during my service in the Senate of Pennsylvania to subordinate a number of my own convictions in order that principles might rise or fall upon the soundness of the principles for which it stood. Sometime ago, a resolution was presented to this Senate by Senator Eroe, to which I shall now call the attention of my colleagues. This resolution is number 43, and was presented in the Senate on April 19, 1937, and referred to the Committee on Highways, where it has remained ever since. The gist of that resolution was a commendation of Governor Earle for his expressed determination to make an impartial and certain investigation of the conduct of the Highway Department, especially with respect to the purchases and uses of materials entering into highway construction. The time has come to throw off the mask which prompts the presentation of that resolution.

Mr. President, I do not believe that the Democratic party in the State of Pennsylvania, or any member thereof, can afford to hide behind any mask. If there is something that we do not like, if there is something which might involve us in any way, it is right to bring that matter out in the open and look it in the eye. I had hoped on April 19, 1937, when that resolution was presented by Senator Eroe in the Senate, that the occasion would not arrive when the leader of a minority party might be able to rise in the House of Representatives and demand where the report was, which this resolution commended the Governor of Pennsylvania for demanding.

Mr. President, I am a Senator, and humble as I may be and as quiet as I may have been, and as subservient to the demands of the party as I may have appeared to be, I am still, if you please, the Senator from Erie County. Erie County is one of the counties of a district involving several other counties, Crawford and some more counties in western Pennsylvania. I do not propose to go back to Erie County tomorrow, nor the day after tomorrow, and have my constituents point their finger at me, or point their finger at the man who I believe is one of the finest leaders of the Democratic Party or any other party, that it has ever had in the State of Pennsylvania. I cannot sit here tonight with the words of the leader of the opposition in the House of Representatives still ringing in my ears and still trying to point, the finger of scorn at this Administration and my collegaues, and my section of the State, and remain silent. I believe in party loyalty, I believe that the first requisite of party loyalty is to be free and to be frank with those with whom we have entrusted the leadership of the party and the government in our State. These matters came early to my attention, and as promptly as they came to me, I brought them to the attention of those within whose sphere it was to act.

Mr. President, I want to say that I do not propose to let this Senate, or to let the public, or my county, or any part of the State of Pennsylvania, assume that I, with the knowledge of those facts, have sat passively by here waiting for the day when something might happen. I believe that the resolution which I have mentioned was justified. I have taken it upon myself to ascertain whether or not the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has pursued with the diligence which he ought, the investigation which was forced upon him. Now, it may be that the speech which Governor Earle has made publicly today, that he expects and is assured of having a complete, full and exhaustive report by the heads of the departments of State police of Pennsylvania by tomorrow noon, is a true statement. I was assured of that same fact by Major Adams this afternoon. I realize that there is a certain innuendo and suspicion about having the time of this report being made public coincide with the adjournment of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. I believe, however, that my service of five and one-half or six months with the Senators of Pennsylvania, if it has done nothing else, at least, has given them confidence in me and collateral with it, that as a Senator who is most vitally affected by this investigation, I wish to assure them that this delay on the part of Major Adams, has been inevitable that the high lights of that investigation have been for a day or so in the possession of the Governor, and that a full report will be made public, and that action will be taken.

Now, there is one other thing that is on my mind, and I am not going to let this legislature adjourn without saying to them in the spirit, I think in the same spirit that, if I had to condone anything in this Senate, it is in that spirit of perfect candor and frankness. The leader of the Democratic party, I would say, in Erie County, in northwestern Pennsylvania, is Mr. Arthur Colegrove, superintendent of the Department of Property and Supplies, and I wish to say here now, that there is no man in the service of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who enjoys the confidence of the people of Pennsylvania, or who enjoys the confidence of the people with whom he has served, in such high degree, or perhaps in as high a degree as Mr. Colegrove.

I will say to you, my colleagues in the Senate, that the man who is directly responsible for bringing forth this investigation, the one man whose honesty, whose integrity and whose high principles and character were so challenged by the things that I found out, and that he could not pass them by, was the Superintendent of Property and Supplies, Arthur Colegrove. Now, I am awaiting with something that is a great deal more than mere interest as to what is going to happen as the result of this investigation, and I want to say to you, my colleagues, if there is the least doubt from a full and free and frank report of the conditions which I know to exist in this district, if there is a failure to act in the way that the Administration ought to act to punish those who are involved in this matter, and if there is any attempt at retaliation, either politically or otherwise, upon the Superintendent of Property and Supplies, Mr. Colegrove I want to say to you that the Senator from Erie County in Pennsylvania will spend his natural life in active opposition in Erie County and in the State of Pennsylvania to retaliate upon those who attempt to retaliate upon him whom I consider the most honest man in the State of Pennsylvania, and the most courageous that this State has ever known.

Now this is gentlemen, justified and is said, not with any outburst for home consumption, but I say to you that I have never been more earnest in my life. I have spent in this Senate six months of time in the effort to give to the people of Pennsylvania the kind of government that I understand the leadership of this party stands for and let me say to you, my friends, that party organization, that term, what those words in that service will mean if we do not serve, it will mean absolutely nothing to me unless, when this matter is over, it is over fully, freely and fairly and without the least bit of vengeance or vindictiveness upon the character of a man who had the courage to point his finger promptly and effectively at an evil which he thought to exist. I only trust that it will not be necessary for me to take such an action, but if that time should come, I certainly hope that the kindly friendships and understanding which it has been my privilege to enjoy with all the members of this Senate, that anything that I may do in a matter of this kind is prompted by motives which all of my colleagues could commend from the start to he finish.

Now I ask you, my friends, only one thing, I ask you to lay aside your efforts, those of you who may be inclined to seek out of this situation any small element of party advantage. It will only come back upon you if you do. I ask those of you who have become acquainted with me to understand that what I am saying here tonight goes deeper than any mere party advantage or disadvantage. Looming ahead of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania lies a movement for expansion and construction, and it must be built, not merely in materials and money, it must be built with integrity and intelligence. We are standing today on the threshold of a program which will use millions of dollars of the peoples' money, and I say to you that we cannot with self respect approach that program unless we have the respect of the people and confidence in ourselves in the program which is costly, and so I ask you to bear with me, to bear with Major Adams and to bear with Governor Earle until this verdict is made public and in return for that, my friends, I pledge you with all my sincerity and with all my energy that if that is not what it should be you will find me more vigorous in its condemnation than I have been here tonight in the solicitation of your support. I thank you.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor, Thomas Kennedy) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I just want to make a few remarks. It is getting near the end of the Session, and I feel that I would be neglecting my duty if I did not express to you my feelings of gratitude to our esteemed colleague, the Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, whom, I think you will agree with me, is one of the best, if not the best, historian to describe the trials and tribulations of the early settlers of our State.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, before I leave these Legislative Halls for the ancestral plantation, with its hallowed association and its blessed memories of 141 years, before I leave for the pleasant valleys, where he sweet waters flow from the blue springs, I want to thank my friend Senator Stiefel for his kind remarks, and also to thank my colleagues in this Senate, regardless of party affiliations, for the interest they have shown and expressed in the matter that I told you before, which is very close to my heart, the recommendation of the sublime moral principle that actuated the first settlers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I am glad that in the Senate of Pennsylvania, I found pople who were responsive to my pleas, that we should have in the schools of Pennsylvania textbooks on elementary history of Pennsylvania and the United States that do not ignore the first settlement, in our State, while at the same time giving a great deal of space to the first settlements in Virginia, in Massachusetts, in New York and others of the thirteen original States(and, emulating my good friend from Erie in his fondness, I am constrained to say to you that has been a great sorrow to me that in my crusade for recognition of the first settlement of our State in the text books of our schools, I found the least encouragement where I should have found the most; I found further, the most opposition in the places, the higher places where I should have received the most help, and that lack of interest and that opposition, I am trying to state to you, has been largely in the higher places of the public school systems of Pennsylvania. Frankness prompts me to say that it is in the glorious history of Pennsylvania, that the text book put out by some New England book concerns ignored the glorious history, part of which is given to you and to me, and to me it is very suggestive that while these text books ignore these glorious things in our State, for time in our State, for time immemorial the boys and girls and school teachers of the Keystone State have read the white-washed varnished and expungated story of the Puritians in New England. Let me say to you, that the real story, the true story of the First Settlement in Massachusetts is the story that is to revolting to be delivered to any young mind, without first having been white-washed expuated. But thanks be to God, the history of he First Settlement in Pennsylvania does not need any white-washing, it does not need any varnishing, and it does not need any expungating in order to make it fit to present to young minds for their consideration, I hardly know when to stop when I get into the first settlements in the early history of the greatest State of the Union, but let me say that the Swedes there on the Delaware, on account of their immortal principles deserve monuments of marble and bronze, they deserve medals of silver and gold, and their best love is of the American soil and the true principles to all mankind, which came about as the fruits of their great beliefs of religious liberty, which they learned and taught, and I hope it is within the Providence of God, that I live to come back to the next session of the Senate of Pennsylvania and that there will have come about largely through your help and through your interests, a realization of the far reaching influences of this neglected colony, and that it will be set forth for all time in the elementary histories in the schools of the Keystone State. As one Senator suggested to me this evening, those settlements were not many in point of number; no, but they mere mighty important in point of progress. These settlements contained some of the best blood in the Colonial States. I will tell you about it when I come down in this Senate some time again and offer other personal privilege speeches. Out of this colony came a man. There is an erroneous impression about the Declaration of Independence, that it came into being, that it burst forth spontaneously on the world, but as a matter of fact it came about like most great other things in the world, it came about through a struggle. It was in the rosy month of June, it was in the month of roses, in 1776, that a great Virginia orator introduced into the Continental Congress, in session in Philadelphia, the resolution that "That these colonies are, and of a right ought to be free and independent states, and forever absolve themselves from all allegience to the British Government". The Declaration of Independence had opposition. Well, the Continental Congress began to vote on this, that is, a delegation from each State voted as to how they stood, six voted against the resolution, and six voted for it, thus making a tie, Then it came Pennsylvania's time to vote as the last of the thirteen and when the Pennsylvania delegation voted, it was a tie, until the Chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation cast his vote for the resolution, thus breaking the deadlock in the Continental Congress, and making possible by one man's vote the adoption of that glorious Declaration of Independence. Now, who was this Chairman? This Chairman was a Swede, John Martin, he was a civil engineer, he was a surveyor, he was a self-educated man, a man with a fine mind who became a brilliant orator, and he was in the Revolutionary War, he was in the Continental Congress of Pennsylvania and on account of his ability, he was elected Chairman of the Pennsylvania Delegation in the Continental Congress.

John Martin was one of the first signers of the Declaration of Independence, and he died within a year after the signing of that document.

Mr. President, in closing let me say that I have stood with uncovered head at the grave of John Martin in an old Swedish burying ground in which he was laid away, and I want to say now, that it is simply too bad that so many of the educated people of the Keystone state are so familiar with the character and services of that noble personage, John Martin, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, one of the earliest settlers of this state, in New Sweden, it is simply too bad that thee is not one word said about this man in any of the school books in the Public Schools in Pennsylvania, and it is unfair that his name should not be written in the foremost histories of the United States of America.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this body has signally honored one of the members of the Governor's cabinet, and I have been asked to read a letter from the gentleman in question.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 4, 1937.

To the Honorable the Members of the Senate and the House of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

The writer wishes to take this opportunity for himself to express promptly and in advance of a more formal acknowledgement his deep appreciation of your many kindnesses, particularly your joint resolution just adopted with reference to his impending retirement as Secretary of Revenue. This is all the more appreciated since it can be accepted without reservation as sincere on all sides of the Legislature, and it is a great thing to be able to feel that way.

In addition I wish to speak to you also as the cheer leader and team mate of as loyal and fine a group as it has ever been my lot to work with—the thirty-eight Democratic members of the House and the six of the Senate from Philadelphia.

Since the first of the year you have listened with interest, indulgence or disgust, depending upon your party affiliations and those of the orator, to a pitiless attack on God's patience, your own and sometimes the King's English.

But since you have proven to me that you can take it beyond all human endurance I am venturing to say something for myself and my friends, in the full belief that you will forgive all, however much you may have thought that I was responsible for the verbal barrage you have received.

Whether you have agreed or not with the Philadelphia legislation you have been called on to vote for or against I would like you to believe that we have tried to correct what we thought were evils and to place laws on the statute books that would make our city a better place to live in or at any rate bring it up to the standards of good government enjoyed anywhere in the State.

Perhaps we have been clumsy in our methods of approach and may have annoyed you. But our delegation is made up of a good many freshmen and if we have taxed your patience at times we ask your forgiveness, since we felt that the end justified the means.

We know, however, that you have really been very tolerant and for that reason we want to thank you from the bottom of our hearts. And we want you to know that we appreciate more than we can readily express how much your friendly interest has meant.

You have helped us, you other Democrats and even some of you Republicans, to win many an argument. You have differed with us and defeated us both in caucus or House or Senate.

Be assured that we emerge from this history-making session feeling that we are better for having known you. And in each defeat we hope that we have been good sports and that we have salvaged what we could from the wreck.

To the Republicans particularly we wish to convey the fact that we respect almost all of your opinions and without reservation we admire you for your singleness of purpose. Never could we say that you were not consistent. You were always against us. Yet, withall, we leave you without any bitterness in our hearts—only the pious hope that one day you will see the light and learn that there is another word in Webster beside 'No.'

No doubt we have tried your souls to the uttermost. But still we feel that we too have had grounds for complaint, since we had to listen to Elwood Turner and Mason Owlett— and that is no Philadelphia Orchestra concert in our ears.

Seriously it has been great fun and a great job and as we see it, a time of great achievement which we would not have missed on any account.

We wish also to thank the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House for their fairness and understanding and wish for them that their hopes, whatever they may be, will be accomplished.

We thank Billy Gallagher and John Morlock for putting up with us.

To all, Republicans and Democrats alike, we extend hearty thanks for all our legislation you approved; all of our rippers that you ripped. You have been great fellows to know.

Yours cordially,

"Jack the Ripper,"
JOHN B. KELLY.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent.

A motion was made by Mr. SONES.

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at to-day's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. SONES.

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I understand that in the nominations that are sent in for confirmation by the Governor there are included the appointments of commissioners for the construction of the South Penn Terminal highway. I just wish to say a word in regard to those nominations. The men for those positions were selected by the Governor and have been passed by this Committee on Executive nominations, are composed exclusively of Democrats. I should have liked to know more of the qualifications of the appointees, but as I have heard nothing which may be considered derogatory, and as the Committee on Executive Nominations has recommended their confirmation, I shall not oppose them. I wish to express my disappointment, however, in that the Governor has solely failed to consider the claims of the territory through which the road passes, for recognition on the Board. It was too much to expect of this Governor to appoint a non-partisan board of representatives of both parties, as he might fairly and properly have done, if the construction of the road is to be kept out of politics, and, of course, I have no applicants for a position on the Board, but I know there were men of ability and integrity in my district, life-long Democrats who desired appointments. They were men who know the local conditions and would see that all property owners and others got fair treatment. There were doubtless other Democrats properly qualified, living in the districts of Senator Rice and Senator Dent and Senator Jacobs, through which this road passes, but the Governor chose to ignore them all and to appoint men from Allegheny and Washington and from Montgomery and Chester Counties, more or less remote from any connection with this road. The query is why?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Barthold,	Gelder,	Kilgallen,	Rankin,
Bean,	Gilson,	Kunkel,	Ruth,
Cavalcante,	Haluska,	Lanius.	Salus.

Ealy,	Huffman,	Owlett,	Stiefel,
Eroe.	Jaspan,	Pierson,	Thompson,
Frey,	Kahle,	Pytko,	Wolfenden,

NAYS—0.

Two-thirds of a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. SONES. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. BEAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER, (Roy E. Furman), in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EPHRAIM Z. GALLAHER, offered the following prayer:

Most Gracious Lord we invoke Thy Divine blessing upon this Regular Session of the 132nd General Assembly of our Commonwealth, now drawing to a close. Much has been done and new history written. During these days of busy activity there may have been apparent feelings, some misgivings, some redundancy of words, but we ask Thy commendation of the work accomplished, and the motive back of all said and done.

Again we ask Thy blessing upon the President of the United States, upon His Excellency, the Governor of our Commonwealth, upon the Speaker of the House, upon every member of the Assembly, upon all employes, and upon the Press representatives. And again we appropriate the words of the Psalmist,

"The Lord bless us and keep us,
The Lord make His face to shine upon us and be gracious unto us,
The Lord lift up his countenance upon us
And give us Peace."

In Christ name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. WOODSIDE, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. LEWIS and REUBEN E. COHEN,

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 93.

In the House of Representatives, June 3, 1937.

Whereas, It has been reported that number of industries in Pennsylvania are paying some of their full time employes wages that are so low it is impossible for such employes to maintain a safe standard of living; and

Whereas, It has become necessary, as a result of these full time low wage scales, for the Emergency Relief Board to furnish additional funds for the relief of these employes; and

Whereas, It is reported that the Emergency Relief Board expenditures for supplemental relief approximate a sum of $2,000,000 annually; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That a commission is hereby created which shall be composed of five members; one of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; one by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and three by the Governor of this Commonwealth; whose duty it shall be to make a careful, thorough and impartial investigation of the reasons why certain industries and certain employers are paying their employes or certain of their employes, a wage which is insufficient to maintain a safe standard of living; and be it further

Resolved, That the said commission shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of the chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the commission, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said commission shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission. Any persons who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said commission or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the law of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That said commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the Governor as early as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 3, 1937.

Whereas, The Honorable John B. Kelly has announced his intention of retiring from the office of Secretary of Revenue, at the close of the present session of the General Assembly; and

Whereas, He has served the Commonwealth in the capacity of Secretary of Revenue with much honor; and

Whereas, He will be remembered for his strenuous efforts to make the highways of this Commonwealth safe, not only for motorists, but also for pedestrians; and

Whereas, He will also be remembered for the fair and impartial manner in which he administered the tax laws; and

Whereas, He was loved by his friends and respected by his enemies; therefore be it

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly, hereby expresses its sincere regret that the Hon. John B. Kelly finds it necessary to retire from the office of Secretary of Revenue and to resume his private business affairs; and be it further

Resolved, That it is the wish of the members of the General Assembly that he shall have success, good health and much happiness in any new venture.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 673 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. RUFFENNACH offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 673, Printer's No. 319, entitled "An Act regulating and prescribing the computation and running of sentences for criminal offenses," be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE MESSAGES

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 72.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 27, 1937.

Whereas, The Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are strongly in favor of the removal of abnormal profits during time of war; and

Whereas, It is their belief that war should be prosecuted with special privilege to none and on the basis of equal service for all; and

Whereas, There is now pending in the Federal Congress a bill which would not only accomplish these desirable results but by its enactment into law would do much towards the preservation and promotion of peace; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to pass the Sheppard House Bill, (Senate number 25, House number 1954), at the earliest possible moment; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to each of the members elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the House of Representatives and to the Senate of the Congress of the United States

STATEMENT PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to file a statement to be printed in the Legislative Journal:

In the Session of 1935, I introduced a bill taxing the real estate of the utilities who have been for years enjoying an unjust special privilege by virtue of their political power. This bill was defeated by the utility lobbyists in this House. In the Special Session of 1936, the bill was again introduced and was defeated by one vote. You all know the story of House Bill No. 64, which was introduced the first day of the present Session. It remained in the County's Committee until March 17th. After a vicious fight against the utility lobbyists, and with the able support of the State Chairman of the Democratic Party, the Hon. David L. Lawrence, it passed this House on March 29th. It was then referred to the Senate Committee on County Government where it has remained ever since.

Within 24 hours the legislature will adjourn and the pages of the history of this Session will reveal in a most conspicuous manner the absolute control of the Senate by the public utilities of our great Commonwealth. What answer are we to offer to the oppressed and overburdened home owner and farm owner? What have we done to relieve him of his heavy burden of real estate taxes? While some of the bills which we have passed are designed to reduce his taxes, there is a wide difference of opinion as to their actual results. Bill after bill was passed by this House because it favored certain interests, but who was here to represent the home owner or farm owner, and to demand passage of a bill to relieve the burden from the shoulders of the taxpayers? Unfortunately the small owners of real estate are not organized. If they were, they would be protecting their property rights by sit down strikes or other means in protest against the utilities who own one billion three hundred sixy-four million dollars of real estate in Pennsylvania and who do not pay one cent of local taxes for the support of local government. This exemption of the utilities from the local taxation and the corresponding increase in the tax load of the other real estate owners is due to the failure of the small home owners to have proper and militant representation in the Senate of Pennsylvania. In the last two Sessions, much has been said of reactionary Senators. But, I want to emphasize that the Democratic Party of which I am a member, comprises certain individuals, who, if they are permitted to remain in our party, will bring the party into the same disrepute as the old Republican Party. The voters who rallied to the Democratic Party have been betrayed here in Harrisburg by Tories and pseudo liberalists.

When it was a minority party, Democrats shouted from the roof tops that the Republicans were controlled by public utilities and one of our slogans and campaign pledges was to "Tax the real estate of utilities."

Why were certain bills "blasted" out of Committees while the "Holland Bill" which is intended to help the vast majority of taxpayers in the State of Pennsylvania was permitted to die in a Senate Committee?

Why was "Gag rule" enforced on the Senate Floor when Senator Jaspen of Philadelphia and Senator Cavalcante of Fayette attempted to speak in support of this bill?

Posterity, will judge this Session of the General Assembly by its achievements; it will also bring to life the sinister forces and their methods in preventing adequate relief in the tax burden of the small real estate owners. Whether or not the utilities have resorted to the usual practice of awarding contracts and favors to certain influential persons in order to defeat the Holland Bill in the Senate is a matter which will be brought to life with the passage of time.

The curtain goes down on the 1937 Session with a billion and a half dollars of real estate of utilities enjoying the same special privileges that they have been enjoying under previous administrations.

STATEMENT BY MR. JOHN A. SMITH

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can well understand today how Chic Sale was able to make a fortune while Sir Walter Scott went hungry. Yesterday there was considerable reaction to the statement made with respect to milk inspectors, and as a result of that it was necessary to have mimeographed copies made of my statement, and these have been placed in your postoffice boxes. This was given to you with the idea of giving to the city people a appreciate understanding of what we have been trying to explain in the milk inspection. We appreciate very much that you people in the cities are open to the criticism of the Health Department, and we are giving this information with the idea of giving to you a thorough understanding of the problems that are necessary to be met in the protection of your milk supply. This gives the set-up on a State-wide basis, but we feel that we should be given uniformity throughout the State. I thank you for your attention.

COMMUNICATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

June 4, 1937.

Hon. William P. Gallagher,
House of Representatives.

Dear Mr. Gallagher:

I acknowledge receipt of the resolution of condolence as passed by the members of the House of Representatives.

Please convey to them my appreciation for their expression of sympathy.

Sincerely,

(Signed) BENJAMIN L. LONG.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The Chair wishes to announce that the House will consider bills that are considered non-controversial before taking up the proceedings in connection with the adjournment of the session.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. OMINSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 2332, Senate Bill No. 69, Printer's No. 852, on page 18 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2332, (Senate Bill No. 69), as follows:

An Act to protect the obligors or guarantors of bonds and mortgages and owners of property affected thereby and others indirectly liable for the payment thereof by prohibiting for certain periods the foreclosure sale of mortgaged property at less than its fair market value and prescribing the method of fixing the fair market value of said property

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter before any execution shall issue against the mortgaged premises on the foreclosure of any mortgage or on a judgment entered on any obligation secured by mortgage the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall either (1) file a statement in the court having jurisdiction over such execution certifiying under oath that he or they release and discharge the obligors and guarantors and any other parties liable directly or indirectly on the mortgage debt and the owners of the property affected thereby from all personal liability on the mortgage debt interest costs taxes and municipal claims or (2) petition the court having jurisdiction to issue such execution to fix the fair market value of the property to be sold Said petition shall be signed and sworn to by the plaintiff or plaintiffs

Section 2 The petition shall set forth

(a) The location by address or description of the mortgaged real estate to be sold the name or names of the mortgagors and all other persons known to petitioner to be or who may be directly or indirectly liable to petitioner or any other person for the payment of said mortgage debt

(b) A statement of the fair market value of said property and

(c) Shall name as respondents and state the addresses of the obligors and guarantors and any other persons directly or indirectly liable to petitioner for the payment of said mortgage debt and the owners of the property affected thereby

Section 3 The court shall thereupon fix a date for hearing on said petition not less than fifteen days after the filing thereof and said petition shall be served upon each and all of the persons named therein as respondents at least ten days prior to the date fixed for hearing At any time prior to the hearing any respondent or other person in interest may appear and answer setting up in his answer his interest in the proceedings and answering the averments of the petition

Section 4 Said petition may be served by the sheriff of the county or by the sheriff of any other county specially deputized for that purpose upon the respondents named therein

(a) By handing an exact copy thereof to each of them personally or

(b) By leaving an exact copy thereof at the residence of each of them with an adult member of his family or

(c) If service cannot be had in either of the above methods and the return of the sheriff is that the respondent or respondents or any of them cannot be found in this county or State said respondent or respondents may be served by publishing in the legal newspaper of the county and one newspaper of general circulation in the county at least fifteen days prior to the day fixed for the hearing of such petition a notice to the said respondent or respondents of the filing of said petition and of the time and place fixed for hearing thereon Provided however That if there be no legal newspaper in the county then in one newspaper of general circulation in said county

Any obligor guarantor mortgagor and any other person liable directly or indirectly for the payment of the mortgage debt and any owner or owners of the property affected thereby who is not joined as a party defendant nor served with a petition as provided in this section shall be deeemed to be discharged from all personal liability to the petitioner on the mortgage debt interest and costs but any such failure to serve the petition shall not be deemed to affect or impair the validity of any execution sale or the title secured thereby

Section 5 Return of the service of any petition shall set forth particularly the time place and manner of service and shall be filed before the time fixed for hearing No hearing shall be had until the court shall be satisfied that service has been made upon all the respondents in any of the methods here provided

Section 6 At such hearings any party in interest may introduce into evidence testimony of the fair market value of the premises to be sold

If no answer be filed within the time provided for in this Act or if an answer be filed which does not controvert the allegation of the fair market value of the property as averred in the petition the plaintiff or plaintiffs may file in the court a statement under oath releasing the obligors and guarantors and any other persons liable directly or indirectly for the mortgage debt and the owners of the property affected thereby from personal liability to the extent of the fair market value as averred in the petition Whereupon the court shall order the sale to be proceeded with forthwith

If no answer be filed within the time herein provided for or if an answer be filed contraverting the averment in the petition as to the fair market value of the property and no testimony be produced at the hearing supporting such denial of the fair market value and no such declaration of release is filed by the plaintiff or plaintiffs prior to the hearing the court shall determine and fix as the fair value of the property and amount thereof alleged in the petition to be the fair market value

If answer be filed alleging as the fair market value an amount in excess of the fair market value of the property as averred in the petition the plaintiff or plaintiffs may agree to accept as the fair market value of the property the value set up in the answer and in such case may file under oath a declaration releasing the obligors and guarantors and any other persons liable directly or indirectly for the mortgage debt and the owners of the property affected thereby from personal liability to the extent of the fair market value as averred in the answer Whereupon the court shall order the sale to be proceeded with forthwith If an answer shall be filed and testimony produced setting forth that the fair market value of the property is more than the value stated in the petition the court shall determine and fix the fair market value of the premises which shall in no event exceed the amount of the mortgage debt interest costs taxes and municipal claims and for such purpose may appoint no more than three appraisers to assist the court in determining said fair value

After the hearing and the determination by the court of the fair market value of the property to be sold the execution may issue but said property shall not be sold for less than the fair market vaue so determined and fixed

Section 7 If said property cannot be sold at a price equal or greater than the fair market value so fixed a report thereof shall be made by the plaintiff or plaintiffs to the court whereupon the court shall postpone the sale of the premises for a period not exceeding six months from the date of such report No notice or advertisement shall be required for such postponed sale

Section 8 If at such postponed sale a price equal to or greater than the fair market value of the property shall not be bid a report thereof shall be made to the court whereupon the court shall again postpone the sale of the premises for an additional period not exceeding six months No notice or advertisement shall be required for such postponed sale

Section 9 If at such second postponed sale a price equal to or greater than the fair market value of the property shall not be bid a report thereof shall be made to the court whereupon the court may order said sale confirmed to the highest bidder or may postpone the sale in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as the previous postponements for such further periods not exceeding an aggregate of one year as the court shall deem equitable and just

Section 10 Nothing in this act shall be construed to affect the right of any mortgagor and any person liable directly or indirectly for the payment of the mortgage debt to the benefit of any amount realized on any execution sale in excess of the fair market value fixed or agreed to in accordance with the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend sec 10, page 8, line 8, by inserting after the word "act" the following: "Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not aply to the foreclosure of any mortgage held by any Federal land bank or the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, if, at the time of said foreclosure, the United States of America owns a majority of the capital stock of such bank or corporation."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Section 514 Sale of Real Estate and Grants of Rights of Way or Other Rights Over or in Real Estate Tapping Water Lines of Institutions and Sanatoria

(a) Except as otherwise in this act expressly provided a department board or commission shall not sell or exchange any real estate belonging to the Commonwealth or grant any easement right of way or other interest over or in such real estate without specific authority from the General Assembly so to do but a department board or commission may with the approval of the Governor grant

a license to any public service corporation to place upon in or over any land or bridge of or maintained by the Commonwealth any public service line if such line will enable any State building or State institution to receive better service or if such line is necessary for the service of persons living adjacent to the Commonwealth's land upon in or over which it is proposed to run the line or if the running of such line over a bridge will be more economical than the erection of a separate bridge for the line Every such license shall be revocable upon six months' written notice by the Commonwealth and upon such other proper terms and conditions as the department board or commission with the approval of the Governor shall prescribe and unless any such line is primarily for the benefit of a State building or State institution the license shall provide for the payment to the Commonwealth of compensation for the use of its property in such amount as the department board or commission granting it shall with the approval of the Governor prescribe

But nothing herein contained shall authorize the Commonwealth to impose and collect from any municipality or township any compensation for a license granted to such municipality or township for the running of a public service line over any such bridge

(b) Any department board or commission having control over lands of the Commonwealth underlaid with veins of coal may with the approval of the Governor exchange part of such coal for coal in place owned by private interests which may be necessary to insure lateral or surface support for any building reservoir or structure erected or to be erected on such lands of the Commonwealth Provided That the coal given by the department board or commission to private interests shall be approximately equivalent in value to the coal received in exchange therefor every such department board or commission is hereby authorized and empowered to execute and deliver and to receive legal instruments and deeds necessary to effectuate any exchange authorized hereunder which instruments and deeds shall have the prior approval of the Department of Justice and a copy thereof shall be filed with the Department of Internal Affairs

(c) Any department board or commission having control over any water supply serving any State institution or sanitorium may with the approval of the Governor permit and authorize the public authorities or individuals of any political subdivision to which no other source of supply is available under suitable regulations to tap the lines of any such water supply for the purpose of supplying water to the people of any community living in proximity to such institution or sanitorium and may impose reasonable charges payable periodically by such political subdivision for the water so furnished All moneys received under the provisions of this clause shall be paid into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2338, (Senate Bill No. 606), as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for sabbatical leaves of absence for certain employes of school districts

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended by adding thereto after section one thousand two hundred and fifteen a new heading and section to read as follows

Sabbatical Leaves of Absence

Section 1216 (a) Whenever any person employed in the public school system of this Commonwealth shall have completed ten years of satisfactory service as a teacher or in first class school districts as a member of the instructional staff or department of instruction as now defined by the local board of education such person shall be entitled to a leave of absence for restoration of health study or travel or at the discretion of the board of school directors for other purposes for a half or full school year at the option of such person Thereafter one leave of absence shall be allowed after each seven years of servie

(b) No leave of absence shall be granted unless such person shall agree to return to his or her employment with the school district for a period of not less than one year after such leave of absence

(c) No such leave of absence shall be considered a termination or breach of the contract of employment and the person on leave of absence shall be returned to the same or positions in the same school or schools he or she occupied prior thereto

The person on leave of absence shall receive the difference between his or her regular salary and the salary paid to any substitute employe temporarily engaged because of such leave Provided That the employe who is absent on sabbatical leave shall not receive more than one thousand six hundred dollars ($1,600) if the employe's absence on sabbatical leave is for a full year and not more than eight hundred dollars ($800) if the employe's absence on sabbatical leave is for a half school years as defined in this act The salary paid to such substitute shall be the salary for substitute service according to the salary schedule established by the local board

(e) Applications for leaves of absence shall be given preference according to the years of service since the previous Sabbatical leave of the applicant and in accordance with regulations adopted by the board of school directors pursuant to the provisions of this section

(f) No school district shall limit the number of leaves of absence granted in any school year to less than ten per centum of the number of persons eligible for such leave of absence regularly employed in such district Provided however That schools which have a staff of seven or less teachers shall be permitted at least one leave of absence each year

(g) Every person on leave of absence shall retain the right to make contributions as a member of the School Employes' Retirement Fund and continue his or her membership therein

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent any person on leave of absence from receiving a grant for further study from any institution of learning

(i) A sabbatical leave granted to a regular employe shall also operate as a leave of absence without pay from all other school activities

(j) Every employe while on sabbatical leave of absence shall be considered to be in regular full-time daily attendance in the position from which the sabbatical leave was taken during the period of said leave for the purpose of determining the employes length of service and the right to receive increments as provided by law

(k) A member of the teaching or supervising staff while on sabbatical leave of absence shall for all purposes be viewed in law as a full-time teacher supervisor principal or other full-time member of the teaching and supervisory staff as the case may be and while on sabbatical leave he or she shall enjoy all the rights and privileges of an employe in regular full-time daily attendance in the position from which sabbatical leave of absence was granted and during the period of said leave the Commonwealth shall pay to the school district for each member of the teaching and supervisory staff thereof who is on sabbatical leave of absence the same per centum or share of salary provided for by law as if the employe was in regular daily full-time attendance in the position from which the sabbatical leave of absence was taken and in cases of employes of approved local or joint vocational industrial vocational home economics and vocational agricultural schools or departments who are on sabbatical leave the school district shall be reimbursed as provided by law for each of their full-time salaries just as though such employes were in daily attendance upon their respective duties

(l) The board of school directors or board of public education shall have the right to make such regulations as they may deem necessary to make sure that employes on leave as provided by this act shall utilize such leave properly for the purpose for which it was granted requiring reports from the employe or employes on leave in such manner as they may deem necessary

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Education, the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Brownfield.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill No. 606, would this bill permit people to be paid for time when they were not working, by the Commonwealth or by the municipality?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman's question by saying in certain instances it would.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Fayette whether a person who has a teacher's certificate would be eligible to act as substitute under this bill.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman's question by saying not in all instances would a teacher or a holder of a certificate be allowed to act as a substitute. It would depend on where that teacher was acting as a substitute, and just what kind of certificate it was necessary to have to serve in that position. Not all certificates are valid for all positions.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, if there was a vacancy, however, in the grade in which the person was eligible to teach who had a certificate, would that make that person eligible under this act to get that work?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Yourishin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YOURISHIN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us whether in the mining industry in which he is interested, a miner would be permitted to go away on leave and put a substitute in his place at a lower wage, and give him the difference in pay while he is studying geology or something that will better his position?

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that in the actual mining of coal where a man has a working chamber and he is working on a contract, often times he puts a man in there, a qualified miner, to mine coal for him, and he is off possibly for a week or ten days, and pays him the regular miner's rate while working for him and takes for himself the difference between the miner's rate and the contract rate that this miner's work might earn for him.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, that is all for Mr. Yourishin. That is a very clever answer. It is put down on somebody's contract. Teachers are not contractors. I do not desire to go further on this debate, but I would like to invoke Rule No. 72 of the House with regard to voting by parties interested. The gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Brownfield, stated that anybody holding a teacher's certificate would be eligible if he had the certificate for the grade, so I would ask anybody who holds a teacher's certificate not to vote.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to ask any member of this House to vote either for or against this bill. I do feel that the members of the House are entitled to realize fully the provisions of the bill, however, and I would like to call attention to a few matters covered in the bill.

A few days ago I offered on the floor of this House an amendment which would have made this bill applicable to only the first class school districts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, only the teachers in the first class school districts will be benefited in any particular way by this bill. This bill now is mandatory upon all the districts so that when a school teacher has taught for ten years, that teacher may take a year's leave of absence and may receive from the taxpayers of that district, regardless of how long that teacher has been employed hitherto in that particular district, a sum which will amount to the difference between the regular salary and the sum paid the substitute teacher employed in the place of the regular teacher.

This bill is an example, in my mind, of the wrong way to try to accomplish a good result. This bill provides that this amount of money will be paid to the teachers who take leave for any one of three purposes, either for travel, further study or for restoration of health,—and I call to the attention of the membership of this House that no one knows exactly what restoration of health may mean. It also provides for the payment of this sum for travel, and at the discretion of the local school board for other purposes. I further call attention of the membership that the provision regarding the teacher's service in the particular school district cannot be enforced, and if the teacher who has been staying away under leave of absence, or taking a trip, desires not to return to the service of the particular school district, there is no way by which the teacher can be forced to return.

I wish to tell the membership of an inquiry and a call that I had with relation to this bill. A few weeks ago a teacher from Pittsburgh called me on the phone and asked me to be for this measure, saying that he had an opportunity to go to France and to study on a fellowship there, and at the same time he wanted me to tell him whether or not to take advantage of that. He said if he could get the advantage that would be given to him under this bill, and get a certain amount of money under this bill, that he could go to France and be paid for studying in France at the same time.

Now, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, no industry that I know of, there is no other type of employment that I know of, in which a person will be paid, with the exception of regular vacation periods. If these school districts were private corporations it would be a different situation, but we are now forcing an extra burden upon the real estate owners, upon the taxpayers who support the public schools, because we are not giving them the instruction that they are entitled to get. I say to you that this bill is destructive of labor standards, because in the end the only net result will be that school districts will see that they have two school teachers teaching side by side, the one an experienced person and the other a substitute teacher who is taking the place of the experienced teacher, and who is being paid a lower rate, not as a substitute but as a regular teacher for the period of a year, and that will result in a lower labor standard, because there will be no duty to pay a higher standard of pay when they can hire a teacher to teach at a lower standard. It is my opinion that this bill will work in the end to the disadvantage of the school teachers of the Commonwealth, and for the reasons I have stated I am going to vote "no." I call your attention to these factors and ask you members of the House to vote as you see fit after knowing what the bill means.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, one reason I would speak for this bill is because the gentleman from Allegheny is against it. We have grown rather accustomed to being against one another. In the beginning, as he began to speak about this bill, you noticed he said he was not asking you to vote "yes" or "no" on it, and I leave it to you after his speech whether he didn't pointedly and directly ask to vote "no."

I am not personally interested in this bill, ladies and gentlemen, even though I am a teacher, because I have served three terms in the Legislature, and after doing that I don't think I could ever afford to take a sabbatical leave. But I do believe you are familiar with the bill, and you know it would not cost the district anything to take advantage of it in giving these teachers this leave, and since it does not do that, I think it would be rather nice for you to vote for the bill. I am not going to ask you to vote "yes" or "no," but I think it would be rather nice if you would vote "yes".

Mr. DAVID H. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARKINS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DAVID H. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny tell me whether this bill will increase employment among teachers?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I don't know that it will, because for every teacher who is employed, some teacher not working will be on leave, and I don't see that it will increase the number of employed teachers in the schools of the Commonwealth.

Mr. DAVID H. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman admit though, that it will give employment to the new teachers?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that it will employ a substitute teacher at lower wages to do a regular full time job that should be paid for at regular full-time scale.

Mr. DAVID H. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman admit that a sabbatical leave for a teacher is a good thing for the profession as a whole?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Weiss, I will state it is my belief that it would be well if the school teachers of the Commonwealth were paid sufficiently high wages to permit them to take their vacations for further study when they want to, but I feel that the proper way to do that would be to fight for sufficiently high wages. I submit that I would be willing to vote for a sufficiently high appropriation to do that, but I believe that this bill is the wrong way of trying to accomplish a thing that may be desirable.

Mr. DAVID H. WEISS. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will probably admit that the chief objection to the sabbatical leave is that some teachers are getting paid parts of salaries that they do not earn, is that correct?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would say that my objections to the bill, or rather my comments and reasons for voting "no" on the bill would be comprehended in all the discussions that I made previously.

Mr. DAVID H. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, a few weeks ago a few of the teachers rose to protect the interests of the school districts. At this time a few school directors will rise and try to protect the interests of the school districts. I sincerely believe that since this new tenure bill has passed, that there has been quite a bit of uprising due to the fact that quite a number of our students who are coming out of normal schools will be left unemployed, and I believe under this sabbatical leave act quite a number of those teachers can be employed, and part of the opposition to the teachers' tenure act that has arisen will be taken care of. As far as teachers getting paid for work that they do not do, I do not think that makes a great difference, and it can be very easily taken care of by the school districts themselves by raising the salaries of their substitutes.

A teacher, like any other person, after he or she has taught for ten or twenty years desires a leave, and if she can get a leave, I would say that it would add to the efficiency of the school teacher after the school teacher has come back. I believe that no great harm or injustice would be worked on any school district or on any of these people it would be a great help to the pupils themselves if they got a teacher back after she had taken this leave for study or vacation, and it would be to the best interest of all parties concerned if a favorable vote was given on Senate Bill No. 606.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to make this very brief, because I believe the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins, told you why you should vote for this bill. He said he was in favor of paying the teachers more money, that they were not paid enough to take a vacation for further study and to better themselves for teaching in the schools. The teacher under this act can secure the proper degree that she is required to have to continue in her teaching. By doing this in the school year she creates an opening for a substitute, otherwise she would do it at night school, and doing it at night school would impair her health and also would tire her out for her classroom work, or she would do it in her vacation period. But as the genteman from Allegheny Mr. Harkins, said she is not paid enough to do it by taking a complete leave without pay. Therefore, I ask the members of this House, if they are interested in making the schools of Pennsylvania better schools, taught by better teachers, to vote for this bill.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OMINSKY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman has placed an amendment in this bill?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the interrogation, I would say yes, at the suggestion of other members of this House.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman's amendment set the maximum at sixteen hundred dollars?

Mr. OMINSKY. The maximum set by the amendment was sixteen hundred dollars for the teacher on leave, that is correct.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask where there is any difference between the pay of the substitute and the pay of the teacher, who gets that difference in money.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, the difference in money remains with the board treasury.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, then the teacher on leave does not receive the difference in pay between the substitute and the teacher?

Mr. OMINSKY. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. That was the purpose of the insertion of the amendment.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to support this bill. I think it is a very good bill, and I think Mr. Harkins and Mr. Tumelty are very foolish in comparing the profession of teaching school to mining coal or any other profession. I think the profession of teaching school today is a very difficult and a very high grade of work, and I think they should be entitled to leaves of absence. I would like to ask the members if they were in continual session for ten or twenty years, nine months out of the year, whether they wouldn't like to have a recess at the end of ten years? That is the situation with the teachers, they would like to get away from their work; they would like to improve themselves in their studies, and I think the members of this House should vote in support of this bill.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Bohn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOHN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, in interrogating Mr. Ominsky, did the gentleman want to give this House the impression that a teacher on leave did not receive any money?

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, according to Mr. Ominsky's amendment, that is the way I understood it.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, since I have taken this matter up with Mr. Ominsky I would like to have him answer the question for the benefit of the gentleman from Luzerne as to whether the teacher gets any money or not.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, in order to clarify the amendment which was inserted in Senate Bill No. 606, I wish to say that the amendment was put in for the purpose of limiting the amount of money which a teacher will receive on leave. In other words, if a teacher received thirty-two hundred dollars or thirty-five hundred dollars and she or he asks for a leave of absence for a year and a substitute teacher is placed in her position, if the substitute teacher receives twelve hundred or eleven hundred or a thousand dollars, the difference between one thousand dollars and thirty-five hundred, would, before the amendment was inserted, have gone to the teacher on leave. Under this amendment the amount of money would be limited to sixteen hundred dollars, and the difference between sixteen hundred dollars and twenty-five hundred dollars, or nine hundred dollars would remain with the board treasury. I hope I have made this amendment clear. The bill as it stands now is a very good bill and I ask the support of the membership of this House for Senate Bill No. 606.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Simon, Siegel, VanSickle, McFall, Robinson, Pershing, Elpern, Mellott, James W. Patterson, Samuel A. Weiss, Shoemaker, Moomaw, Finnerty, Westrick, Hering, James A. Smith, David H. Weiss, Thomas, Shugarts, Stank and other.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Before the roll is called, the Chair wishes to rule upon the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty.

The Chair rules that the point of order raised by the gentleman is not well taken, and reads from Jefferson's Manual, Section 651:

"It is a principle of 'immemorial observance' that a member should withdraw when a question concerning himself arises, but it has been held that the disqualifying interest must be such as affects the member directly and not as one of a class."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 26 From the reports of examiners the director shall prepare and submit to the commission for approval an employment list or lists containing the names of persons arranged in the order of excellence who have been given at least such minimum rating as may be fixed in advance for the whole or any one or more of the tests and whose general average is not less than the minimum fixed by the rules of the commission and who are otherwise qualified

Section 27 Employment lists shall continue in force for a period to be fixed by the rules of the commission Such period may be different for the various classes of positions but shall not be less than one year nor more than two years for any class except that the period may be extended in any case upon the recommendation of the director approved by the commission by action taken before the expiration of the period fixed by the rules and entered in the minutes A new employment list for any class shall be combined with any existing list but in such case any portion of such combined list shall be automatically cancelled at the end of the period fixed by such rules unless held in force as above provided The director with the approval of the commission may at any time correct clerical errors occurring in connection with the preparation of any employment list and revise the list accordingly but not person who has been appointed as the result of certification from such list shall be displaced by such action The commission shall have the power at any time after giving notice as required in this act and after a public hearing to cancel the whole or any part of any employment list on account of illegality or fraud in connection therewith

Section 28 Tests for positions in the non-competitive division shall conform to tests for the competitive division except that such tests shall be limited to one or more persons nominated by the appointing authority of the department or institution in which the position is located and except that public notice of not less than forty-eight hours shall be given Following any non-competitive test an employment list shall be prepared and approved by the director as in the case of tests for classes of positions in the competitive division Tests for positions in the labor division shall as far as practicable conform to tests for the competitive division by the commission may by rule provide for the registration of ordinary unskilled laborers following such medical physical or other tests as may be prescribed and for the order in which their names shall be placed on the employment lists and the number of names which may be certified

Section 29 Whenever a vacancy in any permanent position in the competitive division of the classified service is to be filled the appointing authority shall request the Director in writing to certify the name of a person qualified for appointment The director shall thereupon certify the name of the person who is highest in the re-employment list for the class to which the vacant position has been allocated and who is willing to accept appointment In case there is no re-employment list for the class the director shall certify the names of the two persons who are highest on the employment list for the class and who are willing to accept appointment In case the re-employment and employment lists for the class do not contain the names of a sufficient number of persons to fill the vacancies the director shall forthwith hold a test to establish an employment list If necessary to prevent the cessation of public business but not otherwise the director may authorize the filling of the position at once through a provisional appointment as provided in this act

Section 30 Unless it is found to be in the interest of the service not to fill the vacant position the appointing authority within a reasonably time to be fixed by the rules of the commission shall appoint the person whose name has been certified from the re-employment list or in case there is no re-employment list the appointing authority shall with sole reference to the relative merit and fitness of the candidates make an appointment from the two names certified from the employment list After any name has been rejected twice by any one appointing authority for the same or a similar position in favor of others on the same employment list such name shall not again be certified to the appointing authority unless requested by such authority In case an employment list consists of less than two names the appointing authority may at his option expressed in writing to the director at the time of appointment treat such appointment as provisional

Section 31 Appointing authorities shall promptly report to the director the selection and appointment of eligibles whose names have been certified If an eligible whose name has been certified shal refuse to accept an appointment offered to him such refusal shall be promptly investigated by the director and if it be found that the refusal has been made for improper or insufficient reasons the director may remove his name from the employment or re-employment list.

Section 32 In case a vacancy of a permanent position in the classified service is to be filled and no person whose name is on the re-employment or employment list for the class is willing to accept appointment or there is no re-employment or employment list for the class the director subject to the approval of the commission may if necessary to prevent the cessation of public business but not otherwise authorize the provisional appointment of a qualified person with or without holding any test In all such cases the provisional appointee shall before beginning work fill out and forward to the director an application form Each such provisional appointment shall only be effective until an appropriate re-employment or employment list has been established and shall not in any event continue for a total of more than ninety days.

Section 33 When from pressure of work an extra position in the classified service must be established for a period of less than six months the appointing authority shall request the director in writing to certify the name of a qualified person In such request the appointing authority shall state the cause of the extra work the probable length of employment and unless the position has been classified the duties which the appointee is to perform The director shall thereupon authorize the appointment with or without competitive tests of a qualified person for a period not exceeding ninety days Such tempo-lary appointments shall not be renewed more than once As far as practicable however temporary appointment to extra position shall be made following certification from re-employment and employment lists.

Section 34 Any appointing authority or any subordinate authorized by him may to prevent cessation of public business when an emergency arises and time will not permit of securing the authorization from the director for the appointment of a certified eligible appoint any qualified person during the emergency for a period not exceeding ten days A vacancy in a position of which the appointing authority has had reasonable notice or employment concerning the conditions of which the appointing authority had previous knowledge or of which by the exercise of due diligence he might have had previous knowledge shall not however be considered an emergency Persons thus appointed shall be known as "emergency employes" Appointing authorities shall forthwith report to the director all emergency appointments and such appointments shall not be renewed.

Section 35 To enable the appointing authority to exercise a choice in the selective process involved in the filling of positions no appointment to a position in the classified service whether made from a re-employment list or an original entrance or promotion employment list shall be deemed complete until after the expiration of a probation period to be prescribed in the rules of the commission The probation period shall in no case be less than three months nor more than six months At the end of the probation period any appointing authority may remove any employe from the position held by him if in his opinion the test provided by observation of his work during the test period thus afforded shows the employe to be unable or unwilling to perform his duties in a satisfactory manner The director may require from any appointing authority at any time during the probationary period a report showing whether any employe on probation has shown the degree of efficiency which may reasonably be demanded if he is to continue in the classified service.

Section 36 The director shall devise plans for and co-operate with appointing authorities and other supervising officials in the conduct of employe training programs to the end that the quality of service rendered by persons in the classified service may be continually improved.

Section 37 A The director subject to the approval of the commission shall as soon as practicable after this act takes effect establish standards of performance and a uniform system of service rating for each class of positions or for groups of classes Such standards of performance shall as far as practicable be based upon actual output including quantity tnd quality of work done and upon conduct and attendance Such standards of performance shall set forth the degree of efficiency which shall constitute ground for.

(a) Increase in the rate of compensation for employes who have not attained the maximum rate for the class to which their positions are allocated.

(b) Continuance at the existing rate of compensation without increase or decrease.

(c) Decrease in the rate of compensation for employes who at the time are above the minimum rate for the class to which their positions are allocated.

(d) Demotion or removal and

(e) Consideration in tests for promotion to a higher class.

B The director upon the establishment of standards of performance for any class or group of classes shall also provide for the rating according to the numerical percentage normal distribution or other plan of the service of each employe or of groups of employes by the appointing authorities in the various departments and institutions and for such report or review and revision by the director of the ratings as may in his judgment be necessary or desirable Each appointing authority shall when requested by the director submit such ratings to him but in no case shall an appointing authority be compelled to submit such ratings oftener than once in three months Each employe shall have the right at reasonable times during business hours to inspect his service ratings and the service ratings of other employes in the same class as shown by the records of the commission or of the department or institution in which he is employed.

Section 38 An appointing authority may at any time according to the rules of the commission transfer any classified employe under his jurisdiction from one position to another in the same class of position In every such case the appointing authority shall give written notice of his action to the director Transfer of a classified employe from a position under the jurisdiction of one appointing authority to a position under the jurisdiction of another appointing authority may be made subject to the rules of the commission with the approval of the director and of both appointing authorities concerned Any transfer of an employe from a position in a lower classification to a position in a higher classification shall be deemed a new appointment and may be accomplished only in the manner hereinbefore provided for the making of appointments No person shall be transferred from a position in the unclassified service to a position in the classified service unless he has obtained a position on an employment list of the classified service as herein provided.

Section 39 The commission shall by rule provide for the granting of annual sick and special leaves of absence to employes with or without pay or with reduced pay No employe shall be granted leave of absence except under such rules.

Section 40 In case a reduction in force is necessary because of a change in organization or through cessation or lack of work the employes having the lowest service ratings in the unit and in the class affected shall be first laid off In the absence of service ratings the order of lay-off shall be established by the rules of the commission The appointing authority shall promptly report to the director the names of employes laid off together with the date the lay-off of each is effective and the character of his services and the Director shall place the names of such employes whose services have been satisfactory on the re-employment lists for the appropriate class in the order provided herein for the preparation of such lists.

Section 41 An appointing authority may for good cause suspend an employe holding a position in the classified service for disciplinary purposes without pay for a period aggregating not more than thirty days in one calendar year No such suspension shall however be for racial religious political or partisan reasons The reasons which shall constitute good cause for suspension may be stated in the rules Every case of suspension together with the reason therefor shall forthwith be reported to the commission in writing and such report shall be made a part of the commission's public records.

Section 42 The appointing authority may reject an employe appointed to a position in his department or institution at any time before the expiration of the probation period fixed by the rules of the commission but in all cases the appointing authority shall furnish the director a statement in writing of the cause for rejection The employe so rejected shall be considered premanently separated from such position but the director may if he considers such action appropriate place the name of the person thus rejected on the re-employment list of the appropriate class for future certification to other appointing authorities.

Section 43 A The commission shall adopt rules governing the re-instatement within one year of persons who without fault or delinquency on their part have resigned or have been separated from the classified service Persons who have voluntarily resigned from the service shall not be re-instated within three months Absence from duty without notice to the appointing authority for a period of three working days may be regarded as the abandonment of a position and in effect a resignation.

B No resignation of any person in the classified service shall be effective unless accepted within fifteen days after the actual date of making thereof Any person who leaves the classified service may request the director in writing for a public hearing before the commission stating his reasons for such request If on investigation the director finds that the employe has been forced to resign against his will and without just cause or that his separation from the service has been involuntary and not justifiable the commission shall grant such persons at the earliest opportunity a public hearing as hereinafter provided in the case of removal or demotion.

Section 44 The director with the approval of the commission shall recommend to the Mayor the retirement of any employe who in his judgment has become unfitted for the efficient performance of the duties of his position owing to advanced age or to physical or mental disability

Section 45 A Expect as provided herein concerning suspension for disciplinary purposes no person in the classified service shall be dismissed removed suspended reduced or demoted in pay or position except for just cause which shall not be religious racial political or partisan Nor shall any person in the classified service be dismissed removed suspended reduced or demoted in pay or positio. except as herein provided as to the holders of provisional temporary or emergency appointments or employes on probation until he shall have been furnished with a written notice of intended dismissal removal suspension reduction or demotion setting forth the reasons for such action and until he has been allowed to give the appointing authority such written answer as the person about to be dismissed removed suspended reduced or demoted may desire In every case of such dismissal removal suspension reduction or demotion a copy of the statement of reasons therefor and of the written answer thereto shall be promptly furnished to the commission and shall be made a part of its public records

B The transfer of an employe from a position in one class to a position in a different class for which a lower maximum rate of compensation is prescribed and involving a reduction in compensation shall be considered a demotion and may be made upon the recommendation of the appointing authority or the petition of the employe supported by such evidence as the director may require to show that the employe is not performing satisfactory service in the position he is holding but is able to perform the duties of the class of positions to which it is recommended or petitioned that he be demoted The compensation of any employe so demoted shall in no case exceed the maximum rate for the class to which he is demoted

C Except as hereinafter provided within sixty days after the receipt of such notice of removal or demotion from an appointing authority the commission may upon its own initiative or upon request of either the appointing authority or the removed or demoted employe make such investigation as it may deem advisable either sitting as a body or through one or more of its members or through the director The investigation inquiry or hearing provided for herein is declared to be for the purpose of fairly determining whether or not the employe involved by reason of his act or acts as charged and his record of service merits continuance therein or should be removed therefrom or demoted or otherwise disciplined for the good of the service In such investigations inquiries or hearings the commission shall not be required to follow established rules of evidence or court procedure but shall seek information and evidence bearing on the merits of the case The records of such investigations and all hearings shall be open to the public and the employe sought to be removed or demoted shall on request have opportunity to be heard personally or through counsel in his own defense Within twenty days after the completion of such investigation or hearing or sooner if practicable the commission shall make its findings and conclusions which shall be forthwith certified to and enforced by the appointing authority Charges against any employe in the classified service asking for his removal for a violation of law or for any cause enumerated in the rules may be filed with the commission by any citizen or taxpayer and when so filed shall at the discretion of the commission publicly recorded be investigated and determined in the manner provided in this section The commission may in its discretion order that the name of any person whose removal from the classified service has become final and binding be placed at the head of the appropriate re-employment or employment list or that said person be transferred or re-instated provided that such action is taken not later than sixty days after the removal has become final and binding

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2415, (Senate Bill No. 1139), as follows:

An Act to authorize cities of the first class of this Commonwealth to provide for the payment of certain deficits and indebtedness as herein defined in five equal annual instalments and to authorize the making of contracts the drawing of warrants and the approval thereof without appropriation for the payment of such deficits and indebtedness except as provided by this act and to levy and fix the tax rate and to make appropriations and prepare and formulate the financial programs of such cities upon the basis of the discharge of such deficits and indebtedness in the manner provided by this act requiring annual provision for payment of mandamus executions and suspending inconsistent legislation.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That as used in this act the word "deficits" shall mean (1) obligations provided for in the budget for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven but remaining unpaid by reason of non-receipt of revenues for said year (2) other indebtedness payable out of current funds including indebtedness evidenced by outstanding writs of mandamus execution but not including obligations due the sinking fund commission.

Section 2 Cities of the first class be and they are hereby authorized and directed to pay the amount of deficits as hereinabove defined to the extent and not in excess of the sum of twenty-five million dollars ($25,000,000) which have arisen and which may arise on or before the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven in five equal annual installments during the years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred and forty one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and one thousand nine hundred and forty-two and to provide by appropriation for the payment thereof during the said years The council of said cities in levying and fixing the tax rate and in making appropriations and in framing and formulating their annual financial programs or budgets during the said years shall not be required to provide for or include therein the amount of such deficits as hereinabove defined except as to one-fifth thereof for each of said years and the City Controller in furnishing data for the preparation of the financial programs or budgets for said years as required by law shall take into account as a current liability of said cities by reason of such deficits to be discharged during each of said years only the said one-fifth of such deficits and in counter-signing and approving contracts and warrants he is hereby duly authorized to approve and countersign the same notwithstanding that no provision has been made by appropriation for the payment of the balance of the amounts of such accrued deficits and contracts may be entered into and warrants drawn and issued by the municipal authorities of such cities and duly approved by the City Controller although no appropriations have been made to discharge such deficits except as herein provided Provided however That all indebtedness arising from writs of mandamus executions incurred in accordance with law during the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight or any subsequent year and not paid during such year shall be included and certified as a current liability by the City Controller in furnishing data for the preparation of the financial programs or budgets for the next succeeding year and shall be provided for in the budget and tax levy for such next succeeding year.

Section 3 So much of Article XVII of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 581) entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth" and of all other parts of such act or other acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are suspended to the extent of such inconsistency during the period for which the provisions of this act shall remain in effect.

Section 4 It is hereby declared that the provisions of this act are severable one from another and if for any reason any provision or part of this act is held by the court to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason such decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions or parts of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such provision or part hereof not been included herein.

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon the final passage hereof.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2450, (Senate Bill No. 846), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs to pay the traveling expenses of the respective Commanders of the Pennsylvania Departments of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, the American Legion, and the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, or their representatives, in accompanying the members of the United States Battle Monuments Commission to Europe to dedicate certain monuments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

CONSTITUTIONAL POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to question whether such a bill, making appropriations to take trips to Europe are not directly connected in some way with the Commonwealth as an employer? I would like a ruling from the Chair on that instead of from the members.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman raise a Constitutional point of order on this bill?

Mr. TUMELTY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House sustain the Constitutional point or order?

It was not sustained.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does not a Constitutional point of order require the concurrence of one hundred five members?

The SPEAKER. It does not, it may be submitted to the House. The Chair however feels that when it is raised by one member the Chair decide it, or may submit it to the House under the rules.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO LAY BILL ON TABLE

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be laid on the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McDEVITT and Mr. FRANCIS T. BAKER and were as follows:

YEAS—7.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, to make this bill clear to the members of the House, this merely sends three representatives, one from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, D. A. V., Disabled American Veterans, and the American Legion. Every state is sending a representation of this kind to the unveiling of the monument to the honored dead in the World War for Democracy.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, due to the fact that I am now convinced that the appropriation is not quite enough, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 707 The person who makes said examination shall establish proof of the same by marking plainly the date thereof at the face of each working place and all other places examined

Section 708 A station or stations shall be established at the entrance to each mine or different parts of each mine as the case may require and a workman shall not pass beyond any such station until the mine or parts of the mine beyond the same have been inspected and reported to be safe It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to designate some competent person or persons to stand guard at the station from the time that persons begin to enter the mine until the mine or part of the mine shall have been examined and reported to be safe and the said guard shall not allow any person to pass such station without permission from the mine foreman or the assistant foreman

Section 709 If at any time it is found by the person for the time being in charge of the mine or any part thereof that by reason of noxious gases prevailing in such mine or any part thereof or of any cause whatever the mine or the said part is dangerous every precaution shall be used to ensure the safety of the workmen and every workman except such persons as may be required to remove the danger shall be withdrawn from the mine or such part thereof as is so found dangerous until the said mine or said part thereof is examined by a competent person and reported by him to be safe

Section 710 The Mine Foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day and if safe and practicable this visit and examination shall be made while the men of such place are or should be at work and shall direct that each and every working place is properly secured by props or timber and that safety in all respects is assured by directing that all loose coal or rock shall be pulled down or secured and that no persons shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure Provided however That if the mine is idle forty-eight (48) hours or more the mine foreman or his assistant shall examine every working place the day before operations are resumed

Section 711 The mine foreman or some other competent person or persons to be designated by him shall examine at least once every day all slopes shafts main roads traveling ways signal apparatus pulleys and timbering to see that they are in safe and efficient working condition

Section 712 In every shaft or slope in which provision is made in this act for lowering and hoisting persons a headsman and footman shall be designated by the superintendent or foreman to be at their proper places at all times while men are underground Such headman and footman shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to lowering and hoisting persons in shafts and slopes shall be complied with

Section 713 Whenever loss of life to a miner or otherer employe occurs in or about a colliery notice thereof shall be given promptly to the inspector of mines for the district in which the accident occurred by the mine foreman or outside foreman or other person having immediate charge of the work at the time of the accident and when death results from personal injury such notice shall be given promptly after the knowledge of the death comes to the said foreman or person in charge

Section 714 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistants in case of injury to any employe by explosion of gas or powder or by any cause while said miners are at work in said mines to at once visit the scene of accident see that the injured is carefully wrapped in woolen blankets and removed to the 'medical room" and so treated with oils or other remedies as will add to the comfort and care of the patient After being treated with all the skill known to the foreman or his assistants the injured person shall be carefully wrapped up and sent to the surface to be taken in an ambulance or to the mining hospital as may be desired without expense to the injured person

Section 715 Where an accident to any employe involves injury to limbs or causes loss of blood the foreman or his assistants shall see that the bandages splints and linen shall be applied where necessary to prevent loss of blood and relieve pain The foreman shall in all cases see that the injured person is sent to the surface without delay He shall also keep a record showing the name of the person injured the nature of the injury the treatment and by whom treated at the time of the accident

Section 716 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistant to test by means of a flame safety lamp or with some other approved device the condition of the atmosphere in each section of his mine each day while the men are at work A report of such examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose The test shall show the extent to which gas was detected whether cap or an explosive mixture

Examination and Qualification of Miners

Section 801 Hereafter no person whosoever shall be employed or engaged in the anthracite coal regions of this Commonwealth as a miner in any anthracite coal mine without having obtained a certificate of competency and qualification so to do from the Miner's Examining Board of the proper district and having been duly registered as provided by existing law

Duties of Miners and Other Workmen

Section 901 Before commencing work and also after the firing of every blast the miner working a breast or any other place in a mine shall enter such breast or place to examine and ascertain its condition and his laborer or assistant must not go to the face of such breast or place until the miner has examined the same and found it to be safe

Section 902 A miner or other person who is about to explode a blast by the use of patent or other squibs or matches shall not shorten the match nor saturate it with mineral oil nor turn it down when placed in the hole nor ignite it except at its extreme end nor do anything to shorten the time the match will burn

If a miner or other person uses a fuse to explode a blast such fuse shall be of sufficient length to protrude at least six (6) inches from the mouth of the hole and in no case shall the total length of the fuse be less than eighteen (18) inches

A place shall be stopped for at least thirty (30) minutes after a squib misses fire Where fuses (straight and time fuses) are used and a missed shot occurs the working place shall be stopped for at least twelve (12) hours If a misfire occurs where electric blasting caps are used an interval of at least thirty (30) minutes must elapse before workmen shall return to such working face

Section 903 A miner or other workman shall not withdraw a charge of powder or other explosive in coal slate or rock which has missed fire nor shall the hole be re-opened

Section 904 When a miner or other workman is about to fire a blast he shall be careful to notify all persons who may be in danger therefrom and shall give sufficient alarm before firing any blast by any means whatsoever so that any person or persons who may be approaching shall be warned of the danger

Section 905 Any miner or other person having charge of a working place in any mine shall keep the roof and sides thereof properly secured by timber or otherwise so as to prevent such roof and sides from falling and he shall not do any work or permit any work to be done under loose or dangerous material except for the purpose of securing the same

Section 906 Any miner or other workman who shall discover anything wrong with the ventilating current or with the condition of the roof side timber or roadway or with any other part of the mine in general such as would lead him to suspect danger to himself or his fellow workmen or to the property of his employer shall immediately report the same to the mine foreman or other person for the time being in charge of that portion of the mine

Section 907 Any miner or other workman shall not be allowed to store gunpowder or any other explosive in a mine He shall not have at any one time in any one place more than one keg or box containing twenty-five (25) pounds unless more is necessary for a person to accomplish one day's work

Section 908 Any miner or other workman who has gunpowder or other explosive in a mine shall keep it in a wooden box securely locked and such box shall be kept at least ten (10) feet from the tracks in all cases

Section 909 Whenever a miner or other workman shall open a box containing explosives or while in any manner handling the same he shall first place his open lamp not less than five (5) feet from such explosives and in such position that the air current cannot convey sparks to it and a workman shall not approach nearer than five (5) feet to an open box containing powder with a lamp lighted pipe or anything containing fire

Section 910 In charging holes for blasting in coal slate or rock no miner or other workman in any mine shall use an iron or steel pointed needle The end of any metal tamping bar must be tipped with at least six (6) inches of copper or other soft metal The hole must be large enough to admit freely the cartridge containing the explosive and in no case shall a tight cartridge be rammed into a hole

Section 911 When gas is ignited by blast or otherwise the miner or other person igniting the same shall immediately extinguish it if possible and notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact and workmen must see that no gas blowers are left burning upon leaving their working places

Section 912 Not more than five blasts shall be fired at the working face of a low coal seam within a period of one hour except by permission from the mine foreman or his assistant and each hole when charged and fired shall constitute a blast This section shall not pertain to cracked gangways

Section 913 No miner or laborer shall run cars out of any breast or chamber or on any gravity road unless he is a suitable person designated by the mine foreman for that particular work and no person under the age of eighteen (18) years shall be designated by any mine foreman to perform such work

Section 914 No workman or other person shall ride upon or against any loaded car cage or gun-boat in any shaft slope or plane in or about a mine or colliery

Section 915 When any person is about to descend or ascend a shaft or slope the headman or footman as the case may be shall inform the engineer by signal or otherwise of the fact and the engineer shall return a signal before moving or starting the engine In the absence of a headman or footman the person about to descend or ascend shall give and receive signals in the same manner

Section 916 No person shall couple or uncouple loaded or empty cars while the same are in motion Provided however That this shall not apply to the top or bottom men of slopes planes or shafts

Section 917 No person except the man giving the signal shall jump on a car cage or gun-boat after the signal has been given and if any person shall enter a car cage or gun-boat in excess of the lawful number the headman or footman shall notify him of the fact and request him to get off which request must be immediately complied with Any violation of this rule must be promptly reported to the mine foreman

Section 918 No workman shall pass a fenced off place a fenced off traveling way or a designated danger station unless accompanied by a colliery official or unless he has been directed by a colliery official to pass such place fenced off traveling way or such designated danger station for the purpose of making such place or places safe

Maps and Plans

Section 1001 The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of the workings or excavations of such coal mine or colliery on a scale of one hundred feet to the inch which map or plan shall exhibit the workings or excavations in each and every seam of coal and the tunnels and passages connected with such workings or excavations It shall state in degrees the general inclination of the strata with any material deflection therein in said workings or excavations and shall also state the tidal elevations of the bottom of each and every shaft slope tunnel and gangway and any other point in the mine or on the surface where such elevation shall be deemed necessary by the inspector

The map or plan shall show the number of the last survey station and date of each survey on the gangways or the most advanced workings

It shall also accurately show the boundary lines of the lands of the said coal mine or colliery and the proximity of the working thereto and in case any mine contains any water dammed up in any part thereof it shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent to cause the true location of the said dam to be accurately marked on said map or plan together with the tidal elevation inclimation of strata and areas of said workings containing water and whenever any workings or excavations are approaching the workings where such dam or water is contained or situated the owner operator or superintendent shall notify the inspector of the same without delay

Whenever a mine fire is sealed an outline of the sealed area must be plainly shown on the mine map together with such data as the mine inspector may request pertaining to the same

Upon request of the mine inspector the location of all bore holes must be placed on the mine inspector's map and the operator or superintendent of the mine shall furnish the inspector with any additional information regarding bore holes upon his request

The said owner operator or superintendent shall deposit a true copy of such map or plan with the inspector of mines for the district in which the said coal mine or colliery is situated showing the workings of each seam if so desired by the inspector on a separate sheet of tracing muslin One copy of said map or plan shall be kept at the colliery

Section 1002 The said owner operator or superintendent shall as often as once in every six months place or cause to be placed on the said inspector's map or plan of said coal mine or colliery the plan of the extensions made in such coal mine or colliery during the preceding six months The said extensions shall be placed on the inspector's map and the map returned to the inspector within two months from the date of the last survey

Section 1003 When any coal mine or colliery is worked out preparatory to being abandoned or when any lift thereof is about to be abandoned the owner operator or superintendent of such coal mine or colliery shall have the maps or plans thereof extended to include all excavations as far as practicable and such portions thereof as have been worked to the boundary lines of adjoining properties Any part or parts of the workings which are intended to be allowed to fill with water must be surveyed in duplicate and such surveys must practically agree They shall be certified to by the owner operator or superintendent and shall be filed with the inspector of the district in which the mines are situated

Section 1004 Whenever the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery shall neglect or refuse or from any cause not satisfactory to the inspector shall fail for a period of three months to furnish to the inspector the map or plan of said colliery or of the extensions thereto as provided for in this Article the inspector is hereby authorized to cause an accurate map or plan of such coal mine or colliery to be made at the expense of the owner thereof which cost shall be recoverable from said owner as other debts are by law recoverable

Section 1005 If the inspector finds or has reason to believe that any map or plan of any coal mine or colliery furnished under the provisions of this article is materially inaccurate it shall be his duty to make application to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which such colliery is situated for an order to have an accurate map or plan of said colliery prepared and if such survey shall prove that the map furnished was materially inaccurate or imperfect such owner operator or superintendent shall be liable for the expense incurred in making the same

furnished by the owner operator or superintendent was not materially inaccurate or imperfect the Commonwealth shall be held liable for the expense incurred in making said test survey

Section 1007 If it shall be shown that the said owner operator or superintendent has knowingly or designedly caused or allowed such map or plan when finished to be incorrect or false such owner operator or superintendent thus offending shall be guilty or a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment not exceeding three (3) months at the discretion of the court

Section 1008 The maps or plans of the several coal mines or collieries in each district and which are placed in the custody of the inspector shall be the property of the Commonwealth and shall remain in the care of inspector of the district in which the said collieries are situated to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall a copy of the same be made without the consent of the owner operator or superintendent

Section 1009 The inspector's map or plan of any particular colliery shall be open for inspection in the presence of the inspector to any miner or miners of that colliery whenever said miner or miners shall have cause to fear that his or their working place or places are becoming dangerous by reason of their proximity to other workings which may be supposed to contain water or dangerous gases Said map shall also be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen interested during business hours

Section 1010 It shall be obligatory on the owners of adjoining coal properties to leave or cause to be left a pillar of coal in each seam or vein of coal worked by them along the line of adjoining property of such width that taken in connection with the pillar to be left by the adjoining property owner will be a sufficient barrier for the safety of the employes of either mine in case the other should be abandoned and allowed to fill with water such width of pillar to be determined by the engineers of the adjoining property owners together with the inspector of the district in which the mine is situated Such width of pillar as shall have been agreed upon by the adjoining property owners and the mine inspector of the district shall be placed on the inspector's map without delay

The surveys of the face of the workings along such pillar shall be made in duplicate and must practically agree A copy of such duplicate surveys certified to must be filed with the owners of the adjoining properties and with the inspector of the district in which the mine or property is situated

Section 1011 At the request of the mine inspector the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine shall furnish him with a geological cross section o fsuch coal seams in such mine as he may require

ARTICLE XI

Shafts Slopes Openings and Outlets

Section 1101 It shall not be lawful for the owner operator or superintendent of any mine to employ any person or persons in such mine or permit any person or persons to be in such mine for the purpose of working therein unless there are in connection with every seam of coal and from every lift thereof worked in such mine not less than two openings or outlets separated by a stratum of not less than sixty (60) feet in breadth underground and one hundred and fifty (150) feet in breadth at the surface at which openings or outlets safe and distinct means of ingress or egress are at all times available for the person or persons employed in said mine This section shall not apply to opening a new mine or to opening any new lift of a mine while being worked for the purpose of making a connection between said two outlets so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed at one time in such mine or new lift of a mine At least half of this number must be employed at making the second outlet Neither shall this section apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final r . .ing of pillars previous to abandonment so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed therein at any one time The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed where there is no second outlet

Section 1102 The owner operator or superintendent of any mine to which there is only one shaft slope or outlet may petition the Court of Common Pleas in and for the county in which said mine is situated which said court is hereby empowered to act in the premises setting forth that in consequence of intervening lands between the working of his mine and the only practicable point at which to make or bring to the surface from the working of his mine he is unable to make an additional shaft slope or outlet in accordance with the requirements of this act whereupon the court may make an order of reference and appoint three disinterested persons residents of a county viewers one or more of whom shall be a practical mining engineer all of whom after being sworn to a faithful discharge of their duties shall view and examine the premises and determine as to whether the owner should have the privilege of making an additional outlet through or upon any intervening lands as the case may require and report in writing to the court which report shall be entered and filed of record

Section 1103 If the finding of the viewers or any two of them is in favor of the owner of such coal mine or colliery he may make an additional shaft slope or outlet through or upon intervening lands as may be determined upon and provided for by the award If the finding of the viewers is against the owner or if no award be made by reason of any default or neglect on the part of the owner he shall be bound to comply with the provisions of this act in the same manner as if this section had not been enacted In case the said owner operator or superintendent desires to and claims that he ought to make an additional opening under through or upon any adjoining or intervening lands to meet the requirements of this act for the ingress and egress of the men employed in his or their mine he or they shall make a statement of the facts in the petition with a survey setting forth the point of commencement and the point of termination of the proposed outlet which he or they their engineers agents or employes may enter upon said intervening lands and survey and mark as he or they shall find it proper to adopt for such additional outlet doing as little damage as possible to the property explored and the viewers shall state in their report what damage will be sustained by the owner or owners of the intervening lands by the opening construction and use of the outlet and if the report is not appealed from it shall be confirmed or rejected by said court as to right and justice shall appertain and any further and all proceedings in relation thereto shall be in conformity with like proceedings as in the case of a lateral railroad across or under intervening lands under the act in relation to lateral railroads approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto so far as the provisions of the same are applicable hereto and the notices to the owner of intervening lands of the intention to apply for the privilege of making an outlet and meeting of the viewers shall be given and the costs of the case shall be paid as provided in the said act of May fifth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto

Section 1104 The main escapement shafts or slopes shall be fitted with safe and available appliances by which persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs deranging the hoisting machinery at the main outlets

Section 1105 In all slopes where the angle of inclination is fifteen (15) degrees or less there must be provided a separate traveling way which shall be maintained in a safe condition for travel and kept free from steam and dangerous gases

any intermediate lift thereof shall be securely fenced off by railing or by vertical or flat gates

Section 1107 Every abandoned slope shaft airhole and drift shall be properly fenced around or across its entrance

Section 1108 All underground entrances to any places not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrances so as to prevent person from inadvertently entering the same

Section 1109 The owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery which is worked by shaft or slope shall provide and maintain a telephone or suitable appliance by or through which conversation can be held by and between persons at the bottom and at the top of the shaft or slope and also an efficient means of signaling from the bottom of such shaft or slope to the engineer in charge of the hoisting engines The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall provide and maintain a telephone by or through which conversations can be had between person on the outside of the mines and the principal centers of operations in the mines

Section 1110 The owner operator or superintendent of all mines shall see that the surface landing and all other landings of shafts are provided with gates so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically It shall be unlawful for any man employed as a footman at a shaft in which coal or other material is hoisted to work at this occupation unless he has provided himself with a safety headgear or helmet of a design approved by the Department of Mines which headgear or helmet must be worn by him at all times while on duty

Section 1111 Every cage or gun-boat used for lowering or hoisting persons in any shaft or slope shall be provided with handrails safety catches and a proper protector so constructed that persons while on such cage or gun-boat shall not be struck by anything which may fall or roll down said shaft or slope

Section 1112 Over all shafts which are being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure shall be erected to sustain the sheaves or pulleys at a height of not less than twenty (20) feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft shall be arranged in such manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied

Section 1113 The said structure shall be erected as soon as a substantial foundation is obtained and in no case shall a shaft be sunk to a depth of more than fifty (50) feet without such structure

Section 1114 If provision is made to land the bucket upon a truck the said truck shall be constructed in such manner that material cannot fall into the shaft All rock and coal from shafts as they are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and such bucket or cage must be connected to the rope or chain by a safety hook clevis or other safe attachment

Section 1115 Such shafts shall be provided with guides and guide attachments applied in such manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while descending or ascending therein and such guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five (75) feet from the bottom of such shaft until its sinking shall have been completed but this section shall not apply to shafts one hundred (100) feet or less in depth

Section 1116 Where the strata are not safe every shaft shall be securely cased lines or otherwise made secure

Section 1117 The following rules shall be observed as far as practicable in every shaft to which this act applies

First After each and every blast the chargeman must see that all loose material is swept down from the timbers before the workmen descend to their work

Second After a suspension of work and also after firing a blast in a shaft where explosive gases are evolved the person in charge must have the said shaft examined and tested with a safety lamp before the workmen are allowed to descend

Third Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in any shaft on a bucket at the same time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

Fourth Whenever persons are employed on platforms in shafts the person in charge must see that the said platforms are properly and safely constructed

Fifth While shafts are being sunk all blasts therein must be exploded by an electric battery

Ventilation

Section 1201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine shall provide and maintain a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the same as hereinafter provided

Section 1202 It shall not be lawful to use a furnace for the purpose of ventilating any mine wherein explosive gases are generated

Section 1203 The quantities of air in circulation shall be ascertained with an anemometer or other efficient instrument Such measurements shall be made by the inside foreman or his assistant once every week at the inlet and outlet airways also at or near the face of each gangway and at the nearest cross-heading to the face of the inside and outside chamber or breast where men are employed Such air measurements shall be entered in the colliery report book Cross-headings between chambers or breasts shall not be driven more than sixty (60) feet from the face of each chamber or breast A report of these air measurements shall be sent to the inspector before the twelfth day of each month for the preceding month together with a statement of the number of persons employed in each district

Section 1204 The minimum quantity of air produced shall not be less than two hundred (200) cubic feet per minute for each and every person employed in any mine and as much more as the circumstances may require

Section 1205 The ventilating currents shall be conducted and circulated to and along the face of each and every working place throughout the entire mine in sufficient quantities to dilute render harmless and sweep away smoke and noxious or dangerous gases to such an extent that all working places and traveling roads shall be in a safe and fit state to work and travel therein

Section 1206 All worked-out or abandoned parts of a mine in operation so far as practicable shall be kept free of dangerous bodies of gases or water and if found impracticable to keep the entire mine free from an accumulation of gases or water the mine inspector must be immediately notified

All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his assistants at least once a week and any dangerous condition found existing therein shall be immediately removed A report of said examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for the purpose and signed by the person making the same

Section 1207 Every mine employing more than seventy-five (75) persons must be divided into two or more districts Each district shall be provided with a separate split of pure air and the ventilation shall be so arranged that not more than seventy-five (75) persons shall be employed at the same time in any one current or split of air

The inlet and return air passages for any particular district must be separated by a pillar of coal or stone if the thickness and dip of the vein will permit except where it is necessary to cut through said dividing pillar for the purpose of ventilation traffic or drainage

Section 1208 All air passages shall be of sufficient area to allow the free passage of not less than two hundred (200) cubic feet of air per minute for every person working therein and in no case in mines generating explosive gases shall the velocity exceed four hundred and fifty (450) lineal feet per minute in any opening through which the air currents pass if gauze safety lamps are used except in the main inlet or outlet airways

Section 1209 All cross-cuts connecting the main inlet and outlet air passages of every district when it becomes necessary to close them permanently shall be substantially closed with brick or other suitable building material laid in mortar or cement whenever practicable

Section 1210 All doors used in assisting or in any way affecting the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically

Section 1211 All main doors shall have an attendant whose constant duty it shall be to open them for transportation and travel and prevent them from standing open longer than is necessary for persons or cars to pass through unless a self-acting door is used which is approved by the inspector of the district

Section 1212 All main doors shall be so placed that when one door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be and remain closed and thus prevent any temporary stoppage of the air current

Section 1213 An extra main door shall be so placed and kept standing open as to be out of reach of accident and so fixed that it can be at once closed in the event of an accident to the doors in use

Section 1214 The frame work of such main doors shall be substantially secured in stone or brick laid in mortar or cement unless otherwise permitted in writing by the inspector

Section 1215 All permanent air bridges shall be substantially built of fireproof material and of such strength as the circumstances may require Temporary air bridges or overcasts may be built of other suitable material upon permission from the mine inspector

Section 1216 All ventilators used at mines shall be provided with recording instruments by which the speed of the ventilators or the ventilating pressure shall be registered for each hour and such data shall be preserved at the colliery for future references for a period of three months

Section 1217 An accumulation of gas in mines shall not be removed by brushing When such accumulations occur they must be removed by sufficient air currents only

Section 1218 No auxiliary or booster fan shall be allowed in any mine unless a request in writing be made by the superintendent of such mine to the mine inspector of the district and permission granted by him to install such fan

Section 1219 Auxiliary fans driven by electric power shall not be used in gaseous mines unless the motors of such fans are enclosed in explosion proof casings approved by the United States Bureau of Mines All such fans must be located so that there shall be maintained at all times a positive separation of inlet and outlet air currents

Section 1220 All main fans used to ventilate gaseous mines shall be operated continuously when necessary for the safety of the men employed therein and when the Mine Inspector so orders During any period in which repairs are being made to any such fan or fans or for any reason any such fans are stopped no person or persons shall be allowed in any gaseous part of said mine except for the purpose of making examinations and observations of gaseous conditions All such examinations shall be made with an approved safety lamp

Section 1221 Whenever a mine suspends operations temporarily and is being maintained in readiness for operation the the mine shall be examined at least once a week in the same manner as if in operation and a report of such examination shall be made in the colliery report book and signed by the person making the examination

Section 1222 When non-gaseous (Class A) mines in which mining has been suspended and fans stopped during such idle periods before such mine or mines resume mining all such fans shall be put in operation at least twelve (12) hours before work is resumed An examination of all working places haulage roads traveling roads etc shall be made before the men are allowed to enter the mine

Section 1223 When any main ventilating fans have been stopped they shall prior to the resumption of work in the mine be operated a sufficient length of time to provide a supply of air adequate enough to dilute render harmless and sweep away all smoke and noxious gases and an examination shall be made of all haulage roads traveling roads working places and other places in which accumulations of gas or smoke might endanger the safety of the workmen before the men are allowed to enter the mine

Section 1224 All inlet and outlet airways shall be kept free from all obstructions and in fit state to be traveled and inspected at all times

Section 1225 Any person or persons who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or who shall make any false report in regard to air measurements shall be guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE XIII

Underground Buildings

Section 1301 All Buildings inside of any anthracite coal mine in Pennsylvania including engine-houses pumphouses stables et cetera shall be constructed of incombustible material and no temporary buildings of any character in any mine shall be constructed unless they are constructed of incombustible material

Section 1302 Any owner operator or superintendent of a coal mine failing to comply with this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars ($100.00) or undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court

Classification of Mines or Sections Thereof with Reference to Combustible Gas

Section 1401 All anthracite mines or sections thereof shall be classed as A B or C as hereinafter provided

Section 1402 A Class A mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent of combustible gas or less is found Such mine or section thereof shall be considered non-gaseous

Section 1403 A Class B mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent and less than five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent of combustible gas is found

Section 1404 A Class C mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent or more of combustible gas is found

Section 1405 Examinations to determine the classification of mines or sections thereof shall be made by the operator or his representative every six months at the faces of the first and last working places on a split and the average of the tests shall be the determining factor Tests shall be made by use of a methane detector approved by the United States Bureau of Mines or by chemical analysis

Section 1406 The ventilation must have been stopped or short-circuited for at least fifteen minutes when the aforesaid examinations are made and the results recorded and a copy of the same shall be sent to the inspector of the district within ten days after such examination

Section 1407 The classification of a section of a mine as "A" "B" or "C" does not of necessity place the whole mine in that class

Section 1408 If one-fourth (¼) of an inch gas cap can be seen on the flame of an approved safety lamp it shall be assumed that the air contains at least one and one-half (1½) per cent of combustible gas

Section 1409 No mine or section thereof shall be considered as belonging to a less hazardous class than the one to which it formerly belonged without permission from the inspector of the district

ARTICLE XV

Use of Electricity

Section 1501 All electrical apparatus and conductors shall be so installed and protected as to reduce danger from shock or fire to a minimum

Section 1502 No higher voltage than medium (650) shall be taken underground except for transmission or for application to transformers or other apparatus in which the whole of the high voltage circuit is stationar

Section 1503 When high voltage cables are taken into the mine through bore holes shafts slopes and other traveling-ways to an underground station from which point low or medium voltage may be conveyed said cables shall be so constructed as to reduce the hazards of accidental shock to a minimum

Section 1504 In gaseous mines (C class) high voltage transmission cables shall be installed in the intake airways or in bore holes provided such bore holes are in or connected to intake airway unless specific permission to install high voltage cables has been given by the inspector in writing and in response to a specific written request

High voltage motors and transformers if used in a mine shall be installed only in underground stations ventilated by intake air which has not passed through a gaseous district

Section 1505 Gloves and mats of rubber or other suitable insulating material shall be provided and used by persons when making repairs to live parts of any electrical apparatus or when live parts of electrical apparatus have to be handled for the purpose of adjustment Provided That this section shall not apply to electric signal circuits

Section 1506 Instructions shall be posed in every generating transforming and motor room containing directions as to the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock

Section 1507 In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front of the switchboard not less than three (3) feet in the clear The rear of said switchboard must be fenced off so that there is no passageway in the rear or if this be impracticable any such passageway must be three (3) feet in the clear

When medium voltage is used insulating floors or mats shall be provided where live metal work is on the front of the board When high voltage is used unless installed in a locked room to which only authorized persons are admitted all live metal parts on the front of the main switchboard within seven (7) feet of the floor or platform shall be guarded so as to prevent persons from coming in contact with such live parts The floor back of the board shall be made of incombustible material Provided however that this section does not apply to switchboards now in service or extensions thereof

Section 1508 Fire buckets filled with clear dry sand or other standard extinguishers for electrical fires shall be kept in underground stations ready for immediate use in extinguishing fires

Section 1509 Medium or low pressure conductors may not be bare in gaseous portions (C class) of the mines This rule is not to include trolley wire except where hereinafter provided

Section 1510 At all landings and partings where men are required to work regularly or pass under trolley or other bare power wires which are placed less than six and one-half (6½) feet above the top of the rail a suitable protection shall be provided This protection may be afforded by channeling the roof placing boards along the wires which shall extend below them or the use of other approved devices that afford protection

Section 1511 All underground power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position On main haulage roads all cables and other wires except trolley wires and D C feeder wires when mounted on the same supports shall be kept at least twelve (12) inches away from any part of the mine car or locomotive

Section 1512 Trailing cables in use shall be examined daily by the machine operator for abrasions and other defects and he shall report any defect to the mine foreman or his assistant and it shall be immediately remedied or the cable put out of service

Section 1513 All points at which a circuit other than a signal circuit has to be made or broken shall be provided with proper switches The use of hooks or other makeshifts are prohibited except that connection for gathering locomotives or locomotives and machines used in driving headings or chambers may be made to the trolley wire by means of suitable hooks

Section 1514 In any gaseous portion of a mine (B and C class) a coal-cutting machine shall not be brought beyond the last cross-cut next the working face until the machine man shall have made an inspection for gas or until such examination shall have been made by some other competennt person If any explosive gas is found in the place the machine shall not be taken in

Section 1515 No coal-cutting machine shall be continued in operation in a gaseous portion of a mine (C class) for a longer period than half an hour without an examination being made for gas and if gas is found the current shall at once be switched off and the machine and the trailing cable shall worthwith be disconnected from the power supply

Section 1516 The person in charge of a coal-cutting machine loading machine or drilling machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall before leaving the working place see that the current is cut off from the trailing cables In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) if an electric spark or arc be produced by the cable or rails the defect shall be immediately reported to the mine foreman or his assistant and the condition remedied without delay

Section 1517 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) any gangway airway or other working which is served by cars being pushed to the face of it must not have any trolley wire therein closer than one hundred and fifty (150) feet from its face No modification of this rule shall be allowed unless the mine inspector of the district be first consulted and his permission obtained to make such modification A trailing cable is permitted in all such cases

No electric haulage motor shall be taken to the face of any working place in any gaseous portion of a mine (B or C class) in the absence of the men working in such place until it is first examined by a competent person and found to be safe

Section 1518 In no case shall the potential used in the trolley system be higher than low voltage Provided That this section shall not apply to trolley systems now in service or extensions thereof

Section 1519 No electrical equipment shall be operated in that part of any mine in which more than one and one-half (1½) per cent of combustible gas can be detected and all work must be stopped except such as may be necessary to reduce the percentage content to one and one-half or less

Section 1520 In gaseous mines (B class) open lights and electric lamps are permissible provided a flame safety lamp approved by the Department of Mine is used for testing purposes Such safety lamps shall be as far as practicable kept near the roof of the working face

It shall not be assumed that a mine or portion thereof is gaseous because of the partial or exclusive use of electric cap lamps

Section 1521 In each part of all gaseous mines (C class) no light other than a locked safety lamp or a locked safety lamp and electric cap lamp both of a type which shall be first approved by the Department of Mines shall be allowed or used in such part Whenever safety lamps or electric cap lamps are required in any mine or part thereof they shall be the property of the owner of said mine and a competent person who shall be appointed for the purpose shall examine every safety lamp and electric cap lamp before it is taken into the workings for use and he shall ascertain that all safety lamps are clean safe and securely locked and safety lamps and electric cap lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and in the case of safety lamps clean and securely locked

Section 1522 No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any gaseous mine where locked safety lamp or electric cap lamps are used It shall be unlawful for any person or persons working in gaseous mines (C class) or portion of a gaseous mine (C class) which is worked by locked safety lamps or locked safety lamps and electric cap

lamps to carry into the mine matches smokers' articles or any other material or articles mhich may cause fire To prevent such articles being carried into a dangerous mine or section thereof the mine foreman when he sees fit shall cause a search of the men for such articles

Section 1523 In ay gaseous portion of a mine (C class) except such parts as are ventilated by pure intake air incandescent lamps shall be protected by gas tight fittings of strong glass

Section 1524 All shot firing in gaseous mines or sections of mines (C class) shall be done by the use of an electric battery approved by the Bureau of Mines and furnished free of charge by the owner or operator of such mine No black powders shall be used in such mines

Section 1525 No shot firing unit shall be connected to the shot firing leads until all other connections preparatory to the firing of shots have been completed and all persons have moved to a place of safety

Section 1526 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) the potential used for signaling purposes shall not exceed twenty-four (24) volts and bare wires shall not be used for signal circuits except in intake air currents

Section 1527 Where electric transformers are located on the outside and mounted on steel structures there shall be provided proper walkways or platforms so that examinations or inspections of the same can be made All transformers within eight (8) feet of the ground shall be protected by fencing such fencing to be of a height that will prevent persons from inadvertently coming in contact with same

Section 1528 At all surface plants of collieries and in all mines where electric power is used adequate switches shall be provided at the points where it may be necessary to turn power on or off Such switches except high voltage air break and disconnecting switches and those on D C feeder or on trolley circuits shall be so arranged that they can be operated only from and without the box when the latter is completely closed

Section 1529 Any person or persons failing to comply with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of an offense against this act and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or undergo imprisonment for thirty (30) days in the county jail or both at the discretion of the court

Inquests

Section 1601 If whenever death occurs from an accident in or about an anthracite coal mine of this Commonwealth and after an examination of such accident the mine inspector finds an inquest should be held he shall notify the coroner to hold such inquest without delay and if no inquest be held by the coroner within forty-eight (48) hours after such notice the inspector shall institute a further and fuller examination of such accident and for this purpose he shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses at such examination and to administer oaths and affirmations to persons testifying thereat The inspector shall make a record of all such investigations and accidents which record shall be preserved in his office The cost of such investigations shall be paid by the Department of Mines in like manner as other costs are now paid

Section 1602 An inquest held by the coroner upon the body of a person killed by explosion or other accident shall be adjourned by the coroner if the inspector of mines be not present to watch the proceedings and the coroner in such case shall notify the inspector in writing of such adjourned inquest and the time and place of holding the same at least three (3) days previous thereto

Section 1603 Due notice of an intended inquest to be held by the coroner shall be given by the coroner to the inspector and at any such inquest the mine inspector and any representaive of a party in interest shall have the right to examine witnesses and read the law governing the case to the coroner's jury

Section 1604 If at any inquest over the body or bodies of persons whose death was caused by an accident in or about a mine or colliery the inspector cannot be present to watch the proceedings the coroner may proceed with such inquest and if it is shown by the evidence given at the inquest that the accident was caused by neglect or by any defect in or about the mine or colliery which in the judgment of the jury requires a remedy the coroner shall send notice in writing to said inspector of such neglect or default

Section 1605 No person who is interested personally nor a person employed in the mine or at a colliery in or at which loss of life has occurred by accident shall be qualified to serve on a jury empaneled on the inquest and a constable or other officer shall not summon such a person so disqualified as a juror but the coroner shall empanel a majority of the jury from miners who are qualified to judge of the nature of the accident

Medical Rooms and First Aid Treatment

Section 1701 It shall be unlawful to operate any anthracite mine in the State of Pennsylvania employing more than five persons unless said mine is provided with a sufficient quantity of medical supplies bandages linens splints woolen and water-proof blankets The mine foreman or his assistance shall keep a record showing the required articles on hand Said articles shall be stored in rooms erected at a convenient place in the mine and on the surface which rooms shall not be less than eight by twelve feet and sufficiently furnished lighted clean and ventilated so that therein medical treatment may be given injured employes in case of emergency The furnishings shall be sufficient to accommodate two or more persons in a reclining and sitting posture In mines where five (5) men or less are employed there shall be kept at such mines first aid kits so that first aid to the injured may be rendered in case of necessity

Section 1702 The neglect or refusal to perform the duties required to be performed by this article or the violation of any of the requirements hereof shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county wherein the misdemeanor was committed be punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six months (6) or both at the discretion of the court

Regulating Weights of Explosives

Section 1801 On and after the passage of this act each and every keg or box of explosives used manufactured or sold in or around the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth shall have clearly stamped upon it the name of the person firm or corporation manufacturing said explosives the percentage strength of such explosives and also the number of pounds of explosives contained in said keg or box

Section 1802 Any manufacturer or dealer in said explosives making or selling or causing to be made or sold any keg or box of said explosives containing less weight than shall be shown as stamped upon the keg or box shall be subject to a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for each and every keg or box of said explosives manufactured or sold which does not contain the respective weights as set forth in the foregoing section

Section 1803 It shall not be lawful for any other person firm or corporation except the person firm or corporation whose name shall be stamped on said keg or box to use any such stamped keg or box for the purpose of containing explosives

Section 1804 Any person firm or corporation violating the provisions of section one thousand eight hundred three of this article shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00)

ARTICLE XIX

Recovery of Bodies of Entombed Workmen

Section 1901 Whenever any workman or workmen shall heretofore have been or shall hereafter be enclosed

entombed or buried in any anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the court sitting in equity in the county wherein such workman or workmen are enclosed entombed or buried upon the petition of any of the relatives of those enclosed or buried to make an order of court for the petitioner to take testimony in order that the court may ascertain whether such workman or workmen or the body or bodies of such workman or workmen can be recovered or taken out of said mine

Section 1902 If after full hearing it shall appear to the court that such undertaking is feasible or practicable said court may forthwith issue a peremptory mandamus to the owner or owners lessee or lessees operator or operators of such coal company to forthwith proceed to work for and recover and take out the body or bodies of such workman or workmen and said court shall have full authority to enforce such peremptory mandamus in the manner already provided for the enforcement of such process

Records of Coal Loaded by Miners

Section 2001 At every anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car a record of all cars of coal mined shall be kept at the miners' chutes or at the most convenient and practical of said chutes where said coal is loaded in cars which record shall be the final basis in computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or other refuse that may be loaded on said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining and loading coal and which record shall be open at all times for the inspection of all miners

Section 2002 Any individual firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of section two thousand one shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall for each offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) Provided That nothing contained in this article shall affect any existing contract

Section 2003 Any person who wilfully shall from any loaded coal car in or about any mine breaker or yard in this Commonwealth take remove sever carry away obliterate or destroy any ticket card tin-slip or other device or sign used to indicate or identify the person or persons to whom credit or pay is or shall be due for the mining of the coal in said car or for the loading of said car for the purpose of depriving such person or persons from getting credit or pay for said car or for the purpose of defrauding such person in any manner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year either or both at the discretion of the court and the jury trying the case may infer such intent from the fact of taking removing carrying away severing or destroying in any manner of such ticket card in-slip or other device or sign as aforesaid

Wash Houses

Section 2101 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery at the request in writing of twenty (20) or more men employed in any of the mines to provide a suitable building not an engine or boiler house which shall be convenient to the principal entrance of such mine for the use of the persons employed for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order be properly lighted and heated and supplied with pure cold and warm water and shall be provided with facilities for persons to wash It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery to maintain proper attendents continuously at each and every wash house in order to maintain the wash house in a clean and sanitary condition at all times If any person or persons shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used for supplying light heat and water therein or any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof he or they shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE XXII

Ambulances and Stretchers

Section 2201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery except as hereinafter provided shall provide and keep at such mine or colliery a motor ambulance and also at least two (2) stretchers for the purpose of conveying to their places of abode any person or persons who may be injured while in the discharge of his or their work at such mine or colliery

Section 2202 The said motor ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial and easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two (2) injured persons with two (2) attendants at one time and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall also be provided with seats for the attendants The stretchers shall be constructed in such manner as to afford the greatest ease and comfort in the carriage of injured persons The motor ambulance shall at all times be properly heated

Section 2203 Whenever any person or persons employed in or about a mine or colliery shall receive such injury by accident or otherwise while so employed as would render him or them unable to walk to his or their place of abode the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery shall immediately cause such person or persons to be removed in said motor ambulance to his or their place of abode or to a hospital as the case may require Provided however That were two or more mines or colliers are located within four miles of each other or a motor ambulance is located within four miles of each colliery but one motor ambulance as aforesaid shall be required if said mines or collieries have ready and quick means of communication one with the other by telegraph or telephone

Section 2204 A motor ambulance as aforesaid shall not be required at any mine or colliery at which less than twenty (20) persons are employed

Section 2205 In case the distance from any mine or colliery to the place of abode of the person injured is such as to permit his conveyance to his home or to a hospital more quickly and conveniently by railway such mode of conveyance shall be permitted but in such case the conveyance must be under cover and the comfort of the injured person must be provided for

Section 2206 There shall be furnished free of charge by the State Highway Department a registration certificate and two number tags for every such motor ambulance

ARTICLE XXIII

Employment of Boys and Females

Section 2301 No woman or girl of any age shall be employed or permitted to be in any mine for the purpose of employment therein nor shall a woman or girl of any age be employed or permitted to be in or about the outside structures or workings of a mine or colliery for the purpose of employment Provided however That this prohibition shall not affect the employment of a female of not less than sixteen (16) years of age in an office or in the performance of clerical work at a colliery

Section 2302 No minor under sixteen (16) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in about or in connection with any breaker or any outside part of any mine or colliery No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed to be permitted to work inside any coal mine No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work about or in connection with the outside part of any mine or colliery in the operation of hoisting machines at oiling or cleaning machinery in motion at switch-tending and gate-tending at track repairing or in any other dangerous occupation

Section 2303 Before any person under twenty-one (21) years of age shall be permitted to work in or about any mine or colliery he shall first file with the employer a statement properly sworn to before a magistrate or other proper officer setting forth the date and place of birth and post office address Such statements shall be filed in the colliery office and they shall be available at all times for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or other authorized inspectors or officers charged with the enforcement of this act

Section 2304 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200.00) or to undergo an imprisonment of not more than ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court

Soliciting Money or Other Valuables from Employes

Section 2401 On and after the passage of this act any mine superintendent mine foreman or assistant foreman or any other person or persons who shall receive or solicit any sum of money or other valuable consideration from any of his or their employes for the purpose of continuing in his or their employ or for the purpose of procuring employment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) or undergo an imprisonment of not less than six (6) months or both at the discretion of the court

Duties of Outside Foremen

Section 2501 The owner operator or superintendent of a colliery shall place a competent person to be called an "outside foreman" in charge of the breaker and outside work of such colliery who shall direct and see that the provisions of this act are complied with in respect to the breaker outside machinery ropes cages and all other things pertaining to the outside work unless otherwise provided for in this act

Section 2502 Whenever an outside foreman cannot personally carry out the provisions of this act so far as they pertain to him the owner operator or superintendent shall authorize him to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall be subject to his orders

Section 2503 In all coal breakers where the coal dust is so dense as to be injurious to the health of persons employed therein the owner operator or superintendent of said breaker shall upon the request of the inspector immediately adopt measures for the removal of the dust

Section 2504 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman of a colliery or his assistant to inspect and examine personally all machinery in breakers and in all other places where machinery is used for the preparation or storage of coal He shall see that all dangerous machinery rolls pulleys screens belts walks etc are properly protected by coverings railings or fencing so as to prevent persons from inadvertently walking against or falling upon the same

Section 2505 All hoisting ropes safety catches main links and chains shall be carefully examined each day they are used by a competent person delegated by the outside foreman to make such examination A record of any defects found therein by which life or limb may be endangered shall be made in a book and signed by the person making it and said book shall be kept in the colliery office where it shall be available for inspection by the inspector of the district

Section 2506 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all iron hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are used to lower men into and hoist them from the mines annealed at least once every four (4) months and as much oftener as may be found necessary A record of such annealment shall be kept in a book and signed by the person in charge of the work Provided That this shall not apply to hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are made of modern heat treated steel

Section 2507 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have the motor ambulance kept in good working condition and to this end he shall have it inspected by a competent mechanic once every month and any defects found shall be immediately remedied A record of such motor ambulance inspection together with its condition shall be made in a book and signed by the person making the inspection

Section 2508 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to keep in the colliery office all employment certificates of minors at which place they shall be open for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or by any other person authorized by law to inspect such certificates

Section 2509 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all cages by which persons are hoisted or lowered in shafts tested for safety as often as once every three (3) months Whenever such test shows that a cage drops nine (9) inches or more or that other dangerous defects exist such cage shall not be further used until all defects therein found have been remedied

Section 2510 If at any time it is found by an employe that any part of the machinery in any breaker or about any colliery has become dangerous he shall immediately notify the foreman whose duty it shall be to have such defect or dangerous condition remedied without delay

Section 2511 The outside foreman shall see that a suitable safety device is installed on the railroad tracks that lead to the breaker and maintained in good working order to protect the loaders who may be loading railroad cars from the coal pockets All railroad car runners shall be provided with safety belts to prevent their falling off such cars

Section 2512 The outside foreman shall before the tenth day of each month send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month a report of the condition of all hoisting cages safety catches ropes main links chains breaker machinery motor ambulances or other machinery designating the condition of each by using the words "good" "fair" or "bad" as the case may be This report shall be signed by the outside foreman Such reports shall be made on forms furnished by the Department of Mines

Breakers and Machinery

Section 2601 No inflammable structure shall be located over the entrance of any mine opening connecting the surface with the underground workings and no breaker or other inflammable structure for the preparation or storage of coal shall be located nearer than two hundred (200) feet to any mine opening provided that this section shall not apply to breakers and other structures that are now erected

Section 2602 The sides of stairs trestles and dangerous plank walls in and around the collieries shall be provided with hand and guard railings to prevent persons from falling over their sides This section shall not forbid the temporary removal of a fence guard-rail or covering for the purpose of repairs or other operations if proper precautions are used and the fence guard rail or covering is replaced immediately thereafter

Section 2603 All persons employed to operate machinery in and about the breaker other than that used to lower and hoist persons into and out of the mines shall be sober and competent persons not less than eighteen (18) years of age

Section 2604 A signal apparatus shall be established at important points in every breaker so that in case of an accident the engineer can be promptly notified to stop the machinery

Section 2605 No person under eighteen (18) years of age shall be appointed to oil the machinery and no person shall oil dangerous parts of such machinery while it is in motion

Section 2606 No person shall play with loiter around or interfere with any machinery in or about any mine or colliery

Section 2607 The main link of the chain connecting the rope to the cage gun-boat or car in any shaft or slope shall be made of the best quality of iron or of heat treated steel Bridle chains made of the same quality of iron or heat treated steel shall be attached to the main link rope or rope socket from the cross head of the cage gun-boat or car when persons are being lowered or hoisted thereon

Section 2608 An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum that is used for lowering or hoisting persons or material in any mine

Section 2609 Flanges or horns of sufficient dimensions to prevent the rope from slipping off the said drums shall be provided and properly attached to the drum and all machines used for lowering or hoisting persons in mines shall be provided with an indicator to show the position of the cage car or gun-boat in the shaft or slope

Section 2610 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of any or all coal breakers to have them properly heated and lighted in order to prevent injury to the health of persons employed therein

ARTICLE XXVII

Hoisting Engineers

Section 2701 No person engaged as hoisting engineer at or about the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth part of whose duties it to lower men and boys into and hoist them and coal from the said mines shall be engaged for a longer period than eight (8) hours out of each day of twenty-four (24) hours

Section 2702 An engineer placed in charge of an engine whereby persons are hoisted or lowered in any mine shall be a sober and competent person of not less than twenty-on (21) years of age

Section 2703 Every engineer shall work his engine slowly and with great care when any person is being lowered or hoisted in a shaft or slope and no one shall interfere with him while in the performance of this duty

Section 2704 An engineer who has charge of the hoisting machinery by which persons are lowered or hoisted in a mine shall be in constant attendance for that purpose during the whole time any person or persons are below ground

Section 2705 Any person persons firm partnership corporation or their agents managers or superintendents violating any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00)

ARTICLE XXVIII

Boilers and Connections

Section 2801 All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines and collieries shall be kept in good order and the owner operator or superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a qualified inspector properly certified by the Commonwealth as often as once in six (6) months and oftener if necessary The result of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector for the district within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 2802 It shall not be lawful to place any boiler or boilers for the purpose of generating steam under or nearer than one hundred (100) feet to any coal breaker or other structure in which persons are employed in the preparation of coal Provided That this section shall not apply to boilers or breakers already erected or to boilers used for heating purposes only

Section 2803 Each nest of boilers shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and with weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 2804 Every boiler house shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected with the boilers to indicate the steam pressure and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house and they shall be placed in such position that the engineer or fireman can readily examine them and see what pressure is carried Such steam gauges shall be kept in good order tested and adjusted as often as once in every six (6) months and their condition reported to the inspector in the same manner as the report of boiler inspection

Section 2805 Every fireman in charge of a boiler or boilers for the generation of steam shall keep constant watch over the same He shall see that the steam pressure does not at any time exceed the limit allowed by the outside foreman or superintendent He shall frequently try the safety valve and shall not increase the weight on the same He shall maintain a proper depth of water in each boiler and if anything should happen to prevent this he shall report the same without delay to the foreman for the time being in charge and take such other action as may under the particular circumstances be necessary for the protection of life and preservation of property

Props and Timbers

Section 2901 It shall be the duty of the owner operator superintendent or mine foreman of any mine to furnish to miners all props cap pieces ties rails timbers and other materials necessary for the safe mining of coal suitably prepared and delivered to the workmen as near to their working places as they can be conveyed in ordinary mine cars free of charge and where the mine car cannot reach the foot of a working place such material shall be conveyed there by other means

Section 2902 Every workman in want of props ties rails or timbers shall notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact at least one day in advance giving the length of the props or timber required and in case of danger from loose roof or sides he shall not continue to cut or load coal until the said props and timber have been properly furnished and the place made secure

Section 2903 No person or persons working in any coal mine or colliery shall cut any props or timbers while the same are in position to support the roof or sides When it becomes necessary to remove any of the said props or timbers for any purpose it may be done by using prop or post pullers or by blasting

Returns and Notices

Section 3001 Notices of death or serious injuries resulting from accidents in or about mines or collieries shall be made to the inspector of mines in writing and shall specify the name age occupation of the person killed or injured and also the nature and character of the accident and of the injury caused thereby

Sertion 3002 The owner operator or superintendent of a mine or colliery shall without delay give notice in writing to the inspector of the district in which said mine or colliery is situated in any or all of the following cases

First Where any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new slope or mine to which this act applies

Second Where any mine is abandoned or the workings thereof discontinued

Third Where the working of any mine is recommenced after any abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding two (2) months

Fourth Before any new coal breaker is completed and work commenced therein for the purpose of preparing coal for market

Fifth Where the pillars of a mine are to be removed or robbed

Sixth Where a squeeze or crush or any other cause or change may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in any mine or where fire occurs or a dangerous body of gas is found in any mine

Section 3003 On or before the second day of each month the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month an estimate of the number of days worked tons produced and the number of men employed

Section 3004 On or before the first day of February in each year the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the inspector of the district a correct report specifying with respect to the year ending December thirty-first previously the name of the operator and officials of the mine with their post-office addresses the quantity of coal mined the amount of powder or other explosives consumed and the number of persons employed above and below ground in or about such colliery classifying the persons so employed The report shall be in such form as may be from time to time prescribed by the Secretary of Mines Blank forms for such report shall be furnished by the Commonwealth

General Rules

Section 3101 The owner operator and superintendent of a mine or colliery shall use every precaution to insure the safety of the workmen in all cases whether provided for in this act or not and shall have supervision direction and control of the mine foreman and all other mine employes

Section 3102 Whenever a place is likely to contain a dangerous accumulation of water the working approaching such place shall not exceed twelve (12) feet in width and there shall be constantly kept at a distance of not less than twenty (20) feet in advance at least one (1) bore hole near the center of the working and sufficient flank bore holes on each side

Section 3103 Not more than ten (10) persons shall be hoisted or lowered at any one time in any shaft or slope and whenever five (5) persons shall arrive at the bottom of any shaft or slope in which persons are regularly hoisted or lowered they shall be furnished with an empty car or cage and be hoisted except however in mines where there is provided a traveling way having an average pitch of fifteen (15) degrees or less and not more than one thousand (1000) feet in length This however shall not prohibit the hoisting or lowering of twenty (20) persons at one time on slopes where two (2) or more loaded cars are regulaly hoisted Provided That not less than thirty (30) workmen working therein make such a request in writing to the inspector of the district and if in his judgment the hoisting appliances in every respect are of sufficient strength he may comply with the request of the workmen And provided further That in any coal mine or colliery where the hoisting appliances are not of sufficient strength to hoist or lower the number of persons named he shall have the power to reduce the number of persons to be hoisted or lowered

Section 3104 When high explosives other than gunpowder are used in any mine the manner of storing keeping moving charging and firing or in any manner using such explosives shall be in accordance with special rules as furnished by the manufacturers of the same The said rules shall be endorsed with his or their official signatures and shall be approved by the owner operator or superintendent of the mine in which such explosives are used

Section 3105 Every passageway used by persons in any mine and also used for transportation of coal or other material shall be made of sufficient width to permit persons to pass moving cars with safety but if found impracticable to make any passageway of sufficient width then holes of ample dimensions and not more than one hundred and fifty (150) feet apart shall be made on one side of said passageway The said passageway and safety holes shall be kept free from obstructions and shall be well drained the roof and sides of the same shall be made secure

Section 3106 When locomotives are used in haulage ways in any mine their speed shall not exceed six (6) miles per hour and a red light shall be provided and attached to the front end of every train of cars pushed by the locomotive in any such haulage ways No locomotive shall be permitted to be used in any mine or colliery unless it is manned by two or more men

There shall also be provided a red light to be attached to the rear of every train of cars that is pulled by a locomotive in the main haulage ways of any mine

Section 3107 Any person or persons who shall knowingly or wilfully damage or without proper authority remove or render useless any fencing means of signaling apparatus instrument or machine or shall throw open or obstruct any airways or open a ventilating door and not have the same closed or enter a place in or about a mine against caution or handle without proper authority or disturb any machinery or cars or do any other act or thing whereby the lives or health of persons or the security of the property in or about a mine or colliery is endangered shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3108 When cars are run on gravity roads by brakes or sprags the runner shall ride only on the rear end of the last car and when said cars are run by sprags a space of not less than two (2) feet from the body of the car shall be made on one or both sides of the track wherever it may be necessary for the runner to pass along the side of the moving car or cars and said space or passageway shall always be kept free from obstructions

Section 3109 Safety holes shall be made at the bottom of all slopes and planes and be kept free from obstruction to enable the footman to escape readily in case of danger Such safety holes shall be properly heated in cold weather

Section 3110 Safety blocks or some other device for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into a shaft or running away on a slope plane or all other inclined tracks on which it may be necessary to block cars shall be placed at or near the head of every shaft slope plane or inclined track and said safety blocks or other device must be maintained in good working order

Section 3111 No person shall travel on any gravity plane while cars are being hoisted or lowered thereon Whenever ten (10) persons arrive at the bottom or top of any plane on which it is necessary for men to travel traffic thereon shall be suspended for a period of time long enough to permit them to reach the top or bottom of said plane

Section 3112 No mine cars shall be used in any mine unless the bumpers are of sufficient length and width to keep the bodies of said cars separated by not less than twelve (12) inches when the cars stand on a straight level road and the bumpers touch each other

Section 3113 For the purpose of making known the rules and the provisions of this act to all persons employed in or about such mine or colliery to which this act applies an abstract of the act and rules shall be posted up in legible characters in some conspicuous place or places at or near the mine or colliery where they may be conveniently read by the persons employed and so often as the same become obliterated or destroyed the owner operator or superintendent shall cause them to be renewed with all reasonable dispatch Any person who pulls down injures or defaces such abstract of the act or rules when posted up in pursuance of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3114 Holes drilled for blasting purposes shall be stemmed to the mouth of the holes and in case of a misfire no stemming or charge shall be removed from such hole but another hole shall be drilled at least eighteen (18) inches from and parallel to the original hole Provided however That where an efficient sealing device is used stemming to the mouth of the hole shall not be necessary and in case of misfire in such sealed holes a second charge may be inserted to explode or destroy the original charge

Section 3115 A gangway or other working place from which chambers are driven or long wall mining is done in a low coal seam shall have a traveling way on one side of same at least three (3) feet wide and five (5) feet high Chambers or other places driven from such gangways shall not be more than three hundred (300) feet long unless provided with a traveling way at least three (3) feet wide and three and one-half (3½) feet high

Section 3116 It shall not be lawful for any mine foreman or superintendent of any mine or colliery to employ any person who is not competent to understand the regulations of any mine evolving combustible gas Provided That this rule shall not apply to a section of a mine free from combustible gas

Section 3117 Any superintendent or mine foreman who prevents the footman from giving an empty car or cage to the number of men designated in section three thousand one hundred three shall be guilty of an offense against the provisions of this article and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each offense An empty trip shall be hoisted in any shaft or slope where the engine has been standing idle for one hour or more before men are hoisted or lowered in said shafts or slops and no person or persons shall ascend any shaft or slope when working on the night turn until one trip shall first be hoisted therein

Section 3118 When compressed air lines are located in close proximity to electric currents there shall be placed in such air lines at suitable places a safety section of rubber hose of not less than twelve (12) inches in length and of sufficient strength to withstand the air pressure contained in the pipe line Such safety device must be approved by the inspector of the district

Section 3119 In all stripping work which may be in connection with other sections of a mine and in which large charges of high explosives are being used sufficient warning must be given to the mine officials so that all men in the mine may be removed from the danger zone before such blasts are fired in any such strippings

Definition of Terms

Section 3201 In this act unless the context otherwise requires the term "anthracite coal mine or colliery" includes every operation and work both under ground and above ground used or to be used for the purpose of mining and preparing coal and not included in the bituminous boundaries

Section 3213 The term "auxiliary fan" means a fan used to deliver only a portion of the volume of the air in a split to the working face through tubing of some type

Section 3214 The term "non-gaseous mine or section thereof" means one in which not more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one percent of combustible gas can be found in the manner described in article fourteen of this act

Section 3215 The term "section of a mine" means any portion of such a mine that is being ventilated by one split of air

Section 3216 The term "person" means and includes any individual partnership association or corporation and any employe agent director or officer thereof

Definition of electrical terms

Section 3217 (a) Potential The terms "potential" and "voltage" are synonymous and mean electrical pressure

(b) Difference of Potential The term "difference of potential" means the difference of electrical pressure existig between any two points of an electrical system or between any piece of electrical apparatus and the earth as determined by a voltmeter

(c) Where the conditions of supply of electricity are such that normally the difference in potential between any points of the circuit cannot exceed three hundred and twenty-five (325) volts the supply shall be deemed a low voltage

(d) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed three hundred and twenty-five (325) volts but cannot exceed six hundred and fifty (650) volts the supply shall be deemed a medium voltage

(e) Where the conditions of supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit at any time exceeds six hundred and fifty (650) volts the supply shall be deemed a high voltage

(f) Grounding any part of an electrical system shall consist of so connecting such part to the earth as will insure at all times a proper path for the immediate discharge of electrical energy

(g) Underground stations as herein considered are places where electrical machinery including transformers are permanently installed

ARTICLE XXXIII

Arbitration

Section 3301 Whenever an inspector finds any mine or colliery or part thereof or any matter thing or practice connected with such mine which in any respect thereof is not covered or provided against by any provision of this act or by any rule to be dangerous or defective or which in his judgment tends to bodily injure a person he shall give notice thereof in writing to the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery stating in such notice the particular matter or defect requiring remedy and may demand that the same be remedied but the owner operator or superintendent of said mine or colliery shall have the right to refer the demand of the inspector to a board of arbitration and the matter shall then be arbitrated within forty-eight (48) hours of the time such complaint or demand is made and the party against whom the award is given shall pay all costs attending the case The said board of arbitration shall be composed of three (3) persons one of whom shall be chosen by the inspector one by the said owner operator or superintendent and a third by the two thus selected and the decision of a majority of such board shall be final and binding in the matter

ARTICLE XXXIV

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2430, (Senate Bill No. 776), as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-seven) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of Section 10 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall be retroactive to the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the Administrative code to which I offered amendments the other day providing for a plan of reorganization which as you will recall, I estimated would save not less than two million dollars in the biennium, and which would have provided for a reorganization and a consolidation of the departments of the State government. The bill as it now stands with the extensive amendments which were introduced by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, does not in my opinion present any reduction or any economy, although I have seen press releases within the past few weeks stating that the bill did contain economies.

I want to call the attention of the members of the House, and particularly those interested in labor, to the fact that there is a provision in the bill which says that the penal and correctional institutions may not only sell the products, but the by-products. It is my understanding that labor has for years opposed the extension of the use of State institutions for the manufacture of products that might compete with labor. There is a very sound reason why some of our penal and correctional institutions should manufacture certain articles. It is of benefit to the inmates as well as to the Commonwealth. But I think that we are opposed to any extension of that beyond the mere necessities, and I think the provision in this bill permitting the sale of by-products may open the door, because you cannot tell what the by-products may be.

A second objection to the provisions of the bill is under Section 701 pertaining to the Governor and his powers and duties, which says: "(j) To grant to pilots engaged in the aeronautical work of the Department of Revenue commissions of such grades as the Governor may prescribe." I think that is going to lead to a lot of confusion. I have been given to understand that we have recently purchased two Stinson planes which are being used in the State, and that we now have some very beautifully uniformed pilots to accompany our Governor on his trips. I would like to maintain the dignity of the Executive, and I believe the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would be very meagre, and that we would certainly be very small to not want our Governor when he goes into other states, to maintain the dignity and the prestige of this great Commonwealth, but on the other hand I do not like to see opened up in Pennsylvania the appointment of what are commonly known as "Kentucky colonels." You know the extent to which that was done in Kentucky until they had to abolish the law down there because they had more colonels there than they had population.

We have in the National Guard a unit, which I believe it is a very good unit of aviation or aeronautics. We have a group of flyers who are commissioned, and I believe if commissions are to be issued, they ought to be in line with National Guard appointments and not distributed outside, which may cause quite some confusion, because we might get some colonels who are pilots in the Department of Revenue, and then we may go over on the other hand and get a major in the National Guard whose rank would be beneath that of a man who is practically a civilian flyer.

In this bill as it came from the Senate there was an amendment placed in the Senate that was a very valuable provision. It provided for the destruction of records, as originally drawn. The Senate saw that that might be very dangerous, because it would give to any department the power to destroy its own records, so a provisions was placed in the bill that the records would have to be more than four years old, so that no Administration could destroy its own records. But in sub-section (k) of Section 709 it gives the Governor the power "to approve or disapprove requests for and to direct the disposal of files of correspondence, reports, records or other papers which are not needed for the current or anticipated future operations of any administrative department, board or commission." In other words, while we restrict the departments from destroying any of their records to those that are more than four years old, we give the Governor the power to destroy any record, and I care not who the Governor may be. I contend that from the standpoint of the Legislature that is a very dangerous precedent and a very dangerous provision, and one that should not be in this act.

I don't want to take the time of the House further in an academic discussion of the Administrative Code. I am intensely disappointed that after the statements that have been made on the floor of the House and the statements made by the Governor in his budget message to this House, that the mountain has labored and has brought forth a mouse. We have made here an attempt to amend the administrative code. There are some provisions that apply to Property and Supplies that are very desirable and constructive, but as an economy measure it has entirely failed to provide any economy, to meet any requirements of economy, and it still has in it some provisions that it seems to me should be corrected before this bill becomes law.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I realize the time and effort that the gentleman from Delaware has spent in an analysis of the set-up of the State Government, and I wish to assure him that if the Governor were to sign a bill providing for a standing Committee on State Government or the study of State Government, that we would be only too glad to have Mr. Turner on that committee so that we would have the benefit of his ability in that study. However, the Administrative Code as now presented is a very important bill in that it writes into the Code all the additional functions that have been imposed upon the Commonwealth, both at this session and at other sessions, and that have been presented for enactment, and I ask the support of the membership on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 673, Printer's No. 319, entitled "An act regulating and prescribing the computation and running of sentences for criminal offenses", be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

PRESENTATIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chair will now turn the gavel over to the Chief Clerk.

The CHIEF CLERK, (William P Gallagher), in the Chair.

The CHIEF CLERK. This being the time set for certain ceremonies in connection with the probable final adjournment of the Legislature, I have been called to the Chair, because we want to say a few things about the Speaker of the House and I know he does not desire to preside while we are dwelling upon his admirable qualities.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

CONGRATULATING SPEAKER

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

It is timely that the members of this House of Representatives should record, in the annals of this body, their sincere appreciation of the man who presided over and guided the destines of this Assembly. The training he received during the two special sessions of 1936 grounded him for the performance of the difficult task of this regular session. That he would perform that task well all felt assured when he was elected; that he has performed it well we now know. With all partisan battles ended nothing can be more fitting than to do honor to our Speaker who presided in so fair and impartial manner that no rightful protest was denied and no member's voice silenced when raised in the cause of justice; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend to their Speaker, the Honorable Roy E. Furman, their individual and collective thanks for the able and efficient manner in which he presided over this House and for the fair and impartial treatment he accorded to each member.

Resolved, That this resolution be entered on the Journal and that a copy thereof be presented to the Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, I know many of us desire an opportunity to pay tribute to the gentleman who has presided over this body during this session that I am going to be very brief in my remarks. I do not intend to go into detail and discuss the honest, sincere, conscientious service that Roy Furman has given the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during his tenure of office as Speaker of this House. His actions and his activities are too well known to us to need repetition as a thrice-told tale.

We know, those of us who have been here in the past, and you who were present during the Special Session of 1936, how well he has conducted the business of the session. To indicate that there was any doubt that our Speaker in any of his deliberations had a partisan or unfair attitude would be to cast unfounded aspersions upon the Speaker of this House. He has been a true servant of the Commonwealth. He has youth, virility and the disposition to please. During the time Roy Furman has served in this House, he has served in a manner that has brought credit to the entire membership. Such service to the Commonwealth should not be stayed, such service to the Commonwealth should not be restrained from advancement, and I offer to the membership of this House the next Lieutenant Governor of the State, Roy Furman.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Perry.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, we stand apparently in the closing hours of the 1937 session, that has been long and in many cases contentious. Its effects, of course, will be disclosed best by history in the future. During the course of the session one has disagreed with another naturally upon some pending legislation. We have debated back and forth openly, and in some cases bitterly, but out of our disagreements and out of our contentions there have come close and real friendships among the members that perhaps will be our only compensation for the long hours and the duties of our work in legislating for a Commonwealth. It is a tribute not only to the Speaker, but it is a tribute to the sportsmanship and to the sincerity of the men and women who formed the body of this House that in the midst of their arguments there shall come only friendships that will continue throughout the years.

There is one trait that has come out of this session, which is clear, undeniable and apparent to all, and that is that this House has produced and given to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a Speaker whose personal charm, character and ability, whose noted honesty and fairness has enshrined him not only in our hearts, but, as the gentleman from York has said, has demonstrated to the people of Pennsylvania his worthiness to receive higher honors and higher trusts.

I have neither the intent nor the purpose of bringing to you the story of his ability as your leader as the Speaker of the House. His qualities in that regard have been demonstrated and have been self-evident since the inception of this session and since we first met in January. Instead of doing that I wish to present to you the man who appeals to me from the man's side of it rather than from the Speaker's side, a man who, when others were losing their heads all about him, kept his; a man who trusted himself when others doubted him, and made allowance for their doubting too.

In trying to think of a few remarks to say about my friend Roy Furman, I happened to remember a poem written many years ago,—I cannot recall the exact words but it was by a famous English poet when he said:

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hate,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise:

If you can dream — and not make dreams your master;
If you can thing — and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat these two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em with worn-out tools:

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there's nothing in view
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virture,
Or walk with kings — nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute with sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And — which is more — you'll be a Man, my son!

So, members of the House, I present the man Roy Furman, a man among men, and I second the resolution.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, I too arise to second the resolution presented by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen. I feel that the man who presided over this Assembly during this session and during the Extraordinary Session before has well earned the compliments expressed by the two gentlemen who proceded me.

Roy Furman has not only been a Speaker of courage, a Speaker of integrity, but he has been a man among men. He has been a man who came from the ranks of the membership of this House and he has demonstrated that during his entire term as Speaker. Roy Furman has a heart of gold; Roy Furman, regardless of what we may utter regarding him in an attempt to describe his actions, his attitude and his manner as Speaker of this House, such words would be inadequate and feeble. It would be but gilding the lily.

On behalf of the Philadelphia delegation, on behalf of the citizens of Philadelphia and the State of Pennsylvania, I take this opportunity of thanking our Speaker, Roy Furman, for his fairness, for his integrity and for his courage. His fairness was well demonstrated by the fact that no man during this session ever questioned or appealed from his decisions from the Chair.

I also want to congratulate his wife, who has been so patient and forebearing, who has probably missed his companionship because of his service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as Speaker of this House. We know that many demands have been made upon him on and off the Chair, and I know his inspiration at home had to forego his compaionship so that he could render this marvelous service to the Commonwealth. Therefore, in addition to congratulating him, I wish to congratulate his wife and say to her that he as Speaker deserves every bit of courtesy, consideration and advancement which we and the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may be able to bestow upon him.

I also want to second the wish and hope which was expressed by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, that the next Lieutenant Governor of this State of Pennsylvania will be none other than Roy E. Furman. He deserves it; he has merited the set-up, and not only do I hope that the Democratic members of this House will support him, but also all his friends on the other side when he does run for that office.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, as we stand here watching the dying embers of this session fade into history, there is a stillness and a sadness that comes over this Hall that has not been here since we convened in January, and it is because we are about to be mustered out of service; we are about to leave our leader. It has been a custom when armies are mustered out, that they gather out somewhere on the hillside to pay tribute, to pay homage to the leaders. And so during this stillness and sadness we come now to pay tribute to our leader: a young man, a man of ability, a man who could be approached, a man who has a keen sense of humor, a man who treats all who come, alike. There is nothing greater that we can say to Roy Furman that that we leave him with an aching heart, for we know that he has served us and that he has served the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania well.

There is a poet who said:

> "One ship sails east and the other west
> While the self-same breezes blow
> It is the set of the sails and not the gales
> That bids them where to go."

You have set your sails. Already the echoes around this room tell us that you will occupy the seat of the Lieutenant Governor of this our great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and we drink to you, as the ancients used to do, a totally imaginary cup, a cup filled with the rarest vintage, a vintage which in its texture could not be purchased, which kings and queens could not bestow upon you, which the Gods of Fate could not take from you. We bring this token in wishing for you good health, success, happiness and the continued love and affection of your fellowman.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. O'Keefe.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, I am happy at this time to express my deep feeling of appreciation for the work that has been accomplished by the Speaker of the House. Having been associated with him since 1933 I feel that he has, during that time as a member of the minority party and as the Speaker of the House, the position he now occupies, upheld in every way the traditions of that office. He has been more than fair, both as a member of the majority party and in the position of Speaker. He has been courteous to all, firm when firmness was needed, and above all fair. I believe that he has set a high standard that subsequent Speakers of this House would do well to follow, and at this time I wish to second the resolution.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Jirolanio.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, I could not let this opportunity go by upon this memorable occasion without giving expression to my thoughts, and I know the expressions which I am about to give are also the expressions of the younger members of this House, who with me are serving their first term. I am going to use the word "Roy" instead of the word "Mr. Speaker" or "Mr. Roy Furman" because when I use the first name of a person I know that I am then calling him not only my friend, but I am also bringing out the good qualities and the characteristics of the individual in question.

To me there is something that appeals. I am glad that no one else has thought of it so far. Being a young member of this Assembly, and I know that other members of the House serving their first term have had the same experience. We sought at times to rise on certain points of order and express our views and thoughts on matters of legislation, and there was the guiding star sitting in that Chair, who could make or break us.

I can very well remember, not only the first time when I arose, but on one other occasion when I went to Roy and said "Roy, what should I do in this particular case?" And his answer was "You go back there and I will see that you are handled right." There is the guiding star sitting in that Chair; the guiding star not only of all the younger members of this House, but the guiding star of all the members upon whose shoulders rest the burden of carrying out our duties faithfully, with integrity and honesty. I know, and we all know that there is nothing but the best in his make-up, and at this time I want to express my appreciation to Roy for the wonderful work that he has done. I also want to express the appreciation of my young colleagues not only from Northampton County but from the other countries, who have always stood with me back to back in my fights on the floor.

I hope for his continued success. I for one will vote for him for Lieutenant Governor, and I know that he will carry on that office in the same manner that he has carried on the Speakership of this House. I hope some day he will be Governor of this Commonwealth.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chief Clerk, up to the time of the last speaker I was reminded of the story of the insane asylum where one of the inmates was hollering out of the window: "We don't want beer, we want liquor." A man walking along the street looked up and said: "Boy, they may say you're crazy, but you are talking sense now."

I don't know why my Democratic colleagues, who have never, in my experience since they have come into prominence in this House, been noted for their modesty, should only advance the subject of these ceremonies this morning to the position of Lieutenant Governor and expect the Republicans to go along. I want to say to you now in this nominating convention, which of course may be a lot of horsefeathers, because Dave Lawrence might change the rules, but if the Democrats expect the Republicans to go along and vote for Roy Furman, they had better put him up for Governor, because he is the only one we can see in the Democratic ranks that could get any votes out of the Republicans. Those of us on this side of the House believe that we want in the Governor's Chair a man who understands something about legislation. We are tired of Executive domination, and all of the candidates we have been able to find in the Democratic party so far for Governor are now heads of departments under the Executive.

I take a great deal of pleasure in arising here this morning to second this resolution, and I think you can attest the sincerity of my statement when you realize that there sat in that Chair my beloved colleague Grover Talbot with whom so much of my legislative work was done. There sat there after him, as you know, Wilson Sarig, for whom I had high regard and great affection, because while we espoused different political causes we had found many things in common on the floor of this House, and I respected the sterling honesty of his thinking and his voting on this floor. So I would consider myself a hypocrite were I to arise even to do the courteous thing to speak of the Speaker of this House did I not feel that he measured up to the qualifications of those two men under whom I have served in this House.

I look upon the members of this House in two ways. First, is the personal side, what the man is socially, you may call it, what he does in his time outside of the House, or what he does here in the social amenities that go on in the friendships that are made, in the meetings that we have individually or in groups. And then I look upon the men in this House as to how they meet the qualifications as members of the Legislature. I can always disregard the battles here in the House because they carry with them, in my mind, so long as a man fights squarely and according to the rules, no personal animosity. But my regard for a member of the House, aside, as I said, from the social and the personal side, is my regard for him in his assumption of his duties, in his willingness to assume them, in the attention that he gives to the work, and the intelligence that he brings to the solution of the problem.

I saw the present Speaker of this House when he sat away over there in that back row that is graced now by that memorable specialist John Smith, who became jealous of my prominence in sewer legislation and went me one better. I saw him as a young man there, seeking to learn as you men have tried to learn, and I think that I was helpful to him from time to time in finding out something about the ropes and the ways and means of doing things in this House.

And then I watched him come down the aisle and become the Chairman of the Highway Committee, and then to my surprise I saw him move to the position of floor leader. I was amazed at the quickness with which he grasped the problems and the duties that were suddenly thrust upon him. And so it was no surprise to me that he was advanced by the Democratic party from floor leader to Speaker of this House, where he met his obligations with the same intelligence, with the same fine spirit, with the same vision of the duties that he had assumed.

I think if he is moved to the other side of the Capitol it will be a fine thing that they at last have gotten someone in the Senate who knows something about Parliamentary rules. I don't know why he should consider it an advancement to move from Speaker to Lieutenant Governor, but I think it would be a great contribution for this House to make to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I cannot add anything to the beautiful phrases that have been uttered here today about the Speaker. I am sure that we on the Republican side have the same high regard for him. I have said many times in the course of the proceedings in this House that I have never looked upon the Speaker as a partisan when he was in that Chair.

I am sure that we too on his side of the House desire to extend our felicitations to the good wife of the Speaker, each of us knowing the sacrifices that our wives must make for our services here. I like to think of men like the Speaker, however, as men who contribute something to the great progress of the State and the great progress of our people. It is not given to many of us, as I said of Wilson Sarig, to write our names in history. The best that we can hope to do is to deposit a few grains of sand upon the great shores, that in the end build up and form a firm foundation beneath a solid nation, and in that respect I like to think of men like him, prefacing it with the words of the poet who said:

The day is done and the darkness
Falls from the wings of night
As a feather is wafted downward from an eagle in its flight
I see the lights of the village gleam through the mist and the rain
And a feeling of sadness comes o're me that is not akin to pain.

And I like to think of the little villages that we have in Pennsylvania. You know them, they may have but one street, but on that street are the homes of the people who make up the backbone of this Commonwealth, the worker and the small business man, the man employed in the office and in industry. Perhaps there is a picket fence or a hedge. This time of year the violets are in bloom, the honeysuckle vine is growing up to give forth its fragrance, the day is done and darkness falls. It is a time of sadness. And then from the little houses along that road there flash lights showing that there is some one there, that there are people who live and move and have their being. Down that street comes a man, and on his shoulder he carries a torch. As he goes along he lights a lantern on the street here and there, and the light springs up to prolong the day and to guard the worker on his way home. His heart is glad as he sees the light in the village and the light in the windows and knows that his loved ones are there and that he will soon be gathered around the table with them. But down the street the lamp-lighter goes on his errand. We may not long see the lamp-lighter, but we will see the glow that he has created and what he has done for the people.

So I like to think of men like Roy Furman, that like the lamp-lighter they are creating something for us and something for the future. We may not see them but we will know that they have been here.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Chief Clerk, I arise with a great deal of fear and trepidation after listening to the words of praise, words well moulded by the speakers who have preceded me. I fear that perhaps I shall lack the ability to express the high appreciation in which I hold our Speaker. I recall in 1936 when we first elected Roy Furman our Speaker, he was the youngest man within the memory of living man to occupy that position, perhaps that might be true as to the entire history of this House, and the manner in which he has conducted the affairs of this House since that time has well vindicated our decision.

I recall as one of the members who served in the first Special Session of 1936, the masterful way in which he maintained order in the Halls of this House and prevented a duplication of the scenes of disorder that existed in the Senate Halls. It was due solely to his firmness that that condition was avoided, and I say, Mr. Chief Clerk, that his firmness and his courage on that occasion will forever mark a bright spot in the history of this House.

We have our Speaker to thank, Mr. Chief Clerk, that we are approaching now the adjourning day after having considered such a mass of legislation so important to the people of this Commonwealth. For it was due solely to his ability and the zeal that he displayed that we are now appreaching the end.

I can say most truthfully, Mr. Chief Clerk, that he has always presided with grace and decorum. He has been fair in his treatment of us and he has been impartial in his decisions. He has worked assiduously and with a great deal of zeal and vigor. Mr. Chief Clerk, in seconding the resolution I wish to add my word of praise and appreciation to the genius that he has exercised in presiding over this House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimouly adopted.

The CHIEF CLERK. I take great pleasure in presenting to you the Speaker of this House.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, there have been two occasions in my life as a member of this Legislature upon which I can assure you I have been very, very happy. The first was when I was elected Speaker in the Special Session, and second when I was again elected to serve during this term. Naturally on this occasion I am happier because we have gone through a session, we have been associated together, we have worked together, and I honestly feel that the expressions of the men who have spoken today, were sincere, and that they meant what they said. This has been a long session, we have had a lot of work to do, but I want to say to the membership that if you men and women had not been sincere and did not have a real appreciation of the duties of your job, the session could not have closed with the kind of spirit with which it is closing this week.

The job of being a member of the Legislature is a hard job. You have many duties to perform; you have small tasks to perform for a great many of your constituents in addition to digesting the various bills that are presented here. These bills naturally affect the lives of not only your constituents in your districts but the lives of every individual throughout the State. The one thing that I have appreciated during this session was the fact that there has never been a single member who has refused to assist the Chair with the work of this House, regardless of how many or how heavy the tasks were that he may have been called upon to perform for his own people.

It has been that spirit of willingness and that spirit of cooperation that has helped to make this a successful term. I think we appreciate that fact. I think the thing that marks this session more than any other session that I have observed is that spirit of willingness to cooperate with each other, regardless of your policies or your views upon different problems confronting you. I belive that we are leaving this session, each and every one of us, with a little bit of sadness in our hearts because of the friendships that we have made during the work here in the past several months.

I hope that it will be possible for us all to gather together again at some future date, because it has been pleasant to work together. The battles that we have fought in this session have been fought fairly, they have been fought upon honest convictions, no one has attempted to take undue advantage, and I think that is something that cannot be said of a group as large as this ever assembled in any Legislative hall in the United States or in the history of this State.

I again want to thank the members of this House for the help and assistance that they have given to me. I sincerely appreciate it and I hope that I may in some way return to you the favors that you have granted to me. My fervent prayer for each and every one of you for the future is: May God bless you.

The SPEAKER, (Roy E. Furman), in the Chair.

CONGRATULATING CHIEF CLERK WILLIAM P. GALLAGHER

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS offered a resolution which was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

No legislative body can function efficiently unless it has the services of an able and courteous Chief Clerk. This Assembly has been extremely fortunate in finding such a man in the person of William P. Gallagher; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives extend their sincere thanks to their Chief Clerk, William P. Gallagher, for the kind and courteous treatment he has given them and for the efficient manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, when I first came to the Assembly here in 1935, there was one character who established himself in my heart, and a sincere friendship developed. That gentleman was the Chief Clerk of this House, "Billy" Gallagher. I believe all the other members, particularly the newer members who came here in 1935, learned to love "Billy" Gallagher, principally because of his amiable, kindly demeanor to the new members, his willingness to be of service and his acts. I have never seen "Billy" Gallagher angry. One of his friends here from Luzerne County early in the afternoon said that the only time he ever saw "Billy" Gallagher angry was a few weeks ago at the Kentucky Derby when his horse went dead on him.

He is always doing something for someone. He reminds me of the story of the Irishman who always gave to others. When he was about to die, this Irishman, who by the way came from Delaware County, called his lawyer, Elwood Turner, to make his will for him.

Here is his will: I give my overdraft at the bank to my wife; she can't spend it. I give my equity in my car to my son; he will have to go to work to pay for it. Give my good will to the supply houses; they have taken some awful chances on me and are entitled to something. Give my equipment to the junkman; he had his eye on it for months.

I hope that "Billy" Gallagher doesn't have occasion to call in his lawyer to write his last will and testament for a long time. In the district in which he resides, the great anthracite region, every one, young and old, calls him "Billy." I want to say to him in behalf of the membership of this House, that you, "Billy" Gallagher, have proven yourself to be a splendid, efficient public servant and friend, a sportsman and a gentleman, and I want to say in behalf of the membership of this House that we wish you in the future every good luck and fortune and hope that you will have the pleasure of presiding as Chief Clerk in this House for many years to come.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is a lot that ought to be said to augment the resolution just read, embodying as it does the sentiment rooted deeply in the hearts of the General Assembly. As one, however, who came here as a freshman member in the 1935 session and was brought within range of the powers of his splendid personality I find it extremely difficult to suppress a desire to say a kind word about the Chief Clerk of this House. I recall very vividly that those of us who were freshmen members in that particular session had some hesitancy about approaching the older members of the House seeking advice. We found ourselves at times traversing the legislative highway, incompetent, penetrating the parliamentary wilderness without proper counsel, and so the one man we all turned to with unusual unanimity in order to get advice and counsel is the man who is Chief Clerk of this House.

We call him "Billy" Gallagher, not out of any spirit of undue familiarity, but rather out of a spirit of endearment, because everybody who knows "Billy" Gallagher knows him for what he is. "Billy" Gallagher was born into that stratum of life which elsewhere is called the middle class, but which here in America is so unanimous as to make of all other classes a negligible quantity. His parents were God-fearing, honest, humble citizens without pretentions, and without humility. "Billy" Gallagher's parents were neither rich nor poor, proud nor humble, and Billy grew up in the company of boys like himself who were wholesome, honest, self-respecting.

He never knew what it was to look down on any of the neighborhood youngsters and never felt it possible for any of those youngsters to look down upon him. Amid such environment and amid such surroundings "Billy" Gallagher was born and reared. It is my information from those who grew up in his neighborhood that he was called "Peck's Bad Boy" because he always had a fighting spirit and inspite of the fact that it frequently required parental intervention to suppress the desire to knock heads off in the neighborhood, "Billy" Gallagher always shared a great portion of the admiration and respect of not only the youngsters but the parents as well in that particular neighborhood. Just recently I ran across two verses which describe two different sets and two different characters of men. The first one has no application at all to "Billy" Gallagher, but I give it to you in order to emphasize the second, its significance, its meaning, its application to the man that we are honoring here today. The first one runs:

I gave a favor yesterday, a very kindly deed
And then I called to all the world, to stop and look and heed
They stopped and looked and flattered me, in words I could not trust
And when the words had passed away, my good deeds turned to dust.

I say that does not fit "Billy" Gallagher because his life has been the antithesis, the very opposite to that sort of thing. The second one more nearly fits him, if it was not actually written for him. It runs:

A very tiny courtesy I found to do today
T'was quickly done with none to see, and then I ran away.
But some one must have witnessed it, for truly I declare
As I trod back the self-same path roses were blooming there.

That is "Billy" Gallagher, always doing, always eager to serve, always magnanimous, always ready to be of service to somebody, not openly, not ostentatiously, but in a manner that shows the sort of great character that he is and the type of great big heart that he possesses.

In the 1935 Session some of you may recall that in discussing the great character of a former member of this House I mentioned Bob Ingersoll, the great agnostic, whose religious views of course I never shared, but who was called the greatest orator in America. Bob had a great affection for his brother, and when the brother died, at his graveside he said this: "He added to the sum of human joy, and if everyone for whom he has rendered some loving service were to place a blossom on his grave, he would sleep tonight in a wilderness of flowers."

Mr. Speaker, I think I could sort of paraphrase that and say if everybody for whom "Billy" Gallagher has rendered some service were to assemble here today, or any place, there is not a building in the State adequate to hold the crowd that would turn out. I think "Billy" Gallagher's life offers a lesson to each and every one of us, a life of helpfulness and a life of service, such as the poet described when he said:

"To give of his best
For the joy and the sweetness of giving
To help folks along, with hand and with song.
That is "Billy" Gallagher's code of living."

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just as it takes a mother to make a home, so it takes a Chief Clerk to make a House of Representatives, and if you can imagine a mother with a brood of two hundred six bad boys and a couple of lovely girls, you will probably get some idea of the job which "Bill" Gallagher faces when he attempts to meet the legislative needs of this group. But "Billy" Gallagher is a big enough man to make a good mother, and he and the very efficient help in his office certainly do meet the legislative needs of this group.

I cannot add much to what has been said about his genial character, but in one way I think I have had an opportunity to know him a little differently, a little better than most of the members of this House. I worked with "Billy" Gallagher at one time and under him when he was Chief Clerk of the Senate of Pennsylvania, for at that time I served as a page. Although you may get to know a man well in one way or another, I think that to work under a man when he is your boss, you probably get to appreciate what type of man he really is. So I had the opportunity to know "Billy" Gallagher as a person who has worked under him. Then I have gotten to know him as a person who has to go to him very, very frequently to ask favors. I have gotten to know him very well in that way. I could say for "Bill" Gallagher that I do not know any person who could do as much, as kindly, as considerately as "Bill" Gallagher does for the members of this House. He is called upon for all kinds of tasks, some of which I think must be somewhat unreasonable. There is hardly a week passes in the entire year that I haven't called "Bill" Gallagher, two, three or even six times or more, or called at his office or had them do some work or send something out to some of my constituents, or do something else for me. I know that he has always been considerate; it doesn't make any difference whether you belong to the majority or to the minority group, he is always willing to do everything that is possible to be done in order to carry out and meet your needs.

You know, they tell a story of "Bill" Gallagher about one of the page boys here who went to him and asked him what they should do in case a Republican and a Democrat called at the same time. He wanted to know whether he would go to the Democrat first, and "Bill" Gallagher told them. "No, go to the one who is nearest." But then they said he told them a little bit more; they said that wasn't all he said; he said they should be sure to be nearest the Democrat. However that is only a story, because I know "Bill" Gallagher too well. If I were a member of the majority party I would say that "Bill" Gallagher certainly shows more than a little favoritism to me because I am a member of the minority party, because I cannot imagine how he can render such service to two hundred eight members as I call upon him to render. I must be getting more than my share.

As a member of the minority party I can say that he is just as fair to me and to all the members on our side; is just as anxious to serve us, just as courteous and kind, therefore it gives me a great deal of pleasure to second the resolution and to say these few words in compliment to him and to his very efficient staff for the way they have served and met our legislative needs.

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am in the opposite position to the old lady who was noted for her attendance at funerals, and for her ability to always say a kind word about the deceased.

As she stood at the coffin of the village ne'er-do-well the people of the community thought that surely here at last she was stumped, it would be impossible for her to say anything kind. But she gazed at the coffin for a long time and then slowly bobbing her head up and down she said "My, he has beautiful whiskers."

We do not have to think of the good qualities of "Bill" Gallagher. Despite the fact that during this day the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the majority and minority floor leaders of this House of Representatives and the orators who have preceded me have said so many kind words about the qualities and traits of "Bill" Gallagher, which endeared him so much to us and which merit our gratitude, our esteem and our commendation, it is hard to pick out exactly those of which we should speak. If I may at this time, I would like to just briefly recall what may appear to you to be insignificant traits, but I believe in our every day life our attention is particularly directed to the ability of the man, the promptness and exactitude of "Bill" Gallagher, despite the great number of requests that he receives, both oral and written, by telephone and telegraph, yet each and every request is promptly fulfilled and more important than that, they are fulfilled in the terms in which they are written. I might go further and say that sometimes we may make errors in the requests for what we want, but "Billy" Gallagher even corrects those errors, so I say in the person of the Chief Clerk we have a man who has rendered faithful service to us. I now want to say to "Billy," may your days be long, may your hours be happy and may God be with you through life. I know I express the sentiments of all the members of this Legislature, and it is with the greatest of pleasure that I second this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk, the Honorable William P. Gallagher.

The CHIEF CLERK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is pretty hard to be put on the spot, and I feel as though I were on the spot after hearing all the nice things said about me. It sounded nice, even if possibly some of it was exaggerated.

I feel that the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, has helped to bring Scranton and Wilkes-Barre closer together. Ever since Lackawanna County was carved out of Luzerne, there has been a traditional enmity between the two counties, and the larger cities of the counties always continued a more or less unfriendly rivalry. But here is a man from Scranton who gets up and says a lot of loving things about a man from Wilkes-Barre, and I see peace at last. When he spoke about participating in fist fights, boys' fights that used to take place when I lived in Plymouth, he said something about my being a fighter. I was the peacemaker, always.

I certainly want to thank all of you for the nice things you have said about me as well as the contents of the resolution. The office of the Chief Clerk is, as you possibly can imagine, a busy one, and sometimes far more busy when we are not in session than when we are. Members when here are able without difficulty to take care of matters, but when they are at home it is necessary to use the Chief Clerk's office as a clearing house for their wants.

Someone spoke about unreasonable requests. We are not so much afraid of an overwhelming number of requests as we are of unreasonable and impossible requests; if we cannot comply with requests, we try to let you know that it is impossible and usually you understand.

The Chief Clerk's office is almost an information headquarters. One day we will be asked if it rained in Lock Haven two weeks ago; another one wants to know how many Smiths have been in the Legislature since 1774, and many questions which have nothing to do with legislation are coming daily into our office. We try to take care of them all.

However, I do not want to take all credit for the manner in which my office has been run, and at this time as a sort of an interlude, I want to pay special tribute to my chief assistants, Miss Barnett and Mrs. Cohen. They have helped me conduct the office like an efficient business, and they are largely responsible for whatever degree of efficiency we have been able to show. I am glad of this opportunity to say these few words for such splendid assistants who are valuable to me and, I am sure, a great aid to you, and your constituents.

I again want to thank you, and if you have requests, send them in and we will try to at any time grant and comply with them.

THANKING DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON offered a resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Now, during the final hours of a legislative session at which progressive legislation has predominated, we bethink us of those, without whose knowledge and experience, the task before us would have been a prodigious one. A guiding hand, an occasional word of warning, and ceaseless labors in phrasing, re-phrasing, formulating and moulding the many bills that we have enacted into laws has been to a great extent the task, well and cheerfully performed, by the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau and his subordinates.

The Bureau has prepared for introduction at the present session, at the request of members and administrative departments, 3,265 bills and resolutions, a great many of which required days and nights of painstaking study; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby express to the Honorable John H. Fertig, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, its grateful appreciation of his tireless efforts, the counsel and guidance, and the accomplishments, which combine to produce the task well done, and to his force of helpers, its thanks for their cooperation and willing helpfulness; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, as an ordinary rank and file member of the House, I feel particularly well qualified to introduce this resolution, because it is not unusual, Mr. Speaker, for a Department head and Executives in the Administration to extend to leaders in the House and members of the Rules Committee and other gentlemen of particular importance unusual courtesies, but in the Legislative Reference Bureau the same unfailing courtesy and the same intense and intelligent interest is extended to the private in the rear ranks as that which is extended to the most important members of the House.

The importance of the Legislative Reference Bureau for this House cannot be overestimated. Mr. Fertig, the Director of the Bureau, is to be found in his office not only almost every hour of the day and frequently many hours of the night and the small hours of the morning, but he sees every member; he sits down and discusses with them their particular problems; he gives them the benefit of his vast experience in Constitutional law.

Mr. Speaker, the importance of the task that Mr. Fertig so ably handles is not alone in the introduction and passage of legislation by this House, but its greater importance is that legislation is placed upon the statute books of this Commonwealth, and the record of this Administration and past administrations, in enacting perfect laws and nearly perfect laws, so far as wording goes, is in large part due to the splendid handling of that legislation by our able, capable Reference Bureau Director. His work is of such a nature that it is not in the form in which the public can see it in the pitiless light of publicity, but it is in the narrow confines of an office hidden away from the public gaze, that he has done his work in behalf of this body. His work, Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, is of tremendous importance to you and to the people of the Commonwealth.

I believe the resolution expresses the feeling of the members of this House. I believe that the Director of the Reference Bureau and his assistants merit the resolution and all that it implies for all the work they have done for the members of the House, and indirectly for the people of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

THANKING PARLIAMENTARIAN

Mr. YOURISHIN offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, That the members of this House extend to the Parliamentarian of the House, S. Edward Moore, their sincere appreciation for the able, courteous and efficient manner in which he has administered the difficult duties of his office, for the many services he has performed, and for the many acts of kindness he has extended to the members of this body.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. Besides being a good parliamentarian he is also a good speaker, and gave us a lot of good advice.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel sure that every member of this House will agree with me when I say that our efficient Parliamentarian has had one of the most difficult positions in the House. When any member had a knotty problem with reference to procedure he always went to the Parliamentarian. Yes, even the floor leaders of both parties when they got this House into a tangled-up knot, raising points of order and what not, had it not been for the efficient work of the Parliamentarian we might be here for twenty-two more weeks. The members of the House appreciate more than words can express the efficient manner in which our Parliamentarian handled the work of this House. I wish him good luck, good health and God speed.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair now takes great pleasure in inviting the Parliamentarian to come up and wield the gavel.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. As I understand it, Mr. Speaker, the Parliamentarian was directed by the Committee on Rules to work out the proceedings of today's session. There was no resolution pertaining to the Parliamentarian when my report was submitted.

The SPEAKER. In reply to the question of Parliamentary inquiry the resolution is very much inorder. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I deeply appreciate the expression of good will extended to me for my small part in the work of the session. If in any way I was a help to the members you all can be sure it was a pleasure and a privilege.

Durin grecent legislative sessions we have lost to a large extent that feeling of good fellowship and good will which should exist between the members. In this session of 1937 I have been particularly impressed with the high degree of good fellowship which has existed, and which is due in no small measure to the statesmanlike work of the majority and the minority floor leaders. The tone of the debate has been kept on a very high parliamentary plane. Personally I feel that is the way it should be. Further I do not think there is any place in parliamentary procedure for parliamentary trickery. We all enjoy a good fiight and I want to pay the floor leaders and you, Mr. Speaker, the tribute which you justly deserve in the conduct of the proceedings of this House. The traditions of the Chair have certainly been carried forward with dignity and decorum by our Speaker. Every member regardless of party has been heard. During my years of legislative service, I have never witnessed a more decorous body than this House, which I hope will be followed in future sessions.

The time is here for building respect for Parliamentary bodies, and the best way to do it is to have proceedings that are dignified and of which your constituents will be proud.

Thank you again and best wishes to you all.

THANKING CHAPLAIN

Mr. SHEPARD offered a resolution which was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Members of the House of Representatives be extended to the Reverend Ephraim Z. Gallaher for his services as Chaplain of the House during this session.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, we have had as our Chaplain during this past session a gentleman who has conducted himself in the highest form and in the best and wisest manner. His prayers have been simple and they have been pious, and what has been perhaps greatly to the liking of the members of the House, they have been brief, but nevertheless they have been characterized by a high degree of sincerity.

May I say this further about our Chaplain, not only in his prayers has he impressed the members of this House, but in his very kindly manner and in his humility when he has gone about this House and on the outside of the Capitol, he has exemplied the highest ideals of a minister. He has not only been a minister, but he has been a gentleman.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

THANKING PRESS

Mr. TROUT offered a resolution which was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, That the thanks of the House of Representatives be tendered to the Press for the satisfactory manner in which they have reported the proceedings of this legislative session to the public.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the only method whereby the members of the Newspaper Fraternity could get a resolution introduced was through someone who in a small way happens to be in the same line of work. We made a special request of the Chief Clerk that he permit us to do that, and we appreciate it very much. I certainly hope the members will adopt this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

THANKING LEGISLATIVE REPORTERS

Mrs. HORTING offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its appreciation to all the members of the staff of the Reporters of the Legislative Journal for the highly satisfactory and efficient way in which the debates and proceedings of this session have been reported.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mrs HORTING. Mr. Speaker, it gives me a great deal of joy and satisfaction to present this resolution this afternoon. In doing so I wish to call attention to the fine work that has been performed by the able staff of reporters in this House. They have done excellent work and are certainly to be commended for the efficient manner in which they have reported the proceedings of this body. We will only be able to appreciate their efforts when we read the Legislative Journal.

I would like to say, if the Speaker does not call me out of order, that a woman's voice should have been raised in seconding every resolution that was presented here this afternoon. My association with the lady from Philadelphia, Miss Brancato, has been very happy during this session. We are not making any speeches but may I say, as the poet said:

"They talk about a woman's sphere
As though it had a limit,
There is not a place in earth or heaven;
There is not a task to mankind given;
There is not a blessing or a woe;
There is not a whispered yes or no;
There is not a life, a death, a birth,
That has a feather's weight of worth
Without a woman in it."

Perhaps we might have raised our voices many times, but we have felt, I am sure, with Longfellow's when he said:

"As unto the bow the cord is
So unto man is woman
Though she bends him, she obeys him.
Though she draws him, yet she follows
Useless each without the other."

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was unanimously adopted.

THANKING EMPLOYES

Mr. MOOMAW offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Members of the House of Representatives be tendered to all employes of the House for the able and efficient manner in which they have attended to the duties of their respective offices and the uniform courtesy manifested by them toward all the Members of the House during this session.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I believe from the remarks that were made, or from the sound at least, that the members must have felt I was going to move to take House Bill No. 500 from the table.

Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to make a few remarks in behalf of all the employes of this House, for the efficient manner in which they have served the members during this session of the Legislature. It would be impossible, to pick out any individual and place him in higher regard than any other. I think the entire staff, all of the employes of this House have rendered one hundred percent service to all the members at all times. I want to call particular attention to the page boys, and I refer them to the remarks made by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside. You have before you an example in Mr. Woodside, of one who formerly served as a page in the Senate and is now a member of this House. May I wish you all the best success in the world.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was unanimously adopted.

THANKING BUREAU OF PUBLICATIONS AND THE PUBLIC PRINTER

Mr. CLIFF S. PATTERSON offered a resolution which was twice considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Whereas, The unusual labor placed upon the public Printer and the Director of the Bureau of Publications has been most successfully performed; and

Whereas, Credit is due to the said Director of the Bureau of Publications and his assistant, and the State Printer for their cooperation in keeping the files up to date; therefor be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its appreciation to Mr. Finnegan, the Director of the Bureau of Publications and Mr. Vandergrift, and to the Public Printer, for their contribution to the work of the session; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House forward copies of this resolution to the said Director of the Bureau of Publications and to the Public Printer.

Mr. COLEMAN in the Chair.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Pennsylvania has been fortunate in that over a long period of years she has had outstanding statesmen as presiding officers in the House of Representatives. I sometimes wonder if we thoroughly appreciate the splendid work done by the Speaker in handling the business of the House with promptness and with dispatch. Over a long period of years there have been standing in the position in which I am now standing men of honesty of purpose, and unimpeachable integrity, and we say that the man who has wielded the gavel in the session just closing has measured up to the high ideals and standards set by Speakers in the past.

Anybody endowed with the splendid qualities with which nature has endowed the Speaker of this House seeks political activity as naturally as a growing plant seeks light and air. He was endowed with a wholesome ambition, a rare gift of making and holding friends. He was endowed with the determination to make good, and his life and his meteoric rise in the political life of Pennsylvania is democratic illustration of the possibility of American boyhood in view of his firm determination to make good.

I recall that in a nominating speech in the session of 1935 a former member of the House, "Hi" Andrews, gave a splendid idea of what can be accompiished by a Speaker who does a splendid job in presiding over the House.

You may recall that "Hi" said that through the power of his personality he could weld the General Assembly into an instrument attuned not to a legislative funeral march marking the burial of the people's hopes but rather to an anthem of legislative achievement, attuned to the needs of the people and in response to their will. I say to you that the man who is now presiding over this House has done that very splendid job.

Look him over, ladies and gentlemen, the next Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; thirty-six years of age; the youngest Speaker in the history of the House of Representatives; impressive in stature; attractive in personality; tireless in his determination to make good; a fine looking young fellow; the very essence of good breeding.

I recall that one philosopher put in very well on one occasion when he said that real test of a man's character is the admiration inspired among his fellowmen, and measured by that standard Roy Furman is one of God's noblemen.

Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasant assignment to present to you something more substantial than our plain, common, ordinary thanks for the splendid job you have done, and the courtesy that you have extended to the membership of the House as a presiding officer. We ask you in accepting this beautiful diamond ring not to gauge, not to measure our admiration by the intrinsic value of the gift, but rather by the value of the spirit which animated us in presenting it to you.

Mr. SIMON. Members of the House, you have heard the bells of the engine, you saw the train and I now introduce myself as the caboose.

Mr. Chairman, I just want to say that after all the nice things said and deserved to be said about our Speaker, I am in the position of the fellow who said "I told you so." You will remember in the Special Session of 1936 I had the honor and pleasure of seconding the nomination of Roy Furman as Speaker of this House. It has been my pleasure to serve here under four other Speakers, and I predicted when I seconded the nomination that he had the qualifications of all of them, Aaron Hess, Jay Goodnough, Wilson Sarig and Grover Talbot. I am rather proud of the fact that "I told you so." The only thing I feel about this ceremony this afternoon is that it will make it a little bit tough to live up to all of these nice things, but I know he has good sense and he will not let the nice things go to his head. I want to say to you that everything that has been said about you today, Mr. Speaker, is deserved, and we can say to you what you said to us, may God bless you.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Coleman and members of the House, I want to thank each and every one of you for this splendid gift. As the speaker said in presenting it, I realize how you are giving it and why you are giving it: it is because of the good fellowship that exists among all of us.

I know of no gift that I would appreciate more than I will appreciate this beautiful ring. I wish it were possible to have the name of each member of this House engraved upon it lest I might forget some of you members here. However our associations here have been so pleasant that I never can forget any member of this House because your names are indelibly engraved in my mind and on my heart. Again I thank you from the bottom of my heart for this splendid gift.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Gerard.

Mr. GERARD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is really a privilege for me to play a part in the ceremony this afternoon. I have been given the job of presenting a little gift from the members of the House to the one who worked so ably as the aide of the Speaker.

I believe that the setiments expressed in the resolution cover very ably anything that I might say about Eddie Moore. I didn't know Eddie Moore so well until the last two or three weeks when we had the long drawn out early morning sessions. I happened to be stopping at the Senate Hotel and Eddie stops there occasionally on his way home, and as the hour grew late he looked up at the clock and gave me the high-sign. I came to the desk and he said "Gerard, would you mind seeing that we get a little libation before we go home?" So, I say I know Eddie Moore a bit better, and I believe in giving him the gift that we have selected for him that it is in the way of a surprise to him. The committee you appointed to choose these gifts didn't know just what to do about the gifts they wanted to give, so this is in the nature of a surprise. Let me say, Eddie Moore, that in presenting this gift to you, we want you always to remember the fine sentiments that have been expressed here today. We want you to go out on the green, tee off and as you gaze out over the green and you see the fine, smiling, splendid faces of the members of this House, and when you put those golf sticks away remember that in this bag is contained the very fine sentiment that has been so ably expressed this afternoon.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. I thank the membership of the House for this very fine set of Bobby Jone's clubs. I appreciate even more the sentiments that are back of this gift. As the years roll by and as I use these clubs, it will bring back pleasant memories of the 1937 session. I assure you even on the nineteenth hole, I will be thinking of you.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognize the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Alexander.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, ladies and gentlemen, I do not know why I should have been chosen for this particular act on the program, because after the caboose has gone by what is there? Why I was chosen for this particular job is still a mystery to me. Probably it was because of the close contact I have with the members from Luzerne County. You know, when I was seated about half way down the House this year I found my good friend John Yourishin in front of me and John Bohn back of me. They immediately took up the coal situation with me, and ever since the beginning of the session I have been spitting black, but, now, knowing that the occupational disease bill was going through I will be taken care of, being affected by silicosis. I am sure it is with a great deal of pleasure that at this time I am able to present a very beautiful gift, a radio, to our good friend, "Billy" Gallagher, concerning whom you have heard so much.

"Billy" Gallagher has been everything everybody has said and there isn't any one of us that hasn't gone to "Billy" Gallagher and asked a favor but that he has said, "You are overdrawn now, but I will see what I can do for you."

If the Governor really understood the part that he has played in the operation of this House I am sure he would be over here with a gift for him. On a number of occasions it would have been impossible for the House to have assembled on Monday night had not checks been given us the Friday evening before that.

I found myself in a position several years ago where it would have been impossible to have come back on Monday had it not been for "Billy's" all-wise and all considerate consideration of us in seeing that we got those checks. He is always popular around the first of the month, and now in presenting this radio to you, Mr. Gallagher, when you turn the dial to zero and hear just a little bit of static, just a little squeak, that will indicate to you that the Republicans are at it again and trying to get control of Pennsylvania, but when you dial it up to three thousand and hear a big roar that is when the Democrats are whooping it up for Roy Furman as Lieutenant Governor of this State. We know that one of the first requests that Roy Furman will make as Lieutenant Governor is that we keep "Billy" Gallagher as Chief Clerk. Therefore, I know that if you keep this radio you can at that time be assured that you will be the Chief Clerk of the House for many years to come. On behalf of the members of the House of Representatives, Mr. Gallagher, I present to you at this time this very beautiful radio.

The CHIEF CLERK. Mr. Chairman, members of the committee and members of the House, this gift certainly is very timely. When radios were first introduced I got

one. I paid so much for it that I have hung onto it ever since. Now maybe I can get Canada. The first radio was A-No.1 when I got it but now it is A static. I am reminded of a story told during the Al Smith-Hoover campaign. An Irish woman who was very much interested in Al Smith, she had a speaker on the radio who she thought was speaking for Al Smith. She thought how wonderful it was when he proceeded to pay a wonderful tribute to the man about whom he was speaking, but when she listened further and discovered that he was referring to Herbert Hoover she went over, turned the knob and said, "I certainly shut that bird off."

I was thinking of that story in connection with the Speaker. If he would sometimes use the radio, the previous question would not need to be moved. You can shut off the radio, but you cannot shut of debate.

However, I am glad you thought of me in this way. Of course I understand it is not the intrinsic value but that it is the spirit behind the gift. Once more I thank you for your friendship and kindness to me.

Mr. COLEMAN. The Chair calls to the microphone the well known lady from Philadelphia for a double assignment; one is to accept the little token we have of the esteem in which she is held by her colleagues in the House and the other is to make a little presentation of her own.

Miss BRANCATO. Ladies and gentlemen, I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart. I want you to know that I am deeply grateful for the many kindnesses and courtesies extended to me. I thank you.

Ladies and gentlemen, I have heard much said about the Speaker of the House. I now on behalf of the membership of the House want to present to the real Speaker of the House of Furman these beautiful flowers.

And to Mrs. Horting, the other charming lady from Lancaster County, I would like to present these flowers.

Mrs. HORTING. Mr. Speaker and my colleagues, some one, I think it was Browning, said "Flowers preach to us if we will hear." I thank you for these flowers. They do preach to me of your good wishes. I thank you.

Mr. COLEMAN. We go now from the sublime to the ridiculous. We ask the members who have been singled out for this distinction, because of their sponsorship of important bills in this Legislature, to accept the gifts that the committee has purchased for them in the spirit in which they are given.

When Jack Kelly assembled his Philadelphia delegation for the purpose of selecting a man to pilot his horse racing bill through the Legislature, he thought it a splendid idea and good psychology to pick one who had the physical measurements of a jockey, so he selected the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Melchiorre. The committee has purchased for him a jockey cap in the hope that the next time he discusses the bill he may wear it and create the proper atmosphere and thus enhance the chances of the bill's passage. We ask him to step forward and accept the gift.

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, until my horse racing bill is passed we will have to go to Kentucky to try out the horses before coming into Pennsylvania and riding one on Pennsylvania soil. I thank you.

Mr. COLEMAN. At the request of the Dauphin County members of the Legislature we have purchased for the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Zappala, a sharp knife in the hope that the next time he cuts up the Legislative districts he will do a better job.

During the discussion of this legislative re-apportionment bill the majority floor leader bled so profusely that the committee decided they ought to purchase for him this bleeder equipment in order to enable him to submit himself for a blood transfusion. We ask the majority floor leader to step forward and accept his gift.

In the city of Philadelphia there is rather a beautiful and intimate friendship that developed some years ago and ripened considerably during this session of the Legislature. We do not think anything ought to develop that will disrupt this friendship. We find them looking after one another wherever you go, so the committee decided that we ought to purchase some sort of bell for them, just as the farmers do for their roaming cows, in order that they may know the whereabouts of each other. We ask the two gentleman from Philadelphia, Donahoe and O'Brien, to step forward.

Mr. DONOHOE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I am really a little disappointed this afternoon. Of course when I heard all those lovely things being said about somebody in the first instance, I really thought it might mean us, but after a while I kept thinking, "Perhaps they mean Mr. Furman and Mr. Gallagher instead of O'Brien and Donohoe." There was so much said about love and affection here, I do not think that was at all necessary, Mr. Speaker and Mr. Gallagher. The only person to whom you really say "I love you" is to a woman. A man knows that by just looking at you. All the favors that we have gotten through this term, I appreciate and Mr. O'Brien appreciates all those things, but what we would like to know is this, after we get out of here and are down in Philadelphia again, can we still come back? It has really been a pleasure and thanks very much.

Mr. COLEMAN. I don't think there ever was any session of the legislature where the medical members were so very busy and had such a job fighting against legislation inimical to their profession. We are asking Doctors Sarraf, Hindman, Valibus, Boyer and Shea to come forward and receive an eye dropper so that they can use the proper medicine to enable them to see the merits in the optometrists' bill.

Mr. SARRAF. As usual, this is a catch bill. It gives a dropper, but no medicine to use, so will not be able to do much with this bill.

Mr. COLEMAN. Every session of the legislature has its warm advocate of home rule. The committee feels that the two champions of the home rule principle in this session are the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, and the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman. Because the impression prevailed that under legislation sponsored by the Democratic party the home rule principle was vanishing we have purchased for them two six inch rules indicating to them the fast vanishing principle in Pennsylvania. We wish them to step forward and receive their gifts.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. They have apparently lost the rule and I can agree with them that that is a sufficient size to measure.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I move that we suspend the rule.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have a sneaking suspicion that some kind of a crooked job has been put up here, that some of my colleagues have turned on me and stolen the rules that were supposed to have been presented to these gentlemen.

At this point in the program we want to add a little solemnity to the occasion. We feel that this is a rather serious moment. We have here a member of the House who sponsored many bills that were pickled in committee, so the committee has decided to purchase for him a crepe indicating the state in which his expired bills are resting in committee. We ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss, to step forward.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Chairman, I want to extend my warmest wishes to the members who made this possible, my good friends Jirolanio and McArdle.

Mr. COLEMAN. We have a gentleman here who has religiously followed the use of the Motor Vehicle Fund and every attempt or what he felt was an attempt on the part of this administration to delve into that sacred fund brought forth a protest from the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, so the committee decided to purchase for him, in order to keep the highway funds intact, a small gift. We ask him to step forward and receive this bank.

When the Committee on Committees was selecting the chairmen of the various committees, we do not think they made any better choice than the chairman of the Committee on Aeronautics the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty, who can get up in the air about as quickly as anybody in the House, so the committee has purchased for him a miniature airplane. We ask him to step forward and receive it.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I sort of feel as though I got about the best gift that was given out here this afternoon. I guess there is about only one thing left to do now, and that is to get married and give it to the kids to play with.

Mr. COLEMAN. When we had the microphones installed in the House, we felt that the danger of the Reading Clerk's making mistakes in roll calls was eliminated, but we find that two members of the House, feeble of voice, make it rather difficult for the recording clerks to properly record them on legislation, so we have purchased for them, in order that there may not be a repetition of this occurrence a small megaphone. We ask Mr. Elpern and Mr. Moran to step forward.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I appreciate this little megaphone. I have a bit of a cold, my voice is not so strong, and I expect to make announcements at the Senate Hotel, so this will come in handy.

Mr. COLEMAN. We have a gentleman from Philadelphia who has served very effectively as whip of the House. The committee has decided to purchase for him, a whip, although there has been no necessity to use one up to date, so that in the closing hours, if any Democratic member rebels, he may use it with telling effect.

The ex-service men in this House have had a very able champion for their needs.

When bills designed to benefit them were presented, they always found in this fellow an able advocate. His voice was ever raised in their behalf, so the committee decided to purchase for the gentleman from Allegheny a tent and a soldier. We ask him to step forward and take this gift.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, due to the fact that summer is upon us I can make very good use of the tent, but I refuse to accept the soldier.

Mr. COLEMAN. The presentation in this session of a bill that would permit persons bitten by dogs to recover damages indicates a fear on the part of the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Caputo, of what has been termed man's greatest friend. We ask him to step forward and accept this dog, and because he is inanimate the danger of being bitten by him is eliminated.

The committee felt that it would be appropriate to purchase a duck for the various members of the legislature who are in the habit of ducking bills, but upon checking up with the Harrisburg stores, we found there were only twenty-two available. We felt that was an inadequate number, so we purchased one only. If any member of the Legislature feels that this would be an appropriate gift, we will be very glad to have him step forward and accept it.

The committee has information to the effect that Mrs. Longaker has presented our colleague John with a bouncing baby girl. The committee decided to purchase for him a rattle, feeling that the noise when the baby plays with it will be no different than the noisy chatter that we hear in the House occasionally, so it will not annoy our good friend, Mr. Longaker. I ask him to step forward and accept it.

Mr. LONGAKER. Mr. Speaker, the only discordant note in the arrival in our family of the baby girl came from our little boy Jack. Jack is a great believer in numbers. We now have three girls and two boys in our family. When he reported the arrival he tried to find solace in the fact that. "After having been on the minority side of the House for two terms, we can get along just the same."

Mr. COLEMAN. The presentation of such literary gems as Dear Oscar and Little Rollo by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, gives him the undisputed right of being called the champion needler of the House. We have purchased for him a package of needles with the thought in mind that these needles are not half as sharp as the rapier-like thrusts contained in the letters criticizing the administration.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, up until now I though all the needling was on the other side of the House, because of the jibes and thrusts that were cast at the Republicans from time to time from the other side of the House. I felt yesterday when the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Smith, was reading that very interesting letter and he was putting over some jibes on the Republicans, that I would like to say before this session concluded that like Johnny Longaker I have five children, only the boys in our family outnumber the girls. As father of five childrden I have learned this: when we started out, for instance, to get measles and mumps and all that sort of thing, for the first one we had a trained nurse and they put sheets all around and my wife worried to death, but about the time we got up to the fourth or fifth case, we ceased to worry about it That has taught me a little philosophy of life. It was taught me as I sit here and listen to these jibes, that it is like the mumps and measles, we have to put up with it now, but we know it will soon be over.

Mr. COLEMAN. I ask the two gentleman from Philadelphia Messrs. Ostroff and Lewis to step forward and get their gifts. We present them with what has been termed the smallest receiving set in the State of Pennsylvania, with the additional fixtures in order to lend the proper atmosphere.

I will ask the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Alexander, to step forward and receive his gift, which is a kiddie car, so that when next he gets into a Congressional fight in his district he can run a little faster.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, now I know there is something wrong in the committee. Being a member of that committee and not knowing anything about this, I know there is something wrong; some one is taking things.

Mr. COLEMAN. About the greatest friend the tax collector has ever had in the state of Pennsylvania is the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Moomaw. Mr. Moomaw, the tax collectors of the State of Pennsylvania feel that you have been an able champion of their cause and one of their greatest friends and have asked me to present you with this box of tacks.

Mr. MOOMAW. I believe, or have a suspicion, that there is an invitation back of that.

Mr. COLEMAN. We will ask Dr. Hindman to step forward and receive his gift as the champion bottle saver in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I certainly appreciate the thoughtfulness of this committee in presenting me with this gift. I am reminded, when I see this, of what a wonderful commodity milk is. I am also reminded of a gentleman from Fayette who was going up street one day carrying a quart of milk to his home. One of the Representatives in this House called attention to his friend. He said "My God, John, there goes a man up the street with a quart of milk, and I believe he hasn't a drop of whiskey in the house."

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, as the chairman of the committee arranging this little program I want to express to the membership of the House our thanks and appreciation for their amazing spirit of toleration and the spirit in which they accepted the various gifts. I will turn the House of Representatives back to its real presiding officer, Mr. Furman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair on behalf of the "Speaker of the House of Furman," who speaks only at home, wishes to thank the committee for the wonderful basket of flowers. I am not permitted to speak at home; I must speak in public, therefore I express to you our thanks.

BILL SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct the title was publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 1355.

An Act to amend section twenty-seven of the act approved the twentieth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one hundred forty-three) entitled "An act relating to free public non-sectarian libraries and branch libraries within this Commonwealth providing for their establishment maintenance and regulation and for the maintenance and regulation of such free public non-sectarian libraries as may have been already established by the several counties cities boroughs towns and townships and providing that all library property and all gifts devises grants or endowments for library purposes shall be exempt from taxation and providing that the several counties cities boroughs towns and townships may levy taxes condemn private property and borrow money for library purposes and imposing penalties for injurying library property and for violations of library regulations and repealing existing laws in relation to the above subjects" by exempting from collateral inheritance tax all gifts devises grants or endowments made to national libraries

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 4, 1937.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That House Bill No. 1801, Printer's No. 1209, entitled: "An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 59). entitled 'An act establishing certain township roads as State highways; authorizing their construction, maintenance, and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions; limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways; conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities, persons. associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act,' as amended, by changing certain routes and adding certain new routes" be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 918, FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. MOOMAW offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1937.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 1858, FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. AUKERMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives June 4, 1937.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 2487, Senate Bill No. 1075, Printer's No. 862, on page 2 of today's calendar passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Westrick, vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend sec. 2, page 3, line 16, by striking out the word "field"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the following bills:

House Bill No. 2453, Senate Bill No. 876.
House Bill No. 2375, Senate Bill No. 887.
House Bill No. 2454, Senate Bill No. 878.
House Bill No. 2455, Senate Bill No. 879.
House Bill No. 2409, Senate Bill No. 880.
House Bill No. 2517, Senate Bill No. 882.
House Bill No. 2378, Senate Bill No. 883.

be made special orders of business on third reading and final passage in their order immediately upon the adoption of this motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO MAKE BILL SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 2462, Senate Bill No. 744, Printer's No. 808, on page 7 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business on third reading and final passage immediately after the special orders as contained in the motion of Mr. Herbert B. Cohen.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I question whether the motion of the gentleman from Luzerne is in order, a special order of business having been made of Senate Bills Nos. 876, to 883 inclusive, with the exception of No. 881, and there is nothing in order but the taking up of these bills.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. There is nothing before the House except the consideration of the bills covered by the motion.

The Chair now lays before the House the special order of business in accordance with the motion of the gentleman from York, Mr. Herbert B. Cohen.

SPECIAL ORDER

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2453, (Senate Bill No. 876), entitled:

An Act creating in each county (except of the first class) as a separate corporation and in each city of the first and second class as a part of the city government an institution district for the care and maintenance of certain indigent persons and children prescribing the powers and duties of county commissioners county treasurers city departments of public welfare the State Department of Welfare and the State Department of Public Assistance in respect thereto abolishing certain poor districts and terminating the terms of directors overseers guardians and managers of the poor and poor district auditors and providing for the temporary employment of certain of them providing for the transfer vesting sale and disposition of the property of poor districts and the payment of their obligation imposing certain existing obligations on institution districts and on the Commonwealth regulating the affairs of poor districts until abolished revising amending changing and consolidating the law relating to the care of the poor and repealing existing laws

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is one of the series of bills which contain the Governor's idea of how relief is to be administered in Pennsylvania. The subject matter of this bill is so interwoven with the subject matter of the other bills that have just been made a special order of business that it is impossible to debate the one without trespassing upon the terms of the others. I therefore, Mr. Speaker, ask you and the members of the House to be lenient in the rule restricting members to debate on the particular bill before the House, and permit discussion on the entire relief set-up and all the bills which have been made a special order of business. I believe in so doing we can have a more intelligent discussion of the question before us, and that in the end we can save time.

I do not presume that anything I shall say here this evening will have any effect whatsoever upon the vote of any of the members of this House. I well know that I do not have that which convinces the members of this House how to vote on these measures. We all know that during the past few months in the Halls of this House, in the committee rooms, on the streets, anywhere members happened to get in a discussion of the problems which are facing the Legislature, there was a feeling on both sides of this House that a number of the features which are contained in these relief bills now before us were not the best for the interests of the people of Pennsylvania. We all know how, when the heat was turned on, this opposition melted away.

This business of administering relief is a big and costly business. Approximately thirteen million dollars will be spent during the next biennium for the administering of relief. I say administering relief, because that thirteen million dollars will not go to the poor and the needy and the aged and the blind, but will go to those people of Pennsylvania who are administering these various relief and pension set-ups. It is a matter of good housekeeping, for deliberation and consideration by this House. These relief bills came to the Committee on Welfare just about two weeks ago, and most of them less than that, and the chairman of that committee has been very fair in endeavoring to give complete consideration to these measures, but the time did not exist, they could not have the consideration that they should have.

I was very much interested in relief matters, and when the Joint Committee to investigate these problems was appointed I was made a member by request. That committee made an investigation of these problems, and had a number of hearings. It sent a representative to visit a number of Poor Boards and to investigate how they were operating both as to institutional care and as to out door relief. That representative went into the offices of the Poor Boards and looked into their records, as to how they operated. This member also went to the various institutions and made personal inspections and made a report to the committee, but that committee has never made a report to this House, because the chairman did not call a meeting of that committee to make a report to this House.

It was discovered about a month ago or a little more, that a majority of that committee were opposed to the main features contained in the bill that is now before this body, and since that time no meeting was held, and this Legislature has not had the advice or the suggestions that would have come from the report of this Legislative Committee which made the investigation and which took considerable testimony, and whose members gave considerable thought to the problem which was before them.

We have here a group of measures or a plan, you might call it, commonly known as the Goodrich Plan, which alleges to be a unification of the various agencies of relief. Members of the House, it is not a unification; it is a centralization, but not a unification. There are still three agencies administering some sort of relief under this plan. You still have the Unemployment Insurance Boards; you will have the new Department of Public Assistance and its various agencies set up under the plan, and you will still have the county commissioners carrying on a certain amount of the functions that are now carried on by either the County Commissioners or Poor Directors, depending upon the county to which it happens to apply, so you still have three separate, independent agencies dealing with the same general problems. You have not united your agencies into one central unified organization; you still have it split into three separate and independent groups in three separate and independent branches or departments of the government. We think this is a mistake; we think the separation has been made at the wrong point. I am not sure that you can reduce it to less than three separate agencies. It might be that you can well reduce it to two, but when you reduce it to two or to three, there still comes the problem where you will separate it and apply a separate part to each agency. I think that unemployment insurance and unemployment relief are not primarily relief problems, but are primarily unemployment problems. I think that the unemployment problem should be treated as an unemployment problem and not as a relief problem. You will have this situation, here is a man who is employed, he becomes unemployed, and the Unemployment Board has his record. They will make an investigation concerning him and for a while they will be carrying him, and while they are carrying him possibly he will need unemployment relief. Then he will have to go to the Department of Public Assistance or one of the agencies working under it, and they too will have to investigate him, and they too will possibly pay him relief for the time that he is covered by the unemployment insurance. This does not seem reasonable, and therefore we feel that this plan has failed materially in not taking care of that situation. We think and feel that unemployment insurance and unemployment relief should be unified into one so that this kind of situation will not exist, as it otherwise would.

I said before that this is not a relief problem but it is primarily an unemployment problem, and your employment agency ought to be linked up with the same department or the same bureau, locally and State-wide, as is your unemployment insurance and unemployment relief, because after all the unemployment insurance will have a record primarily of everybody who is employable in the State and practically everybody who would be entitled to unemployment relief, and consequently those functions ought to be centralized into one group and not split up into two groups, one in the Unemployment Insurance and the other in the Department of Public Assistance, an independant and separate department, as it will be under this plan.

That suggestion was made by Dean Goodrich, the Chairman of the Citizen's Committee that was appointed by the Governor to investigate relief, who made the report, and whose name this plan now before us bears. That question was put to him by Representative Achterman and I am going to take your time to read just what took place. I am reading from the testimony, and I think it will be of interest to all the members of this House to listen to it. Representative Achterman put this question to Dean Goodrich:

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: In connection with your investigation, did your committee give any consideration to the possiblility that relief would be furnished to the classes we now know as employables, without work, to be handled by the Unemployment Insurance Board?

"DEAN GOODRICH: Yes, that is going to help us after a while, I guess. Wait a minute—did we think it ought to be handled by the Unemployment Insurance Board? It that your question?

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: Yes.

"DEAN GOODRICH: I confess that we did not debate that question.

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: You realize, of course, that the State is going to have dual investigations, and that as I understand it, is what your board is trying to get away from?

"DEAN GOODRICH: We hope that by the time the Unemployment Insurance grants come to be paid that our other load is going to be down.

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: Well, then, won't one of the major reasons for your committee report have disappeared in thin air?

"DEAN GOODRICH: To the extent that the other service takes care of all of these cases, we will be out of the problem with which we are now confronted. I should hesitate to predict, and I am sure you would, that the Unemployment Insurance is going to get rid of this frightfully difficult problem of unemployment. You put a real question to me, though, I don't know whether I am prepared to finally pass on it. Let me see if I can put it?

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: Yes, all right.

"DEAN GOODRICH: The question of where the investigation is made for Unemployment Insurance grants fit into an unemployment relief administration, is that about it?

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: Yes.

"DEAN GOODRICH: You appreciate this is going to be the situation in Pennsylvania; in a comparatively short time your Unemployment Insurance Department will have been in contact with every employable individual in Pennnsylvania. Now, when one of those individuals gets out of employment after the proper length of time he becomes a beneficiary under the system. Now, he may be at that moment also in need of relief on account of payment anticipation.

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: Yes.

"DEAN GOODRICH: No, your department has made that investigation—I am speaking of the Unemployment Insurance Committee—and he needs the relief besides the relief that he is receiving. Now, under the system you purpose, he will have to come under this system to be again investigated. There would be a dual investigation, and that is one of the things that have been complained of at the present time. And rightfully so, yes.

"REPRESENTATIVE ACHTERMAN: If we put that over on the Unemployment Insurance Board, don't we do away with a great amount of work and vitiate the necessity of separate departments, and let the administration of old-age and mothers' pension remain where it is?

"DEAN GOODRICH: Twenty-five years of experience in discussion of public matters has taught me something, so I am going to take the refuge of any honest teacher or any honest lawyer and say that I cannot answer it. You have posed me a real one and I cannot answer it at this moment. It is an important question, and I want to answer it, if the committee will—", and then went on to another matter.

Mr. Speaker, the Goodrich Committee has spent a total estimated by some people at one hundred ten thousand dollars. They have spent I know, in salaries over $68,381 and their total expenses have amounted to, I know, $80,-972,—how much more I am not able to say with certainty, but the committee that prepared this plan now before the House did not consider the question of whether unemployment relief and unemployment insurance should be administered by the same department or be administered by the same agency.

I submit, members of the House, that if the committee appointed did not even give consideration to that question, it did not do its job, and its plan is not complete.

But I call your attention further to the fact that Dean Goodrich said that he could not answer why that could not be done. He has not to this day, as far as I know as a member of that committee, attempted to give any answers as to why it could not be done, and the truth of the whole matter is that those two departments or those two functions of government ought to be together or in the same department. In that particular, this plan is wrong, this plan is inadequate and this plan does not meet the need of efficient administration of the problems which are now before the State. The bill which we have before us at this particular moment was popularly known as the Poor Board Ripper. It is the bill which takes away from the people of the counties the right to name the people who will administer the out door poor relief in their particular counties. It is the bill which along with the others, sets up a plan whereby the out door relief as well as the unemployment relief and the companion functions old age, mothers' assistance, the blind pensions will be adminstered by a separate department set-up in Harrisburg or a local board appointed by the Governor. The people of the particular county will have nothing whatsoever to say concerning the administration of relief, because they will have nothing to say about the appointment of the officials of the Department of Public Assistance or of the State Board of Public Assistance, nor will they have a single word to say concerning the appointment of a local board or a county board which will administer the relief for that particular county.

This is wrong; I think there is no more fundamental error than the thought that the people chosen by the separate political units are all crooks and inefficient and generally incapable of handling their problems, while those who are at the top of the pile are the ones who should be permitted to do the thinking for all the people and have the interests of all the people at heart. I say, Mr. Speaker, that I do not think there is any more fallacious theory in government than that one, nor any more fallacious principle.

There is so much to be said about the ripping out of the poor boards that one hardly knows where to stop. I know the hour is late, this session is drawing to a close, the majority party have made up their minds as to how to vote on this measure, but I think we cannot pass over this measure without giving a little thought to what is being done at this time.

There are a number of members on this side of the House, some of them older and with more experience than I am; many of them more capable of presenting the views than I am, who have refrained from making speeches on this bill not because they are not seriously interested in it, not because they think it is a matter of insignificance and a matter which should not receive the attention of this House, but because they desire to get this legislation along, because they have waived their right to speak, and I want to say a few words on this Poor Board Ripper for those members as well as myself.

I call attention to a report that was made to the committee, the Joint Legislative Committee investigating relief by a Representative, who incidentally was on the Committee in the House, in which he came back and stated that in practically all instances the Poor Board was doing a good job, that institutional care was excellently handled and that out door relief was well administered.

We are going to abolish these people who have administered and handled this job for many years, and who on the whole have done a very good job. We are going to set up a new agency which will have no interest particularly in the local community. The Poor Boards know the people; they are subject to a certain extent to the people of their districts. If they spend uneconomically they are in duty bound to account to the people for their spending, but they do not have to follow a general formula, they do not have to follow a general plan formulated at Harrisburg, which may not apply to their particular districts. They are able to meet emergencies. I want to call your attention to one thing that happened in Dauphin County, which I mentioned some months ago, under another Governor. The Governor of this Commonwealth took a notion that no more people should be admitted to the hospitals in this State because they were crowded. There were insane people who had to be treated and who had to be taken care of. What was to be done? Again it was the Poor Board that had to rise to meet that emergency, and it was the Poor Board that took some of the less violently insane and separated them from those who were more violently insane and took care of the situation.

I know another occasion in which the W.P.A. workers did not receive checks for a period of six weeks after they returned to work, and who met that emergency? It was the Poor Board who on the night before Christmas, when all the welfare workers and all the unemployment workers were at home, went to work late in the evening and gathered groceries so that the poor people on W.P.A. who had not received their checks could have their Christmas dinner.

There were many instances like that, time after time, where the Poor Boards have been able to meet emergency situations which cannot be met by a centralized agency. I could go on all evening citing instance after instance. I could take a lot of time telling you how the Poor Boards operate, how they are people who know their clients, and their working. I would like to take a lot of time telling you how they run their institutions, but time does not permit and I know you are getting restless and I want to pass on to other phases of this matter. Before I do so, I want to call your attention to one other thing in the Goodrich report at this time.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the present plan makes no provision whatsoever for any local control, makes no provision whatsoever for any say back home as to who shall be the members of the county board, which shall administer this relief. This bill goes farther than the Goodrich report. I want to read to you these few lines out of the report referring to the members of the local board. This is from the report of the Goodrich Committee: "Members of the Board would be appointed for overlapping terms of six years. Their original appointment would emanate from both State and local authority. The State Department of Assistance, after soliciting nominations from local public authorities and other groups concerned with civic problems, would draw up a list of citizens as widely representative of the social and economic interests of the community as possible, containing the names of twice as many persons as the number of members of the Board to be chosen. This list would be submitted to the County Commissioners—in the County of Philadelphia, to the City Council, which is the responsible governing body—who would select from the list of the memership of the Board. To avoid possible deadlock, power would be lodged with the State Department of Assistance to name and install the Board, only if the local appointing authority failed to act within a reasonable time fixed by law. Members of the Board would be removable by the Governor, with the consent of the State Board of Assistance, after hearing, for cause affecting honesty or competency.

Such a Board would truly reflect the informed interest and point of view of the local community."

But in this plan as now submitted and as now supported by this Administration there is absolutely no local control. The local people have absolutely nothing to say concerning the appointments, and all of this relief problem is to be handled by boards appointed in Harrisburg, according to rules and regulations made in Harrisburg. I submit to you members of the rural communities, what are your people going to say to you when you go back and say "I have voted for a plan which has abolished the poor board, which has taken away from you your right to administer out door relief in your community, and we have placed all that problem and all that power in one man down in Harrisburg, and you will no longer have anything to say on this problem."

I submit to you, members of the House, that this is only an effort to build up a centralized system of relief in order that it can be better handled politically. I hate to make that charge, I hate to make the charge that any party would set up a system of relief for the purpose of making a political foot ball out of it, but I submit, members of the House, with what has happened to these bills as they passed through the Legislature, with what has happened to these measures and what has happened in the effort the administration has made to put through this system, that is the only conclusion that not only the Republicans, but all the people of this State can arrive at. I think there has been no more perfect example of the interest to put relief into politics than appeared on the floor of this House when the amendment submitted by a member on the other side, a similar one having also been submitted by me at the same time, to provide that those people who administer relief cannot be forced by any political machine or any political organization to make payments and to pay their tribute to the Democratic or any other political party. I submit to you, members of the House, if there is any group that ought to be free from political influence it is that group which is engaged in the administration of relief, but thirteen million dollars worth of capital at five percent interest, or over one-half a million dollars, was too much of a temptation for a political machine. I submit, members of the House, that this is something which the Democratic Party is going to have to answer for to the people of Pennsylvania.

I have the greatest respect for those members on the other side who have had the courage to stand up for their convictions, who have had the courage to stand up for their honest and sincere belief in what the people back home wanted, but I submit to you, members on the other side, that this bill is now nothing but a political measure and is designed to put politics into relief. The bill is solely intended for one purpose, and that is to enable a political machine to get control of this great relief problem and the expenditure of over one hundred thirty million dollars in the next biennium.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can hear the floor-leader for the Democratic Party say, "Oh, yes, but this is a bi-partisan board, these boards are not to be represented by only one political party, that they will be free from politics." Well, members of the House, we all know how bi-partisan committees or boards can be appointed. We have had a sample of how that can be done by a political machine in making bi-partisan appointments in the case of the appointments to a commission in Philadelphia to investigate the charter. We all know that there are certain members of a political party who are really a part and parcel of the political machine on the other side, and we all know how a political machine that is so minded can make an appointment that will not be bi-partisan, although it will appear to be bi-partisan, and we all know of a poltical machine that has done that very thing in the last six weeks.

Members of the House, I know that my remarks will not convince you, I know that nothing that I or anybody else on this side, or the other side will say, will have any influence on what your vote will be. But, members of the House, those of you who will vote "no" and vote your honest belief on this measure, will be able to go back to your constituency and face them honestly and sincerely and tell them that you did what you know they wanted you to do, that you did what you honestly and sincerely believed to be right. This is a great problem; this is one of the most important problems that has faced the Commonwealth for the last few years, and I feel very badly that it has finally worked out in this unsatisfactory manner. It is a system that does not give the people the right to which they are entitled, a system which takes away from the people back home the power and the right which they have, and the result will be that a tremendous amount of money, far in excess of what we are now spending will be spent under this system which is being built up. There will not be a saving to the taxpayers back home in the final analysis. It will cost them very much more. The seven million dollars which they stated will be saved will not be saved really. What should have been done is that the old age pension should have been reduced from seventy to sixty-five years of age, and the budget would have permitted that. This system should not have been set up in this manner, but unemployment insurance, and unemployment relief should have been put into one board or one agency, the pensions into another agency, and the two should have been combined into one department. There should be some local control back home, where the people can elect their officials to look after the administration of relief and look after the money raised by taxation. It should not be administered down here where the people are unable to trace what becomes of their money, where the people do not realize the facts as to the amount of money which is being spent, where the people have nothing to say concerning the rules and regulations under which that money will be spent.

I ask the members of this House to vote honestly and sincerely and to do what you know to be the right thing, and be able to go back and face your constituency any say, "I did what I know you wanted me to do."

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when this House organized on the fifth day of January I was chosen Chairman of the Committee on Welfare. I realized the very deep responsibility that went with the office of being chairman of that committee. I was very fortunate in the matter of the personnel of the Committee on Welfare chosen by this House, and I wish at this time to pay my respects to the members of that committee. They worked unceasingly and very unselfishly. The Governor of the Commonwealth assured us that the matter of relief was a matter that went above party politics, and I know from the actions of the Committee on Welfare that we have followed along that line. The bills as presented to you are the composite result of the thought and labor of a large group of people throughout the Commonwealth coming from every walk in life. The Committee on Welfare presented all of their recommendations, not only the recommendations of the Goodrich Committee, as a number of them we felt were not feasible, and they were not included in the bills which came out of committee. I feel, as a member of that committee, that the enactment of these bills into law will be a big step forward in the problem of relief which the Commonwealth has to face. Having set up the Department of Assistance, this Commonwealth will then be in a position to make changes as they are deemed advisable.

My own experience with the relief problem dates from before the depression, and, I might add, not as a paid worker in any sense of the word. I feel, therefore, that I am in a position to give a rather authorative opinion on the matter of relief. In presenting these bills to you I am asking that the membership of the House enact them into law, feeling as I do that they are at any rate a vast improvement over the rather hodge podge system that now prevails. I thank you very much.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is one of the most momentous problems that was before this session of the Legislature, as this problem has been one of the most momentous ones before every session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania since the extraordinary session of 1931. As a result of the depression and of the wide-spread unemployment in Pennsylvania, a special session of the Legislature was called in the fall of 1931 to consider the question of relief. I was a member of the Legislature in 1931 and took a part in that special session, and I was one of those who helped to write that which afterwards became the Talbot Act, upon which has been based every appropriation for relief since 1931. When we went into the session of 1931 and passed the unemployment relief program, which was contained mainly in the Talbot Act, Governor Pinchot on the advice of the Attorney General said that it was unconstitutional. Nothwithstanding the position of the Executive the Legislature stood up and fought for the unemployment relief bill which was passed and which was signed by the Governor. It was later attacked in the courts and was upheld by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and became a law of this State. That was a departure in a sense from the time honored policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in reference to relief.

In the Talbot Act decision Mr. Justice Kephart said:

"The thing which for more than two hundred years fixed the charge (poor relief) of the Commonwealth was the fact that some of its people were unable to support themselves, were without means of support." We have always thought of the administration of poor relief as a local problem. It has always been handled by the community and paid for by taxes levied upon real estate, and for the first time the theory that persons are indigent, that is without means of support, was promulgated to meet a situation of the depression and the crisis that faced us up to 1931. The Supreme Court said, as we have said upon the floor of this House, that those who were without support by reason of unemployment caused by the depression came within that class which the State had always considered to be proper to help, that is, those who were indigent or poor in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Justice Kephart further said in that decision, in the majority decision of the court, as follows:

"Considering the subject of this case we find, at 7-E," which is the Talbot Act, "makes an appropriation for the relief of the poor. We again hold that the support of the poor, meaning such persons as have been understood as coming within that class ever since the organization of the government, persons who are without means of support, the same persons stated in the Talbot bill, at 7-E, is and has always been a direct charge upon the body politic for its own preservation and protection; and that as such, in the light of an expense it stands exactly in the same position as the preservation of law and order. The expenditure of money by the State for such purposes is in performance of a government functions or duty, and is not controlled by the Constitutional provision if the purpose is to supply food and shelter to the poor, including those who are destitute because of enforced unemployment, provided only that the money be not administered through forbidden channels."

From the very modest appropriation of ten million dollars in 1931 we have come down through the years with large expenditures on the part of the Commonwealth, in addition to the moneys received from the Federal Government, and one of these bills which is before us provides ninety-eight million dollars for the next biennium for the purpose of supporting the families of those who are unemployed. The great difference is in the policy. The difference is not as to the support of those who are unemployed, but there is a belief on the part of many, and it is a sincere and honest belief, that we have a great mass of people among us who are not only unemployed but who are without means of adequate support, and that this will continue to be a burden upon the Commonwealth, not only during the depression but during all of the future years to come. On the other hand, the Republican policy, as I view it in the sessions from 1931 on, has been that we were willing to give as far as the resources of the Commonwealth were able to give, insofar as it was possible to meet the demands of those who were actually unemployed, but we did not consider that that should become a fixed policy on the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or upon the government of the United States. If you are to consider that this is to be a continuing policy, naturally you would look upon it with tolerance, naturally you would look upon it with a spirit of creating further obligations upon the Commonwealth and upon the Federal Government. If on the other hand you look upon it, as we have, as the necessity of meeting a particular crisis, in order that those who were in need might receive food and shelter, you would see to it that there was an attempt or an endeavor made to terminate at the earliest possible moment the burden that the taxpayers were compelled to pay for this purpose. During the session of 1935-1936, I pointed out to this House and to the people of Pennsylvania that we had gone beyond the terms and the defiitions as previously understood in the administration of poor relief. A study of the figures supplied by the SERB showed that we have gone beyond the question of unemployment relief and that we had entered into a new field, which was to extend to people the difference between that which they were able to earn and what was set up as standards of living by those in charge of the distribution of relief. I pointed out at that time that it was unconstitutional, and I contend now that it is unconstitutional. I am not here to debate the principle. I am not here to question the motives of those who fought to extend relief beyond the mere question of actual subsistence into the relm of an adequate amount to provide a standard living which, while it may be inadequate or high, as it is in many instances, nevertheless is not the question that was before us.

In the same Talbot Act decision Mr. Justice Kephart again said in the majority opinion of the court:

"But when the unemployed with ability to work have work offered to them, and they, without good reason, do not work, they are not poor people entitled to support within the poor laws of the Commonwealth. The poor authorities cannot furnish relief in any form to such persons. When work is offered to such unemployed persons, they have the means of support, and neither the State nor the poor district would be permitted thereafter to keep, maintain or support such persons in idleness or laziness, or further, some other object equally as vicious. This would be true even if the families of such persons suffer because the one responsible for their maintenance refuses to work. It is the duty of every citizen, particularly public officials, to aid those entrusted with furnishing this relief, to see that it is not given to those not entitled to receive it. If the poor officers violate their duty by furnishing support to unemployed persons, the state authorities may, through any agency, stop payments for such use. The purpose of the State relief is to furnish maintenance to poor persons, including those who through enforced unemployment have no means of support, and not to those who have such means."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I realize, as my colleague from Dauphin has stated that the minds of the members of this House are set upon this problem. I am not here to address you because I desire to make a speech. I have plenty of opportunities for that and I am laboring under a great amount of difficulty tonight which would keep me in my seat were I not charged, as I have been, with a responsibility.

A parlimentary body must have debate if it is to exist, that is the reason for its existence. The people of Pennsylvania have no other means of knowing the problems that are before the Legislature except as they are interpreted by the gentlemen of the press or as they are interpreted by us here on the floor of the House, and again passed on by the press to the people of Pennsylvania. I think that in this great problem the people of Pennsylvania should know all about what we are doing; they should have an opportunity to consider these problems and to know whither we are taking them.

In Senate Bill No. 883, in Sub-section D of Section 9, eligibility for assistance, appear these same words, which are clearly beyond the accepted definition of poor relief as interpreted by the courts: "Other persons who have resided in Pennsylvania for at least one year immediately preceding the date of application for assistance and need assistance to enable them to maintain for themselves and their dependents a decent and healthful standard of living."

Who is to determine what is a decent and healthful standard of living? A standard of living to which many of us might feel we are entitled, and which we think we require, might be inadequate to other people, or might be beyond the realm of reason to other people. The board it is true, is going to set up the standard, but that is a flexible sandard, dependent upon the determination of the board, and not a standard within the definition of the law. It does not say that they are to be people who are poor; it does not say that they are to be people who are indigent; it does not say that they are people who are without means means of support. It says that assistance is to be rendered to enable them to maintain for themselves and their dependents a decent and healthful standard of living. Let me remind you, as I said before, that I am not here to debate the principle or the question as to whether the State has an obligation to maintain people on a certain standard of living. We are here charged under our oath as members of the Legislature to enact laws that do not violate the constitution of Pennsylvania. The Constitution of Pennsylvania says nothing about relief. If you will read the decision of our court, you will see that they say that it has been time honored. When this decision was written in the Talbot Case in 1932, poor relief was then over two hundred years old in Pennsylvania. Hence the court said in the decision, parts of which I have read, that it was a matter that was considered outside and beyond the Constitution, as a fundamental obligation of the State, and therefore not considered at the time of the writing of the Constitution and not necessary to be placed within the provisions of the Constitution. But in view of the clear statement of Justice Kephart, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, that the State nor the local authorities have any right to pay money to those who are without means of support, those who are unemployed, how can we pass a bill which creates a class for eligibility that says we are going to give them assistance to maintain a decent and healthful standard of living. Therefore I say to you that this provision of this bill is absolutely unconstitutional, and that we have no right here as representatives of the people of Pennsylvania, to fasten upon the people of Pennsylvania a policy which the people of Pennsylvania have had no opportunity to decide. As much as we talked about it in 1935 and 1936, little heed was paid to it, either by the press or the members of the Legislature. They went right on and the SERB paid out money to people who were unemployed, in violation of the provisions of the Constitution. Now, we might say if this were an emergency, if this were only for a short period of time, we might be justified in doing it, because the emergency would create a condition that might justify the Legislature in transcending the provisions of the Constitution or at least the dictum of the courts and the decisions of the courts in reference to the constitutional provisions. But we are charging the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with a policy which once fastened upon this Commonwealth, I predict to you, will not be cast off from the backs of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, but will in increasing amounts be added to the taxes of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and will never be disposed of by any legislative body or any executive with political ideas, and will only be disposed of by an uprising of the voters of the Commonwealth, when they understand what has been placed upon them, and they will arise to throw it off.

We are going to create here a great department. I do not intend to go into that question, but if you will sit down and carefully read House Bill 1177, the General Appropriation Bill, if you will at the end of this session take the mass of legislation which the departments have dumped in here and which you have passed, providing for all kinds of regulations, for all kinds of inspection, providing that the departments shall create rules and regulations for the government of the people of Pennsylvania, if you will but study the history of all democracy you will note that the battle must be one between the legislative branch and the executive branch to curtail beurocracy. Beurocracy is at once the strength and weakness of democracy. Beurocracy generally starts with a small germ, with a small idea, and growing and expanding causes it to seek power, and as it gets the power to do something it comes back for more money to carry out the objects of the acts of the Legislature. It says to the Legislature, "You charged us with its doing, now give us the money to do it." Then having received the money to carry that on, it is back at the next session of the Legislature saying, "We cannot perform this adequately with this money, you have to give us more power and more money."

I have the greatest respect for the men who head many of our bureaus. I know that they are earnest and zealous. I do know, as one Governor once said to me, if the departments were run upon the advice of their head, each one of them would consume all of the money in the General Fund in his own department. That is not because they are dishonest; that is not because they wish to do something wrong, but like any business man they become very enthusastic and they want to make a record. They ask for more power and more money, and it continues on in that vicious circle until democracy breaks down. There is no excuse now to create another department, with its large number of employes, with its vast appropriation for administration, greater than the administration appropriation of any other two departments, and I think that I can safely say greater than the appropriation of any other three departments of the Commonwealth. We are fastening this department upon the government of Pennsylvania and upon the structure of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Are we going to do it illegally or are we going to do it by carrying out a constitutional provision? The other provisions, eligibility for instance, are those which we carried along under the laws in the past, which have been fixed by our courts, which were perfectly proper and we so consider them. We have appropriated moneys for the blind, mothers' assistance, old age pensions, to the extent which they have been warranted in the past and have been approved in the past by adequate enactment of laws by the Legislature of Pennsylvania. But here is the greater part of the one hundred and thirty-seven million dollars of the appropriation to the Department of Assistance, ninety-eight million dollars goes for relief, most of which I agree, will be given to those who are without employment, but a great part of which will go to maintain and assist those who are in need of a decent and healthful standard of living, as determined by the department.

In the newspapers last week there was a statement in big headlines by the Governor, "Crushed revolt." Every member of this House, every member of the Senate knows that a majority of the members of both of these bodies were opposed to the Goodrich plan as it was introduced, and they were not going to fasten this department upon the people, as they felt there were other ways of working this out. Leaving out the question of ripping out the poor boards, but purely on the question of the creation of this department, if the members of this Legislature had been left to themselves, if they had not been subjected to high pressure from every angle in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, both at home and on the Executive side, if the members of the Legislature were left to their own devices they would never pass this program. It was only in the last few days when, as newspaper men properly interpreted it to the people of Pennsylvania, owing to the great pressure from the Executive, the members, one by one, succumbed to the program which the Executive said he was going to put across, and which he is now putting across, and I predict to you, as I said before, you are going to fasten by your action, against your own intelligence, upon the people of Pennsylvania a department that will be continually subject to pressure from group after group, and those who are politically minded, those who are seeking political advantage, the demagogues and others, will be continuously saying to a large group of our citizens, that we have now written into the statute books that those who are in need of assistance, those who are entitled to a decent standard of living and a healthful standard of living, and that will be sixteen dollars a week now, as it is under WPA, and twenty dollars tomorrow, and twenty-five dollars the next day, until we create and build up a group of people who will never know what it is to work, and we will find that a great many people will rather live on the dole than go out and seek employment. I think the greatest thing in America today, that which has made America great and strong is the fact that our people have been ambitious, that during this depression, with the outpouring of money from Federal sources, with the outpouring of money from State sources, there is getting into the minds of a great group of people the belief that the State will have to take care of them, and they are letting the Legislature pay the bill. We passed income tax laws and they did not get the money that they expected. You are going to find under your industrial laws, under the provisions of these bills that you are putting through the Legislature, that the taxes will be so high, that industry is not going to be able to bear them. Now, after six years of depression, when we have been told that we are out of the depression, when we are told that happy days are here again, when we have been told that in some way or other everything is milk and honey, we find fifteen million on the relief rolls. Why is that? There is plenty of employment in certain places. There are certain kinds of employment that are available to the people, but I say to you there are many on the unemployment relief rolls because they do not want to seek other kinds of employment. Let us stand up tonight; let us forget about the Executive pressure; let us forget about jobs and the things that can be controlled.

So, let us stand up tonight, let us turn about and say we are going to write these bills as we think they should be written. We are in favor of assistance; we ought to take care of the mothers, the aged and the blind; we want to do something for child welfare; we believe in vocational education; we believe in what you have said, but let us write this bill in a way that the Legislature can keep some of the control, and not create an octopus that will in the end consume the body politic.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to compliment the gentleman from Delaware for his effort, particularly so since the gentleman from Delaware had informed me that he was not prepared to speak upon the bill, and that the burden of the debate would rest upon the shoulders of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside. However, I do not intend to answer the address of the gentleman categorically, nor do I intend to further burden the House with arguments which I think were adequately covered when the bills were up for amendment on second reading. But I do wish to call attention of the members of the House, Mr. Speaker, to a few salient points which are represented by this group of assistance bills that we as legislators should take cognizance of.

The gentleman from Delaware indicates that our Constitution did not require the enactment of any poor law because we were working under the system that has been in existence for two hundred years; we were working under a system that has been in existence since Queen Elizabeth; we were working under a system that has not improved one iota, and has been carried and written into our fundamental law as an abstraction from the great common law of England. Can we sit idly by and forget that the society in which we are now living is as different from the society that prevailed in England under the regime of Queen Elizabeth as day is from night? Can we forget that the problems of relief which we as a great Commonwealth are called upon to administer, are as distinct from the problems of ancient and medieval England as the same day is from night? Should we say that in order to satisfy self-seeking groups that do not want to give up their jobs, that we should adhere to a system that has been criticized by every administration that the gentleman from Delaware has served under? Should we say that in order to perpetuate an archaic system that we as legislators should close our eyes to the defects in relief and relief administration that have permeated this Commonwealth from time immemorial? Should we say that over four hundred separate and distinct communities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania continue to administer relief to the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in over four hundred separate manners? Should we say that we as liberals and far-seeing legislators are going to legislate with our eyes, our hearts and our emotions, thinking of the next generation rather than thinking of the generation two hundred years back?

Gentlemen, I tell you with the passage of this relief program the members of the House of Representatives in the session of 1937 will have written into the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the most far-reaching legislation and most far-sighted legislation that any Legislature has ever had the opportunity to vote upon. Does the gentleman from Delaware complain that under this system it might be possible to give those on relief too much? Does he complain that the individuals, in order to maintain a decent and healthful existence, might receive too great a beneficence from the Commonwealth? Does the gentleman complain as his party complained, prior to November 1936, that we are giving to those who are less fortunate than ourselves too much? If he does, I give to the gentleman from Delaware and to his party the answer that the people gave in November of 1936. But aside from the advancement in government, aside from liberal, far-sighted legislation, this system of relief as presented to this House has material benefits to each and every one who sits here. The gentleman from Dauphin wishes to cast aside with a wave of the hand a saving of nine million dollars or ten million dollars in taxation on the farm owner and the home owner. He says it is a wild idea to be brushed aside. Members of the House, I tell you that on the basis of the most conservative estimates of saving, you can go back and tell your people what you have done. For instance, the gentleman from Allegheny can say that he has saved the real estate, the farm and the small home taxpayers one million four hundred thirty-six thousand dollars by the enactment of this legislation. The gentleman from Berks can say that he has saved the overburdened real estate owner the sum of two hundred forty-three thousand dollars; the gentleman from Cambria one hundred twenty-eight thousand dollars; the gentleman from Lackawanna three hundred twenty thousand dollars; the gentleman from Luzerne five hundred fifty-one thousand dollars; the gentleman from Northampton two hundred and eighteen thousand dollars; the gentleman from Philadelphia nine hundred and eighteen thousand dollars; the gentleman from Schuylkill two hundred and forty-eight thousand dollars. In my own county of York, where we have had for years since the Civil War a constant Democratic board of poor directors, from whom I have not received one word of complaint as to the action that we are to take on these bills, in my own county of York there will be an estimated saving of over two hundred thousand dollars, with a reduction in the tax millage of two mills. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Elpern, just handed me a letter from the controller of Westmoreland County, in which he indicates a saving in Westmoreland County of from two hundred to two hundred fifty thousand dollars. But the material savings will not be one, two, three with the saving in human lives, with the saving of future generations, with the saving in health, with the saving in having the citizenry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania adequately taken care of by the Commonwealth.

Members of the House, I plead with you, I implore you, that you have been elected to represent your people in these halls, there is no greater opportunity for sincere, honest and far-reaching representation than a favorable vote on each and every one of these bills.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

(3) To establish minimum qualifications for applicants for any class of employment

(4) To make and promulgate rules and regulations establishing the procedure to be followed by an employer in demoting or removing an employe

Section 4 The employes of the Bureau of Assistance of the Department of Welfare and of local boards as defined in section two thousand five hundred one-A of the act amended by this act shall upon the effective date of this act become provisional employes of the Department of Public Assistance or of such local boards as the case may be but such employment shall be continued beyond June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight only if such employes shall have passed non-competitive examinations given by the Employment Board as provided for in section two thousand five hundred four-A of the act amended by this act

Section 5 Constitutional Construction The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are declared unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed as impairing any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York Mr. Cohen permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, on page 25, starting at line 3 clause (d), it says, "Employes, except special examiners, shall be appointed from a list of eligibles." Is it your interpretation that the legislative intent of the words "special examiners" are those persons appointed by the employment board to conduct examinations of applicants for examination?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2455, (Senate Bill No. 897), as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one hundred thirty-seven million one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($137,150,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated from the General Fund in the State Treasury to the Department of Public Assistance to provide assistance and for local administration expenses in the manner provided in the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and for the payment of assistance and expenses incident thereto accured or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Section 2 Out of the moneys hereby appropriated the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate from time to time among such agencies in the various counties as are designated in the Public Assistance Law funds with which to provide assistance and administrative expenses in the manner provided in the Public Assistance Law including the administration expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing said appropriation Allocations so made to such agency in a county by the Department of Public Assistance shall be available for expenditure in that county for assistance and for administrative expenses in the manner provided by law

The Governor with the approval of the Auditor General and State Treasurer shall from time to time allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department from the appropriations made by this act such sums as may be deemed necessary to pay the administration expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing said appropriation Provided however That pending the completion of arrangements by the Treasury Department for the disbursing of the appropriations made by this act or by any other act making appropriations for like purposes the Department of Public Assistance may make disbursements of any of said appropriations under such system of requisitioning and accounting as formerly applied to the State Emergency Relief Board and for such purposes may employ unused checks prepared for the use of the State Emergency Relief Board

Section 3 This act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this bill carries with it the appropriations for the blind, mothers' assistance as well as assistance to the group mentioned as eligible under the act, I cannot do anything but vote in favor of this appropriation, although I do feel that there should have been some further limitation upon the question of the cost of administration. I will therefore vote "aye".

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2409, (Senate Bill No. 880), as follows:

An Act appropriating to the Department of Public Assistance for public assistance all restitutions and overpayments collected by or for such department

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all restitutions and overpayments of moneys paid out for assistance under the provisions of the Public Assistance Law and collected by or for the Department of Public Assistance shall (except any portion thereof required by law to be returned to the Federal Government) be deposited in the General Fund and be credited to the current appropriation to such department for public assistance and shall be available and are hereby appropriated to the department for the same purposes for which such current appropriation is available

Section 2 This act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from York what is meant by the appropriation for restitutions and overpayments which the department collects.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would state that restitutions means restitutions and overpayments means overpayments. I remember that one of the members of this House had a very fine dictionary which had all of the answers. I am not very good at definitions but I would imagine that restitution would mean that where individuals who had received assistance desired to return some of the money to the Department of Assistance, that would be restitution. An overpayment would be where the Department of Assistance had overpaid the individual. That would be an overpayment. Where the Department of Assistance had overpaid the individual in assistance and those moneys were recovered, that would be an overpayment.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in other words, if the department recovers from one of the persons entitled to receive some assistance money which it has overpaid or money which has not been properly paid, that would merely go back into the fund.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

The act approved the nineteenth day of August one thousand nine hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws eighty-eight) entitled "An act creating the State Emergency Relief Board consisting of the Governor the Lieutenant Governor the Auditor General State Treasurer and the Speaker of the House of Representatives prescraibing its powers and duties empowering the Governor to disburse moneys received from the Federal Government for the relief of the unemployed in accordance with plans adopted by the board and making an appropriation" Provided That said act shall remain in force and effect for such time and to the extent necessary for the expenditure by the Governor of the moneys in or accruing to the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund in accordance with such program pertaining to unemployment relief as shall be promulgated by the Department of Public Assistance

The act approved the ninth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws six hundred twenty-one) (act number two hundred twenty) entitled "An act providing for and regulating subject to certain restrictions limitations and liabilities the granting of pensions by the Commonwealth to certain blind persons providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Welfare the trustees who administer mothers' assistance in the several counties or by other trustees in certain cases authorizing the appointment of trustees for the pensions payable to certain individuals authorizing the Department of Welfare to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States government for assistance to the blind and providing penalties"

The act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Pamphlet Laws twenty eight) entitled "An act providing for and regulating assistance to and the burial of certain aged indigent persons and the administration of this act by the Department of Welfare and the boards of trustees of the mothers' assistance funds of the several counties authorizing the Department of Welfare to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States government for assistance to such persons authorizing the appointment of trustees for certain persons providing for the recovery of moneys expended for assistance in certain cases prohibiting political activity by employes of the board providing substitute provisions in case Federal grants for old age assistance shall fail for any reason providing penalties and repealing inconsistent acts"

All other acts or parts of acts general local or special inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this bill sets up the eligibility qualifications and is the bill in fact which I argued, and also in view of the provisions of Section (d) of Section 709, which we consider unconstitutional, we are compelled to vote "no". In doing so that is not to be considered as a vote against the other provisions of the act, in reference to mothers' assistance, the blind and so forth, because even if this bill were not passed, the laws pertaining to the blind, the aged, mothers' assistance and so forth, would still be in effect, and they would be taken care of.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE
SPECIAL ORDERS

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2371, (Senate Bill No. 769), as follows:

An Act to amend the title and the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred fourteen) entitled "An act providing for a system of recording the identification of persons convicted of crime and fugitives from justice and habitual criminals conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania State Police district attorneys police officers wardens or keepers of jails prisons workhouses or other penal institutions and sheriffs providing for the payment of certain expenses by the counties and imposing penalties" by imposing upon the Pennsylvania Motor Police the duties and powers previously exercised by the Pennsylvania State Police under the act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the title of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred fourteen) entitled "An act providing for a system of recording the identification of persons convicted of crime and of fugitives from justice and habitual criminals conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania State Police district attorneys police officers wardens or keepers of jails prisons workhouses or other penal institutions and sheriffs providing for the payment of certain expenses by the counties and imposing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster will state his question of information.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, does this bill apply to the merger of the State Police and the State Motor Patrol?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not going to take but a very few minutes of your time. First, I want to appologize to the membership of the House for my absence this afternoon. I want to inform the members on the other side of the House that I was called into a conference committee and I was not over in the Highway Department.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think we have one measure here that does not have a tinge of politics to support it. It seems to me that this is entirely out of the realm of what might be considered partisan politics. We have enacted a number of bills that probably were political. We have enacted a number of bills changing the forms of administration in a number of cases. We have passed bills that were known to be ripper bills, and probably rightfully so. I am not here to judge or criticize. Time will have to tell. But here is a different proposition. In the debate and the discussion on questions that we have here charges are made as to political influence or corruption, and so forth. But on this issue, in all the discussion that has taken place by those for and those against it, at no time has there been on insinuation of politics or inefficiency or of corruption. I want to say, as member of this House of the minority, that I consider the administration of the Highway Department under Secretary Van Dyke just as nearly right as it is humanly possible to be. I further want to say that I believe that the administration of the State Police has been above any question of corruption or political influence or political activity and the same thing holds true with your State Motor Patrol. We have there three organizations that are serving the people and are serving thew well, without any criticism, so far as I have been able to learn. Yet, what are we going to do now? What we are going to do is disrupt two of these by a combination which will practically eliminate the identity of both the State Police and the State Motor Patrol. The people whom I represent, the motorists of Pennsylvania, consisting of organized motorists, operating one million eight hundred thousand registered motors, with over two million licensed drivers, largely depend upon the efficiency of your Motor Patrol as it is conducted today. And I want to say to you this, that the motorists of Pennsylvania today, and have been in the last several years, preaching safety along educational lines, and have urged his Excellency, the Governor, both before the present Governor's term, and the present Governor, to increase the number of the State Motor Patrol. I believe that is one method of securing safety on the highways, increasing the number of the State Motor Patrol, with a definite plan, a definite duty, and with but one duty in mind, and that is to guard the motorists on the highway, and not be detailed on criminal offenses or crimes.

In 1933 when the first loan was made from the Motor Fund, the money to be used for other purposes, we opposed that loan and that transfer just as strongly as we opposed it in the present administration. In 1934, regardless of the fact that the Republicans were then in the majority, the motorists of Pennsylvania stood pat again on the proposition, and they did the same in 1935. Today in Pennsylvania we have 103,000 miles of highway, 38,000 miles being in the State system; we have 12,000 miles today of unimproved roads, and in addition to that we have taken over this session or will take over about 2400 miles, and I believe, members of the House, that under the system we have in Pennsylvania, the Highway Department took care of the bridges without additional expense. If we complete this merger as intended by these bills, the cost to the motorists of Pennsylvania to patrol the Highways will be $4,250,000, and in spite of that we will have 12,000 miles of unimproved highways and bridges. It seems to me that the best way to save the $4,000,000 for the improvement of unimproved roads is to permit the organization to continue as it is today and from time to time, as money is available, increase the number of the Motor Patrol, and I am confident that your safety department, as well as your criminal department, will be more efficiently administered than by the consolidation of these two forces.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS filed the following reasons for his vote:

I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" on Senate Bills Nos. 886, 783, 782, 769, 887, 784 and 1328, being the bills which provide for the consolidation of the State Police and the State Highway Patrol in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Throughout the early part of this session I have definitely stated my opposition to such a merger for the reasons that evidence from the Washington Bureau of Roads received early in this session indicated that such a merger would constitute a diversion of highway funds under the Hayden-Cartwright Act, and Pennsylvania would stand to lose over $3,000,000 allocated to us annually by the Federal Government.

However, the bills have been amended to meet objections of the Federal Government so that these bills in their present status do not constitute a diversion of highways funds, and evidence from Washington now clearly indicates that we will not lose Federal funds annually allocated to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for road purposes. In addition, Major Lynn Adams, for many years leader of our splendid State Highway Patrol, favors such consolidation and believes that these bills will not detract from the splendor of our State Police, and will in addition aid in reducing fatalities on highways and will give to this Commonwealth a more modern police unit to patrol the Commonwealth and aid in suppression of crime.

Another reason for my voting "aye" on these bills—if these bills fail passage, we will be compelled to raise in new taxes over $3,000,000, and I am hesitant to vote for any further tax measures during the balance of this session.

Mr. WOODSIDE filed the following reason for his vote:

This so-called police merger is supported by a budget-juggling Governor who is attempting to short-change the motorists of Pennsylvania in his desperate effort to cover up the political waste and extravagance of his administration. It is supported by a greedy political machine which seeks to gain control of the police force for its own selfish ends. Chicken thieves, bootleggers and racketeers of all kinds who would prey upon the people of this State, particularly in the rural districts, are hoping for its passage. Communistic groups who desire to destroy any agency engaged in the protection of property are quietly supporting it.

On the other side, church people, civic organizations and farmers join with the motorists in their fight against this iniquitous proposal. Not for may years has the better element of the State been so unanimous in its denunciation of any legislative proposal.

Under the direction of Major Lynn G. Adams, the Pennsylvania State Police have become the greatest police force in America. This has been brought about because he has insisted that they remain free from politics. It is a well known fact that applicants for the position of Highway patrolmen must have political endorsement, while State police are chosen solely on the basis of merit.

Volumes have been written on the evil of an alliance between corrupt politics and the police. The people know that as long as the State Police are undisturbed under the direction of Major Adams, no such alliance is possible. It is bad enough to have the force crippled by the use of many of its best men for political investigations. It is a crime to destroy this force by the subtle "merger" plan.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, due to an error in printing on page 4 of the bill, the printer inadvertently, contrary to the amendment submitted, placed a bracket on line 19, and a bracket on line 28, inadvertently striking out most of paragraph (b). On the next page, page 5, the printer in error placed a bracket at the beginning of paragraph (d) on page 1, and at the end of line 2, thereby cutting paragraph in half. In order to correct the error of the printer, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following strike-out amendments.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, vote on third reading of this bill?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 3, page 4, line 28 by striking out the bold-faced bracket at the end of the line.

Amend section 3, page 5, line 2 by striking out the bold-faced bracket at the end of the line.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LONGAKER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there are perhaps two good reasons why I should not arise at this time to speak on this bill. In the first place, we are all very tired and we are all anxious to concluded the work of this session.

Experience has taught us that once the minds of men are made up it is very seldom that words will change their minds. However, there is one reason why I should arise at this time to speak on this bill, which I might point out is the real merger of the State Police and the Motor Patrol. There are a good many bills covering this general subject, but this bill, Senate Bill 782, is the actual merger. My colleague from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, has pointed out various phases and various angles of the problems involved in these bills. He has chosen to point out particularly the result of the merger, as far as the Highway Department is concerned, and in reference to the use of funds and the possible question of diversion, and also the effect of the extension of the State Police. My particular purpose in rising at this time is to point out the matter of law enforcement in regard to this merger, which is on the program and which is embodied in this bill. You know in regard to various problems, whether they be of a political nature or a business nature or something pertaining to military affairs, the state of mind of the people is an important factor, and I wish to point out very briefly my opinion as to the state of mind and the mental reaction that will result throughout our Commonwealth as a result of the proposed merger. I wish to assure the members of the House that as far as I am personally concerned, I feel that this merger is detrimental to the best interests of the people of this State who are interested in law enforcement and comprise the law abiding citizens of our Commonwealth. May I point out as an example, that when the housewife goes into a store and asks for an article which perhaps has wide national demand and has proven its merits, sometimes the clerk will attempt to force upon her some other article which he says is just as good, but the canny housewife will refuse to accept the second choice but will insist upon the article which she knows to be a high class brand. May I point out that in the field of sport in which a good many of us are actively engaged, the same thing holds true. Some years back you will recall that the headlines carried the name of Red Grange as the greatest halfback of all times. At that time there were many more first class halfbacks playing football on our college teams throughout the country, but there was a certain something about Red Grange that appealed to the imagination of our people. Then along came great Babe Ruth in baseball, the great homerun king, and his name was carried on the lips of all our people.

In the history of military affairs I recall with a great deal of interest the episode of the undefeatable Iron Sides of Cromwell. In the Army and Navy, isn't it true that our pulse beats just a little bit quicker when we think of those men who fought for our country.

Coming now to the subject of our State Police, I think from the time that we were all old enough to understand certain things and certain phases that we were more or less carried away with the thought of our great organization, the Pennsylvania State Police. When we saw them or read of them it was always with a feeling that right here in our great Commonwealth had been created an organization which was second to none throughout America, and I say, in fact, throughout the world. We have created here a splendid organization which has been of great benefit to us here in our Commonwealth in many ways. It will be argued and no doubt it has been argued that the merger of the State Police will bring this new plan or this new Motor Police to the same high standard as the present State Police in efficiency. I would like to add my voice to that of my colleague from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, when I pay the highest tribute to the present Motor Patrol, which does its work well and satisfactory on all occasions. But, members of the House, is it not true that the Motor Patrol and the State Poice are trained for and carry out different fields of endeavor and activity? Isn't it true that the Motor Patrol deal usually, not always, but usually, with the average Mr. Citizen on the road, who has just momentarily forgotten that there are others using the highway. Some salesman had sold him a car on the promise of the salesman that it will do eighty miles an hour, and he was anxious to prove whether or not the salesman was correct. When the Motor patrolman drives up to him and taps him on the shoulder, he is dealing not with a mad man, but with a citizen who has momentarily forgotten his obligation to his fellow citizens as far as the State highways are concerned. When the State Police are called upon to perform their duty, the immediate question arises that they were dealing not with the average citizen but with the criminal; they are dealing with the problem of vice and crime, including the activities of gunmen, murderers and kidnappers, and they must be particularly prepared to deal with that type of person. I submit, members of the House, that one organization being trained as motor police cannot possibly carry on with the efficiency of the present organization which has been trained specifically for the problems which deal with the policing of our State.

Members of the House, what will be the reaction of our people if this merger is adopted? What will be the reaction, first of all, as far as the public is concerned? I assume, members of the House, that we should be considered as a part of the public because we come here representing the average citizen. What will be the reaction when the public knows that this splendid organization, which has had such far-reaching effects in all parts of the country no longer exists as the Pennsylvania State Police? Secondly, what will be the reaction among those who evade the laws, what will be the reaction of the people who unfortunately do not have the same civic attitude towards the rights of their fellowmen that we would like them to have, and who are commonly called criminals? I submit to you, members of the House, that this kind of people will be happy to know that this measure is going through, that no longer will they have to be afraid or frightened with possible arrest and conviction upon the testimony of the Pennsylvania State Police, that splendid organization which I am now discussing. Finally, what will be the reaction and the mental result of the police themselves? I am wondering, members of the House, if we were members of an organization which has set up a record which is second to none in law enforcement throughout the length and breadth of this land, and then we were merged with another organization of equal efficiency and equal skill, but in an entirely different scheme and scale of activity—I am wondering what the mental reaction would be on the police themselves.

I am submitting these points, members of the House, in the form of a question, so that you may in your own deliberation and thought consider for yourselves the possible solution and proper answer. About a month ago in this House a bill was passed dealing with capital punishment, and I am wondering if when many of the members of this House returned to their particular counties, whether they did not find that there was considerable criticism of this House for passing that bill. I know that in my own county a great many of them wanted to know how I voted on that bill, and I was happy to say and am still happy to say that I voted against the bill on capital punishment.

Members of the House, I submit that the State Police ought to continue to exist as they exist today, and I would like to resort to the argument which is used that the State Police is costing the State too much money because they are not being used every day in the year. I submit, members of the House, that the American Navy is not being used every day, but we are paying taxes to maintain the Navy, just as we are paying taxes to maintain our State Police.

Members of the House, not so long ago, the people in my own town were rather happy to see the members of the State Police on our highways, and there was a certain feeling of satisfaction among those who witnessed the State Police, who were there to protect the liberties and rights of our people, because it is a law enforcement agency. Likewise you recall that some time ago in the Eastern Penitentiary there was a riot, and upon the arrival of the State Police or shortly thereafter the riot was quelled without any unnecessary trouble. What we recognize in this State is that we need here and throughout the country fearless men in our law enforcement agencies, and we all recognize that our Pennsylvania State Police has its peculiar place as being the finest law enforcement agency in the country.

Secondly, I want to call your attention to the newspapers' announcements of the past several years, calling attention to the fact that we were passing through troublesome times. Therefore, I am wondering if it is wise to curtail the activities of such a splendid law enforcement agency as this at such a time as this, that organization which is maintained for your protection and for the protection of your families. All law abiding citizens, including ourselves should bear in mind that the proper and adequate enforcement of law carries in the minds of men a desire to obey the law. I think we should try to maintain this splendid enforcement agency which we have known and have been proud to call the Pennsylvania State Police. I therefore implore you, members of the House, to consider carefully before you vote, to deprive this State of the services of this magnificent organization and these magnificent civic soldiers, if you will. I thank you.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to call your attention to the fact that yesterday the gentleman from Delaware presented a plan in which he sought to effectuate certain mergers. This bill is right in line with the policies of the gentleman from Delaware, and even though it is up the alley of the gentleman from Delaware, I will ask the Democrats to vote with him because I am sure the Republicans will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would not have said anything on this subject if the gentleman from York had not placed himself in the same position like that man in the morgue. When his mouth dropped open and showed that he had false teeth, his wife said, "If you kept your mouth shut you would have been buried." It is true that in 1933 I presented or introduced bills that might be termed a merger of the State Police and the Highway Patrol. But under that plan there was no attempt to take the State Police into the Revenue Department and make it a part of the Highway Patrol, and there was no plan to pay them out of the Highway funds. I might say that on that occasion the gentleman from York and his Democratic colleagues voted against the bill. Under that bill there would not have been any loss of identity and there was not any reduction of the police force as there is in this bill. Therefore, we are opposed to this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 7 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is another ripper bill. For a number of years there has existed what is known as the Commissioners of Navigation for the Delaware River. This board was composed of two members selected by the Mayor of Philadelphia, the Director of Docks, Wharves and Ferries in Philadelphia; one member selected by the Council of the Borough of Bristol in Berks County; one member selected by the City Council of the City of Chester. Under the bill as it now stands, two members shall be selected by the Mayor of Philadelphia, the Director of Docks, Wharves and Ferries of Philadelphia to be a member; one member from Bucks County, to be appointed by the Governor; two members from Delaware County, to be appointed by the Governor. The Commission, which was always an independent board under the Governor, is now to be placed under the Department of Forests and Waters, under the supposition that under the Department of Forests and Waters the sanitary water boards deal with the streams in the State of Pennsylvania, and that there is some connection between the Commissioners of Navigation of the Delaware River and that department. This is just pure politics, as it does not belong in that department. The department would not know anything about it, even if it did belong there. This board has been a very wonderfully administered board, consisting of the very highest type of citizens, and there is no excuse for ripping it out. The two members from Delaware County are to be appointed by the Governor. I ask you why you are giving the Mayor of Philadelphia two appointments, with the Directors of Docks, Wharves and Ferries the third, while Bucks County and Delaware County members are appointed by the Governor. There might be some logical reason in the argument that the whole commission should be appointed by the Governor, but that was not agreed to, and the compromise was made to have one member from Bucks and two members from Delaware appointed by the Governor and place the commission under the Department of Forests and Waters.

I therefore feel that the bill is unfair, and particularly is it unfair because it rips out a board that has for many years served without any criticism in the Commonwealth. This board deals with the permission for wharves and docks in the river; it deals with the question of anchorage in the Harbor of Philadelphia and in the Port of Chester, and any other construction that goes into the Delaware River. I ask the members of the House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Delaware, not being very well acquainted with the present system, who pays the members of the board, who come from Philadelphia, Delaware and Bucks Counties?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, they are paid by the State.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, under the setup as it is now constituted, the appointment of the individuals who spend the money of the State is made, as the gentleman from Delaware has indicated, by the Council of Bristol and Chester and Delaware Counties, the appointments are made by other individuals than the Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TURNER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill would place the appointments under the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Governor would pay for the functions that are now being performed by the Commissioners of Navigation.

Mr. TURNER. That is right, but I do not understand that the Governor is paying for them. I said in the beginning that I thought it might be logical to argue that the appointments should be taken out of the hands of the Governor, but not to place this in the Department of Forests and Waters. You might as well put it in the Revenue Department.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask for an affirmative vote because I think that much has been said upon the question of local government, and most always it gets down to the same problem, where the local authorities exercise functions and the State or Commonwealth pays the freight. In this instance the Commonwealth has always been paying the freight and they are therefore entitled to make the appointments. I therefore ask the members of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the Commonwealth pays the members of the Commission why give the appointment to Philadelphia?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I could answer that by saying that Philadelphia pays such a large part of the Commonwealth's income that we thought they were entitled to some representation.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, not in comparison with Delaware County.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2494, (Senate Bill No. 1322), entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 275) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" by eliminating certain conditions of removal of inspectors and providing for their appointment in counties of the first class.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM THE CALENDAR

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, we passed in this House a bill, No. 856, which covered all of the employes in the office of the county commissioners, and this bill now provides for a division in weights and measures. Therefore as the other bill is inclusive of this one, and this only includes a part, I move that this bill be dropped from the calendar.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in opposing the motion to drop Senate Bill 1322 from the calendar, I wish to say that this is a companion measure to Senate Bill 856. Senate Bill 1322 amends the act of 1911, which is necessary for the purpose of carrying out the intentions, as pointed out in the debate of Senate Bill 856. This bill provides that the county commissioners of Philadelphia shall divide the appointment of the inspectors of the Bureau of Weights and Measures in accordance with this act. In answer to some of the arguments made on Senate Bill 856, I wish to say with relation to this bill that it is not an unusual procedure, because I find that the act of 1911, which we are endeavoring to amend provides an exception to cities of the first class. In other words, if my friends on the other side insist that this is a ripper, I wish to call their attention to the fact that the Legislature of 1911, which was Republican, excepted from the provisions of this act cities of the first class. I wish to read from the act as follows: Section 1 providing, "That the General Assembly hereby enacts by authority of the same that the mayors of the cities of the second and third class and the several boards of county commissioners shall make the appointment." Further on it provides or makes this provision: "Provided further in cities of the first class the inspectors shall be appointed by the county commissioners of that particular city."

I wish to call this to your attention because in amending this act, as we are endeavoring to do, we again will make that equality that has been pointed out in Senate Bill 856, because as it stands today there are one hundred and five employes in the Bureau of Weights and Measures, and out of those one hundred and five employes there are eighty inspectors. This bill provides that out of these eighty inspectors, forty of them shall be appointed by the minority county commissioners, which means this, that forty out of the one hundred and five employes will be appointed by the minority commissioners, and sixty-five will be appointed by the majority county commissioners, which is practically one-third of the total number of employes in the Bureau of Weights and Measures.

I wish to call this to your attention because this is a very important measure, and because the minority county commissioner of the City of Philadelphia represents 330,000 people of Philadelphia, and therefore we feel that he should have a voice in the choosing of the employes of the Bureau of Weights and Measures. I therefore ask the membership of this House to vote down the motion to drop this bill from the calendar, and then afterwards to vote "aye" on the measure.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there was a real reason in the act mentioned by the gentleman from Philadelphia as to why Philadelphia was excepted. There is no other county in the State where the city is coextensive with the county. Therefore there was a provision inserted that the cities should appoint their own bureaus of weights and measures, and there had to be a division in those instances, and therefore the county commissioners appointed the inspectors outside the city, and the mayors appointed them in the city itself. In Philadelphia, if the mayor appointed some and the county commissioners appointed some, you would have a dual appointment in one area. There is nothing in the argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia on that point.

On the other question, I might say this, that in no other county in the State do they do anything of this kind in the division. Why don't we do it with the second, third and fourth class cities, and all other counties, all down the line? This is purely and simply nothing else but one of those famous Philadelphia ripper bills. I should say they are infamous, not famous.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was not agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Fiss,	O'Connor,	Serrill,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. FALKENSTEIN filed the following reason for his vote:

I am voting for this bill because it is a very good bill, outside of the section pertaining to signs, which reduces the prices on signs, and in my opinion, this would reduce employment in that industry.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2505, (Senate Bill No. 342), entitled:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 13, line 27, by inserting a heavy-face bracket before the letter "(b)" thus: "H ["

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 13, line 29, by inserting a heavy-face bracket after the word "applicant" thus: "H]"

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 14, line 1, by inserting a heavy-face bracket before the word "meet" thus: "H ["

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 14, line 17, by inserting a heavy-face bracket after the word "year" thus: "H]"

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 23), page 42, by striking out lines 25 to 28, inclusive.

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 23), page 52, line 13, by striking out with heavy-face brackets the following: "H "HC package retailer"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. SCHUMACHER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, may I explain for the benefit of the gentleman that these amendments are merely strike-out amendments to carry out the will of this House, when it voted last evening to strike out the provision relating to package sales. At that time, due to the heavy schedule and the overwork that the Legislative Reference Bureau was laboring under, they inadvertently omitted striking out several words in one section, and these strike-out amendments are merely to carry out the intention of the House last evening. May I ask the gentleman if he will withdraw his objection.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman withdraw his objection?

Mr. SCHUMACHER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION FOR COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House for the purpose of considering amendments to House Bill No. 343, Printer's No. 874.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that there are other amendments that this bill will require. I would suggest that the bill be passed in its present form and that when it goes to the Senate a Conference Committee be appointed in order to rectify the differences, and I ask the House to vote down the motion to resolve the House into the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, last evening this House voted upon certain amendments, with the intention that they accomplish a certain purpose. These amendments are merely carrying out the desires of this House, and before this bill goes into a Conference Committee I think it is our duty to carry out the intention of this House as recorded by the vote of the House last night. I therefore ask the members of the House to vote in favor of resolving this House into the Committee of the Whole, for the purpose of considering this bill on third reading.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there are amendments that are required to this bill, in addition to the strike-out amendments, which should be offered. There are also other strike-out amendments which should be considered. It will be necessary to reprint this bill, and it will further necessitate, when the bill comes out of the Conference Committee, an additional reprint. Therefore, in order to expedite the printing, I suggest that the bill be passed in its present form in order that but one reprint will be required.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I am very surprised that the floorleader should make such a statement because if my memory serves me correctly, he agreed last night that this particular feature in which we are interested was to be taken care of. I ask all of the members of this House sincerely to vote to resolve this House into the Committee of the Whole in order that we may express our wish and our desire in the matter.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair is about to declare a recess for five minutes. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and the Chair declares a recess for five minutes.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER, (Roy E. Furman), in the Chair.

The time of recess having expired the House was called to order.

MOTION FOR COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE WITHDRAWN

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to withdraw my motion to resolve the House into the Committee of the Whole and also for the return of the amendments submitted by me, and then, Mr. Speaker, I ask for recognition.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 13, line 27, by inserting a heavy-face bracket before the letter "(b)" thus: "H ["

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 13, line 29, by inserting a heavy-face bracket after the word "applicant" thus: "H]"

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 14, line 1, by inserting a heavy-face bracket before the word "meet" thus: "H ["

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 6), page 14, line 17, by inserting a heavy-face bracke after the word "year" thus: " H]"

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 23), page 42, by striking out lines 25 to 28, inclusive.

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 23), page 52, line 13, by striking out with heavy-face brackets the following: "H "HC package retailer"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Van Sickle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Northampton explain the effect of these amendments?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, there are two sets of amendments that have been presented. The one set of amendments carries into force and effect the action of this House last night in striking out the package sale section. The next set of amendments strikes out the right of a municipality—

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, on your first set of amendments which you say strikes out the package sale section, why was it necessary for the House last night to take such action?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, because in the hurry and because of the over-work which the Legislative Reference Bureau is burdened with, unfortunately last night in going over the bill they did not strike out all of the necessary words and sections. The second set of amendments relates to the right of a municipality by ordinance to fix the closing hour at twelve o'clock, striking that out.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Northampton striking that out?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. That is correct.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, does that mean that the closing hour is after twelve o'clock?

Mr. VAN SICKLE. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. It means that the municipality cannot by ordinance change the hour as stated in the bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Mr. VAN SICKLE asked and obtained unanimous consent to proceed with the final passage of the bill, the amendments being strike-out amendments.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with informatoin that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. FALKENSTEIN filed the following reason for his vote:

I am voting for this bill because it is a very good bill, outside of the section pertaining to signs which reduces the prices on signs, and in my opinion, this would reduce employment in that industry.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2462, (Senate Bill No. 744), as follows:

An Act to establish funds to provide security for the payment of benefits in event of the insolvency of an insurance carrier authorized to write workmen's compensation insurance in this Commonwealth and to provide for the administration thereof

Section 12 After the effective date of this act upon any carrier becoming an insolvent stock company an insolvent mutual carrier or an insolvent reciprocal exchange as the case may be the commissioner shall so notify the Workmen's Compensation Board which shall immediately advise the commissioner (a) of all claims for compensation pending or thereafter made against every employer insured by such insolvent carrier or against such insolvent carrier (b) of all unpaid or continuing awards made upon claims for compensation prior to or after the date of such notice from the commissioner and (c) of all appeals from or applications for modification recision or review of such awards

Section 13 The commissioner or a representative committee of interested carriers which the commissioner may from time to time appoint or both may investigate and defend before the Workmen's Compensation Board or any court any and all claims for compensation against an employer insured by an insolvent carrier or against an insolvent carrier and may prosecute any pending appeal from or may appeal from or make application for modification revision or review of any agreement award or decision against any such employer or carrier Until all such claims for compensation are closed and all awards are paid the commissioner as administrator of the funds shall be a party in interest in respect to all such claims agreements and awards For the purpose of this section the commissioner shall have exclusive power to select and employ such clerks and assistants as may be deemed necessary and to fix and determine their powers and duties

Section 14 The expenses of administering each fund shall be paid out of such fund The commission shall serve as administrator of each fund without additional remuneration but may be allowed and paid from either of the funds expenses incurred in the performance of his duties in connection with each fund The compensation of persons employed by the commissioner for the purposes of this act in connection with either of the funds shall be deemed administration expenses payable out of each such fund in the manner provided in Section ten of this act The commissioner shall include in his regular report to the Governor a statement of the expenses of administrating each of such funds during the period covered by such report

Section 15 Other than the obligation to contribute to a fund as provided in this act no deposit bond or other security shall be required of any carrier as a condition to authorization to transact the business of workmen's compensation insurance in this Commonwealth

Contributions to the funds created by this act at the rates fixed by this act shall be allowed in full as expenses of the business of workmen's compensation insurance by the Commissioner in fixing and approving rates for such insurance

Section 16 If any part of this act be adjudged unconstitutional it shall not invalidate the remainder of the act All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 17 This act shall take effect on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill provides that insurance companies having workmen's compensation shall set up a fund to take care of defunct companies. I think the bill is clearly unconstitutional, because it would be and is exactly the same idea as the AAA was in the Federal Government, and the Supreme Court found it unconstitutional. It is an unfair burden upon a going concern, that they have to contribute to the weak and the unsound and the insolvent concerns. Therefore I think the bill is bad, and should be defeated.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just wish to call to the attention of the membership the fact that I remember a certain investigating committee appointed by the Republicans, that investigated the Insurance Department in connection with the taking down of certain bonds of the Continental Casualty and other Workmen's Compensation insurance companies that had gone defunct. I happen to know the facts of the investigation rather accurately, as I followed it for some time. If the membership of the House could have placed before it the great number of incidents that were presented to the committee from injured claimants, widows and orphans, who were deprived of their rights to participate in Workmen's Compensation benefits, they would with one accord vote in favor of this bill. I think this is a forward step in insuring to injured claimants in Workmen's Compensation cases, participation in the funds that are justifiably due them. This, I am advised, is very similar to the Federal Deposit Insurance Fund now participated in by means of the National law, and I ask the membership of the House to vote for this measure.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, it is not my purpose to intrude upon the very deliberate proceedings of the members of this House this evening, but when such assertions are made as have been made by the Democratic floor-leader, as to what this bill intends to do, knowing what I do about this work, I do not feel it would be fair to the other members of the House if I did not ask the gentleman a question. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if this bill does not apply to self-insurance. Many companies only have self-insurance today.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. No, Mr. Speaker, as I read the bill, I understand that it provides for insurance carriers to provide a fund whereby in case of insolvency of any insurance carrier carrying Workmen's Compensation, that the injured claimants will be able to participate in that fund and receive the benefits of the fund under the act, after the bankruptcy or insolvency of such a company.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, does it take in all insurance companies carrying Workmen's Compensation?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the intention of the bill is to include all of the insurance carriers writing Workmen's Compensation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, does it take in the State Workmen's Compensation fund?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. It also takes in self-insurance, does it not, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, we passed another bill that provided a fund whereby the self-insurers would contribute to that fund in case of the insolvency of the self-insurers.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from York one more question as to the statement that the gentleman made about the dependents and the people who are injured being deprived of their money, whether any part of that portion applies to self-insurers of this State.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I directed my remarks entirely to the insurance companies that were controlled by the Hanscomb group, who were able to take down over one million dollars, and thereby depriving the injured claimants of their right to participate in those funds. My remarks and reflections are not made in any manner against the self-insurers.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I just want to say to this House that in the past twenty-two years there has only been one failure of a self-insurer in this State. The bill in the first place was directed against self-insurers, and I thought that such a statement as that should not go by unchallenged.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, who is an expert in Workmen's Compensation insurance, having for years been one of the ablest and most competent referees in the Commonwealth, inform the membership of the House how many millions of dollars were lost by claimants due to the insolvency of Workmen's Compensation insurance carriers.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, so far as other Workmen's Compensation carriers are concerned, I would not be prepared to say, because that is another branch. The statement that I just made related to self-insurers in this State.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman's reply indicate that he does not know how much money was lost by claimants in Workmen's Compensation, where the insurance was carried by insurance companies?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I say that the insurance end of it, so far as the companies are concerned, and so far as the State Workmen's compensation is concerned, or the fund is concerned, that I do not have figures with me, but I want to make the statement that the 450 self-insurers of this State carry almost one-half in dollars and cents of that fund, and there has been no loss as far as has come to my attention, as to their management of it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 24 Except as hereinbefore otherwise specifically provided the provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Brownfield.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, on page 25 of this bill it provides for a census or an enumeration of the residents of our State over the age of ten years and upwards, with the idea of determining who can write and read and speak the English language. Those over and above the school age, those enumerated, what advantage would that be to education in Pennsylvania?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I will have to answer the gentleman at length, but I will do so as quickly as possible. Machinery for the enumeration of school children is already set up. Therefore, the enumeration of adults will require but little additional effort and action on the part of the census enumerators. Therefore, the expense will be negligible. The reason for this is that there must be an effort made to determine the number of adults who cannot read and write. While education in this country now is on a very strong and firm foundation, yet adults who cannot read or write are in a critical situation, as they have to make their way through life without such qualifications. There are many such people, and if this enumeration can get the information that is necessary to form classes here and there, with Federal and State funds which will be provided to take care of the census, it is certainly worth while.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
